On Monday morning last, a new railroad time-table went into operation. We now have two passenger trains east and west. For particulars, see car time at the head of this column.

THE LYCEUM, -The Rev. A. B. Grosh repeated his celebrated lecture on Robert Burns, before the literati of our Borough, on Monday evening last. Burns in his life time loved the ladies, and this we presume accounts for the very large prependerance of ladies that were in attendance at the lecture, for there is no deaying the truth of the saying that "love begets love." As a man of independence and genius Barns will continue to be an object of admiration through succeeding generations, and his proetry will be appreciated wherever the english language is understood, and where the meaning of the Scotch can be guessed. All lovers of literature are tolerably acquainted with his short, but painful history, it requires a master mind like Mr. Grosh's however, to exhibit Burns in his true light. The locture was all that could be desired, and was highly appreciated by the audience.

Prof. McCov gave his "Historical vindication of Temperance Societies," in N'emperance Hall, on Thursday evening.

Refering to the extent to which the Temperance Reform had evolved a literature of its own, he said that over five hundred different Temperance publications had been collected by a most estimable and excellent citizen of Lancaster-James Black, Esq. No one who had not tried it, would believe how much time, money, energy and zeal, such a collection had cost. The speaker's attempt to write the history of Temperance had taught him both the cost, and the value of this sort of labor, He knew no one who had made a Temperance collection one third as large, and he was personally acquainted with the most distinguished advocates of Temperance in the country. A wiser or more enlightened investment in behalf of the cause could not have been made. The language of the scholarly friend of Temperance is that of Scripture: "Gather up the fragments that nothing may be lost." Milton said that a book is the precious life blood of the spirit which wrote it. And so here are the best thoughts of the best thinkers, and most zealous advocates of Temperance. And as the blood of the martyrs is the seed Temperance literature.

NATIONAL PATRIOTIC TEMPERANCE PLEDGE. We, the undersigned, citizens and soldiers of the United States of America, hereby ex-

1. That a general abstinence by our people from all intoxicating liquors would contribute largely to the suppression of the Rebellion and the war against the National Constitution. 2. That it would promote the health, the morals, the discipline and every soldierly quality of the men in the field; and add to the means of those who remain at home to furnish food, clothing, arms, and every other necessary supply.

3. That while the strength of a republican form of Government, even in times of peace, is the aggregate self-government of all its citizens, much more are they called upon to practice self-denlals, while its "internal and external enemies" are waging war against it, and when not only its honor, but its existence depend upon asserting the superior moral and physical power of loyal citizens over conspi rators, rebels and traitors.

Acting upon these views and feelings, we, the undersigned, hereby pledge ourselves to abstain from intoxicating liquors, except when prescribed by a physician; and we respectfully recommend the same form of agreement to all who are loyal to the republic of Washington, and who strike hands with us for the Union, the Constitution and the enforcement of the
