LIBERALITY OF A COLORED KING .- The new King of Madagascar, Radama II., is engaged in a pacific revolution, which is calculated to secure the happiness and prosperity of his kingdom. Under the guidance of two Frenchmen, MM Laborde and Lambert, the king has thrown open the entire island to Europeans, and proposes to make it a free kingdom. The island has hitherto been closed to strangers, and the capital, regarded as a sacred city, was only visited at rare intervals by Europeans; but now foreigners have perfect liberty to establish themselves where they please, and commercial liberty is granted to all; the consequence is, foreigners are hastening there to take advantage of these privileges. The new king is also making great reforms amongst his own people, and encouraging education. He has likewise abolished the penalty of death.

General Cass has over three hundred acres, which, though they lie within the limits of the city of Detroit, have no stores or houses built upon them .-For this property he was taxed on a valuation of over $200,000. His man of business objected, but when he went before the Assessors to make his objection good, he found a land broker present who offered him $400,000 in cash for the property, and had a large sum of money in his hands as a proof that he ment what he said. As the land will be worth to the General's grandchildren three or four times the amount, the offers was declined and the taxes paid.

A wealthy and amiable gentleman of Hinsdale, Mass., who has been lately married, returning home hastily one night not long since, found upon retiring, a strange gold watch and chain of the gentleman's wife. The husband lost in the snow, and fearing she would home at the west, leaving the gay young man and disgraced wife to enjoy themselves as best they could at Hinsdale.

The quartermaster of the Ira Harris Uavairy, who had charge of the transportation of about 110 horses, belonging to the regiment, has been arrested at Baltimore for trading off the animals, and replacing them with stock not worth ten dollars a head. He has been sent to Fort McHenry to await a disposition of his case. General Dix telegraphed the facts to Col. De Forrest, the commander of the regiment, and that gentleman succeeded in finding nearly all the horses in the Baltimore livery stables.

Delaware has, according to the census of 1860, eighteen hundred and five slaves, and the sum asked of Congress for their gradual emancipation amounts to five bundred dollars a head, which is a fair price. The Wilmington Republican says that many of the largest slaveholders are in favor of this bill, and that "many of the slaveholders would gladly exchange their slaves for money, which they could use in payment for their lands and contemplated improvements."

The new Treasury notes authorized by the Legal-Tender bill now "hanging fire" in the Senate can be engraved and so far printed as to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to pay out $500, 000 in ten days after the work begins .-After that time the issue will amount regularly to $1,000,000 a day at least .-To avoid the immense labor and delay incidental to the signing of $5 notes the larger denominations of $1000, $500, $100 and $50 will be issued principally.

Capt. Nathaniel P. Gordon, convicted of engaging in the Slave trade, was hung on Friday, the 21st, in New York. His counsel and friends urgently implored President Lincoln to interfere in Gordon's behalf, but without effect. This is the first execution for slave RELICS OF SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.-The Smithsonian Institute has just received valuable addition to its collection of rare curiosities and relics; being the identical gun and sword of the late lamented Franklin, of the unfortunate Arctic Exploring Expedition. The gun is an old-fashioned flint-lock shot gun, and was presented to Sir John Franklin by Lord Melville, and used by Franklin in his expedition of 1820-22. The sword is of the old pattern of the British Royal Navy, and has the lion crest, with the naval emblems on the guard, and the British coat-of-arms on the blade. Both of these relics have the appearance of having been tarnished by rust, and afterwards burnished; which latter process has not erased the traces of age and exposure. They have been deposited in the same case with the dress worn by Dr. Kane in the Arctic regions, and other objects of interest familiar to all visitors to the museum of the Institution. These interesting relics were obtained from the Esquimaux of the Artic coast, east of Mackenzie's river.

AN OLD CALIFORNIAN.—It seems, Says the British Colonist, of Victoria. V. I. that John Butts is in the habit of collecting as many Indians as he can in a little cottage where he lives near the Congregational church. He then leads off with a prayer followed by singing a hymn. John then makes a short, feeling address; follows it with another hymn, a collection is taken up, and the congregation dismissed with a benediction .-After the services, dancing, signing, and drinking whisky are the order of the evening-Butts acting as bar-keeper with as much grace as he a few moments before officiated as clergyman. It is quite an ingenious plan, and the invent or is, no doubt, making a "good thing' of it.

CHILD ATTACKED BY A RAT.-The To ronto Globe says that between one and two o'clock on Wednesday morning, a little girl, daughter of Mrs. Yielding, residing on Front street, was attacked by a rat while in bed. The mother heard the child cry, and on making inquiry, was informed that the girl was bitten by some animal. A light was speedily procured, and a large rat was seen to leap out of the bed in which the mother and daughter had been lying. The child was severely bitten about the head and arm, and a large quantity of blood had flowed from the wounds.

FROZEN TO DEATH .- A woman was frozen to death on the Minnesota prairies last week, near Hastings. A search revealed that she had been buried in the snow within a few rods of her residence A little boy, her grandson, was found under his pillow, which proved to be near her, insensible, with his hands and the property of a dashing young man | feet badly frozen. Upon recovering who had been quite an intimate friend his senses, he said his grandmother got sold out and returned to his former freeze, she cried loudly for help, but her cries were not heard. When she became too much benumbed to proceed further, she took off some of her clothing and wrapped it around the boy, which was probably the means of saving his

> INSANITY OF FRENCH ARMY OFFICERS.-A report has just been laid before the French Emperor, calling his aftention to the singular prevalence of insanity among the scientific branches of the French army. The report quotes re turns, from which it appears that one in ten of the officers of the artillery and engineers end their existence in a lunatic asylum, and ascribes the fact to the severe mathematical training they are put through at the Polytechnic echool before their brain has acquired its full | President of the rebel Confederacy, has development.

A bowery boy being cut short in life by a sore disease which quickly brought him to death's door, was informed by his physician that medicine could do nothing for him. "What's my chance doctor?" "Not worth speaking of." "One in twenty?" "Oh, no." "In thirty?" "No." "Fifty?" "I think not." "A bundred?" "Well, perhaps there may be one in a hundred." "I say, then, doctor," pulling him close down and whispering with feeble earnestnest in his ear, "jest you go in on that one chance." The doctor "went in" and the patient recovered.

The case of Mr. Stark, of Oregon who daily occupies a seat in the Senate. but who is not admitted into the deliberations of that body, is still pending before the Judiciary Committee, with a fair prospect of a report adverse to his claims. His disloyalty, since secession was inaugurated, seems to be beyond question. A pretty successor he would make to the glorious but unfortunate Baker, who gave his life for his country.

A. L. Willington, the senior editor and proprietor of the Charleston Courier, and probably the oldest editor on this continent, is dead. Mr. W. connected himself with the Charleston Courier about the commencement of the present century, and for nearly sixty years his name as editor and proprietor. has continued at its head. CLIPPINGS FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

One of the rebel Gen. Henningsen's men called at a house near Elizabeth City, North Carolina, and asked for a drink of water, when the man of the house called him "a d-d rebel," and fired at him, the shot striking him in the forehead. Hermingsen's men opened fire on the Union man, killing him in his house, and then burned the house and him in it.

An inquest was held on Saturday last, by a Coroner of New-York, on the body of Mrs. Kearney, who died at noon that day from injuries received the previous night by her clothes taking fire while she was preparing to retire to bed .-The deceased was a native of Ireland, and was one hundred years of age.

Among the Confederate officers captured by our forces at Roanoke Island, was Captain Johnson who was taken prisoner at the attack upon the Forts at Hatteras by General Butler, was sent to Fort Warren, where he remained until January 10, when he was exchanged. He had been on the Island but three days when he was again a prisoner.

Governor Morton, of Indiana, has appointed ex-Hovernor Joseph A. Wright, U.S. Senator, in place of the traitor Blight, expelled.

The Richmond Whig, of Friday, has an article bitterly condeminding Jeff Davis' administration. It says: Judging by the results so far, it is the most lamentable failure in history, and suggests that the most signal service which that government can now render to the country is the surrender of the helm to abler and better hands."

At a coal-oil refinery on Herr's Island, in the neighborhood of Pittsburg, a few mornings since, a young man, named J. Mowry, entered one of the stills for the purpose of cleaning it, and was suffocated by the gas which remained in it, owing to the neglect to previously remove the "manhead" for the purpose of ventilation.

The Richmond papers state that Richmond has been filled for some days past with soldiers returning homeon furlough Hundreds of these soldiers are found in the streets at night, exposed to the weather, without shelter, or wandering about, either in drunken vagrancy or on errands of riot and vice.

Gen. O. M. Mitchell built a temporary bridge over the barren river on Friday, and crossed to Bowling Green with his entire division. The work of constructing the bridge was accomplished in the short space of twenty-four hours.

The Secretary of War has referred the case of Gen. Stone to Geu. McClelland for his disposition, and the latter has ordered a court-martial, but the court has not yet been organized, and it is a question whether it will be during the present active operations.

It is reported that frauds upon the Government in the articles of clothing and military horse trappings, have been discovered, amounting to over one million of dollars. The names of the parties have not yet been made public, but it is indicated that they are from New York and Pennsylvania.

A young man named Theodore Call, died at Cleveland, on Wednesday, from excessive bleeding at the nose. Every effort had been made to stop the hemorrhage, but in vain. There are now at Fortress Morroe about five thousand contrabands, twothirds of whom are able-hodied men .-Their aggregated pay is ten dollars per month, two dollars of which is paid in cash, and the rest ratained for the future wants of themselves and families.

Dr. John M. Johnston and Wm. T. Anthony, members of the Kentucky State Senate, were expelled from that body on the 14th inst., on account of their open sympathy with the rebel Goveroment.

One of the released prisoners state that there is a strong Union sentiment in Richmond. A league, numbering three thousand men, has been formed, and the Unionists are anxiously awaiting the advent of the Federal army.

The case against Senator Powell is considered stronger than that which insured Bright's expulsion. A reading of the resolution of inquiry has satisfied more than one Senator, not naturally disposed to favor investigations of this sort. that the charges, if proven, are sufficient to establish disloyalty. And it is said that additional and even stronger evidences exists.

Hunter and Lane are unable to agree and Lane has gone to Washington to have the matter awanged.
