Marietta, Pa.

SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1862.

Messrs. MATHER & ABBOTT, No. 325 Broadway, New-York, are duly authorized to act for us in soliciting advertisements, &c.

The day after Gen. Grant had reached Nashville, he with his staff called on Mrs. Polk, the widow of James K. Polk, formerly President of the United States. Mrs. Polk is a spirited lady of perhaps 50 years of age. She received her visitors courteously but with a polished coldness—she was simply polite and ladylike; in no case patriotic. While she discreetly forbade to give utterance to any expression of sympathy for the South, she as rigidly avoided saying anything that might be construed into a wish for the success of the Government. She hoped, she said, that the tomb of her husband would protect her household from insult and her property from pillage; father than this she expected nothing from the United States, and desired nothing. As the widow is of more than ordinary intelligence, and owes the ample fortune which smooths the declivity of her old age, to the Government she now repudiates, it is somewhat strange that she should be at once so blindly ignorant of the true character of the present war.

John M. Botts, and a number of others suspected of Union sentiments, have been arrested and thrown into prison at Richmond, by the secession authorities. The Richmond Examiner says that Botts "is known to be the recognized leader of all the disaffected, all the low Germans of the Red Republican, Carl Shurz school, and of the vile remnant of the Union party." The "low Germans" are lions in the paths of the traitors. There seems to be no doubt that there is a strong Union feeling even about Richmond, which will develop itself more fully as our armies shall be there to give protection to loyalty.

Mr. Conway, in his lecture, stated that when Fremont received the command of the Mountain department, he remarked to a friend that the honor came just in time, for he was on the point of requesting the Government to give him a colonelcy. Had this been refused he would have asked for a captaincy. In case the Government had declined to give him either, he intended to enlist as a private. Mr. Conway made this statement on the authority of the gentleman to whom the remark was made.

Gen. Smith who has now his headquarters at Clarksville, was received by Cave Johnson, and others on his arrival, and is said to have made a favorable impression on the citizens. A man recently called on him to ask a special favor. "Who are you, sir?" asked the General. "I'm a Southerner, sir (very pompously), and I am not ashamed to say, a Secessionist." "Get out of my room, you scoundrel! I don't talk to traitors! Get out of my room, sir!"

The attempt of the New York journals to create jealousy and bad feeling between the several Major-Generals of the Army, and also between the President and members of his Cabinet, is deserving of severe censure, and should be frowned down by every true friend of the Administration. It is enough that the Breckinridge Democrats are doing all they can to breed trouble, without any assistance on the part of those who really wish well to the success of the Union cause.

The Post office at West Chester, was robbed on Tuesday night, the 4th inst. The burglars forced open the back window shutters; and thus obtained an entrance. A number of letters, about $20 in money and some postage stamps, were taken. Next morning a pile of burnt letters were found a few squares off and a small bag of letters was also found in a wood pile near Eachus' dam. The letters taken were of little value. The Post Master offers $50 for the conviction of the robbers.

Davis has sent a message to his Congress, suspending Floyd and Pillow, and condemning the whole management in the Fort Donelson affair.

The Memphis Avalanche say that Gen. Sam. Huston, of Texas, is not dead. A Galveston paper contains a letter from him, dated January 27.

The Louisville Journal says it has been suggested that old Mr. Bell ran away from Nashville because he was afraid of "the enforcement of the laws."

The rebels are in distress—having Barru (in one) side, and a foot vigorously applied at the other.

The best throw of dice is—to throw them away.

PREDICTION OF GENERAL TAYLOR.—An officer of the army vouches for the authenticity of the following statement concerning Zachary Taylor. He was at Fort Jessup, Louisiana, near the Texas line, in 1844, commanding the "Army of Observation," assembled there prior to the annexation of Texas. Gen. Taylor sympathized strongly with that portion of the Whig party that opposed the annexation of Texas, though ready, like a good soldier, to fight for it after it was annexed. He said, that, "if the annexation should lead to an attempt to dissolve the Union, Old Kentucky would, in his opinion, go with the North; but if, perchance, she should not, I shall," said old Zach.—Louisville Journal.

A WISE ACT.—The "swill manufacturers" are in great tribulation over the passage by the New York Legislature of the bill prohibiting the sale of "distillery slops" as milk. Extraordinary efforts had been made by the opponents of the measure to kill it off, but in vain. It subjects the dealer in the article to a penalty of $50 for each offence. For adulterating pure milk, $25 for each offence, and for offering the will for sale, representing it as "Orange county" or "Westchester," by inscriptions on the wagons or otherwise, a fine of $50 or thirty days imprisonment. We submit the same question to the consideration of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

FALLING OF A CHAPEL.—The Congregational Chapel in Fisherville, N. H., was crushed and entirely ruined by the weight of snow which had gathered upon it Thursday of last week. About 11 in the forenoon it was discovered that the roof was settling, and men immediately commenced to remove the furniture, but they had labored only about ten minutes before the whole structure was observed to tremble, and in a moment was leveled to the ground. As it fell one man was standing in the door and a dozen or more were congregated upon the steps in front, but very fortunate no one was killed. The edifice was erected in 1849.

Senator Cowan, according to a statement made by E. W. Capron, assistant clerk of the House of Representatives, and editor of the Chester County Times, has written letters to this city, urging the Legislature to pass a resolution instructing him to vote for the repeal of slavery in the District of Columbia.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The New York Times says: "The infelicity of literary marriages is proverbial. Even the shrewd and sensible Fanny Fern has been unable to evade the inexorable law, for we regret to hear that she has felt obliged to separate from her husband, Mr. James P. Parton, whom she charges with conflicting upon her violent personal usage."

It is singular that while the warlike nations of Europe were experimenting upon iron-clad steamships, and anxiously discussing their utility in actual warfare, America should at once proved their fearful superiority over ordinary vessels, and discovered an entirely new device for successfully resisting and assailing them.

McColloch and McIntosh are certainly killed. McColloch was shot through the head with a minie ball, and taken off the field. McIntosh was shot in the breast with a musket ball. His body still remains on the field, so says a correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette.

Mr. Charles Ellett, Jr., writes to the N. Y. Tribune, that the Rebels have two formidable machines like the Merrimac, but less in size, nearly ready for use, at Mobile, and two on the Mississippi, which may soon be brought out to attack and destroy our shipping in that quarter.

The rebel House of Representatives at Richmond has recommended the planters to stop raising tobacco and cotton, and raise provisions, cattle, hogs and sheep. It has also thanked the Commander, officers and crew of the Merrimac. The Senate has passed a bill to organize the Supreme Court.

Commander Porter has written a letter to the Hannibal (Missouri) Messenger, vindicating his mother's loyalty. He states that "she has three sons living, all of whom are now faithfully serving their country, and carrying into effect the practical results of her lessons."

David Small, Esq., editor of the York (Pa) Gazette, was elected Chief Burgess of the Borough of York, on Friday last, by a majority of 78 votes. Mr. S. is the second Chief Burgess elected by the Democracy of that borough in a period of 42 years.

The London Star has an editorial on Cyrus W. Field's mission to England about resuscitating the Atlantic telegraph scheme. It urges the British Government to encourage the enterprise, and it is understood this will be done. An important meeting of the stockholders of the old Telegraph Company has been held in London to take measures to lay another cable.

John Zoudehoff, of the Fort Warren rebel prisoners, was on Tuesday sent to the Massachusetts Lunatic Asylum.

THE CATHOLIC ON THE SLAVERY QUESTION.—The Pittsburg Catholic, takes decided grounds on the slavery question. It says: "We are glad to perceive that there is much likelihood of the speedy abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia. We believe there is no constitutional difficulty in the way of such a measure. If it can be done without infringing on the constitutional rights of Southerners, it ought to be done. Slavery always was a disgrace to the national capital, but the reasons that justified its toleration there, exist no longer. Negro slavery, as it exists in this country, has no rights. It must, however, be tolerated by the general government, and by us, simply because it is not our business to interfere with it. It is strictly a State institution, or we should rather say, a State sin.—After stating that we must bear with it in those States where it exists, however we may bewail its existence," it adds: "We can however, remove the dung that is at our doors, no matter who put it there; and, accordingly, we want slavery removed from the gates of the capital of this free republic."

MOVING DAY.—The first of April is "Moving Day" in the Southern States; and, if we may believe the statement of a North Carolina paper, Mr. Davis has been preparing to observe the custom, by removing from Richmond to Raleigh. But Mr. Lincoln, like the famous policeman in "Bleak House," will not wait.—He cries out "Move on there!" and the poor wretched rebels keep moving from one place to another; from Bowling green to Nashville, from Columbus to New Madrid, from Donelson to Murfreesborough, from Centerville to Manassas, from Manassas no one yet knows whither. And still, Policeman Lincoln cries "Move on there!"

SUSPENSION OF BAWDY HOUSES.—Senator Irish has read in place an act for the suppression of bawdy houses. "It enacts that any person or persons who shall keep or maintain such houses, and shall refuse to deliver up to the owner possession of the premises occupied for such illegal purposes after ten days notice and demand served on the premises, shall and may be removed and ejected, using so much force as is necessary to that end; and the fact that the premises were used for the said improper practices shall be a full and complete defence to any prosecution, action or suits instituted for, or on account of any such removal or ejection."

The Indianapolis Journal says:—We understand that Jesse D. Bright returned home last Saturday, and stopped at Madison on his way up. He was very coldly received. It is said that he has rented a house near Jeffersonville, and intends to become a temporary resident of the State, in order to carry out his purpose of "appealing to the people," and getting back to the place he has dishonored.

Nearly every member of Congress, and five hundred and twenty-one field officers, have petitioned the Secretary of War to grant a butter ration to the soldiers. It is said that the ration will be prized. We fear the soldiers will not grant it much when they get it.—Rancid butter will be no great treat, and fresh butter will be out of the question.

Gen. Lee has been appointed General-in-chief of the rebel forces, and their retreat from Manassas is formally announced as having been caused by the adoption of a new line of defences, of which Staunton, Gordonsville and Fredericksburg are the main points.

The whole resources of the Methodist Book Concern of Cincinnati amount to $322,777.01. The liabilities are only $32,123.99. The profits of the establishment are devoted to the support of superannuated preachers and the families of deceased ministers.

It is estimated, by the Secretary of the Treasury, that if the war is to be continued on its present gigantic scale, the public debt, by the close of the next fiscal year, June 30, 1863, will amount to nine hundred millions of dollars.

It is stated Gen. Meigs has awarded a large contract for carrying supplies, for the next two years, from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, and Utah, to Messrs. Irwin and Jackman of Pennsylvania.

The State Constitution Convention of Illinois, by a vote of 45 against 13, has prohibited negroes or mulattoes from emigrating to that State and from enjoying the right of suffrage.

The Italian Free Masons have just introduced an important innovation into the statutes of the society. There are now sister Masons, venerable and great mistresses.

Washington and Prince Albert died in the same month, and on the same day of the month, and about the same hour in the evening.

It turns out, after all the boasting of our Southern brethren, that Iron and not Cotton, is King and destined to shape the destiny of this mighty Republic.

The issue of small bills by the banks of this State has given the rascally counterfeiters a larger field for the display of their thievish ingenuity.—Every fort-night there seems to be a new addition to floating stock of counterfeit, and the public cannot be too cautious in receiving bank notes. The cunning rogues who manage to elude the vigilance of detectives, are always careful to anticipate the publications of Peterson and Lodge, and to put into circulation a fresh batch simultaneously with the issue of the Detectors. Hence, these are no guide till after the public have realized the infliction of a new swindle.

Mr. Senator Clark has proposed an amendment to the bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia. It provides for the compensation to be allowed to loyal owners, and says that the aggregate sums to be paid for children under ten years of age shall not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars for each child set free. For slaves over ten and under sixty, three hundred dollars shall be paid, and for slaves over sixty the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars. The amendment further makes it the duty of the Mayor of Washington to apprentice all slaves under eighteen who may not otherwise be provided for.

After a shell has been finished, many are puzzled to determine, there being but a single little hole in the hollow ball, how the core has been taken out. The core is composed of sand and flour, and after being properly moulded and finished, is placed in an oven and baked like a loaf of bread until it becomes hard. The heated metal, when it is poured into the mould, burns the flour out, and the sand crumbles so as to be easily taken out.

The news concerning Mr. Yancey is conflicting. Two accounts state that he was captured, but, on the other hand a despatch from Nashville says that the great fire-eater recently delivered a speech in New Orleans, in which he advocated retaliation upon the European Powers for their non-recognition of the rebel States.

General Rosecrans has issued orders announcing to the troops under his command the probable early coming of General Fremont, to assume command of the new "Mountain Department," and directing them to be prepared to report to the proper headquarters.

Hons. Joseph Holt and Robert Dale Owen have fully entered upon the investigation of contracts made with the War Department. There is a large attendance of contractors, as the decisions of the commissioners are final, the Secretary of War refusing to review them.

Gen. Mansfield keeps the Federal flag flying on the mainmast of the frigate Cumberland, the top of which sticks out of water, within rifle shot of his entrenchments at Newport News.—He says it shall wave there until the waves break up the good old ship.

A daughter of Stephen Wood at Steep Falls, Mo., was caught in a shaft attached to a circular saw in the mill of her father, and narrowly escaped instant death. The girl was about eleven years old. One arm was broken, one wrist and several ribs.

The Louisville Journal says John C. Breckinridge has become such a confirmed drunkard as to be hardly ever able to perform his military duties, and the rebels have lost all confidence in him. They regard him with mingled distrust and contempt.

Southern advices received says that Yancey has arrived at New Orleans, and made a speech avowing that no help can be expected from England or France, and urging retaliation by stopping the cotton cultivation.

Dispatches from Washington inform us that there are five Pennsylvania Colonels mentioned in connection with Brigadier Generalship, namely, Patterson, Simmons, McLean, McCarter and Geary.

Capt. Buchanan, of the rebel steamer Merrimac, is certainly dead.—He was compelled to suffer an amputation, from the shock of which he expired upon the following day.

President Lincoln, when a member of the House in 1848-49, introduced a bill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia. Curious Coincidence

We learn from the Newark papers that the Hon. Theodore Frelinghousen is lying dangerously ill at his residence, in New-Brunswick, N. J. But slight hopes are entertained.

One mail from the Yankees at Fort Royal, South Carolina, brought 50,000 letters—probably, more than the whole State ever sent in one day before.

The repairs on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad are proceeding rapidly. The Rebels have carried off about forty miles of iron and cross-ties.

Chief Justice Taney, of the U. S. Supreme court, was eighty years old on Monday last.

Parson Brownlow was imprisoned at Knoxville, Dec. 6—suffered eight weeks with typhoid fever—and has reached Nashville, a freeman again. It is said, he will come north, and narrate his sufferings in book form.

It is thought that Emerson Etheridge will be returned as Senator from the State of Tennessee, as colleague of Andrew Johnson, who of course, will resume his seat after a loyal State Government is organized.

Both-branches of the Legislature have passed a resolution, fixing the 11th of April, as the day for the final adjournment.

Dr Charles Mackay, the well-known English poet and journalist, arrived in this country from Canada a few days ago.
