FOREIGN GOSPEL.—From an interesting London letter in "The Press," we clip the following foreign scraps:

Queen Victoria's health suffers no longer from the heavy domestic loss she was afflicted with last December. She rides in a carriage and on horseback, and walks a great deal in Windsor Park. She receives her Ministers on necessary business, and has even been visited, at her own request, by Lord Derby. Still is she in sound health? This day week, it is said, without consulting any person, she summoned her children and almost every one, of whatever degree, in her household, to walk with her to Frogmore, where, exactly a year before, her mother had died. There was a pedestrian procession of some fifty persons, headed by the Queen. On reaching Frogmore, the ground was found staked out, and a mason or two attended. The Queen then laid the foundation stone of a mausoleum, in which her own remains are finally to rest, with those of her late husband. The stone was inscribed thus: "The foundation stone of this building, erected by Queen Victoria in pious remembrance of her great and good husband, was laid by her the 15th day of March, A.D. 1862. 'Blessed are they that sleep in the Lord.'"

This done, the procession, again headed by the Queen, who never spoke one word, marched back to Windsor Castle. No particular account of this escapade has been published, but it is much talked about.

The illness of the Pope is again reported but this news comes every other week or so and few mind it now; His Holiness, a simple-minded and kindhearted clergyman as ever lived, wants only a few weeks of completing his seventieth year.

At the Commencement of the war, the rebels avowed their ability to whip five to one. The other day the rebel General Johnson found it necessary to promulgate an order to the effect that, in battles hereafter, all who run should be shot down in cold blood. Quite a difference in one year. Under Johnson's order, the rebels will soon do away with themselves. It will take all their ammunition to dispatch the runaways.

Two of the Protestant Episcopal churches of Washington have been closed by the Provost Marshal, on account of the clergymen having refused to read the special prayer in behalf of the country, prescribed for the diocese. The wardens of a third church have taken action to dismiss their pastor, Mr. Lyle, for the same reasons. He denies their authority, and refuses to submit.

Micajah Philips died recently at Marietta, Ohio, aged about one hundred and twenty years. He was a slave of Rev. Mr. Fountain, and a waiter in the Army when Yorktown was captured. Afterwards he was with Blennerhassett on the Ohio, until he died. Mrs. Blennerhassett taught him to read and write, and he preached to the colored population of Parkersburg, Va., as a member of the Baptist church.

The Navy Department has received intelligence that, when the Merimac retired from the contest with the Monitor, she had seven feet of water in her hold. One shot from the Cumberland riddled her, while one from the Monitor entered one of her port-holes, dismounting two guns.

"Island No. 10," after all the fuss, surrendered on Monday night to the Federal forces without making defence. As Prentice says, so many evacuations must, necessarily, weaken them amazingly. They left behind artillery, baggage, supplies and sick.

The Richmond Enquirer, in a leading article, advises the citizens "to move, if possible, before the advance of the enemy, everything which will conduce to the efficiency of his military operations, and to destroy what cannot be removed."

The two armies of the Potomac have at different times run from Bull Run. But the Union army didn't, like the rebels, run without a fight.

The rebel women haven't yet, in obedience to the call of the men, volunteered for the public service. We suppose they want to be pressed.

Pillow is reported to have said that he will shoot Floyd at sight. May the two take dead aim at each other's heads and shoot at the same instant.

An effort is being made to have Congress to adjourn until the third Monday in May.

FOR THE MARIETTIAN.]

"Breaking Laws"—Again.

COR. BAKER.—When commenting on the discussions of our Literary Society, I had not the vanity to suppose that my remarks would be noticed by Dr. Trall. As he has thus honored me, I ask room for a few explanations—which may relieve his puzzled mind.

1. My remarks had application only to the discussions aforesaid, though introduced by mentioning Dr. Trall's declaration that "it is absurd to say that a man can violate (or break) a natural law."

2. When Dr. Trall made this declaration, others, as well as myself, (and, evidently, some if not all of the disputants aforesaid,) understood him as meaning the phrase when used generally. My remark, that "his declaration is believed by some of our citizens, and defended as a philosophical truth"—was made not of his theory, (as he supposes,) but of his declaration (viz. that it is absurd to use such phraseology).

3. As I never have met with a medical writer who uses the phraseology in the sense, that a man can annul or abrogate a natural law, I said, very expressly—"Of course, no one" (including medical men as well as others) uses the words break, transgress, violate, or their equivalents, when applied to the commands of God, in the sense of abrogate, annul, nullify, or repeal." To this Dr. Trall assents in these words—"Precisely so, Mr. A. B. G., this is a matter of course," &c. But notwithstanding this decided assent, he afterwards declares that physicians do mean thus in their use of these words! yet he says—"I never like to have an opponent, nor even a coadjutor, on both sides of a question; nor in this awkward and perplexing state of bewilderment." Neither do I!

4. I am not inclined to display "extensive reading and philological lore," even had I ability and attainments therefor; and was therefore careful to name the single source of all quotations (except those from our common version of the Bible,) to be Richardson's Dictionary—one work only—a wonderful display!

In conclusion. We agree that it is not absurd to use the words break, violate, transgress, (in relation to law,) in the sense and manner in which they are commonly used and understood.

We agree that it is absurd to use them as meaning that the entirety or continuity of a law can be broken, (as we break a pipe-stem!) or annulled or repealed.

Dr. Trall asserts that medical authors do use the phrases thus absurdly. I only affirm that I never met with such an instance; and therefore considered his declaration that it was absurd thus to use them, as a "hypercritical whim"—and wondered at his wasting any arguments upon it.

I will only add, that I never knew any adult of common sense to call in a doctor "to mend, as it were, the broken law," instead of the patient! But I admit that my want of knowledge is no proof that there are no such doctors and no such patients. And as to his representations of theories of disease, I am in like state of ignorance. A. B. G.

The Maryland Legislature is in earnest about crushing out rebellion. It has passed an act which fixes a punishment on bridge burning, road injuring, conspiring against the State, giving aid to public enemies, holding communication with traitors, &c., of from one to twenty years imprisonment, and from $500 to $3,000 fine.

The Morning Chronicle, with one exception the oldest paper in London, having been established in 1770, suspended publication on the 20th ult. for want of support. There was a report, however, that the suspension was only temporary. The Public Ledger is the oldest paper in that city.

Mr. Mason, at the opening of the British Parliament, sat next to the black Ambassador, from Hayti, and didn't dare to turn up his nose least the British abolitionists might suspect him of thinking himself better than a nigger.

It is stated that the gamblers of Washington, during the past six months, have won pay-rolls from officers amounting in the aggregate to over five hundred thousand dollars. It is a pity that the payment of these rolls cannot be stopped.

A New York house has just manufactured a magnificent sword, to a St. Louis order, for Gen. Fremont, costing one thousand dollars. The blade is of the finest Damascus manufacture, chased in gilt, and bears the Latin word Vero.

The Baltimore Board of School Commissioners are holding a sort of court-martial for the trial of dyscol teachers. They have voted to remove all who are not sound on the war.

In the city of Wheeling and parts of six counties heard from, the vote, on the 3d inst., on the question of gradual emancipation sums up thus: For emancipation, 2791; against, 145.

It appears that there are nine hundred and forty-seven horse thieves in confinement throughout the country—exclusive of those in Fort Warren.

The New York Bible Society is in debt $60,000, in consequence of the extensive publications for the army, &c.

CLIPPINGS FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

The Kingston (C. W.) News urges that a guard be placed on Wolf Island, St. Lawrence river, to save the British soldiers, who are deserting to the United States in squads. Large numbers have deserted this winter, and the utmost vigilance is exercised to prevent whole regiments from making a stampede across the lines. Civilians are employed and large rewards offered by the city authorities to prevent desertion.

All officers engaged in the recruiting service have been ordered to their regiments, and notice given to the Governors of States that no new enlistment nor new levies will be received until further orders from the War Department. The force now in the field is deemed amply sufficient for the suppression of the rebellion and the speedy termination of the war.

Col. Slocum, Maj. Ballou and Capt. Tower, of Pawtuxent, R. I., have been disinterred, and taken home from Manassas for decent burial. The Rhode Islanders had done them much damage, and the head of one of these officers had been cut off by the Rebels before burial, as seen by one who pointed out the graves.

A Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Convention is called at Chambers' Broad St. Church, Philadelphia, for Wednesday the 28th May next. Every School in the State is requested to report to it. Correspondence to be directed to "Box 620, Philadelphia."

Mississippi has now about 450,000 slaves. In fifteen years hence her slaves will be 900,000. In thirty years they will be 1,800,000. In forty-five years, 3,600,000; and in sixty years, 7,200,000. In the meantime, the white population will be, probably, very little greater than it is now.

The City Councils of Nashville have refused to take the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, as directed by Gov. Johnson. Nice set patriots! It is to be hoped that Andy Johnson will teach them that Uncle Sam is not to be trifled with.

The Californians answer the question "what to do with the Chinese" by proposing to make money out of them, and a bill is now before the Legislature of that State to tax them four dollars a year, male and female.

It is now understood that the slow mortar practice at Island No. 10 is to keep the rebels busy in its defence, and prevent them from concentrating to interfere with other important movements now projected.

It is recommended to the Directors of the Pottstown Bank to have a new plate prepared without the head of James Buchanan on it, as his sinister visage does not add much to the attraction of the notes.

At a station 12 miles from Manassas were found 52 freight cars loaded with commissary stores worth $20,000. The rebels had kindled a fire under them which failed to burn.

The Philadelphia M. E. Conference passed the whole of their Union resolutions, unanimously. Two ministers desired to be excused from voting—not granted—whereupon they voted Aye!

John Jany, says the Washington Republic, who was President of the Virginia Convention, when it passed the ordinance of secession, has taken the oath of allegiance to the United States.

John Bell, afraid of "The Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws," has fled into Mississippi. He tried to get into Lincoln's Cabinet last February a year!

The question in regard to a man's political position used to be, "Is he sound on the goose?" Now Prentice says it should be, "Is he sound on the eagle?"

The President has signified his perfect willingness to sign the bill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia when it passes the House.

Major Wm. H. Polk, of Tennessee, brother of the late President Polk, and a strong Union man, had a long interview with President Lincoln.

Charles Dickens has been invited to deliver a course of lectures in Australia, for which he is offered the sum of $50,000, or $25,000 and his expenses.

The universal Yankee is always up to time. Five applications have been made to Government for licenses to open hotels at Richmond, when taken.

The English troops are about to leave Mexico. A portion of the Spanish troops returned to Cuba, and the rest go to Orizaba.

The mother of the rebel Gen. S. B. Buckner, died in Union county, Arkansas, of pneumonia, on the 6th of January.

Sixty-four thousand four hundred of the present population of Canada are natives of the United States.

THE WAR: The accounts which have reached us of the great battle at Pittsburg Landing fully verify the brief despatch that it was "the hardest battle ever fought on this continent." The enemy, acting with their usual caution, only ventured on an attack after they were satisfied that their numbers doubled the forces under command of Gen. Grant. They were doubtless confident of victory and urged on by the two ablest generals in their service, Beauregard and A. Sidney Johnston, they expected that before Union reinforcements could arrive, our whole division would be captured or driven into the river at their rear. Their plans were for a time attended with partial success. A portion of our line was forced to give way, and nothing but the most resolute heroism, and unyielding courage, saved the fortunes of the day. Fortunately, by Monday morning, new divisions had arrived, and the battle was recommenced by our gallant army, with a force somewhat approaching in numbers the hosts of the enemy. Even then, for a time, the contest was fierce and desperate. But nothing could resist the invincible onset of the noble champions of the Union; and after the terrific charge made by General Grant in the afternoon, all attempts to rally the flying traitors were abandoned.

Thus, with a loss fearful to contemplate, the great battle of the war has been fought and won. Everything seemed to favor the Secessionists. The very flower of their army, under their most able and favorite general, commenced an attack upon a vastly inferior force. And after a protracted struggle, they were driven back, utterly routed, dispirited, and overthrown. The prestige of Beauregard has been destroyed, and the last prop of the Rebellion broken. The pathway to the metropolis of the South, New Orleans, is rapidly being opened.

By the surrender of "Island No. 10," the most important obstruction to the free navigation of the Mississippi was removed; and, by the victory of the Pittsburg Landing, the army which was expected to repel all further Union advances, met with a blow from which it cannot recover. The details of this wonderful fight will be awaited with intense interest. The first reports of our loss were greatly exaggerated. Among the killed on the rebel side is the General-in-Chief, A. Sidney Johnston, by a cannon ball. Beauregard had his arm shot off. Gen. Grant was on the field during the entire two days of the battle, riding along the lines in the thickest of the fight, cheering the men on.

THE SOLDIER'S FRIEND—LONG MERE.

HOLLOWAY'S Ointment.—Long mere, sore and all joints, battered and inflamed feet, all these the Soldiers must endure. Mothers, REMEMBER THIS, when your sons are grasping their muskets to meet danger, think what relief a single pot of this Ointment will give to the one you love when far away from home and friends. It hardens and makes tough the feet so that they can endure great fatigue. It soothes and relieves the inflamed and stiffened joints, leaving them supple, strong and vigorous, while for Subtle Cuts and Gunshot Wounds, It stands unequalled, removing and preventing every vestige of inflammation and gently drawing the edges together. It quickly and completely heals the most frightful wounds.

Wives and Sisters of our Volunteers. You cannot put into the Knapsacks of your Husbands and Brothers, a more valuable or more necessary gift than this.

Extraordinary Military Sale.

The lonely sentry walking his rounds at night, exposed to drenching rains and chilling winds, is often seized with most violent PAINS, cough and suffocating Hoarseness, first symptoms of quick consumption, but if supplied with Holloway's Pills and Holloway's Ointment, all dangers are averted, a few Pills taken night and morning, and the Ointment briskly rubbed twice a day over the throat and chest will remove the severest pains and stop the most distressing or Dangerous cough. Therefore we say to the whole Army.

Soldiers Attention!!

See to your own health, do not trust to the Army supplies, although most valuable.—These Pills and Ointment have been thoroughly tested, they are the only remedies used in the European Camps and Barracks, for over forty years Doctor Holloway has supplied all the Armies in Europe, and during the Crimean Campaign he established a depot at Balaklava, for the exclusive sale of these Great Remedies. Many a time his special Agent there has sold over a ton in weight of the Ointment in a single day. These terrible and fatal enemies of the Soldiers in Camp, Dierth, Dysentery, Scurvy, Sores and Scrofulous Eruptions, all disappear like a charm before these Pills & Ointment, and now while the cry rings through the land,

To Arms! To Arms!!

Do not let these brave men perish by disease place in their hands these Great Remedies, that will enable them to resist the dangerous exposures, the Fevers, the Gills, and the wounds which they cannot avoid, and what is more, cannot frequently get succor in the moment of need, whereas if our brave men have only to put their hands in their pockets and find there a sure remedy for all the casualties of the battle field. How many thousands of lives would thus be saved who would otherwise perish before relief could be obtained.

IMPORTANT CAUTION!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot and box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

*Sole Agent at the Manufacture of Professor HOLLOWAY, 50 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine, throughout the civilized world, in boxes at 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N.B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

WINE AND LIQUORS.

Alexander D. Reese,

WINE AND LIQUOR DEALER, Main Street, [East Ward] Mount Joy, Lancaster County, Pa.

THE undersigned would most respectfully beg leave to inform the public that he has opened a WINE and LIQUOR store in all its branches.
