

ROCK ME TO SLEEP, MOTHER.

Backward, turn backward, oh! Time, in your flight, Make me a child again, just for to-night!

Backward, flow backward, oh tide of years! I am so weary of toils and of tears—

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue, Mother, oh mother, my heart calls for you!

Over my heart in days that are flown, No love like mother-love ever has shone—

Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold, Fall on your shoulders again as of old—

Mother, dear mother! the sears have been long, Since I last heard to your lullaby song—

[WRITTEN FOR "THE MARIETTIAN."] Woman.

There is an impression, very prevalent among those who pretend to have the highest respect for woman, that the Creator adapted her, for a distinct and different sphere from that of man; that, while, the duty of man is to attend to the sterner callings of life; woman is to attend to the training of the little "Sunbeams" at home.

While, man is to instruct and enlighten mankind in public and otherwise; it is the duty of woman to remain at home in the kitchen and attend to culinary duties.

That woman was created for the high, and all-important duty of conducting household affairs; and while she remains in this praiseworthy sphere, she is entitled to the name, WOMAN; but as soon as she steps upon her real duty and advocates in public, truth, justice and right in order to instill into those coarse, cold and rude creatures of the other sex, a pride of her high and elevated tone of morality; she is denounced as being bold, immodest and even irreverent.

But it seems to us, since woman is an accountable being; blest with a powerful influence, and endowed with abilities equal to that of man (and no one who has more than one idea will deny this), that she should at least have the same privilege as man; yes, we believe it is the duty of woman to enter upon the rostrum, and from there in public proclaim truth whenever she can by so doing, accomplish good.

What a vast amount of good could be accomplished, did woman take a more active part in life, many a dear and affectionate husband who is making his bed of repose in the gutter, resting his weary head upon the cold and icy rocks, might have been elevated, by the tender appeals which woman alone can make, to the dignity of man, while thus his soul will sink into eternal misery.

We believe woman to be the sweetest, purest, and most unselfish, by nature the best part of the human race.

She sings the melody in all human life as well as the melody in music.

And hence the powerful influence if she would only exercise it.

Where the influence of man ceases to have an effect, that of woman will operate as a loadstone upon steel.

The sooner, therefore, that woman acts her real part in life, and overcomes the weak notions of the public, the better for society.

An exchange says that, the other night, a soldier, belonging to the Third New York Volunteers, entered a Baltimore oyster saloon and swallowed a half bushel of the bivalves and nineteen glasses of ale!

The celebrated Whitworth battery of six steel guns, is now in actual service before Yorktown. This battery was presented to our Government by loyal American citizens in England and France, and will, no doubt, give a good account of itself.

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1862.

Messrs. MATHER & ANNOTT, No. 335 Broadway, New-York, are duly authorized to act for us in soliciting advertisements, &c.

JOHN PATTON.—Than whom no better man lives, the able plain, matter-of-fact industrious and energetic member of Congress from the Clearfield district, is thus spoken of by a Washington correspondent at "The McKean Miner."

"I cannot close without mentioning the name of our Representative, Gen. John Patton, who is I understand a candidate for re-election. His course in Congress with which you are familiar, has been unexceptionable, and will, without doubt meet the earnest approval of his constituents of both parties. The labors of our Representative have been very arduous this session, as he is on several working committees, one of which the Committee on elections, gives its members but little rest from labor. There were, you know, many contested seats, and that Committee is yet deeply engaged, with but little prospect of rest for some time to come. I know enough about legislation to know how indispensable are such men to the discharge of that business which the public interest so loudly call for. The present exigencies require that good and patriotic men like Gen. Patton, whose fidelity and usefulness is established, should be retained, at least until the present great crisis has passed."

Alcertainly very true. The General is no brawling, long-winded speech-maker but a genuine Republican, and in these perilous times the people want representatives upon whose fidelity they can depend. He is also a worker and a man of influence, and in addition, is a self-made man. All honor to such. The General's familiar face is now very much missed on the bank of the Susquehanna, at this place, by a legion of friends, with whom he is deservedly popular.

J. M. Ross, of San Francisco, has invented a new cavalry cannon. It is a small brass, ironribbed piece, about eighteen inches in length, and weighing thirty pounds. It is breech-loading self-capping, and self priming, and thirty one-pound cartridges, of one hundred and fifty bullets each, may be discharged from it every minute. It is intended exclusively for the use of cavalry, but might be effectively employed in almost any condition of attack or defence. It is to be fastened to the shoulders of the horse, immediately in front of the saddle and may be elevated, depressed, and swerved to the line of assault with rapidity. A slide in breech admits the cartridge, and the speedy movements of cocking and pull the trigger depatches it on its mission of destruction without the delays of capping and priming. Its most effective service, it is claimed, will be in breaking the solid squares of infantry formed for the reception of the cavalry.

The tone of most of the rebel letters found at Island No. 10 is exceedingly despondent, indicating great demoralization in the rebel ranks. One of them, apparently from an officer, and addressed to the Hon. A. M. Gentry, of Texas, is thus prefaced: "For obvious reasons I do not sign my name to this letter; but you will know at once whom it is from." The reasons are rendered "obvious" by the following paragraph: "I tell you, Colonel, that there is no use in farther resistance. We have neither the means nor the men to carry on the war. Our troops are utterly demoralized, heart-sick and home-sick. My regiment has not been paid a cent in five months, and I, who, as you know, am worth in ordinary times a hundred thousand dollars, am obliged to borrow the price of the postage upon this letter. How can men be expected to fight under such circumstances?"

Lieut. Thomas, the French Lady, confined in Fort Lafayette for transferring the steamer St. Nicholas to the custody of the rebels, at Baltimore, last summer, escaped from Fort Lafayette on Monday night. He had procured a number of tin cans, which he corked tight and tied about his waist, when he took the water and swam toward the Long Island shore. He was discovered by the sentinel, and a boat being put in requisition he was brought back and conveyed to his old quarters.

A parrot, said to be 100 years old, which was born in the reign of Louis XV, lately escaped from its master's widow in Paris, and was caught and detained by a tailor, who charged with the fact, denied that he had ever seen the bird; but just as he told the lie the parrot cried out from the next room her master's name, and thus the little tailor was discomfited.

The celebrated Whitworth battery of six steel guns, is now in actual service before Yorktown. This battery was presented to our Government by loyal American citizens in England and France, and will, no doubt, give a good account of itself.

CLIPPINGS FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Hon. Clara Mackay, the daughter of a Scotch peer, recently committed suicide, in London, by throwing herself from her bedroom window, forty feet from the ground. She was thirty-six years old, unmarried, and very wealthy.

There are twelve daily papers in Turin, a city not more than 160,000 inhabitants. At Naples, Milan and Florence the same mania for newspapers is exhibited. Parma, a town of 40,000 inhabitants, has three dailies, and Modena four.

It is rumored that Emperor of France has manifested a disposition to reconsider his recognition of the Secessionists as belligerents, and to withdraw all countenance or moral support from the traitors, whose comparative weakness is now becoming almost as perceptible as their wickedness.

Sportsmen will do well to bear in mind that it is against the law to kill blue birds, swallows, robins or any other insectivorous birds at any season. The penalty for violating this law is five dollars for every offence.

The English papers credit the story that the Prince of Wales is married to a beautiful young Irish lady.

There are no less than thirty-seven rebellions recorded in English history between the time of William the Conqueror, A. D., 1066, and the Irish outbreak in 1803.

The rebel House of Representatives has passed a bill for free trade with all nations except the United States.

Hon. Edward McPherson has presented petitions to the House of Representatives, praying for the establishment of a German Professorship at West Point.

An Englishman, Mr. Parker Show, will soon arrive in New York, on his way to the north in search of traces of Sir John Franklin and his party. The sister of one of the lost officers and her friends furnish most of the means for the expedition.

John Brown, Jr., writes from Humboldt, Kansas, to some friend in Canada, that the regiment to which he belongs has, thus far, succeeded in liberating 1,700 slaves belonging to the rebels in Missouri.

Sidney Johnson and Beaugard avowed their determination, in going into the late battle, to conquer or die.—Johnson did one, Beaugard did neither.

George W. Randolph, the new Rebel Secretary of War, is a grandson of Thos. Jefferson.

The Governor of Vermont intimates to the Secretary of War that if there are deficiencies in the number of army surgeons, he will at once send some of the best members of the profession from that State at once to supplement the army staff.

Counterfeit Colonels, Majors and pretended officers have been arrested in Washington by the score. During the whole Winter the hotels have been infested with these epauletted vagabonds. Large numbers have been sent to the guard-house, stripped of their feathers and out adrift.

A few days since a son of Mr. Koser, near Dauphin, while playing beside a stream of water slipped in, but before assistance could be rendered the little fellow was drowned.

Muntsville, Alabama, now held by Union troops, is the home of Leroy Pope Walker, late Rebel Secretary of War, who predicted, on the fall of Sumter, that the Rebel flag would wave over Faucett Hall.

The Richmond Examiner learns that the expenditures of the confederate government are at the rate of two or three millions a day, and there is a weekly addition of that sum to the currency.

Governor Harney, of Wisconsin was drowned at Savannah, Tenn., on Saturday night, while stepping from one boat to another. His body was not recovered. He had gone to Savannah in charge of hospital stores from Wisconsin for the wounded soldiers.

General Fremont telegraphs to the War Department that the rebels, 3500 strong, driven out of western Virginia, are fortifying themselves on the crest of the Shenandoah mountains.

The "Nashville Union" states that Tennesseeans were rapidly enlisting in the Union army, and that a larger number will enlist than ever volunteered or were drafted into the Confederate army. This is admitted a good deal. The Nashville papers are gradually coming out Union—that is, just as much as they feel warranted in doing by the success of our arms.

One of McClellan's soldiers, on the Yorktown expedition, tried to buy a pie at a house which the troops passed on their march. The people were astonished, and exclaimed, "What! a pie and molasses $5 a gallon!" The blockade in that vicinity does not seem to have been a paper one and no doubt the same in the case elsewhere; this cry of "paper blockade" is in a great measure, got up by that class who creak at everything.

SAD DEATH OF AN OLD SOLDIER.—James Mitchell, a native of Carlisle, and a soldier of the war of 1812, died at the Cumberland county poor house last week, aged seventy-three years. Mitchell was one of the fifteen Pennsylvanians who volunteered to man Perry's fleet, previous to the battle of Lake Erie, and was on board the Lawrence during the sanguinary conflict. At the close of the war he received a vote of thanks and a silver medal from the Legislature of Pennsylvania. He was without family, and for years his habits were such as to render the promptings of benevolence useless in his favor, and he died a pauper.

Gen. Halleck disposes of suspected traitors in Missouri by a very summary process. He compels them to pay for the support of the families of Union soldiers, and adds the comfortable cataplasm of the oath of allegiance. In Washington City no such civilities have been extended to the same class; but we are glad to see that Senator Grimes has reported a bill which requires all voters in the city to make oath to support the Constitution, and that they have always been loyal and true to the Government of the United States.

A couple of rebels in crinolines were passing the military prison on Green street yesterday, and, to avoid walking under the flag of the Union, which hangs from the building, they stepped from the curb half way across the street in deep mud. This was a very dirty proceeding, but the law of compensation rewarded their sacrifice of comfort by allowing them to expose two passable attractive pairs of ankles to the officers and soldiers on guard.—Louisville Journal.

The farmers and traders of London and other counties in Virginia, are beginning to make their appearance in Baltimore and Washington with considerable amounts of coin and bank notes, which they buried at the outbreak of the insurrection. One man had $8000, another $3000, and so on, all which bore the evidence of the earthly receptacle to which they had been committed for safe keeping.

Henry Clay's grandson—Battle Field, Pittsburg, Tenn., April 10th 1862. We have won a great battle. The Second Division is famous. I am safe.

The author of this dispatch, which was received in Louisville, Ky., after the battle at Pittsburg Landing is an Aid of Gen. Johnson in Brigadier General McCook's Division, and one of the proudest honors he can ever enjoy is that he is a son of the lamented Henry Clay who fell gloriously at Buena Vista.

It is evident, from the established fact of Jeff Davis' sending a large sum of his own money within the last few weeks to be deposited in Cuba, that he is preparing to evacuate the country as Santa Anna upon two or three occasions evacuated Mexico.

How the awful and majestic shade of George Washington must frown upon the rebel efforts to desecrate the fane of Yorktown, which is written on the brightest page of our revolutionary struggle!

The lonely soldier walking his rounds at night, exposed to dreaching rains and chilled night air, is often seized with most violent Coughs, Croup and asthma. Holloway's best symptoms of quick consumption, but if supplied with Holloway's Pills and Holloway's Ointment, all danger is averted, a few Pills taken night and morning, and the Ointment briskly rubbed twice a day over the throat and chest will remove all sources of pain and stop the most distressing or Dangerous cough. Therefore we say to the whole Army.

Soldiers Attention!! See to your own health, do not trust to the Army supplies, although most valuable.—These Pills and Ointment have been thoroughly tested, they are the only remedies used in the European Camps and Barracks, for over forty years Doctor Holloway has supplied all the Armies in Europe, and during the Crimean Campaign he established a depot at Balaklava, for the exclusive sale of these Great Remedies, many a time his special Agent there has sold over a ton in weight of the Ointment in a single day. These terrible and fatal enemies of the SOLDIERS IN CAMP, Dieren, Dysentery, Scarcy, Sore and Scrofulous Eruptions, disappear like a charm before these Pills & Ointment, and now while the cry rings throughout the land,

Do not let these brave men perish by disease place in their hands these Precious Remedies, that will enable them to resist the dangerous exposures, the Fevers, the Chills, and the wounds which they cannot avoid, and that in mercy, cannot frequently get succour in the moment of need, whereas if our brave men have only to put their hands into their Knapsacks and find there a sure remedy for all the casualties of the battle field. How many thousands of lives would thus be saved who would otherwise perish before relief could be obtained.
