LANCASTER FENCIBLES: An election for officers of the Lancaster Fencibles recently took place at their Armory, in this city, and resulted as follows:— Captain—Emanuel Franklin. 1st Lieutenant—John I. Hartman. 2d Lieut.—James P. Dysart. 2d 2d Lieut.—John T. MacGonigle. Orderly Sergeant—Henry E. Slaymaker. 2d Sergt.—Samuel W. Rowe. 3d Sergt.—Henry C. Biggs. 4th Sergt.—Daniel H. Heitsh. Quartermaster Sergeant—David Bair Jr. 1st Corporal—Andrew McGinnis. 2d Cor.—Samuel C. Steigewalt. 3d Cor.—James Redecker. 4th Cor.—Benjamin Conn. Secretary—Edwin E. Snyder. Treasurer—Andrew McGinnis. Surgeon—Dr. Henry Carpenter.

The Fencibles have adopted a new and temporary uniform, consisting of dark blue blouse, dark pants and a fatigue cap, which makes a very pretty appearance. They have also organized a Drum Corps, consisting of eight drummer boys. This splendid body of citizen soldiery is now stronger than ever it was, number fully one hundred active members. The military spirit, although the war is still progressing, has not been suffered to die out in our midst. We have as fine a battalion of soldiers as are to be found anywhere in the State, viz: Fencibles, Captain Franklin; Jackson Rifles, Lieut. John Rees; Independent Greys, Capt. Boyle; Artillery Cadets, Capt Young.—Lancaster Union.

Capt. William G. Kendrick, of Company A, 79th (Lancaster County) Regiment arrived at home on Tuesday last. It will be remembered that the Captain and fifteen of his men, whilst repairing the telegraph line near Pulaski, Tennessee, were taken prisoners a few weeks ago by Col. Morgan and a portion of his command, and were subsequently released on parole. The Captain will remain at home until he is honorably exchanged. He is looking very well.

A most distressing accident occurred on Thursday noon, near the railroad tunnel, by which an old German named Wolfberger lost his life. From as near as we can learn, the old man was on his return to this borough, from Columbia, where he had been to church, and when near the tunnel—walking on the track—the mail train west confused him and he was overtaken and run over, and literally cut to pieces.

What a lively time the boys have—and some of a large growth too—in laying away quarters for the Circus on Saturday next. Just think of it—Dag Gardner is coming—and then for fun,

My Dear Col: I have not been able to write for some time. We arrived at this renowned spot on Monday morning the 12th. I will commence at Alexandria and briefly give you an illustration of "squatter sovereignty" in that place: An individual will see a sign in front of a building—Miss A. & B. Fancy Store—you walk in, when you find you can be accommodated with groceries, fish, salt, &c.—C. D. Jeweller—here you will find a Jew selling clothing—E. F. Coachmaker—here you will find a lager-beer shop or some contraband keeping oysters.—These few instances will illustrate how practically the squatter business has been carried on at Alexandria;—as the rebels left, the newcomers took possession and set up business quite different from what the signs indicated. The merchants and businessmen, however, can resume business on taking the oath of allegiance to the United States and to the new Commonwealth of Virginia under Governor Pierpont. A great many refuse the oath to the new State—preferring to hold-on to the "Old Dominion," and in consequence of such refusal 23 business establishments which had continued and remained open are now closed. What the result will be it is hard to conjecture. Gov. Pierpont addressed the Alexandrians a couple of weeks since with regard to their duty as citizens; his remarks were brief and well-timed. He is spoken of as a firm and determined man—one that cannot be trifled with—they will be obliged to do one thing or the other; some, however, think that if Virginia is shortly taken the old government will go on under Gov. Pierpont. There are a great many secessionists in Alexandria and I have no doubt if it did not lay under the guns of Fort Ellsworth, a powerful construction—and Fort Lyons—there would be frequent outbreaks by the citizens, as only one regiment is stationed there. About three miles from Alexandria, on the left of the railroad, are two or three very fine farms—one of them belonging to Mason and is said where he was born, the mansion of which we use for a hospital. From Fairfax Station to Bull Run Bridge—where the principle part of my command is stationed to guard, and for the safety of which I am responsible, is generally hilly but the largest white-oak timber I ever saw. South of Bull Run Station are a great many nuts, built by the rebels, and good ones too. The land about the Junction lies beautifully, and from accounts must have been well cultivated, but all the buildings occupied by white folks, with very few exceptions, were destroyed and burned. The conflagration was not intentional but to prevent the Union forces from getting their baggage wagons, trunks, &c., they fired them and the flames communicated to the warehouses, in which were stored a vast lot of greese, which produced an awful and destructive bonfire—at one place you can now see enough of tallow that did not burn to load 8 or 10 army wagons. The works around this place were well arranged and so located that they commanded every portion of the country. About one mile North of this, is where Beauregard had his head quarters—this farm is one of the finest I ever saw and is in charge of a government agent—it having been confiscated and will shortly be sold, together with its entire stock, which is of the very best character. The farms in this section are very tastefully laid out and the only section I have been in that reminds me of portions of old Lancaster county, and the rebels very wisely selected it for excellent winter quarters, which they had.

There being such an irregular walk for our regiment now that we hardly get the news of the times. In my next I will give you a description of the Bull Run Battle Field. The Marietta boys are all well and enjoying themselves in fishing. E. D. R.

The Columbia and Maryland line Railroad is being pushed forward again and with show of determined success. The present officers are as follows: President: Bartram A. Shaeffer. Directors: Jeremiah B. Haines, Jacob Toms, Thos. Baumgardner, C. S. Kauffman, Joseph Ballance, Jas. McSparran, John A. Sheaff, John Long, Samuel J. Reeves, Jeremiah Brown, Wyatt W. Miller, Jacob B. Shuman. Chief Engineer: John Sheaff. Treasurer: Joseph Ballance. Secretary: Jeremiah Brown.

Col. Amos S. Green one of the track contractors of the Reading and Columbia Railroad, we understand is pushing forward his part of the work with great rapidity. The Col. will not be found napping when there is room for anything to be done.

A week or ten days since we received a letter from Quartermaster McClure, Otter Island, in which he speaks of the good condition and fine spirits of the Marietta boys on the Island. Col. Welsh is in fine health and is anxious to gratify his men with a brush.

The next meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held on Monday the 9th of June at 2 o'clock P. M. at Cooper's Hotel. Premiums will be awarded for fine Strawberries &c.

FRENCH'S CONICAL WASHING MACHINES! The most simple, durable, convenient and economical article ever invented for the purpose. Will do the washing of an ordinary family before breakfast, not only saving time but clothes. Strictly following the printed directions, which are simple and easy, it will wash, at one time, six shirts, or two dozen small articles, in about six or seven minutes, or their equivalent. By all the ordinary methods of cleaning fine fabrics, such as laces, &c., the greatest care is required, and with this machine the most delicate articles can be washed without the possibility of damage. These results are produced by the constant rotation of the suds while the machine is in motion. Families, laundries, hotels, boarding houses, hospitals, asylums, boarding schools, on ships and on steamers, and in the army, who have machines in use, have sent in their testimonials voluntarily, and the enclosures of the press are very numerous, some of which I have published in a neat pamphlet form. All I ask of the public is a careful examination of this machine before purchasing of others. General Depot, 419 Broadway, corner of Canal street, New-York. PRICE ONLY TEN DOLLARS. N.
