MEASURES MATHER & ABBOTT, No. 235 Broadway, New-York, are duly authorized to act for us in soliciting advertisements, &c.

NO QUARTER TO PIGMY BUTLER.—Let this be the sworn resolve of every Southern man. The debased wretch and inhuman tyrant who has published his proclamation, consigning to the horrid embraces of a bestial soldiery the mothers and daughters of a Southern city, which, for the time, is at his mercy, deserves not to be treated according to the laws of honorable warfare. If he is caught, hang him! If he keeps out of harm's reach, and ventures not upon the field of battle, let poison or the knife do its secret but deadly work. He has forfeited his life, in any manner by which it can be taken, to every man, woman and child in the Confederacy. As God is our judge, says the Mississippian, we believe the day of retribution is coming for the monster, and for the Government which sustains him in his crimes. How hard they die.

Lieutenant James Forney, of the Marine corps, who through a very young man, was, by the resignation of Capt. Buchanan and Col. Ferret, left in temporary charge of the Washington Navy-Yard in the dark days of July last, has again signalized his courage. Capt. Craven, in his report to the Navy Department, stated that he assigned him two guns at the passage of the Mississippi, and that he fought them most gallantly. He is a son of Col. John W. Forney, Secretary of the United States Senate. His name was originally James Buchanan Forney, but when the "Old Public Functionary" was found playing hands with the traitors in his unutterable atrocious course toward Kansas, young James promptly spurned from his name the mark of the aider and abettor. A noble young man, truly.

THE EVENTS OF A YEAR: On the 13th of May, 1861, it is said that Jeff Davis sent to Gen. Scott an ear of corn, as typical of the straits to which the Union forces would speedily be reduced, if they persisted in the invasion of the sacred soil of Virginia, which was commenced on the 24th of May, by the occupation of Alexandria, and sealed by the blood of Ellsworth, on the part of the North, and that of the assassin Jackson, for the South. One year has elapsed. Who wants the corn now?

A large proportion of the rebel prisoners taken at Corinth and before Richmond, declare that they were forced into the army against their will—that they were tired of it, and such as had no families said they would not return into Dixie. A number offered to enter the Army. Some of the troops are mere boys scarcely sixteen. If the private in the whole rebel army had their way, it would be at once disbanded. They have been grossly misled and deceived.

TAX ON SLAVES.—In the United States Senate on Thursday, the tax bill being under consideration, Mr. Sumner's amendment to tax owners of slaves at the rate of $2 for each person held in bondage was carried by a vote of 19 to 15. Only one Democrat, Rice, of Minnesota, voted aye, and eight Republicans voted nay, viz.:—Browning, Cowan, Dixon, Foster, Doolittle, Hale, Lane, and Wilson.

A letter from a private in the 15th Maine regiment states that on the passage to Ship Island, one of the enlisted soldiers was discovered to be a woman from Aroostock county. Col. McClusky called her into the cabin and made her resume the dress of her sex. She was greatly discomfited at the failure of her attempt to be a "brave soldier boy."

It is stated that Colonel Long of the rebel service, who was captured at Chickahominy, was a Lieutenant in the United States army, and resigned to join the rebels. He is a son-in-law of Brigadier General Sumner. General Sumner has another son-in-law in the rebel service, who was seized with paralysis at Bull Run.

A Mrs. Murphy, widow, of Eastport, Mo., was found dead in her bed on the 23d ult. The town authorities found $1,700 on her premises, of which $400 in gold was sewed in her dresses. She left a request to be buried in the gold lined casket; but whether the coin was to be taken out the papers do not state.

A young counter jumper in Pittsfield, Mass., let a lady into a private room back of the store to try on a hoop skirt and thinking she had been long enough about it, opened the door to find that she had disappeared with the goods, through another door into the street.

PENNSYLVANIANS IN THE FIELD.—Pennsylvania has now one hundred and fifteen regiments enrolled. The total number in the service of the State is given at one hundred and thirteen thousand, of which, however, it is safe to say there are not more than one hundred thousand now on duty, if indeed there be quite so many. The condition of the Pennsylvania troops is all that could be desired. They are in a high state of discipline, and are provided with everything essential to their comfort and efficiency. Besides the immense force which the State has equipped and put in the field, the artillery arm of the service has been greatly strengthened, until we now doubt if there is a State, in the Union can, in this respect, compare with us. All the old guns have been remounted and fitted for service, and as they stand ranged in front of the armory, present quite a formidable appearance. It is the intention to send these guns to Philadelphia, where they will be kept until such time as the State may need their service.

A NOBLE WOMAN.—The wife Gen. W. H. L. Wallace, of Ottawa, went up to Pittsburg on one of the first boats after the battle, having heard that her husband was wounded. When she arrived she found him already dead. For a brief season she yielded to the great grief of her bereaved soul, and wept over her dead, refusing to be comforted. But when she saw all round on the boat the men who had fought and fallen with him there yet alive, in pain and thirst, with none to help them, she turned from her dead to the living, and all night long went from man to man with water and with words of comfort, and the holy succor that must come out of such an inspiration in such a place.

The Memphis Avalanche complains that the men who now refuse to accredit the Confederate government, and take its notes are the individuals who were first and foremost to involve the country in the revolution; and those who resolved that they would spend their "last dime," and "spill their last drop of blood." Of course they are, and there never has been such a gigantic stock swindle since the days of Law's Mississippi scheme, or the South Sea bubble as the issue of four hundred millions of Confederate Treasury notes. The "first and foremost" of the plotters left the worthless securities in the hands of the people and hold the State bounds themselves.

It is now positively stated that the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, of Baltimore will go to New Orleans at an early day upon a Government mission. He is now at Hagerstown, Maryland, upon legal business, and will proceed South immediately upon his return. The object of his visit, it is said to be for the purpose of taking the necessary proofs for the final amicable settlement of the difficulties which occurred between General Butler and the Foreign Consuls, on the taking possession of the Crescent City by that officers.

A letter from the Headquarters of General McClellan, makes this statement, which, if true, is eminently disgraceful to those to whom it is applied: "A great number of officers and soldiers are now absent, on pretext of being sick from their regiments, idling away time in the nothern towns and cities. The army is on the eve of a decisive battle when every man should be at his post. Let citizens ask of such persons the cause of their absence from the Army of the Potomac, and, if the reason be not satisfactory, shun them as unworthy associates, and a disgrace to the uniform they appear in."

Enlistments for the U. S. army are going on very successfully at New Orleans. No conception is practised in this case, and, if the rebel conscription had not taken off so many loyal men, the loyal recruiting would be far more rapid than it is. Of all the many thousands and victims forcibly impressed into the rebel ranks, we have no doubt that three fourths would gladly at this moment exchange the rebel flag for the banner of the Union.

All the rebel fortifications on the Elizabeth river and about Gosport navy-yard have been taken possession of by the navy. The former are to be destroyed, and the blowing up of the works on Sewall's Point was commenced Friday. There is great suffering in Norfolk among the poor classes in consequence of the strict blockade. Over two thousand persons had taken the oath of allegiance to uphold the Union.

In one of Gen. Butler's proclamations at New Orleans, we find the following graphic description of the condition in which he found that city: "We find, substantially, only fugitive masses, runaway property owners, a whisky drinking mob, and starving citizens with their wives and children. It is our duty to call back the first, to punish the second, root out the third, and feed and protect the last."

We see it advertised a "Rotary Umbrella." This may be useful in the event of losing one, for there may be a circumbendibus chance then of its coming round again to its original owner.

Prentice says Lot's wife would be worth seventy-five cents a pound in the Southern Confederacy.

Court was in session; the judge announced that it was adjourned sine die, and judge and lawyers joined in the movement.

The Memphis Appeal boasts that the rebel government is raising "fresh soldiers" in the South. One might suppose that all the section would be "fresh," it has been so long since they were able to get any salt.

TRAIN ON RUSSELL.—Mr. Geo. Francis Train, a New England Yankee, now in England, a ready speaker and thorough-going Unionist, has done much service to his country by presenting the Rebels to the people of England in their proper light. He goes right in among the English in their discussions in London, and tells them some wholesome truths not very gratifying to their national vanity. Recently, in one of these debates the matter was discussed whether President Lincoln was justified in refusing to allow Russell, the Secesh correspondent of the London Times, to accompany our army: Russell is a great favorite with the English, and they all spoke on his side. Train took the other side, and layed the correspondent with his plain exposures of his duplicity. He held him up before his admirers as a "charlatan" and "a systematic liar." The brook of British tried to cry Train down, but he went on pouring the hot shot into Russell until the audience seemed to be almost ashamed of his nationality.

PEOPLE'S UNION STATE TICKET.—The State Convention to which all Union men are invited to send delegates, is called to meet at Harrisburg on the 17th of July. The object is to nominate a Union State Ticket—or candidates for Auditor and Surveyor General. We are glad to learn that public opinion has settled down almost unanimously in favor of the re-nomination of our present excellent Auditor General, Hon. Thos. E. Cochran. The Hon. John Rowe, appears to be fixed upon with equal unanimity for Surveyor General, in place of Mr. Souther, who declines a re-nomination. Mr. Rowe is a Union Democrat, and was the Speaker of the last House of Representatives. With such a ticket in the field success would be certain.

RENOUNCES SECESSION.—A large Union meeting was held at Columbia, Tenn., on the 2d inst. There were fifteen hundred present, and the deepest interest was exhibited. Ex-Governor Neil Brown, in addressing the meeting, said, in his judgment, the rebellion was played out, and Tennessee ought now to be all for the Union. Tennessee was lost forever to the Confederacy. Common sense showed the folly of contending against the Federal Government, and the longer the war was kept up the worse it would be for the South. Gov. Brown has been a prominent rebel and a member of the Confederate military board of Tennessee. Governor Johnson made a very powerful speech of two hours, in which he said the Government should not be given to traitors but to loyal men. His speech was loudly applauded.

A REBEL LADY.—A letter from Winchester, Va., states that among the rankest of the rank secession ladies there is Mrs. Dandridge, better known as "Betty Bliss," the daughter of the late President Zachary Taylor. The lady recently paid a visit to the prison there, to see some of the rebel inmates, and during her stay had the bad taste to express the benevolent wish that our troops might be destroyed by the yellow fever, if not by powder and lead.

ANOTHER OLD SOLDIER GONE.—Died, on Friday, May 30, 1862, at the residence of his son, Solomon File, in Jefferson township, Dauphin county, Pa., John File, at the advanced age of one hundred and twelve years. It was stated from the pulpit that he never was known to make use of glasses either to read or write, and that until within two weeks of his death he was able to read. He was an American, but born of German parents, and for many years past resided in Dauphin county.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.—A horse at New London belonging to Abner Bassett, having been pretty much worn out in handling up vessels on marine railways by traveling around a capstan for ten years, now "goes through the motions" for hours every day, in a particular spot of the lot where he is pastured. He "winds his round" in imagination with perfect steadiness and regularity, showing the force of horse habit.

An esteemed citizen of Worcester, Mass., was in Boston recently, paying ninety per cent. of indebtedness incurred nearly thirty years ago, out of which through misfortunes, he has heretofore been able to pay only ten per cent.—Most of his creditors had forgotten all about the transactions.

One year ago there were sixteen democratic Governors in the United States. Eleven of this number are now open and defiant rebels; one lies in an a traitors grave, and Boriah Magoffin would be an open rebel if he dared.

"Vallandigham, the rebel sympathiser, who represents in Congress the Dayton, (O.) District, is a graduate of Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pa. (an Old School Presbyterian institution), and was a member of the Franklin Literary Institute, a Society embracing a large portion of the graduates and students. The Society, in view of his disgraceful course in Congress, lately expelled him by a unanimous vote." So says the Bucks County Intelligencer.

The present Congress has been emphatically a working Congress. It has declared the National Capital free forever—has prohibited slavery forever in all the Territories—set apart and consecrated the public domain in free homes for free men—authorized the Pacific rail road and inaugurated the policy of emancipation. This is a short but glorious record.
