SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1862.

To our first page will be found a very interesting paper from our former townsman, Capt. Rathvon, on "the true cause of the war."

At a meeting of the "S. B. Thomas Rifles," held on Friday evening the 21st instant, at the Armory, the following civil officers were elected :

President, Col. W. H. Eagle,

Treasurer, C. C. P. Grosh,

Trustees, Capt. W. H. H. Roth, William L. Sultzbach and John S. Miller. We are glad to learn that the "Rifles" is in a flourishing condition-not only in the manuel of arms but in a literary point of view. The week is dividedtwo evenings for drill and the balance of the week for literary improvement.

Samuel Herr, the obliging little bar-keeper for several years at Heckrothe's White Swan, returns to town on a flying visit to his friends. He was taken prisoner at the seven days battle, having been wounded in the thigh and arm. He has entirely recovered and looks remarkably well. He returns to his regiment, first Pennsylvania reserves, in a few days, having been parolled and | tled in this place, is, which was the betnow exchanged, is ordered to report | ter of the two suppers given last week; himself for duty, at once.

Mr. F. was disappointed in not getting the lot he had leased, to place the house on, and consequently sold the building to a gentleman at the navy yard, and that too at a very nice advance on the cost of the building. He has since rented a very pleasant brick house on the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Second street; also the furniture and store room fixtures. The dwelling portion will be converted into a boarding house, the store room into a grocery and provision store and the cellar into a meet cellar. Mr. F. will leave for Baltimore on Wednesday to lay-in his groceries, &c., whilst your humble servant will remain in charge of the "Soldiers' Home," which I assure you is doing a brisk business; quite a number of the Marietta boys are boarding with us and our regiment is considered one of the best in the service. The boys of Company "H.," Capt. Miller's. are in fine health and spirits. John W. Haslett, who was a member of the Bucktail regiment, and a prisoner for three months in Richmond, is now with us; he has been very sick but is slowly recovering. Truly, your friend,
