MARIETTA, PA.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1863.

LEE PREPARING TO MOVE.—The Richmond Enquirer of September 8th, contains an editorial article hinting that Lee would soon attempt to drive Meade to the fortifications of Washington, and then make another invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania. It affects to consider the rebel cause as hopeful, and urges the adoption of an offensive campaign. The article is believed to foreshadow some important movements of Lee's army in this direction. Surely Lee cannot sit down with his hands in his pocket and see all the great strongholds in rebellion falling into our hands, one after another, without making one more desperate effort to retake, and thus in a measure to retrieve the rebel misfortunes.

General Grant finds himself short of cavalry since the departure of the 13th Army Corps, and is therefore making arrangements to mount two or three regiments of infantry. General Thomas also proposes to have a regiment of colored troops, 1000 strong, mounted on mules. Whether brilliant or not, such a body of men would be very serviceable. In the present state of the service in this department, while the rebels are disheartened and demoralized, and while rapid marches and surprises are more important than heavy fighting, cavalry is needed more than ever before; and as we have plenty of captured horses, if the experiment of mounting infantry succeeds, we will soon be at no loss in this matter.

Sometime during this campaign, George B. Pugh, the Copperhead candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, cast an imputation upon the courage of colored men, whereupon he was challenged by Jefferson Y. Toombs, an ex-slave, of Cincinnati—but thus far, the ex-Senator has not seen fit to take up the gauntlet. Toombs is a son of Brigadier General Robert Toombs—formerly U. S. Senator Toombs of Georgia—by a female slave. His paternity is distinguishedly honorable, but his color is unconstitutional! It is a matter seriously to be regretted that Mr. Pugh should be quarreling with the son of his old friend.

Parson Brownlow has arrived in Knoxville, and will soon re-establish the Knoxville Whig, with its new associate title, "The Rebel Ventilator." The parson says: "I expect to issue the first number in October, as it was in that month two years ago, my paper was crushed out by the God-forsaken mob at Knoxville, called the Confederate authorities. I will commence with this hell-born and hell-bound rebellion where the traitors forced me to leave off, and all who wish the paper would do well to begin with the first issue, as I intend that single paper shall be worth the subscription price to any unconditional Union man." The parson is privileged to speak with emphasis, and deserves well of his country.

Major-General Burnside, having cleared East Tennessee of rebels and restored the supremacy of the National Government, has tendered his resignation to the President. The prime motives for this, it is said, are 1st, the abrogation of some of his orders by the President; and 2d, the interference with his plans by the half-coppery politicians of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana. The President has, however, refused to accept his resignation, and requests him to remain at the head of the army he has so well and successfully commanded.

Louis Napoleon shows much tact in the treatment of soldiers. He gave a ball in honor of the taking of Mexico, sent two tickets to each soldier of a regiment, and when the men came, attended by pretty village girls of Vichy, he and the Empress commenced the festivities, and high ladies of the Court joined with peasantesses and privates in keeping up the dancing until 8 o'clock the next morning.

Why does not George W. Woodward visit the army of the Potomac, and explain to the soldiers his reasons for denying them the right to vote? They would be glad to have an explanation, for at present they feel very sore about being treated as unfit to take a part in the Government of the country they are fighting for.

The town Council of Carlisle has adopted a resolution directing an investigation into the losses sustained by the citizens of that place at the hands of the rebels during the recent invasion with a view, we presume, of aiding the losers to obtain remuneration.

Can you oppose the Government and the Rebellion at the same time? Governor Seymour pretended he could, and the riots proved that he couldn't.

An unofficial estimate of the number of colored seamen in the Navy, shows that there are now about 5000 in that branch of the public service. They were originally introduced as cooks and stewards, and for years were not seen on deck. Long before the war, however, they were allowed in the "after-guard," and got along so well with the sailors and marines that the propriety of putting them in the "top" soon became apparent. At present they are seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen and boys—the marine corps and the ward room being the only portions of a man-of-war from which they are excluded.

In St. Clair county, Miss., the Union feeling is so strong that secessionists are not allowed to stay there. In other sections men are secreted in swamps and caves, and would join the Federal army but for the danger of capture by the rebels while making their way to our lines. Three hundred deserters have rendezvoused in Winston county, all armed and determined to resist the rebel authorities to the last. The rebels are conscripting negroes at Talladega, to build breastworks at Selma. These statements are daily confirmed by deserters and refugees, and are believed to be true.

General Blunt, after defeating the rebels Steele and Cooper, pursued them to Perryville, a hundred miles south of the Arkansas river, and only fifty miles south from the Red river. Here he destroyed their commissary depot, and then chased them to Boggy Depot, a point on the Red river. The whole of the Indian Territory is now clear of rebels. General Blunt is marching on Fort Smith, which will be taken without much difficulty.

John Tyler's son, Robert, has been amusing himself and the public by attempting to demonstrate in the Richmond Sentinel that there is no valid reason for the depreciation of the rebel currency, that in fact the depreciation is absurd. We do not hear that he purports to justify his reasoning by purchasing confederate paper at par. He doubtless holds with the old French theorist, that if the facts do not agree with his theory, so much the worse for the facts.

The following is reported as a fact:—A Louisville Union lady, a few days ago, called upon a secession friend, and felt compelled to listen to her tirade. On rising to leave she noticed and praised a portrait of General Geo. Washington, whereupon the rebel remarked, "I intend to get fine portraits of Jeff. Davis and Beauregard and hang one on each side of that." "Do," said Union, "we read in the Bible that our Saviour was hung between two thieves."

The abandonment of Forts Wagner and Gregg by the rebels allows Gilmore to advance his batteries one mile nearer Charleston, and makes them so much the more efficient in service. The distance from Fort Gregg to Fort Moultrie, on Sullivan's Island, is a mile and a half. Battery Bee, on the same Island, and north from Moultrie, will, like the latter, be within range of Gilmore's heavy guns, either at the Cumming's Point battery or at Fort Wagner.

Eighty National Banks, with an aggregate capital of $10,340,000, have already been authorized to commence operations. In a little while every town in the country with business warranting a National institution, will have one; and the larger towns and cities will establish from two to a dozen. We shall soon see, or we are greatly mistaken, the National currency taking the place exclusively of that of our State banks.

A few evenings ago, at Portland Mills, several miles from Clarion, Pa., while the provost marshal of Elk county was attempting to arrest a deserter named Daniel Smith, and during a scuffle with him, the revolver of the marshal was knocked from his hand and accidentally exploded, the ball entering the neck of Mrs. Smith, killing her instantly. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Scurvy and scrofulous eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food, and drenching rains will make sad havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with Holloway's Ointment, as it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. Only 25 cents per pot.

Nearly every gate in the city of Vicksburg is now adorned with an unexploded 13-inch shell, placed on the top of each post. The porches and piazzas (nearly every house has one) are ornamented with curious collections of shot and shell which fell on their premises during the bombardment of that city by the Federal forces.

Adjutant General Russell, who has lost his companion and several children, by death, within the past year, received word on Friday evening of the death of his mother, at Bedford, to which place he started next morning.

We understand that colored recruits from various parts of Pennsylvania arrive in the city of Philadelphia daily, averaging fifteen or twenty daily.

General News Items.

Our very latest despatch from London states that the United States Minister in Paris had been instructed to protest against Napoleon's proceedings in Mexico.

The London Times of the 27th of August says the United States cannot make war on France, on account of Mexico, as the "first" really offensive threat against Napoleon would be the signal for the delivery of the Confederates.

It is said that a European loan has been proposed in order to start Maximilian as Emperor in Mexico.

Jeff. Davis has again applied to Spain for aid, offering to guarantee her the possession of Cuba and Porto Rico. Spain rejected his proposal.

The Western papers contain full accounts of the ravages of the frost in that section of the country. Corn, tobacco, buckwheat, and various kinds of garden vegetables have been materially injured in various portions of Illinois, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

Hon. Greene C. Bronson, of New York, died at Saratoga Springs on the 3d inst., aged 74 years.

The Washington Republican says:—"The rebel authorities have expressed a willingness to exchange all prisoners except the white officers of black regiments. They would not condescend to entertain such an insulting proposition."

Among the property confiscated and offered for sale by the United States Marshal in New Orleans, is one lot of ground belonging to General G. T. Beauregard. Eight or ten columns of the Era are filled with advertisements of confiscated property.

Queen Victoria's letter forbidding the ladies of England to wear crinoline was copied into many papers as genuine, but it turns out to be a hoax of Panch's, who does not scruple to laugh at royalty and feminine fashions sometimes.

The postal fractional currency has all been counterfeited—5c., 10c., 25c., and 50c.—but the engraving, particularly the Washington heads, on the counterfeits, are inanimate, monkey-like blotches. A half-expert in engraving could detect them.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company are about erecting a mammoth depot in the city of Philadelphia, to suit the conveniences of the company, &c.

A proposition has been introduced into the Canadian Parliament to raise $1,000,000 a year by taxation, for the support of the militia.

The Navy Department has purchased the prize steamer Peterhoff, about whose capture there was so much dispute some time since. The vessel is a very valuable one, in fine condition.

General Grant recently remarked to some Illinois gentlemen that he had extended Gen. Logan's furlough without any request on his part, "for the reason that he still considered him in the field doing duty while he was fighting the copperheads of Illinois."

The flag staff on Fort Sumter has been shot away fourteen times, and the fort itself struck 5625 times.

A founding at Lille, France, who earned his living as a cotton-spinner, has been discovered to be the son of a Russian prince and a Belgian marchioness, and entitled to an estate of five hundred thousand pounds sterling.

Hon. Cassius M. Clay, Russian Minister, writes in a letter to a friend in Washington: "They have granted me a telegraph line charter, the line to run from the mouth of the Amoor river to America. It will unite all the continents and be the greatest work of the age. It will illustrate my mission to this country."

Late Southern papers have been received, containing glorious forebodings in regard to the fate of Charleston, the fall of which they appear to regard as certain. They expect that Charleston will be either surrendered or burned to ashes in a few days, and dread the effect of Greek fire.

The Memphians have been amused in a rather novel manner the past week. A circus man, named Tom Cony, after duly advertising the feat, sailed down the Mississippi river in a washtub, drawn by two geese.

Mr. David Johnson, of Latimore township, Adams county, died a few days ago at the age of nearly one hundred years. He was a highly respected citizen, and his death is lamented by a very large circle of friends.

We learn that Camp Curtin is to be abandoned. A new site for a camp has been selected, on the farm of Mr. Ruthersford, three miles from Harrisburg, on the Reading pike. The location is said to be the best in the neighborhood.

General Gilmore is erecting new batteries at Fort Gregg, and will be able to send shells without difficulty into the heart of the city.

Among those mentioned as likely to be appointed military commander of Texas is General Joseph Hooker.

HENRY CLAY ON SLAVERY.—"So long as God allows the vital current to flow through my veins, I will not aid in admitting one rod of free territory to the everlasting curse of human bondage," said Mr. Clay.

Alluding to the time the above sentiment was uttered, Thomas H. Benton says:—"That was a proud day. I could have wished that I had spoken the same words. I speak them now, telling you they were his, and adopting them as my own."

The man who repeats the above statement at this day, is called a black-mouthed abolitionist by the vermin crawling on the dead body of the old Democratic party.

The mother of the late Senator Yancey, married for her second husband, Rev. Nathaniel S. Beman, who then occupied a pulpit in Alabama. Dr. Beman brought the mother and son to Troy, educated the latter, but had much trouble from his ungovernable disposition. After graduating at Williams College, Yancey returned to Alabama, where he spent the rest of his life in plotting for the overthrow of the Government.

The parole camp at West Chester has been almost entirely deserted—the only persons there now being a few sick soldiers quartered in the hospital, and they will be removed as soon as they are so far recovered as to be able to be removed. The guards have left for Reading, to which place they were ordered.

The Soldiers True Friend Always Ready. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Long marches, sore and stiff joints, blistered and inflamed feet, all these the Soldiers must endure. Mothers, REMEMBER THIS, when your sons are grasping their muskets to meet danger, furnish them with a single tin of this A. J. HOLLOWAY'S Ointment. It will give to the one you love, far away from home and friends. It hardens and makes tough the feet so that they can endure great fatigue. It soothes and relieves the inflamed and stiffened joints, leaving them supple, strong and vigorous, while for Sore Cuts and Gunshot Wounds it stands unequalled, removing and preventing every vestige of inflammation and drawing the edges together, it quickly and completely heals the most frightful wound. WIVES AND SISTERS OF OUR VOLUNTEERS. You cannot put into the Knapsacks of your husbands and brothers, a more valuable or more necessary gift than a supply of this

Extraordinary Military Salve. The lonely sentry walking his rounds at night, exposed to drenching rains and chilled night air, is often seized with most violent Pains, Cough and suffocating Hoarseness, first symptoms of quick consumption, but if supplied with Holloway's Pills and Holloway's Ointment, all danger is averted, a few Pills the next morning, and it quickly and completely removes the most frightful cough. Therefore we say to the whole Army

SOLDIERS ATTENTION! See to your own health, do not trust to the Army supplies, although most valuable. These Pills and Ointment have been thoroughly tested, they are the only remedies used in the European Camps and Hospitals, for forty years Doctor Holloway has supplied all the Armies in Europe, and during the Crimean Campaign he established a depot at Balaklava, for the exclusive sale of these Great Remedies. Every time his special agent there has sold over a ton in weight of the Ointment in a single day. These terrible and fatal enemies of SOLDIER IN CAMP.

Do not let these brave men perish by diseases due to their hands these Precious Remedies that will enable them to resist the dangerous exposures, the Fevers, the Chills, and the wounds which they cannot avoid, and what is more, cannot frequently get succor in the moment of need, unless if our brave men have only to put their hands into their Knapsacks and find there a sure remedy for all the casualties of the battle field. How many thousands of lives would thus be saved who would otherwise perish before relief could be obtained.

IMPORTANT CAUTION!—None are genuine unless, the words "Holloway, New York and London" are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions, in each pot and box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any reader who furnishes information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.
