He was born in New York city in March, 1823; he became asprinter when a boy, and always studying and improving, removed to Indiana in 1886, and there established the South Bend Register, a journal which he still controls. More than half of his life has been spent in public service, and few men have served so faithfully and well.

The New York Post remarks :--General Hooker has been the subject of unmeasured abuse ; yet all his military career proves him to be a gallant. impetuous, brilliant leader in action, a cool and sagacions planner, and an unselfish patriot. Neither he nor Burnside talked when they were displaced; ueither of them allied himself with a political opposition; both were true to their country, and they have their reward now, in the esteem and confidence of the people. Time, which has been fatal to the reputation of some has only brightened the fame of these two generals."
