Christ Kindel. A German correspondent of the St.

Louis Union writes to the editor : Why is it that you native born Amerieans spell this word in a way to make it not only lose its lovely sense, but even to make it entirely senseless ? "Kriss Kinkle," you spell it; and if nobody checks you in this obnoxious orthography a stupid, senseless word will receive the privilege of augmenting the English vocabulary, when by a very little care it could be enriched with a beautiful, friendly, and sensible expression Christ Kindel means the little child-Christ; Jesus, the little child; L'Enfant Jesus, as the French say. [The evening before Christmas the legend lets the child Jesus visit the houses, where there are some good-natured fellow children. In France they have no Christmas trees but, nevertheless, the children know that "L' Enfant Jesus" is coming, and they put their shoes outside of their house-doors, or in the ashes of the chimney, being certain to find on the next morning a copper, or even a sllver or gold piece in them. L' Enfant Jesus, they know, rewards, in this way, their good behavior during the year. In Germany there is no house without a Christmas tree. On the night before Christmas, Christ Kindel comes in the best room in the house, illuminates the tree, and puts on it, and under it, whatever all good children during the whole vear hoped to get. The most lovely and innocent feast, in fact the feast of children, this essentially German feast having finally made the "tour de monde" -is not proper, while you Americans have accepted the theory, to except also the name, and not spoil it by any atrocious orthography? Is it not a great deal better to spell Christ Kindel than to strangulate it into the nonsensical expression of Kriss Kinkle?

CUPID .- A love-sick lassie, writes to her adored, in the following strain of deep feeling love :

"My dear sweet Ichabod. How I want to see your big gray eyes. O, how horrow-stricken I am at your long absence. I want to see you and feel your heart bump. Ob, sweet Ichabod, Private Hotel. We observe the following going the rounds of the Rebel press :

Mike has made several important dismake as much clatter as if there was really something on the table to call the sees nothing but empty plates.

Presently the waiters will be seen dispersing different articles of provender-pretty generally to the military gentlemen with the stars and bars on their collars-and when you ask them to give you "some of that what that feller's got," the waiter will look at you just as a faro dealer does when he "rakes Holloway's Pills and Holloway's Ointdown your pile," looks as if he had

"chawed" you, and innocently says : "That's private, sir." Then you look around to see what else might suit your taste, and you see another chap with eggs. You think, well, eggs are common enough, dear knows."

"Well, give me some eggs, then." "Dem's private, too, sir. De gemmen foth 'em here, and we cook 'em for him." "Give me some potatoes, then; ] suppose they're not private," I said, loud enough to attract all the eyes around the table. "Yes, massa, dem's private, too; but can give you some corn bread."

"Give me some of that butter, you black rascal," I said, aggravated, as indeed it should make any body feel who was paying eight dollars a day for board. "Well, massa, 'clare, massa, dat's private, too ! Here's some salt !"

Spying another nigger, I motioned him to me, thinking I would slip a bribe into his fingers, and possibly get some of the private dishes. He came reluctantly, and as I extended my hand with a promise in it, he stopped and said in a low tone : "I'se a private servant, massa." This capped the climax, and I deter mined to finish my meal on corn dodger and salt, and take the next train for a practice" of the "faculty" loses at least as many as it saves. But, then, the doctors tell us that those who die are "incurables." If this be so, how is it that so many victims of the most virulent internal and external disorders. whom the profession had given up, have recovered through a persevering use of ment? There can be no doubt about the fact, we opine, and we want somebody to account for it. To our plain mind, it appears that if chronic dyspepsia cannot be cured by the doctors, and is cured with unerring certainty by Holloway's Pills, that the latter remedy is worth the whole medicinal stock of the faculty, as a means of relieving that complaint. 'So again, if a "given up" case of scrofula or erysipelas becomes rapidly convalescent under the action of the Ointment, we cannot escape the conclusion that it is the true specific for external disorders, and that the "regular pharmacopœie" contains nothing that will compare with it as a means of subduing that class of maladies. This is good logic, we believe. If any cavil at it, we will admit their demur-rers when they can show us a better basis for argument than facts .-- "State Gazette.'

Jackson because I was prejudiced against them for a number of years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Rob't Shoemaker, esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long debility. The use of three bottles of these bitters, at the be-ginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost dispair-ed of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them. J. NEWTON BROWN. Philadelphia, June 23, 1862.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS. AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "Hoof-land's German Bitters", will cure nine-tenth, of the diseases induced by privation and ex-posures incident to camp life. In the listss published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from de-bility. Every case of that kind can be readi-ly cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these bit-ters are freely used among our soldiers, hund-reds of lives might be saved that otherwise would be lost. The proprietors are daily receiving thankful letters from sufferers in the army and hospi-tals, who have been restored to health by the use of these Bitters, sent to them by their friends. Beware of counterfeits ! See that the sig-nature of "C. M. Jackson," is on the wrapper of seath battle
