MARIETTA, PA:

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1864.

The following paragraph is taken from a private letter from General But-Wood's proposition to investigate some of his (Butler's) doings:

I will fely on your friendship always to vote in favor of having any official act of mine investigated; such investigations will show mistakes, blunders, and failures of judgment innumerable, and for these I must suffer; but I fear nothing else. I should even be willing for them to be investigated by Fernando Wood, were it not for the maxim, set a thief to eatch the thief.

The Copperheads in the Ohio Legislature are trying to secure the release of George W. Binkley, the founder of the treasonable order of "Knights of the Golden Circle," who was arrested in Kentucky a few nights ago, and has since been imprisoned in the Ohio penitentiary. They threaten that, unless he is released peaceably, they will release him forcibly. By their interest in the behalf of an original traitor, they give unmistakable evidence that they belong to his traitorous secret organization.

Abel Stearns, of Los Angelos, California, lost about seven thousand head of cattle, through want of food, during the last few months. That gentleman is believed to be the largest stock and cattle owner in the United States. He owns this year forty-eight thousand cattle, besides nine thousand المقادي والمنافع وجاريها والمواري

Last week Michael Conners, Jas. Brennan (tailor), John Keaton, Patrick Close, Thos. McGuire, and James Whelan, "committee men," were arrested at Heckscherville, by the military authorities, charged with unlawfully and violently stopping collieries. On Wednesday they were sent to Reading, under guard, for trial.

According to the first official report made to the Legislature this session, there are about twelve hundred miles of canal in the State, having no less than 750 locks, and employing in the aggregate about 6700 boats, the greater portion of which are owned by private individuals.

A widow, occupying a large house in a fashionable quarter in New York, sent for a wealthy lawyer to make her will, by which she disposed of between fifty and sixty thousand dollars. He proposed soon after, was accepted, and found himself the happy husband of a penniless adventuress.

The London Times honestly declares its sympathies are with the rebels and for the reason that the United States are getting too large, too wealthy and too strong for the rest of the world, and its example and influence likely to produce mischief among the European aristocracies.

Dr. Henry St. Clair, a lineal descendant of General St. Clair, was elected on Friday last, State Senator in place of Maj. Harry White resigned .-His majority was over 1200. He is, of course, a Union man, and will enable the Senate to organize and go to busi-

Twelve brothers belonging to Camillus, Onondaga county, New York, are all in the army as soldiers. The lightest of them weighs 200 pounds. A son of the eldest of these brothers volunteered at the same time with his father.

A one-legged man died suddenly in France the other day. His wooden leg was buried with him. His sister, on looking over his will, discovered that in the wooden leg were deposited 5,000f. The body was exhumed, and the sum of 1,080f. found in the leg.

Garrett Davis, the Kentucky maniac, inflicted, last week, a four hours' tirade upon the Senate. He is beyond all comparison the greatest bore that has ever afflicted that body.

The great gong upon Colt's factory, which sounded continually till the building was burned down, was heard distinctly at William ntic, a distance of 27 miles

THE LAST SLAVE IN PENNSYLVANIA .-Hannah Kelley, believed to be the last slave in Pennsylvania, died in Cross Creek township, Washington county, on the 15th ult., at the advanced age of 103; years. She was owned by John Gard, ner, deceased, formerly of Jefferson boarded with her free colored relatives in Cross Creek township. Notwithstanding her great age, she was remarkably healthy, and gave fair promise of outliving her grand children, had she not been brought to her death by a horrible accident. Rising early on New Year's morning, she was warming herself by a very warm fire at the end of a coal scaffold, close by the door of her ler to a member of Congress, who had house, and in some way caught fire, and written to him concerning Fernando was so terribly burnt before assistance could be given that she died, as recorded above. > M. D. Conway, in a letter to the Boston Commonwealth, thus shows one of the many forms of court etiquette, which restrict the will and affections of English princes:

"I learn that there was quite a rebellion at Windsor Castle. The princess vehemently opposed having a wet nurse, and the prince took her side, and could not see why she should not be allowed to nurse the babe, as she strongly desired to do. But she was told that the court traditions should not be set aside: never was English prince or princess yet nursed by its own mother. So the healthy and virtuous Mrs. O'Somebody was sent for, and the princess had a long cry. This is a true story, and somewhat more valuable than ordinary court gossip."

Alexander Fidler, of Aberdeen. has set a noble example by erecting on the quay of that port a drinking fountain, with not only a trough for horses and dogs, but also wash hand basins for the carters. The water is constantly flowing through the wash-hand basins, so that they are self-cleansing. So highly is this monument of "practical benevolence" valued by the Aberdeen carters, that they have purchased a valuable gold watch, and begged Mr. Fidler to accept it as a token of the gratitude they feel for the blessings he has conferred upon "man and beast," This may be regarded as the highest type of Christian benevolence.

General Fremont writes to Major General Schenck, chairman of the House Military Committee, that he requested to be relieved from the army of Virginia because he "regarded the order which reduced him to serve under Gen. Pope as an unmerited insult;" that since then he has been waiting orders; that he was once promised a command but did not get it; that he has kept part of his staff to have their services when he should be recalled to active service; and that he has drawn his pay, "since the close of the last session of Congress to be applied where it might alleviate distresses resulting from the war, and it has been used accordingly." ***

Dr. John Chapman, a celebrated English physician, is now engaged in making important experiments, connected with the cure of epilepsy, and other diseases of the nervous system, by the external application of ice and hot water, in rubber bags, to various parts of the spinal cord; acting thus on the sympathetic nerve, and, through it, upon the most important and vital portions of the body.

Oysters are among the most healthful, and nutritious of all the articles furnished for the table. When fresh, they are probably most nourishing when eaten raw; but they should not be "bolted down:" as is the custom of some who love this bivalve. They should be thoroughly masticated, or, in other words, made to feel the teeth.

A German statistical writer remarks that the invention of the sewing machine has enabled one woman to sew as a hundred could sew by hand a century ago; but, he continues, one woman now demands as much clothing as a hundred did a century ago-so that the situation is not so much changed after

The Boston Herald says :- The type founders have issued a circular to all printers that they have raised the price of printing material 25 per cent. Paper makers have raised the price of paper 100 per cent. The reader will see that publishers of newspapers are not likely to become millionaires in a hurry under this state of affairs.

A report is in preparation upon the claims of Lieut. Maury for compensation for alleged damages, in which it is stated that he has already drawn from Government more money than was justly his due. His bondsmen being in the Southern Confederacy it is impossible to proceed against them.

Over 12,000 negroes have already enlisted in Tennessee, and the enlistments in the middle district are at a rate of 500 per week.

John P. Putnam, a grandson of Gen. Putnam, has presented for exhibition, at the Albany Army Relief Bathat no volunteer shall be rejected on zaar, the pistols in which was burnt the first powder of the Revolution. It will be remembered that Major Pitcairn rode toward the crowd drawn up in hostile array at Lexington, shouted "disperse ve rebels," and fired his pistols into their midst. His horse was shot under him, but he managed, to escape. The pistols were found in the saddle, became the property of Gen. Putnam, and were worn by him during the Revolution.
