Stoves! Stoves!!

John Spangler,
OPPOSITE HARRY WOLFE'S.

As the season for stoves is fast approaching I would call the attention of all wishing to purchase

Parlor or Cooking Stoves, to my large and well selected stock, which embraces the best and most desirable Stoves that the Eastern markets afford, and which were purchased early, which will enable me to dispose of them advantageously to buyers.

Among the leading Parlor and Cook Stoves are the following:

Parlor Stoves.	Cooking Stoves.
Meteor Gas Burner,	Galleo,
Columbia do	Royal,
Oval do	Waverly,
Dial,	Wellington,
Gem,	Lehigh,
Tropic Egg,	Charm,
Monitor,	Summer Rose,

Also, the Vulcan and Sanford's Heaters, a very desirable article for heating two or four rooms with very little, if any, more fuel than an ordinary parlor stove would consume. Ranges for cooking, constantly on hand, all of which will be sold on reasonable terms. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

THE GREAT TONIC.

KUNKEL'S Bitter Wine of IRON.

KUNKEL'S BITTER WINE OF IRON.

A PURE and powerful TONIC, Corrective and Alternative of wonderful efficacy in diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Causes
Dyspepsia,
Liver Complaints,
Headaches, General
Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Intermittent Fever, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sinking or Fluttering at the Epigastrium, Swimming of the Head, Difficult Breathing, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Fever and Dull pains in the Head,
Pain in the Side, Lack, Chest and Limbs.

It will cure every case of Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys, and Diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Good for Males or Female, Old or Young.

The most beneficial medicine known; given better satisfaction and cures more diseases than any other preparation offered to the public. Prepared solely by S. A. KUNKEL & CO., 118 Market Street, Marietta, Pa.
For sale by druggists and dealers everywhere.

BEWARE OF

COUNTERFEITS.

As Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is the only sure and effectual remedy in the known world for the permanent cure of Dyspepsia and Debility, and as there are a number of imitations offered to the public, we would caution the community to purchase none but the genuine article, manufactured by S. A. KUNKEL & CO., and has their stamp on the top of the cork of every bottle. The very fact that others are attempting to imitate this valuable remedy, proves its worth and speaks volumes in its favor.

The Bitter Wine of Iron is put up in 75 cent and $1.00 bottles, and is sold by respectable druggists throughout the country. Be particular that every bottle bears the fac simile of the proprietor's signature.

This Wine includes the most agreeable and efficient Salt of Iron we possess; Citrate of Magnetic Oxide combined with the most energetic of vegetable tonics, Yellow Peruvian bark. The effect in many cases of debility, loss of appetite, and general prostration, of an efficient Salt of Iron, combined with our valuable Nervo Tonic, is most happy. It augments the appetite, raises the pulse, takes off muscular flabbiness, removes the pallor of debility, and gives a florid vigor to the countenance.

GENERAL DEPOT,

118 Market Street,
HARRISBURG, PA.
For sale by all respectable dealers throughout the country. [Jl 25-6m]

The Mail.

"I met him in the cars
Where resignedly he sat;
His hair was full of dust,
And so was his cravat;
He was furthermore embellished
By a ticket in his hat.

"The conductor touched his arm,
And awoke him from a nap,
When he gave the feeding flies
An admonitory slap,
And his ticket to the man
In the yellow-lettered cap.

"So launching into talk,
We rattled on our way,
With allusions to the crops
That along the meadows lay—Whereupon his eyes were lit
By a speculative ray.

"The heads of many men
Were bobbing as in sleep,
And many babies lifted
Their voices up to weep;
While the coal-dust darkly fell On bonnets in a heap.

"All the while the swaying cars Kept rumbering o'er the rail,
And the frequent whistle sent Shrieks of anguish to the gale,
And the cinders pattered down On the grimy floor like hail.

"When suddenly a jar,
And a thrice-repeated bump,
Made the people in alarm
From their easy cushions jump,
For they deemed the sound to be The inevitable trump.

"A splintering crash below,
A doom foreboding twitch,
As the tender gave a lurch
Beyond the flying switch,
And a mangled mass of men Lay writhing in the ditch.

"With palpitating heart,
My friend essayed to rise;
There were bruises on his limbs
And stars before his eyes,
And his fare was of the hue
Of the dolphin when it dies.

"I was very well content
In escaping with my life,
But my mutilated friend Commenced a legal strife;
Being thereunto incited
By his lawyer and wife.

"And he writes me the result,
To his quiet way as follows;
That his case came up before A bench of legal scholars Who awarded him his claim Of $1500!"

BRAINS.—An American sloop-of-war had put into an English port, and the first lieutenant went ashore to reconnoitre. In the course of his travels he encountered a tavern where a number of British officers were carousing. They at once recognized the lieutenant's nationality by his dress, and resolved to amuse themselves by bullying him.

"Well, comrade," said one, "you belong to the United States, I see?"

"Right," was the answer.

"Now what would you say to a man who should say that your navy did not contain an officer fit for a gunboat?"

"I would blow his brains out," returned the lieutenant, with great coolness.

There was silence among her Majesty's servants for a moment; finally one of them, more muddled than the rest, managed to stammer out—

"W-well, Yank, I—I say it."

The American walked to his side, and replied, calmly—

"It is lucky for you, shipmate, that you have no brains to blow out."

Struck by the dignity of the answer, the offender at once apologized; and our hero was invited to join the mess.

A despairing man tears his hair.
An enraged woman is wiser—she tears her husband's.

A SHORT CATECHISM.—Who said that all men are created equal? Thomas Jefferson, the father of Democracy.

Who gave the negroes the right of suffrage in New York? The Democratic party.

Who presided over the Convention which gave this privilege to negroes?
Martin Van Buren, a Democrat.

Who afterwards elected Martin Van Buren to the Presidency of the United States? The Democratic party.

Who married a negro woman, and by her had mulatto children? Richard M.
Johnson, a good Democrat.

Who elected Richard M. Johnson
Vice-President of the United States?
The Democratic party.

If President Van Buren had died, and Richard M. Johnson had become President, who would have become the Democratic mistress of the White House?
The same negro woman.

Who made the negro a citizen of the State of Maine? The Democratic party.

Who enacted a similar law in Massachusetts? The Democratic party.

Who gave the negro the right to vote in New Hampshire? The Democratic party.

Who permitted every colored person owning $250 in New York to become a voter? A General Assembly purely Democratic.

Who repealed the laws of Ohio, which required negroes to give bonds and security before settling in that State?
The Democratic party.

Who made mulattoes legal voters in Ohio? A Democratic Supreme Court, of which Reuben Wood was Chief Justice.

What became of Reuben Wood? The Democratic party elected him Governor three times, and he is still a leader of the Democratic party.

Who helped to give free negroes the right to vote in Tennessee, under her Constitution of 1795? General Jackson.

Was General Jackson a good Democrat? He generally passed as such.

Who, with the above facts, and many others, starting them in the face, are continually whining about negro suffrage and negro equality? The Democratic party.

All these things were done by Democrats, and yet they deny being in favor of negro equality; and charge it upon the Republicans—just like the Johnstown Tribune.

A lawyer having some legal business to transact with a widowed lady took occasion to inquire her age. The matron, who had long since doffed the "widow's weeds," attempted to look prim, and much younger than she really was, as she replied:

"Thirty-five years, sir."

Then turning to the daughter, he said:

"May I be so bold, miss, as to inquire your age?"

"Certainly; I am a little over thirty-two; three years younger than mother."

A clergyman had two daughters who were much too fond of dress, which was a great grief to him. He had often reproved them in vain; and, preaching one Sabbath on the sin of pride, he took occasion to notice, among other things, pride in dress. After speaking some considerable time on this subject, he suddenly stopped short and said, with a feeling and expression, "But you will say 'look at home!' My good friends, I do look at home till my heart aches!"

A schooler captain, noted for his parsimony, was one day waited upon by his cook, who informed him that the craw were in a state of dissatisfaction bordering on mutiny, in consequence of their being compelled to subsist on such a scanty supply of provisions.

"What!" thundered the enraged skipper, "have the ungrateful scoundrels the audacity to assert that they don't get enough to eat? Give them three herrings for dinner, Joe; give them three herrings, and let 'em bust, blast 'em!"

A woman was asked what she thought of one of her neighbors of the name of Jones and, with a knowing look, replied, "Why I don't like to say anything about my neighbors; but as to Mr. Jones, sometimes I think, and then again I don't know; but after all, I guess he'll turn out to be a good deal such a sort of a man as I take him to be!"

Punch says: "Women are said to have stronger attachments than men.
It is not so. A man is often attached to an old hat; but did you ever know of a woman having an attachment to an old boot?"

A Slaveholder's Opinion.

Benj. Wood Hunter, a Virginia slave-holder, residing in Alexandria, writes to the editor of the New York Tribune his opinion in regard to the restoration of "the Union as it was." Hear what he says:—

It is painful to me, a Southern slaveholding man, to read and hear what I do coming from the Northern press and people. That conciliatory feeling which has always characterized the North, has led the people of the South into the error that you were all a set of cowards, and would kneel at any and every burden they should see fit to put upon you.
When a slave ran away from his master, who went to catch him? Did his master go? Not at all, or, if he did, it was with a pack of hounds for sport, as he would the fox or bear. Oh! no, he would sit as quiet as ever over the loss of a negro until he met with a Northern man, and then his blow was unequalled. If his neighbor happened to step in, there are chances to one he would not think enough of the circumstances of the escape of his negro to tell him, if he, too, was a Southern man; if he did, it would be with a chuckle that "he would be returned by these Northern hounds of curs, whose business it is, 'by law' to catch,
and return my negroes."

I take it that a man who has no more respect for himself than to run after my negroes for a few paltry dollars, or who is anxious for an opportunity of doing so, exhibits far less good sense than those negroes, and is worthy only of my most supreme contempt, which he abundantly enjoys. You have never heard a Southern slaveholder use such language before, but I say it in all sincerity.

There are many in the North who are anxious to see the "Union as it was."
I say, God spare me any such Union.—
The fact that it is disrupted now, proves conclusively that there was no Union.
And, admitting it was, can any one not see the same state of affairs will, in time, be brought about?

I claim to be as largely interested in slaves, pecuniarily, as any man, with a few exceptions, who ever lived in this State, and seldom go upon the streets of Alexandria or Washington without meeting them. They are gone! I ask no remuneration, except the establishment of a free Republican Government, that will endure for all time, and to those anxious to enact laws for their return, and others who are looking to the reward, that more contempt than credit is due you; and if such reward is sufficient hereafter, your compensation shall be tenfold that you received before the war. I trust these few remarks may teach some of your people to respect themselves, and, by their action, make us respect you.

The Catskill Recorder relates the following:—"A few days since, we heard a little three-year-old speculating in gleeful anticipations of Christmas, but a slight shadow momentarily darkened her little brow as she thoughtfully propounded the inquiry, 'Mamma, maybe Santa Claus was drafted?' A negative assurance, however, soon dispelled the cloud, and the pirovette of little white curls joyfully progressed."

A gentleman of the old school in one of the horse cars the other day gave his seat up to a lady who failed to make the proper acknowledgement. Standing awhile after the car had moved on, he stooped as if to listen, and said to her,
"What did you say, madam?" "Nothing, sir," was the reply of the startled lady. "Oh," said he, "excuse me; I really thought you said 'Thank-ee.'"

Douglas Jerrold once said to an ardent young gentleman, who was anxious to see himself in print. "Be advised by me, young man: don't take down the shutters before there is something in the window."

An Irishman being in church with the collection apparatus resembled election boxes, on its being handed to him, whispered in the carrier's ear that he was not naturalized and consequently could not vote!

A painter who was well acquainted with the dire effects of law had to represent two men—one who had gained a lawsuit, and another who had lost one.
He painted the former with a shirt on,
and the latter naked.

"The great beauty of a wife is," said a hen-pecked husband, "that if she abuses you ever know, she won't let any else abuse you." Well, isn't that prime consolation?
