WE COME WITH SINGING.

We come, we come with singing,
Our happy voices ringing,
Glad welcome unto all.
We love to meet each other,
Each little friend and brother, We love to meet our saviour,
The dear friend of all.

Chorus—Jesus is here,
Angels are near;
Sing, sing, praises sing,
Jesus is here,
Angels are near;
Sing, sing, praises sing.

We come, we come rejoicing,
Our happy voices ringing Glad tidings unto all.
We sing, we sing the story,
The sweet, the sweet old story, How Jesus came from glory,
And suffered for us all.

Dear Saviour, grant thy blessing While we, our wants confessing Before thee humbly fall.
O, bless us in our praising, O, help us in our praying, And let us hear the speaking Within these sacred walls.

SABBATH BELLS.

Come away, come away,
Hark the bells are ringing,
'Tis the holy Sabbath day, Purest pleasure bringing;
Golden beams gently fall, Every thing rejoices, Little children, one and all,
Tune thy happy voices.

Chorus:—
Come away, come away,
Hark the bells are ringing,
Sing aloud, sing aloud, Praise to God, our King.

Merry hearts while they beat, Light our sunny features,
In the Sabbath school we meet, Friends and faithful teachers; Kneeling there, kneeling there, Jesus deigns to hear us, While we breathe our grateful prayer In our school so dear.

Chorus:—
Happy place, happy place, O, the wondrous story, Jesus died that we might live In the realms of glory; Kindred hearts wait us there,
They have gone before us In that lovely mansion fair, We shall part no more.

Chorus:—
Wearily wander o'er the main,
Seeking for thy home again,
Through the gathering mists that rise, Veiling thy natal skies;
Look beyond, there's light for thee, Streaming o'er the turbid sea, Softly it smiles the distant far,
The beautiful polar star.

Stranger, on a rocky strand, Longing for thy father-land, Through the gathering clouds that rise, Veiling thy natal skies,
Chorus:—

Lonely watcher, pale with grief, Thou shalt find a sweet relief, Tho' thy tears unheeded all, Jesus will count them all.
Chorus:—

Eels have been skinned ever since Noah came out of the ark; and printers have been cheated out of their just dues ever since the Orientals printed with blocks of wood; yet neither do eels get used to being skinned, nor the printers to being fleeced. This argues great obstinacy on the part of eels and printers.

A private race-course is about to be laid out in Windsor Park, under the special patronage of the Prince of Wales.

The vinegar of life—sour bread, a sour wife, poor tobacco, and no money.

A Rich Story.

A Parkersburg paper says that several members of the Legislature took care at Grafton late on the evening of the 16th ult., for Wheeling, and among the number was Mr. G., of somewhat large proportions physically, and a Mr. D., of proportional undersize. These two, the stalwart Mr. G., and the smooth-faced little Mr. D., took a berth together, it seems, in a sleeping car. The little man laid behind, and the good-natured, waggish Mr. G., before. Mr. D., soon was snoring furiously. Mr. G., more restless under his legislative burdens soon arose, and was sitting by the stove, when an elderly lady came aboard and desired a sleeping berth. "All right, madam," said Mr. G., "I took a berth with my son, and you can occupy my place in that berth where my little boy is sleeping." Taking G., at his word, the lady disrobed, and laid down with the "boy." After a quiet repose of some time, the boy, Mr. D., became restless from some cause, and began to kick around, to the great annoyance of the old lady. So in a maternal manner she patted the boy on the back and said, "Lie still, sonny; pa said I might sleep with you." "Who are you?" said the Legislature, "I am no boy! I am a member of the West Virginia Legislature!" It is said the old lady swooned.

NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN.—Socrates, at an extreme age, learned to play musical instruments.

Cato, at eighty years of age, thought proper to learn the Greek language.

Plutarch, when between seventy and eighty commenced the study of Latin.
Boccaccio was thirty-five years of age when he commenced his studies in polite literature; yet he became one of the three great masters of the Tuscan dialect,—Dante and Petrarch being the other two.

Sir Henry Spelman neglected the sciences in his youth, but commenced the study of them when he was between fifty and sixty years old. After this time he became a learned antiquarian and lawyer.

Colbert, the famous French Minister, at sixty years of age, returned to his Latin and Law studies.

Ludovico, at the great age of one hundred and fifteen, wrote the memoirs of his own times. A singular exertion, noticed by Voltaire, who was himself one of the most remarkable instances of the progress of age in new studies.

Ogilby, the translator of Homer and Virgil, was unacquainted with Latin and Greek till he was past the age of fifty.
Franklin did not fully commence philosophical pursuits till he had reached his fiftieth year.

Accursio, a great lawyer, being asked why he commenced the study of law so late, answered that indeed he began it late, but he could, therefore, master it sooner.

Dryden, in his sixtieth year, commenced the translation of the Iliad; and his most pleasant productions were written in his old age.

The School Master follows the Yankee soldier in all his victories in the South. Immediately upon the occupation of a rebel stronghold by the Federal forces, schools are opened, and free newspapers circulated. These are the influences which will soon regenerate the South; while the contemptible aristocracies which have so long devoted the fairest portions of the Union to slavery, will find it as hard to resist free schools and a free press, as to battle against the majesty of a free Government.

Three horses, of the respective and respectable ages of thirteen, seventeen and twenty years, were served up at a late Paris banquet, in the shape of soup and with cabbage. Fillet de horse, haashed horse a la mode, roast horse, horse liver with ruffles. One hundred and twenty persons partook, who expressed their entire approbation of such hospitable entertainment.

An old Irishman who had witnessed the effect of whiskey for many years past, said a barrel labelled 'whiskey' contained a thousand songs and fifty fights, besides an unknown number of drunks.

A weather prophet out west has prophesied that we are to have a wet spring, a damp summer and a dry fall and beautiful crops throughout the land.

A canter will give you ruddy cheeks; a decanter will give you a ruddy nose.

The worst organ-grinder.—A hollow tooth that plays the dence.

PUNISHMENT ON THE INSTANT.—By one of our Illinois exchanges we learn that a few days since a soldier's wife, living in the south part of Macon county, came to Decatur for the purpose of receiving at the express office a package of $200 sent her by her husband in the army. Being unable to furnish the proof of her identity, she was obliged to return without the money, and was subsequently accompanied by her brother-in-law, who furnished the required proof. On returning home she placed the money under her pillow. Some time during the night a man, whom she supposed to be a negro, broke open the door and demanded the money. There being a fire in the fire-place sufficient to light the room, the woman threw the money on the floor, and as the ruffian stooped to pick it up, dealt him a blow with a poker that broke his neck. The neighbors were aroused, and on washing the dead man's face the robber proved to be her brother-in-law.

A MASONIC FACT.—Dr. R. G. Scott, Past Grand Master, in an address delivered years ago, made the following statement. It is honorable to the Masonic Institution—and we presume the members of that ancient body will be pleased to read it and see it circulated:
"From sources of information on which I entirely rely, I state the fact that fifty at least of those who signed the Declaration of Independence were Masons, and the same history informs us that every Major General of the Revolutionary army was a Mason, save one —that one was Benedict Arnold.

The late Dr. William J. Walker, of Newport, R. I., left $220,000 to his widow, four daughters, one son, and the widow and children of another son; $40,- 000 in legacies of $1,000 each to female acquaintances, and the remainder of his property, amounting to about $1,000,000 is divided equally between Amherst and Tufts Colleges, the Institute of Technology, and the Boston Society of Natural History, making to each of these institutions the munificent donation of $250,000. In addition to these large sums left to be disposed of by the will, he gave $400,000 to various objects during his life.

In answer to a letter from the Chairman of the Twenty-second Ward Draft Relief Committee, Provost Marshal Dodge, states that New York city will be positively required to fill her quota under the last call, and that so soon as any assistant provost marshal finds himself not fully occupied in receiving recruits, the draft will be resumed. Maj. Dodge concludes: "Unless ordered to the contrary by the War Department, I shall exact from New York city every man of her quota, and the sooner the people make up their minds that the men must be furnished, the better it will be for all concerned."

A lady, going out from Vicksburg a few days since, excited the suspicion of an officer by the peculiarity of her manner, and upon being searched there was found in her shoes an accurate map of the fortifications of Vicksburg, location of arsenals, various headquarters of generals, and a full description of the various commissary and other public stores. She was arrested, taken back to Vicksburg, and furnished with safe quarters.

An enthusiastic and philanthropic young man, visiting a prison in Maine, inquired of some of the prisoners the cause of their being there. A small girl's answer was that she had stolen a saw mill and went back after the pond, and was arrested.

"I suppose," said a quack, while feeling the pulse of his patient, "that you think me a humbug." "Sir," replied the sick man, "I perceive you can discover a man's thoughts by his pulse."

Uncomfortable.—To be seated at the table opposite a pretty girl, with a plate of hot soup, on a hot day, a troublesome moustache, and no handkerchief.

It is often a pretty good matrimonial firm that consists of three quarters wife and one quarter husband.

There is a man out west, who has such a good temper, that he hires himself out in summer to keep people cool.

There are 30,000 children in Great Britain suffering from various kinds of deformity.

What is the best tar for making the wheels of life run smoothly? The al-tar.

ANOTHER ARMLESS SOLDIER.—Mr. Alfred A. Stratton, of Jamestown, Chautaqua county, N. Y., called upon us on Monday. Mr. S. is but 18 years of age, though very tall and well shaped, and has been a soldier in Company G of the 147th New York Regiment, going to the seat of war in August, 1863. On the 18, of June, in the engagement before Petersburg, a solid shot took off both his arms above the elbow, and although for a time a great sufferer, he has recovered from the wounds, but is left, of course, in a most unfortunate and dependent condition. He is at present at the New England Rooms, on Broadway, and would be glad to see his friends or those who are friendly toward him.

Mr. S. states that there are four persons known to him who have suffered during the war the loss of both their arms. They are: Plunkett of Massachusetts, Dunphy of Rochester, N. Y., John H. Beary of Ohio, and himself.
He further states that there is one other man (if what is left of him may be called "a man") who is still more entitled to the commiseration and charity of mankind than either of the persons above referred to, he being a Pennsylvania soldier, whose name is unknown to our informant, but who, to his positive knowledge, on the same day when he himself was wounded, suffered the loss of both arms and both legs and ONE EYE, and is still alive to tell the story.—New York Tribune.

MR. LINCOLN'S LATEST LETTER.—Last week General Van Alen, of New York, wrote to the President to ask him not to expose his life unnecessarily, as he had done at Richmond, and assuring him of the earnest desire of all his countrymen to close the war he had so successfully conducted. After acknowledging the receipt of the letter, the President replied, April 14th, the day of his death, and said:

"I intend to adopt the advice of my friends and use due precaution. * * * I thank you for the assurance you give me that I shall be supported by conservative men like yourself, in the efforts I may make to restore the Union, so as to make it, to use your language, a Union of hearts and hands as well as of States."
"Yours truly,
A. LINCOLN."
"To General Van Alen."

A young woman in England, aged twenty-two, "born stone blind," was recently restored to perfect vision in four days by a surgical operation. The effect of her new sense was most curious.
She had at first no idea whatever of perspective. She put her hand to the window to try to catch the trees on the other side of the street; she was utterly ignorant also of a common thing e. g., what such things as a bunch of keys were, or a silver watch, or a common cup and saucer; but when she shut her eyes and was allowed to touch them, (the educated sense), she told them at once.

Henry Heyneman, who, at the commencement of the rebellion, made a vow that when our armies captured Richmond he would walk the whole distance from Boston to Washington, and carry an American flag, will start on his lengthy pedestrian tour on Monday next, at eight o'clock, A. M., from the steps of the State House. A beautiful silk flag has been presented to him by Mayor Lincoln in behalf of the city.

Gen. Pickett, who caused the execution of 28 loyal North Carolinians for the crime of having enlisted in the Union army, and who were captured at Plymouth last summer, is one of the officers embraced in Lee's surrender. Pickett himself deserted to the rebel cause without the formality of having resigned his commission in the Federal service.

A singular phenomenon in the shape of a lake of water has made its appearance in Centre county, Pa., about three miles from a small place called Horntown, on the Hublersburg road, covering about one hundred acres of land, and varying in depth according to the irregularities of the ground, from ten to thirty feet—some say fifty feet.

How long the first woman lived we do not know. It is a curious fact that in sacred history the age, death and burial of only one woman, Sarah, the wife of Abraham is distinctly noted.
Women's age ever since appears not to have been a subject for history or discussion.

There is a talk of a singing festival to be held at Dresden during the summer, at which twenty to twenty-five thousand singers will appear.

From the North American and United States Gazette.

The Silent Pilgrim.
A silent Pilgrim tarries here
On his way to the west—Only tarries for a night and a day,
On his slow and winding way,
To his home in the west—
To his tomb in the west!
He has fill'd a noble sphere:

And how well—
All our people love to tell,
As all nations soon shall tell,
And all future ages tell,
That he fill'd it passing well!
Yes, he fill'd our highest place With a glory, with a grace, With a gentleness and love Our highest praise above:
So calm through all the strife, Not counting dear his life,

Warring only, from the first, with a heart that yearned for peace—'Till he saw the Slave's release!
Then God call'd his name,
And seal'd up his fame,
And his own release came!
So let him rest!

In our Hall of Independence—let him rest:

In the circle of our Fathers—let him rest: In the midst of moaning cannon—let him rest:

In the midst of sobbing bells—let him
rest:

In the midst of falling tears—let him
rest:

Overshadowed by our mourning—let
him rest,

With fresh flowers upon his breast:
Our Martyr Guest!

For a night, for a day,
On his slow and winding way
To his welcome in the west:
To his home in the west:
To his tomb—in the west—
Where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest!

C. F. P. Hildreth, Assistant Surgeon of the 40th Massachusetts, has transmitted to Governor Andrew a raw hide used in whipping adults, and a strap and handle applied to younger people, at the public whipping post in Richmond. Whites as well as blacks were coerced with these instruments.
The last person whipped with the cowhide was a colored woman on the 31st of March.

The oldest enlisted man in the United States army is Sergeant John Mills, principal musician of the First U.
S. infantry, on duty at New Orleans.
Sergeant Mills belongs to Haverhill, Mass., and entered the United States military service in the year 1808.
Lieut. General Winfield Scott entered our army the same year.

The artificial propagation of fish has been successfully pursued by Agasiaz, in a bed room, with a wash-basin, where he raised trout and a number of other species of fish. One of the most curious natural studies is the propagation of fresh water snails, which will live for years in a washbasin half filled with sand, and will multiply rapidly.

Louis XIV. was not the first French monarch to try his hand upon Julius Caesar; he had been preceded by Henry IV., who translated the whole work, and did not give it up after the first book. Louis Napoleon is the third French royalty who has tried his hand upon it.

There is a little girl, thirteen
