BOOTH'S PAINS AND DEATH:—A contributor in Forney's Press gives the following analysis of the cause of Booth's death: The ball from the cavalry revolver entered on the left side, back of the head and below it, and passed out on the right side. He fell a helpless mass, unable to move, exclaiming: "I am finished!" He was carried out of the burning barn and laid upon the grass, and survived the wound four hours. He requested several times to be turned or moved from side to side, on his stomach, and asked to see his hands. When raised, he gazed upon the helpless dead members, exclaiming, "Useless—useless," and asked more than once of those about him "to kill him," thus to end his pain and sufferings. Such a wound would produce complete paralysis of the arms, legs, and lower portion of the trunk, while respiration and the action of the heart would continue. The mind was clear and undisturbed, save from the shock of the wound and pain; but the brain was unharmed. It was a living active mind, with a dead, helpless body, with the most excruciating, agonizing pain that a human body can be subject to; the nerves of organic life and circulation were uninjured; and the only muscles over which he could exert any volition were those of the head and face. From the moment the ball struck him he was dead and helpless, with a mind clear, in intense suffering, a living witness of his own just punishment for his atrocious deed. Was there not the avenging hand of God upon him from the moment he exclaimed, upon the stage of Ford's Theatre, "I am avenged!" In the leap upon the stage the fibula, the small bone of the leg, was fractured. For ten days and nights the forests and swamps were his home, with pain, and dread, and anguish. Could the end of such a life have been more painful, more dreadful, more appalling? Was there not in it all the hands of an overruling Providence?

A project is now on foot at Washington, which is being pushed forward with considerable zeal, to erect a monument to the memory of the late President Lincoln. Many of the merchants, and citizens generally, have signified their willingness to respond liberally.

The confederate Major Taylor, one of Jeff. Davis' commissioners to Washington early in the war, is paroled for ten days at Louisville, to enable him to leave the United States—he having refused to take the oath of allegiance. He is a son of Zachary Taylor.

The rebel Senator Hunter fled from Richmond on hearing of the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. He knew full well who was to succeed Mr. Lincoln and with a lively presentiment of what might come, he left for parts unknown.

It is said that among Mr. Lincoln's papers has been found a package of letters marked, in his own handwriting, "Assassination Letters." While many of them threatened his life, others warned him of plots to take it.

A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says there is no truth in the statement that J. Wilkes Booth was to be married soon to a daughter of Senator Hale, nor was there the slightest foundation for the assertion.

The remains of President Lincoln arrived at Springfield, Illinois, on Wednesday morning, May 3d, and deposited in the Capitol building. It is said the appearance of the corpse had very much changed.

Mr. Seward was born in Florida, Orange county, New York, May 16, 1801 and is therefore aged nearly 64 years. Mr. Frederick Seward, the eldest son of Secretary Seward, is about 35 years old.

Mr. Seward's physicians have little hope that his mouth will ever recover its symmetry. It is likely to be awry, and probably power will be lacking entirely to close the lower jaw.

The Jersey City Times says Edwin Booth will petition the Maryland Legislature to change his name to Abraham M. Lincoln.

A set of porcelain, captured from Jeff. Davis' mansion at Richmond, has been presented to President Johnson.

A negro man has been drawn as juror in Providence, Rhode Island, and will take his seat among the others.

Two men have been shot dead in St. Louis for exulting over the assassination of Mr. Lincoln.

The leading press of the country is terribly severe upon Sherman's surrender, as some call it.

The Grand Jury of Franklin county, Pa., is about to present bills of indictment against General McCausland and Harry Gilmore, for arson and murder during the time when Chambersburg was destroyed by the rebels, and that under these indictments Governor Curtin will make a formal demand for the surrender of these men as fugitives from justice. Harry Gilmore is a refugee from Maryland, and if the loyal Governor of that State can only lay hands on him, he will be glad enough to deliver him up to justice. If found in Virginia we entertain no doubt that Governor Pierpont or General Halleck will give him up, as well as McCausland, who is a Virginian. We are pleased to hear that it is the determination of Governor Curtin to make an effort to bring these wretches to punishment.

Rev. Dr. Brown, editor of the American Baptist, has in his possession the key of the notorious rebel prison, Castle Thunder. It was brought to New York by Rev. Solomon Gale, of Tolland, Conn., and it is intended to dispose of it by auction for the benefit of the orphans of our volunteers. The key is by no means a formidable looking instrument, being about the size of our ordinary door-keys. It has apparently seen much service.

Some time ago Slidell, the rebel representative in Paris, gave a mortgage to a French banker for $60,000 upon his property in New Orleans. The banker now claims the property under the laws of Louisiana, and a suit is to be instituted in the United States Court, and it will be made a test case. Interesting and important legal points will be raised under the Confiscation act, the decision of which will govern similar cases in the future.

Evidence discloses that there were ten conspirators in the assassination plot; that at a meeting held in Memphis they selected by lot the assassin of the President. Our authorities have a letter which says: "It becomes your happy lot to destroy this tyrant. You can select the cup, the blade, or the bullet; but you know the cup has been tried, and it failed."

A Mrs. Dunbar, of Terre Haute (Ind.) said that she was glad of President Lincoln's death, and here she near the grave would take pleasure in dancing on it. This the loyal women of the neighborhood could not bear, and a dozen or more went to her house and forced her to take a flag draped in mourning and proceed up town, shouting, at intervals, "Hurrah for the Union!"

When J. Wilkes Booth played in Buffalo three years ago, he broke a plate-glass window in the store of O. E. Sibley, where a lot of rebel trophies were exhibited. He was arrested, paid the damage and a fine of fifty dollars, and the affair was kept out of the papers. He broke the window in his rage at seeing the exhibition of weapons taken from the rebels.

A New York lady has been awarded by the Courts a verdict of twenty-five hundred dollars damages, in consequence of injuries received by being thrown violently on the street while stepping from a second avenue car, the vehicle being started before she had secured her footing on the pavement.

A paragraph is going the rounds, to the effect that "since the 1st of February all receipts of whatever amount must have on a two-cent stamp," &c. This is incorrect. No change has been made in the law, and only receipts for $20 or over need the stamp.

At Arlington, Vermont, a young Copperhead was expressing his satisfaction at Mr. Lincoln's murder, when a physician clapped over his mouth sticking plaster, which he had been quietly warming, and thus stopped the flow of his treasonable sentiments.

The clergymen of the Episcopal churches in Richmond are not ready yet to pray for the "President of the United States," so their churches were closed by military order on the 16th.

Gen. Lew Wallace has prohibited the wearing of gray clothes, called student's uniform, in Baltimore, as being offensive to soldiers and loyal citizens.

Blondin recently lost £12,000 by the failure of Coleman, his former agent, and has been obliged to appear again as a gymnast to retrieve his loss.

At Zanesville, Ohio, a cake of soap weighing 2,500 pounds was manufactured. It took eight days to cool, and is valued at $800.

Married, the other day in Sweden, a lad sixteen years old and a widow thirty-eight. She has a farm; and has taken the boy home.

An Irishman once ordered a painter to draw his picture, and to represent him standing behind a tree.

Louis Philippe, during his reign over France, escaped many attempts upon his existence.

Three of the four candidates for the Presidency in 1860 are now dead—Douglas, Bell, and Lincoln.

The Empress of Mexico rides in a phaeton drawn by six mules.

Booth's Body.—Many tales are afloat in Washington as to the disposition of the body of Booth. By some (who declare they witnessed what they relate) it is said that, after Surgeon General Barnes concluded the autopsy, the body was dissected, and each piece enclosed with a heavy weight in a cloth and sewed up. That this disjointed body was lowered from a gunboat, in front of the navy yard, in a small vessel, which performed a crazy sort of circuitous trip down the Potomac, and, in a short time, without landing, returned to the navy yard minus the dissected body. Another report is that Edwin Booth and Mr. Clarke, the assassin's brother-in-law came to Washington to make application for permission to take the body to Booth's mother, who desires to have the privilege of quietly burying her son's remains, and that the authorities refused this request, and will not permit any one to know what is finally to be the disposition of the body. It is said that over one hundred persons—some of them well known—belonging to Washington, have been arrested, upon disclosures made in part by Harold, Booth's accomplice.

A most excellent bust of the late President Lincoln was made at Springfield, Illinois, after his election to the Presidency, and before his inauguration, by T. D. Jones, the Cincinnati sculptor. It is the best one ever taken of Mr. Lincoln, and becomes of great interest, as it is a fine work of art and a capital likeness. John Nicolay, Esq., the late President's Private Secretary, said this was the "historical bust of Abraham Lincoln." A more appropriate memorial of the murdered President than this cannot be had.

The editor of the Westminister (Carroll County, Md.) Democrat, one Joseph Shaw, was mobbed for disloyalty on the night of the assassination, and the material of his office destroyed. He was warned away by the citizens, but on Monday he returned. The same night the citizens waited upon him, requesting his departure, when he fired upon them, wounding a young man named Bell. The enraged populace then fell upon Shaw and killed him on the spot.

A Baptist clergyman from Benningham, Mass., preached in Midford last Sabbath morning. Neither in prayer nor sermon did he recognize the great wrong that was oppressing the heart of every hearer. The omission was so clearly intentional that at the close of the first service a committee of the church waited upon the unfaithful preacher and ordered him to leave town immediately, which he, of course, did.

An affectionate husband. There is an undertaker in Newbern who is also an embalmer, and when his wife died he exercised his art upon her remains in his best style, and now keeps her in his room to exhibit as a specimen of his art, tapping her upon the forehead to show its firmness, and saying, "This is all there is of my poor Betsy."

The work of erecting a tomb to receive the remains of our late President, was commenced at Springfield on Wednesday, April 26th. The ground selected to receive the honored body is styled the "Mather lot." A magnificent monument will be erected.

The photographic plates taken of President Lincoln, whilst in his coffin, in New York, have been destroyed. Mrs. Lincoln desired it. The reason assigned is that the features of the corpse were shrunken and had assumed an unnatural appearance.

A woman in Paterson, N. J., is said to have hung out signals of rejoicing on the reception of the news of President Lincoln's death, and went in to mourning for Booth, the murderer.

It is said that Jeff. Davis has rented a house in Porto Rico through an agent in that city.

A poor woman, in New Haven, the wife of a Union soldier, placed mourning upon her house, when she received the news of the assassination of our good President. The landlord, a most rabid Copperhead, and rebel sympathizer, ordered her to take down "those rags," and vacate the premises, which she was compelled to do. Is there no law to reach this heartless scoundrel? Something ought to be done which would give such people cause to remember that though President Lincoln is dead the Government still lives.

President Johnson wisely determines to show the world that in spite of this fearful tragedy the prosecution of our Executive is not, even now, to be in the bayonets of a guard, but in the love and vigilance of the people. He exposes himself in public places with the utmost indifference. A gentleman, meeting him on Wednesday, asked, "Mr. President, is it wise for you thus to jeopard yourself?" He replied, "Yes, I have already been shot at twice, you remember, without injury. Threatened men live long."

The Nashville Daily Times, of the 22nd inst., has a report to the effect that John Bell, formerly a United States Senator, and candidate for the Presidency in 1860, died, recently, in Alabama. MAGNIFICENT SALE.

Gold and Silver Watches, Jewelry, &c.

ON THE ONE DOLLAR PLAN.

The entire stock of one Gold and Silver Watch Manufacturing, Two Immense Jewelry Establishments, One Silver Plating Ware-house, One Gold Pen and Pencil Maker.

TO BE DISPOSED OF WITH DISPATCH WITHOUT REGARD TO COST!

The Goods are of fashionable styles and most excellent workmanship, and are offered in this manner to relieve the proprietors from embarrassment occasioned by a distracting civil war. It should be prominently stated, also, that they are mostly of AMERICAN MANUFACTURE and therefore greatly superior to the goods imported from abroad and hawked about as the cheapest ever sold. The simple duty on imported goods and the high premium on Gold (all foreign bills are payable in gold,) amount to more than the entire cost of many of the articles offered by us to the public. To facilitate the sale.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR will be charged for any article on our list, and this sum the purchaser need not pay until he knows what he is to get! This plan accords with the method recently become so popular for disposing of large stocks of Jewelry and similar productions.

THE PLAN IS SIMPLE!

The name of each article offered for sale as "Gold Hunting Watch," "Gold Oval-Band Bracelet," "Pearl Breast-pin and Ear-Drops," "Hold Er smelted Ring," "Silver Plated Cake-Cases," &c., is written on a card and enclosed in a sealed envelope; these envelopes are then placed in a drawer and well mixed; then as an order is received, with twenty-five cents for return postage and other charges, one of the cards or certificates is taken at random and sent by first mail to the customer, who will see at once what he can get for One Dollar. If he is pleased with his fortune he can forward the money according to directions on the certificate and secure the prize. If the article awarded should be unsuited to the purchaser—as for example, a set of Pearl Ear Drops and Breast-pin to a young man who could not wear them, and had no one to give them to—we will send any other article on the catalogue of equal price which may be preferred. Or, if, for any reason, you choose to venture no further, then you can let the matter drop where it is and spend no more. Examine carefully our Catalogue!
