"The Field, the Dungeon, and the "scape," is the title of a new work just appearing, by Albert D. Richardson, late War Correspondent of the New York Tribune. This work embraces Mr. Richardson's unparalled experience for four years, in traveling through the south in the secret service of the Tribune, at the outbreak of the war, with the Armies and Navy. Also his thrilling capture, and confinement for twenty months in seven different rebel prisons. His escape, and miraculous journey by night, of nearly 400 miles, aided by negroes and Union Mountaineers.

It will abound in stirring events nevr before given to the public, and con-^{sins} minute details of the escape, which have not yet appeared, including a decription of Dan Ellis, the famous Union llot, and the unknown Guide, in the person of a Young Lady, with Facts. Incidents, and romance of the war. It will be issued in the highest style of typography, illustrated by eight spirited sketches on wood, by a portrait of the author on steel, of seven Army Correspondents, who have become widely known during the war: Messrs. Charles ³. Coffin, ("Oarleton,") Boston Journal; Richard T. Colburn, New York World; Junius H. Browne, New York Tribune; Thomas W. Knox, New York Herald; L. L. Crounse, New York Times; Wm. E. Davis, Cincinnati Gazette ; and W. D. B., of the Cincinnati Commercial. Agents wanted for every city, town, township and county in the United States. This work presents a rare opening for both men and women, who deire lucrative employment. WHAT EVERYBODY KNOWS, viz:

That Iron well galvanized will not rust; That a simple machine is better than a complicated one; That a Wringer should be self-adjusting, durable, and efficient ; That Thumb-Screws, and Fastenings cause delay and to ouble to regulate and keep in order; That wood soaked in hot water will swell, shrink and split ; That wood bearings for the shaft to run in will wear out ; That the Putnam Wringer, with or without

That cog-wheels, will not tear the clothes; That cog-wheel regulators are not essential; That the Putnam Wringer has all the ad-

That an who have tested it, prohubic it the best Wringer ever made; That it will wring anything from a thread to a b-d quilt without alteration; We might fill the paper with testimonials, but insert only a few to convince the skepti-cal, if such there be; and we say to all, test Putnam's Wringer.
