

On our first page will be found an interesting article on SHAD-FISHING, from the pen of an ex-Mariettian.

We have received from Mr. William Child, a very interesting account of a trip to Mount Vernon and the grave of Washington, which will appear in our next.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. Brown, agent for the "Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York," will pay our company a visit to-day (Saturday) or on Monday. From evidence laid before us, we have no hesitation in declaring that, if not the most safe and desirable insurance companies in the United States.

Providence permitting, to-morrow (Sabbath) morning at 10 o'clock, the pastor, W. Matthias, will preach in the E. Church, on the subject of the Christian Sabbath.

William Johnston will sell on Saturday (this day) afternoon, commencing one o'clock, the entire furniture and hotel fixtures of "The Hermitage."

Head Quarters, Co. "F," 195th P. V., Harrisonburg, Va., July 5, '65.

Dear Baker:—As I frequently find from soldiers in the columns of your useful, and by us highly prized little paper, I thought it would not be amiss to let you know how we, of the 6th, passed our fourth of July. Company F. is commanded by Captain John R. Rutter, who is very much respected and esteemed by all of the men; we are about one mile from this place, which is the county seat of Rockingham county, and at one time numbered about 4000 inhabitants, but the war—now so effectually and magnanimously closed—has sadly decimated that population very much for their uncalculated blow at the nation's life. Our camp is situated on the brow of a hill, overlooking extensive woods composed of towering pines and cedars, the latter are extensively used for erecting arbors for our officers and men, to protect them from the scorching sun. The commandant, Major Clarke, in lieu of Lieut.-Col. Wm. L. Bear, home on furlough, concluded to have a parade on the fourth, accordingly, at 7 o'clock in the morning, the companies formed into line, and at the command "right face—file left—march" they moved off, preceded by a company of Cavalry stationed here in conjunction with the Infantry; the band, though young, enlightened the parade with their martial airs, the firm tread and perfect step of the boys in the band, served to clear up the press the boasted chivalry of the fact that "one yankee" is a little more than a fifth of a southerner. It is not uncommon to see these southern imps giggle at and on officers and men quietly passing. I have seen the heads of families ordering in the members of it—large and small—with the expression "the hateful yankees are coming" and with a turn-up nose slam the door shut. In addition to such capers, on the fourth of July they hung out of the upper story window old gray or rebel uniforms. After the morning ceremonies had been concluded, a torch light procession had been determined on, together with the illumination of the headquarters—a large three story brick mansion and the provost marshal's office, also a large and spacious building. The procession formed at 8 in the evening and proceeded through the principal streets; the appearance was truly grand, every man at a shoulder arms with a lighted candle in the muzzle of his gun; the close movement made the procession look, at a short distance, like a bright streak of fire. In commemoration of this truly and most heart enclosed anniversary, at one citizen of Harrisonburg—Dr. Gilbert, by name, I learn—was the only patriot to throw to the breeze the national colors and light his windows—now brightly his conduct compares with the contemptible balance of the place.

A fourth dinner was discussed by the boys of Co. F., and some concluded that a mill dam a couple of miles distant, contained turtle, and they succeeded in catching—in two nights—eleven that averaged ten pounds each—the largest collection of turtle meat I ever saw. The chief captor of these "bony animals" was our Orderly Sergeant, Samuel S. Rogers, who assumed the responsibility of chief cook, and, considering the want of cooking facilities, he did remarkably well. At the word "ready for dinner," we gathered around a well spread board with such delicacies as the country afforded, but the centre of attraction was the "snapper soup," which was excellent. Capt. Rutter occupied the head of the table and after a few well-timed remarks on the day we celebrated and the evident destiny of our beloved country, from him, we "set in" and did ample justice to the "good things" before us. Lieut. L. D. Shuman, Lieut. J. Gaibret, Sergeant-Major Christian Hanlon, Quartermaster Sergeant Israel Hanlon, Corporals Frank J. Heckler, D. R. Hinkle, D. L. Smedley, and other boys were with us.

Truly Your Friend, M. M. C.

LEAVENWORTH—ITS TRADE AND TRAVEL.

We have just received a paper called the "Kansas Commercial Advertiser," from which we glean the following items with regard to her wholesale trade and travel. Most of this freightage passes through the hands of A. Caldwell & Co., Government freighters, No. 104 Delaware street, Leavenworth. Most of our citizens remember Mr. Caldwell, formerly an attaché of the Columbia Bank, who is now regarded as one of the leading young men of this rising city. "No person," says the Advertiser, "who has not taken the trouble to gather up the figures can form any idea of the immense trade of the young city of Leavenworth. At considerable expense we have obtained the amount of Wholesale Trade, Freights received and amount paid for transportation of the same, and the amount of travel to and from the city.

During the eleven months of 1864, February to December inclusive, we find that $116,834.78 was paid Steamboats for freight landed at our Levee. This, of course, does not include the amount paid for Government freight, or for freight landed to be shipped to parties in the interior. Besides the above amount, $504,570.19 were collected by the agent of the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad for freights brought over its line. The U. S. Express Company also received $80,000 for expressage. To make it more clear to our readers, we give the following table:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes Steamboats, U.S. Express Co., H & St. Jo. R.R., and Private conveyance.

From the above figures it will be readily perceived that the trade of Leavenworth during that time must have been immense.

Upon close examination of the books of our different Wholesale Houses, we find that over Eighteen Millions of Dollars worth of goods were sold during the year 1864, to dealers in the interior. The following are the figures:

Table with 2 columns: Category and Amount. Includes Wholesale Dry Goods Trade, Grocery Trade, Liquors, Drugs, Furniture, Hardware, Jewelry, &c.

Comment on the above is unnecessary. The figures given are sufficient, of themselves, to set every Business Man to thinking of what must be the future of a City which, in the short space of ten years, has acquired a trade which any of the larger cities might covet.

The Retail Trade is not included in the above statement, and, from the manner in which small dealers have kept their books, it is impossible to obtain the amount of trade transacted by them during the year.

"The Lady's Friend" leads off in its August number with beautiful steel engraving called "GRANDPA'S DARLING,"—the face of the old man, with its deep, thoughtful eyes, strikes us as particularly fine. Among the figures of the colored Steel Fashion Plate, we note a Bridal Dress, very chaste and pretty. The other engravings of this number are, "The Children and the Rain-Drops," "Jacket a Bandeaux (front and back view)," "Bonnets," "Gentlemen's Shirt," "Grecian Waist with Braces (front and back view)," "Gimp Ornament," "Waiteau Skirt Supporter," &c., &c. The Music for this number is the fine piece, "Rest, Noble Chieftain!" Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00. Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

Mr. Richardson's new book "The Field, the Dungeon and the Escape," is on our table. It is very neatly gotten up, printed on fine white paper and contains steel portraits of seven correspondents, together with a very fine portrait of Albert D. Richardson, the author, who was a correspondent of "The New-York Tribune." Mr. R. gives a truthful and interesting account of his experience on the field, in the dungeon and during his escape to our lines, after twenty months incarceration in rebel prisons. The book is very entertaining. Persons wishing to obtain a copy or act as agents for its sale, will address "American Publication Company," Hartford, Conn.

John Barr, formerly of this borough, but now of Baltimore, who, a short time since, purchased the large three-story brick mansion of the late Judge Grosch, at the lower end of this borough, is having it very handsomely fitted-up. Mr. B., it is said, will remove here in the fall and take possession of it.

Two sailors have just been committed to the Wethersfield, Connecticut, State Prison, for twelve years each for breaking open the coffin of a dead chum and stealing sixty dollars which they found sewed up in his pants.

MANHOOD: How Lost—How Restored.
