DEATH OF JOHN BROUGH. Ex-Governor Brough is dead. He was born in Marietta, Ohio, in 1811. He was self-educated, being brought up as a practical printer, to which trade he was apprenticed at an early age.

The Prince of Wales, one of whose titles is the Duke of Cornwall, has been visiting his extensive Cornish estates, accompanied by the Princess. Dressed in miner's clothes, they went down the Botallack tin mine, which is one of the most remarkable mines in England.

Jeremiah Townsend, clerk in a saving bank at New Haven, Conn., who absconded last May, with about one hundred thousand dollars, has been cleverly captured in Liverpool, by two Philadelphia detectives, on his arrival at that place from Havana, via Southampton.

A dramatization of Milton's Paradise Lost is played at Paris, in which Eden is represented with gorgeous scenery, and the tree of knowledge in the second grooves. Adam and Eve dispute about the forbidden fruit in language not of the choicest description, and Cain's sons dance a ballet with the modern senescent accessories.

Some of the copperhead journals have been denouncing young Ketchum, the defaulter, as "a loyal leugler." It turns out, however, that this fast individual belongs to the "fierce democracy," and kept open house in Chicago, and made a great splurge during the session of the convention which nominated McClellan.

Two young competitors for the love of the same girl at Fort Edward, N. Y., met the other evening, when one proposed to drown their enmity in friendly drink. The invitation was accepted but there was poison in the cup; and the poor girl finds one lover dying and the other waiting to be hanged.

A witness for the defence at the trial yesterday, exhibited at Washington the original commission of Jeff Davis as Second Lieutenant of Dragoons. It is signed by Andrew Jackson, President, and Lewis Cass, Secretary of War. It was procured at the home of Davis, in Mississippi.

On Sunday last, while Father Gardiner was celebrating Mass in the Catholic church at Carlisle, some rascal entered the room in which the priest's coat was hanging, and stole therefrom the pocket-book and money of the reverend gentleman.

A young lady by the name of Jones was arrested in Albany the other day, charged with leading a young man aged eighteen, from "the path of rectitude." This is a novel charge. The complainant was the young man's father. The lady was held to answer.

The females of some of the Indian tribes, in order to keep silence, fill their mouths with water. Our women fill theirs with tea, and gossip more than ever.

Senator Davis, of Kentucky, has had an interview with the President in relation to the military interference with the Kentucky election.

THE CABLE FAILURE.—The money lost by the Atlantic Telegraphic Company, by the failure of the cable, is estimated at $1,000,000. If the cable had succeeded, the owners of the Great Eastern were to receive two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and nothing if it failed. Had the attempt proved a success, the Great Eastern would have been purchased by the cable company, and no fewer than six lines would have been laid between Ireland and America.

Messrs. J. E. Tilton & Co., publishers, Boston, have received a note from John Bright, dated at Rochdale, July 27, in which he thanks them for a volume of sermons on the death of "the late good and noble President," and adds: "I feel much happier now than I did a year ago, for your great war was a great burden on my spirit. I think all men should feel thankful to God that it is ended, and that the main cause of it is ended with it. Henceforth you are a free people, and a great future is opening to you."

A curious incident in Paris high life is about to become the subject of a divorce before the First Chamber of the Tribunal of the Seine. A young husband belonging to one of the great families of France, in order to conceal his nightly absence from home formed the idea of placing in his bed a figure with a wax head made to resemble him. The artifice succeeded for a time, but one night the lady venturing to enter her husband's room, and approaching the bed discovered the trick. Hence the suit for a judicial separation.

The most prominent article of traffic just now between Norwich, Conn. and Nantucket, Massachusetts, is in houses. The houses that were built in Nantucket, at a cost of from $3000, to $5000, are offered for sale at auction and knocked down at from $500 to $2000, when the purchaser rolls them on board a schooner and sends them to Norwich or New London, where they are re-erected and sold at a handsome advance over what he paid.

A Cincinnati despatch to the Chicago Times says: "The Hon. George E. Pugh has received an intimation that the trial of Jeff. Davis will soon take place in a civil court, and he has commenced preparations for the defence, which promises to eclipse, in criminal proceedings, any defence ever known in this or the old country. Mr. Pugh will join Mr. O'Connor, of New York in Washington in a few days."

In a letter commending emigrants to make choice of Tennessee, Governor Brownlow says: "I may be a little selfish, as my home is in East Tennessee, as my wife and children were born there, in giving that division of the State the preference. I have heretofore said, and I repeat, in no spirit of blasphemy, that I would not leave Eastern Tennessee to go anywhere but to the Kingdom of Heaven."

Ex-Governor Letcher, in a letter to a friend in Lynchburg, says that President Johnson is not as vindictive towards the south as some have supposed, and that he has only to be convinced that the south recognizes the "existing state of affairs, regards slavery as dead, and sustains the government," and he will do all that the south can expect.

A swimmer having made a bet of five hundred francs with Count S that he would swim in the Seine for ten minutes, holding a book all the while in both hands and reading aloud, gained his wager on the 25th of July, a considerable crowd of boats being collected in the river, filled with persons anxious to see the feat.

The latest invention of India rubber, in Paris, is "a false bust and neck" for females—a perfect imitation of flesh and blood, and (as they say of good counterfeits) "well calculated to deceive." At the circle where the true and false neck are connected, is worn a band of ribbon or a white necklace, which completely conceals the junction.

A Mr. McNeely, keeper of the King's county jail at Brooklyn, N. Y., has been expelled from his office for practicing the tortures of Andersonville prison on the criminals under his charge. The prisoners were not only starved but the males were cruelly lashed, and the females cowed.

There is good authority for stating that all the colored troops now in the service are soon to be mustered out. The idea that they would be retained as a part of the regular army is erroneous. They form simply a provisional Corps, which will be discontinued within a few months.

A little boy named Kephart, residing in Blair county, was struck last week by a rattle snake three times in the foot, each time inflicting a severe wound. A free administration of whiskey and other remedies saved the loss of life.

Mrs. Robert Toombs was recently ordered by General Wild to vacate the premises occupied by her in Washington, Ga., as they were needed by the Freedmen's Bureau; but the order was countermanded by General Stedman, and she still remains.

General J. E. Johnston, of the late rebel army, has written a letter, in which he gives his views upon the future course of the South. He recommends that the people of Virginia should cheerfully submit to the new state of affairs, as in that way they can only live happily and peacefully.

The State Capitol building at Harrisburg is surrounded by an immense scaffold, and the walls are being repainted and penciled, which will add greatly to the already attractive appearance of the structure.

The trustees of the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, advertise for a gentleman to fill the chair of mathematics. This institution was founded by Thomas Jefferson in 1802.

Edward B. Ketchum, of the firm of Morris Ketchum, Son & Co., whose abstraction of bonds and other securities from the house of which he was a member, and whose forgeries of gold certificates have made him so notorious, was arrested in Twentieth street, below Fifth and Sixth avenues, in New York city, near a house where he had his lodgings.

Half a dozen or more clerks have recently been dismissed from the Treasury Department for drunkenness on duty and a number have been notified that intoxication during business hours will be considered sufficient cause for immediate dismissal.

George N. Saunders, the unabdicated, now goes armed by permission of the authorities of Montreal, and wears a belt or girdle, in which are slung his revolvers and a bowie knife, while in his side pockets he carries his small revolvers, making his person quite an arsenal.

"THE ROLL OF HONOR."—From August 3, 1861, to June 30, 1865, the number of deaths in the hospitals in the District of Columbia, was twenty thousand seven hundred and twenty seven. Whites, fifteen thousand and six; blacks, five thousand, seven hundred and twenty seven; of the number of whites 190 only are unknown; ages known of whites 9,267; ages unknown of whites, 5,734; conjugal conditions unknown, 9,442; known, 5,559; widowers, 68; single, 6,199; married, 3,175; nativity unknown 9,024; known, 5,977.

A pamphlet has just been issued under the auspices of the War Department, giving many interesting facts on this subject, and containing "the names of the soldiers who died in defence of the American Union," and whose remains are interred in the National Cemeteries in this District.

With the care and respect which is due to the memory of the patriotic dead, their burial places have been tastefully arranged. The names of the deceased are inscribed on the headboards, so that friends may have no difficulty in learning of the resting places of their loved ones.—Washington Chronicle.

THE MOTHER OF HAROLD.—There is a singular fact with relation to the great conspiracy which has heretofore escaped publicity. The mother of Harold, the conspirator who was to assassinate General Grant, is a strong Unionist, and had many times protested against her son's secessionist tendencies. After his part in the assassination plot became known, she stifled all the natural feelings of a mother, and resolutely said that she had tried in vain to teach him better counsels, and now he must take the results of his wicked conduct, without expecting sympathy from her. Although his sisters visited him frequently during his imprisonment, and did all in their power to secure a pardon for him, his mother would do neither, but maintained her singular resolution with more than Spartan firmness to the last.

A young lady moving in the upper circles, at Chicago, was betrothed at the beginning of the war to a lieutenant in the army. He was killed in battle, and his body taken home and buried by his nearest friend and comrade, who was with him when he fell. To this young man the lady's affections were very naturally transferred in time, and she engaged to marry him. When the happy day arrived, and just as the clergyman was about to pronounce them man and wife, the lady suddenly fainted, and being revived, forbade any further procedure, as she said she had seen the spirit of her former lover, and he was opposed to the match. She persisted in her decision, and has since retired to a convent.

At the great German shooting festival, in Bremen, ten thousand riflemen attended. In their procession a portrait of Mr. Lincoln and the picture of a man representing a negro with broken manacles were conspicuous. In the most difficult contest, when only two shots at a target one thousand feet off were allowed, three men hit the centre with both shots, and drew lots for the prize of one thousand dollars. Among other prizes were an American gold watch sent by the Baltimore Schuetzen, an American buggy sent by the New Yorkers, and a Springfield rifle sent by Governor Fenton.

Mr. Corcoran, the secessionist banker of Washington, has been residing lately in Paris with his daughter, the wife of Euastis, of Trent notoriety. All during the rebellion, Mr. Corcoran was daily at the Grand Hotel, in close communion with the rebel emissaries at Paris. He is evidently endeavoring to atone for his treasonable behavior by liberal contributions to scientific institutions, and he has recently donated to the Columbian College of Washington, a building in H street, estimated at a value of $30,000.

The laying down of the Atlantic cable is a failure—it having parted on the 2d of August, when within about 600 miles of Heart's Content. The Company, however, are sanguine of yet accomplishing their end. It is the intention of the company to grapple and raise the cable, and then splice it and complete the laying down.

A young clerk in Albany saw a beautiful young girl among the Mormons who passed through that city, and falling in love with her at first sight, offered to marry her outright. He was scornfully refused, the girl preferring to run her chances of getting the twentieth or thirtieth part of a man in Utah.

Every one is asking about Heart's Content. It is a dirty little hamlet in Newfoundland, noted principally for its huge mosquitoes, untrustworthy people and beautiful bay. The hitherto terminus of the Atlantic cable is at Heart's Content.

It is understood that the authorized amount of national currency has been exhausted, and no more national banks will at present be chartered, except only those whose papers were filed in due form prior to August first.

Morton McMichael of the North American, is the Union Candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia.

PHYSIOLOGICAL PHENOMENA.—An army correspondent writes: "In the army and among returned soldiers, I have noted one fact, in particular, somewhat at variance with the usual theories. It is that light-haired men, of the nervous, sanguine type, stand campaigning better than the dark haired men, of bilious temperament. Look through a raw regiment on its way to the field, fully one-half its members seem to be of the black haired, dark skinned, large boned, bilious type. See that same regiment on its return for muster out, and you will find that the black-haired element has melted away, leaving at least two-thirds, perhaps three-fourths, of the regiment to be represented by red, brown and flaxen hair. It is also noticed that men from the cities, slighter in physique and apparently at the outset unable to endure fatigue and privation, stands a severe campaign much better than men from the agricultural districts. A thin, pale looking dry goods clerk will do more marching and starving than many a brawny plow-boy who looks muscular enough to take a bull by the tail and throw him over a staked and-ridered fence."

THE CANINE WAR.—Last week one hundred and nineteen unmuzzled dogs were captured in Philadelphia. Of the whole number but twenty-four were redeemed. The remainder were knocked in the head. On Saturday a poodle dog awaiting his turn among fifty others to be knocked in the head, suddenly reversed his position, and stood upon his head just as the negro was about giving the fatal blow. This attracted attention, and the dog's life was spared. An hour afterwards his owner arrived in breathless excitement to redeem him. The dog was valued at two hundred dollars. He was an educated animal that had been playing in the concert saloons of Baltimore and Washington. But for his sagacity in doing up a trick at the time he was about to be killed, he would have shared the fate of the fifty others who were with him.

A collision occurred last Tuesday on the Housatonic Railroad, (Connecticut), between a new engine out for trial on the track, and two trains—a passenger and a freight—coupled and backing toward Bridgeport, about three miles from that place. The engine split the hind passenger car in two and entered the second from the rear, when the boiler exploded, causing terrible havoc. At least six passengers were killed outright, and twenty terribly mangled and scalped.

An Abolition Society exists in Spain, founded for the purpose of aiding in the abolition of slavery in every part of the world. Spain is one of the few countries which allows its dependencies to deal in human traffic; and there is no country in which a society like this will find more profitable employment. They have a large task before them, but the judicious assaults they make upon this "established institution," show that they understand their work.

At Fayetteville, N. C., it is stated it is not safe for a Union man to express his sentiments. Two female teachers who desired to establish a school for colored people were refused by the Mayor, and were told that if they were men they would be served as such people were before the war. A negro was recently strung up by the thumbs, and received forty-nine lashes. The government has found it necessary to garrison the place with negro troops.

A Fenian has been arrested in Liverpool on a charge of robbery. On his person the following oath was found: "I now, in the presence of Almighty God, solemnly swear allegiance to the Irish Republic, now virtually established, to take up arms in its defence at a moment's notice; and that I will, to the best of my power, defend its territory and independence, and will implicitly obey the commands of my superior officer. So help me God."

The trial of wretch Werze, is still going on in Washington. There is an abundance of evidence to prove the inhuman conduct of this scoundrel. He is a Swiss by birth, but married a wealthy Louisiana lady, who had a large plantation and a number of negroes. He is out in a card in Ben Wood's paper, the New York News, asking aid from the copperheads to conduct his defence.

Discharged soldiers cannot have it too frequently impressed upon them to keep their discharge papers. The brokers and speculators who buy them for a song expect to sell them back at an immense profit, when Congress shall have appropriated lands to the use and benefit of volunteers honorably discharged the service.

The Copperhead Organs are loud in the advocacy of the principle that intelligence alone should be the qualification for the exercise of the elective franchise. If this principle were applied to that organization, it could scarcely control a ward, precinct, township, or county in the United States.

The new Parisian fall bonnet just received, is said to coal-shuttle shaped.

Pennies are becoming a drug in the market in New York.

RATHER THIN.—An English manufacturing firm has succeeded in making iron so thin that 4,000 such sheets required to make an inch in thickness being one-fourth as thick as the best burg manufacturer, who wrote to the land some time ago on a sheet of iron making, of which it took 1,000 sheets on another to make an inch. The burg's skill has been largely overtaken by his British rival, and he must again.
