General J. O. Baker, chief detective of the War Department, Washington, is about to publish a full history of the records of the secret service of the Government, not only embracing the proceedings of his own but those appertaining to all officers belonging to the Detective service of the Government.

The ladies of Humboldt county, California, have sent to Gen. Grant a silk bed-spread, one side of which is composed of red and white silk stripes, while the other is a blue silk ground, upon which are neatly wrought, in the national colors, thirty-six miniature flags one for each State.

The Union portion of the Methodist congregation in Newport, Ky., over which the rebel preacher Huston was recently placed by the Conference, have resolved though in the majority, to withdraw and worship by themselves.

A crusty old bachelor, not liking the way his landlady's daughter had of appropriating his hair oil, filled his bottle with Spaulding's glue the day before a ball to which she was invited, and she stopped at home in consequence.

The Philadelphia papers announce the death of the Hon. Wm. J. Duane, aged 85 years. He was Secretary of the Treasury under Jackson, and resigned his office rather than consent to the removal of the deposits from the United States Bank.

The wife of Christian Wildt, of Schenck county, Pa., gave him $50 the other day to go away and not trouble her again. He returned, however, and asked for some clothes, but she refused him. He therefore hung himself in her barn.

In Sacramento, recently a woman procured the release of her husband from jail, and that night ran off with another fellow. Her object in procuring her husband's release was to leave somebody with the children.

The Antietam soldiers' cemetery will consist of eleven acres. The land costs one hundred dollars an acre. The area will be twice as large as that of the Gettysburg National Cemetery, and will contain twice as many graves.

Several thousand dollars were realized on Tuesday from the sale of the stock and fixtures of the government bakery at Alexandria, once a famous institution of its kind.

Gen. Beauregard is to be Superintendent of the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad. The rebel generals all seem to have an itching for easy positions that pay well.

The Fenians arrested in Ireland and England number two hundred, and some of them are to be tried for high treason.

The World in a Nut-Shell.—Flora Temple has been sold for $15,000. The President has commenced his message.

The Sioux murderers, Little Six and Medicine Bottle, have been reprieved by the President.

Government has just passed to the credit of bad debts $170,947,67, due from Isaac O. Fowler, late Democratic Postmaster in New York. It has been ascertained that the defalcation is uncollected from his securities.

All of the wood work in Ford's Theatre, Washington, has been removed, and workmen have nearly completed three arch floors of brick masonry, and the basement also of brick. The building will be perfectly fire proof, and a cast iron stairway will be erected from the first floor to the third floor in the southwest corner of the building.

English detectives have arrived in New York to keep an eye upon the Fenians and report to the home government. One or two of them are on the way to Chicago.

Gen. Averill, the noted cavalry commander, is at present located on Oil Creek, and is at present the proprietor of some half dozen teams, which are hauling oil from Pithole to Miller's Station.

A Kansas paper announces that two thousand families of German descent from Berks county, Pa., and from St. Louis, Mo., have through their agent, Capt. Brunswick, selected extensive tracts of land in the valley of the Solomon. It is as fine a country as the wide world can afford.

St. Leger Grenfell, the Chicago conspirator, who was sentenced to be hanged by the Cincinnati Military Commission, has had his sentence transmuted by the President to imprisonment for life at the Dry Tortugas.

The Kentucky Presbyterian Synod is in session at Louisville. Dr. Breckenridge has entered upon the war path by introducing a series of resolutions against treasonable preachers and disloyal members of the Synod.

Hugh Parker, residing at No. 15 Seventh street, New York, died on Sunday from an overdose of chloroform given him by a druggist's clerk to undergo the operations of setting a dislocated shoulder.

The Nashville Dispatch publishes a letter from Hon. Henry S. Foote on the vexed question of negro suffrage, in which he says, first, that it is a matter which ought to be regulated and controlled by the respective States, and secondly, that the privilege might now be granted to all colored men who can read and write and pay tax on any property.

A favorite question of the young men to the young ladies of Mobile is, "Has your father been pardoned yet?" finding out from the answer whether or not he comes under the $20,000 clause of the amnesty proclamation, and thence calculating the probable amount of the dame's solid charms.

In accordance with a recently delivered opinion of the Attorney General the Second Comptroller has decided that all colored volunteers shall be placed on the same footing with white soldiers in regard to bounty, and paymasters are instructed to pay them accordingly. This decision will, it is supposed, call for an additional $20,000,000.

The Quartermaster General is having printed a pamphlet containing the names of the Union soldiers who died and were interred in the Andersonville cemetery, together with other matters of interest in that connection.

A. H. Stephens, the ex-rebel Vice President, left Washington for his home in Georgia. Mr. Stephens, while here, expressed his determination to use his best efforts to induce the people of the south to accept the conciliatory policy of the Administration.

A clergyman, who lost his carpet bag, with clothing and sermons, in New Haven, recovered all but the sermons among the baggage of an opera company at Albany. He caused the arrest of the agent of the opera for confiscating his sermons.

AGES OF LIVING PUBLIC MEN.—Napoleon III. is 56 years of age; Alexander Emperor of Russia, 47; Victor Emanuel, 45; Lord Palmerston, Prime Minister of England, 81; Lord John Russell, 73; Earl Derby, 66; the Lord High Chancellor of England, 65; Mr. Gladstone, 56; President Johnson, 57; Secretary Seward, 65; ex-Secretary Cameron, 66; Chief Justice Chase, 67; Charles Sumner, 54; Ben Wade, 65; Senator Wilson, 53; Gen. Wise, 59; Toombs, 55; Orr, 43; Alexander H. Stephens, 53; and Mr. Foster, presiding officer of the U. S. Senate, 59.

Emerson Etheridge, now on trial for treason at Nashville, has put in a plea denying the jurisdiction of the military commission, which the court overruled, whereupon Etheridge filed an exception to the ruling. He then pleaded not guilty to the charges and specifications, except the second specification and second charge, to which he pleaded guilty, and the court allowed him to introduce the whole letter from which the extract was made.

W. W. Holden, of North Carolina appointed Provisional Governor of that State by President Johnson, has been nominated for election on the basis of repudiation of the rebel debt, abolition of slavery, and bestowing their civil rights (suffrage excepted) upon the freedmen.

W. W. Holden, of North Carolina appointed Provisional Governor of that State by President Johnson, has been nominated for election on the basis of repudiation of the rebel debt, abolition of slavery, and bestowing their civil rights (suffrage excepted) upon the freedmen.

A number of drafted men, who had run off, but returned since the end of the war, have been tried by a court-martial at Detroit. One man, named William Jones, was found guilty of "desertion," and sentenced to confinement at hard labor for three months, to be dishonorably discharged, and to be forever deprived of citizenship, and the sentence to be published in at least two papers published nearest his home.

Coe's Cough Balm and Coe's Dyspepsia Cure—they should always be in the house ready for immediate use; they are the most reliable remedies known. The one always handy and speedy in cases of sudden attacks of croup amongst the children; or for curing the most stubborn coughs and colds, is excellent for sore throat and all lung difficulties, the other—Coe's Dyspepsia Cure—is certain to cure dyspepsia, no matter of how long standing, indigestion, and all diseases that originate in a disordered state of the stomach and bowels.

It is said that Maximilian has forwarded five millions of dollars to Washington, in order to influence Congress in favor of his recognition by our government. The newspapers in the imperial interest publish glowing accounts of the prospects and resources of the empire. They claim that the country has eight and a quarter millions of inhabitants, and that its agricultural and mineral resources render it self-sustaining.

Forty persons were poisoned recently in Shiloh, Illinois, by having corrosive sublimate administered to them by mistake for calomel, a less powerful preparation of mercury. Seven have died, and fears are entertained for others. Neither the physician nor local druggists are to blame, as the medicine was taken from the package in which it came from a St. Louis establishment, and probably from England.

A letter has been received at the Freedmen's Bureau from Governor Bradford, of Maryland, relative to complaints made of abuses committed upon colored people in certain counties of Lower Maryland. Affidavits have been sent to the Governor in many instances, and he has referred them to the prosecuting attorneys of the different counties where the abuses were perpetrated, with instructions to prosecute the offenders.

The following is a characteristic short sermon, which President Lincoln was in the habit of preaching to his children: "Don't drink, don't smoke, don't chew, don't swear, don't gamble, don't lie, don't cheat, love your fellow-men, as well as God, love truth, love virtue, and be happy."

BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT.—The beautiful sentiment below is from the pen of Hon. Geo. S. Hilliard:—I confess that increasing years bring with them an increasing respect for men who do not succeed in life, as those words are commonly used. Heaven is said to be a place for those who have not succeeded upon earth; and it is surely true that celestial graces do not best thrive and bloom in the hot blaze of worldly prosperity. Ill-guess sometimes arises from a superabundance of qualities in themselves good—from a conscience too sensitive, a taste too fastidious, a self-forgetfulness too romantic, a modesty too retiring. I will not go so far as to say with a living poet that "the world knows nothing of its greatest men," but there are forms of greatness which die and make no sign; there are martyrs that miss the palm but not the stake; heroes without the laurel, and conquerors without the triumph.

Robert E. Lee, late General in Chief of the rebel army, has taken the amnesty oath under the proclamation of the President of the United States. It was on the 9th of April that this man surrendered. On the 2d of October, nearly six months afterwards, he took the oath of allegiance at Lexington, in Virginia. He swore that he would "faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Union of the States thereunder;" that he would in like manner abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have been made during the rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves. But as the same Robert E. Lee has already taken a part of the same oath as an officer of the United States army, a child of the United States, educated at the expense of the people, and supported at our charge, and as he has broke it upon the miserable pretense that he "must go with his State," the fact that he has sworn the same oath a second time is not very interesting. He would doubtless break it again did interest or passion incite him to do so.

The assertion is made positively, in intelligent quarters, that there is now before the Government something in the nature of a proposal from the British authorities to pay damages arising from the depredations of rebel privateers fitted out in British ports, and also to arrive at some agreement which shall prevent like transactions hereafter, as between the two nations, whether the hostile condition exists in Great Britain or in the United States. We think it is very likely that such a proposition has been made. England is beginning to find that her position is a good deal more vulnerable than she has heretofore supposed, and that it is better not to make enemies of us.

The publication of the list of the principal owners of the shares of the Confederate Cotton Loan has, it appears, created much excitement in England, and called forth several demands as to its truth. Whatever errors it may contain, it is proper to say that the original document from which a copy was taken and furnished simultaneously to the American press, is in possession of our Government, together with many others of an equally interesting character, upon that and other questions relating to rebel proceedings, and obtained both at home and abroad, which will some day see the light.

The English Government and people were full of wrath because a passport system was established in this country for the detection of rebel emissaries. "But how every person who lands in Ireland from America is made subject to an examination that extends to everything on his person, or in his luggage, to every paper and every bit of linen; and if a revolver or a powder-flask is found in his trunk, it is confiscated."

Fifty thousand Americans are now sojourning or travelling in various portions of Europe. They are scattered among the various gay capitals of that continent or the thousands of rural or less crowded resorts rendered interesting by history, song, or story. These Americans, it is estimated, are spending at the rate of one hundred millions of dollars in gold a year.

Capt. J. M. Moore, who was sent to the Andersonville Cemetery, for the purpose of marking the graves of Union soldiers, has made a very interesting report of his expedition. He has marked over twelve thousand graves with the names of the victims of rebel cruelty and about four hundred with the words "Unknown United States Soldiers."

The other day three soldiers in Memphis Tenn., while running away from the patrol guard, leaped from the Susquehanna Bridge into the river; a distance of sixty feet, and swam the river making good their escape. This is the best jumping since Sam Patch went over the Niagara Falls.

Six thousand acres of land in Arkansas, belonging to the ex-rebel Gen. Gideon J. Pillow, which has been held as abandoned property for some time past by the Government, have been restored to their original owner. This will probably be the case with most if not all the rest.

Special Notices.

HOSIETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. Read E. D. E. N. Southworth's Letter. Prospect College, Georgetown, D. C. April 2, 1863.

Gentlemen—It gives me pleasure to add my testimonial to those of others in favor of your excellent preparation.—Several years of residence on the banks of a Southern river, and of close application to literary work, had thoroughly exhausted my nervous system and undermined my health, that I had become a martyr to dyspepsia and nervous headache, recurring at short intervals, and defying all known remedies in the Materia Medica. I had come to the conclusion that nothing but a total change of residence and pursuits would restore my health, when I found a friend recommending Hosietter's Bitters. I procured a bottle as an experiment; it required but one bottle to convince me that I had found at last the right combination of remedies. The relief it afforded me was complete. It is now some years since I first tried Hosietter's Bitters, and it is but just to say that I have found the preparation all that it claims to be. It is a Standard Family Cordial with us, and even as a stimulant we like it better than anything else; but we use it all nervous, bilious and dyspeptic cases, from fever down to toothache. If what I have now said, will lead any dyspeptic or nervous invalid to a sure remedy, I shall have done some good.

TERRESTRIAL DIETETICS—SECRETS FOR THE MIXTURE.—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored Engravings. Dr. Hunter's Vade Mecum, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with never-failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "VADE MECUM." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in P. O. stamps. Address, post paid, Dr. Hunter, No. 3 Division street, New York.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years, with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, etc. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription, will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings County, New York.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MARIETTIAN.—Dear Sir:—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send, by return mail, to all who wish it, (free) a recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm that will effectually remove, in ten days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all impurities of the skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful. I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads, or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to obtain a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, a Moustache, in less than 30 days.

All applications answered by return mail without charge. Respectfully yours,

THOS. F. CHAPMAN, Chemist & Perfumer, 831 Broadway, N. Y. [Sep. 20-3m AAC]
