

The Mariettian.

F. L. Baker, Editor.

MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, November 11, 1865.

The movements against the dams in the Susquehanna river, which obstruct the ascent of the shad, salmon and other fish in season, is assuming considerable importance. A formal call has been issued for a convention to meet in the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, on the afternoon of the second Wednesday in January next, to which all the counties interested in the Susquehanna fisheries are invited to send delegates. As the Legislature will then be in session, measures for protection will then be demanded.

Forney's Press of Wednesday last says: Simultaneous with the announcement that Herz Wirz was to be hung at Washington, on Friday, for worse than inhumanity to the Union prisoners at Andersonville, comes the intelligence from President Johnson that Jefferson Davis is soon to be legally tried for treason—a purpose always entertained and never for a moment yielded. The same nerve that saw the instruments executed will not flinch at trying the principal. The law that establishes treason as a crime, will neither be hard to find or difficult to construe.

Since the execution of Champ Ferguson, at Nashville, certain parties in Washington who are familiar with Col. Mosby's war history are interesting themselves with a view to bringing the latter to what they call justice. They aver that Mosby, although a rose colored, gentlemanly sort of a villain, was guilty of guerrilla atrocities which would have made Champ Ferguson blush. They claim to have names of ex-rebel officers among the list of witnesses wherewith to prove inhuman crimes upon the Virginia partisan.

A lawyer of Chicago, named Charles King, on Tuesday morning, while under the influence of brain fever, leaped from a fourth story window. His attendant caught him by the foot, and held him suspended from the window for some time, but was compelled by exhaustion to release his hold, when Mr. King fell heavily to the pavement. Singular to relate he was not seriously injured, but was able to walk to his room.

The elections in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Michigan, Maryland, Wisconsin and Illinois, all resulted in triumph for the Union party. Even New Jersey, a State hitherto the stronghold of the locofocoism, has left its idols, and is now in a condition to adopt the constitutional amendment. At this writing the majorities can only be approximated, but they are all great.

The legislature of Tennessee has ordered the sale of the "Hermitage" estate, which was purchased by the State after the death of Gen. Jackson. The debt incurred by the State, while under rebel rule, was so great that rigid retrenchment must be resorted to. Two acres around the grave of the old Hero are reserved, in the order of sale.

The trial of Jeff Davis seems to be a certainty, since the President has announced to persons who came there asking the pardon of Davis, that everything was in readiness for "the early trial of Jefferson Davis according to the laws of the land."

Governor Pierpont, of Virginia, comes out in a card denying that he was ever ordered out of Freeman Clark's office for expressing disloyal sentiments. He says the whole thing is a falsehood.

There were 23,000 persons weighed at the late fair in Quincy and Faneuil Halls. The men averaged 141 1/2 lbs; the women 124 1/2 lbs; the largest man weighed 293; the largest woman 274.

Eels in the New Haven water-pipes are making themselves very obtrusive and troublesome. Steam engines are frequently stopped because the pipes are obstructed by them.

Lynchburg letters state that the growing crop of tobacco in Virginia is almost too insignificant to be worth mentioning.

The residence in Washington formerly occupied by the British Minister has been purchased by Alfred Jones a colored man.

The famous Thames Tunnel, England, has been sold for a million of dollars, to a railway company.

President Johnson has appointed Thursday, December 7th as a day of national thanksgiving.

Wirz, on being asked if he had anything to say before the sentence of death was read to him, said: "No, nothing, if spirits can come back I will haunt false accusers."

Rosalie Poe, a sister of Edgar A. Poe, the poet, went to Baltimore a few days ago in very indigent circumstances. She was an adopted child in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, of Richmond, Virginia, on the death of her parents. Mr. Mackenzie died many years ago, and, with the exception of a few years, Mrs. Mackenzie has taken care of Rosalie ever since, but owing to the ravages of the war, in its very limited circumstances, and having gone blind, advised Rosalie to go to Baltimore among her relations. On going to Baltimore it seems she has been unable to find any of her kindred, and the Baltimore papers are appealing to the people to come to her assistance.

Mrs. Moore, the widow of the late Thomas Moore, the poet, died at Sloperton Cottage on Monday, September 4, at the age of sixty-eight years. "Bessy" Moore does not appear to occupy a great place in her husband's poetry, but rarely was a great poet more attached to his wife. Through all his letters and journals he is never tired of referring to her—quoting what she said, telling what she did, describing how she looked, and recording how she was admired. He married her in 1811, and her history is summed up in this one phrase—that she was the delight of his life. Mrs. Moore was the last that remained of the present generation of the Moore family.

An explosion took place a few days since in a stove in which a fire had been newly kindled, in a house belonging to Mr. Criger and family, near Timber Swamp, Warren county, N. J. The explosion broke the windows and doors, tore down the ceilings and did other mischief. It seems that some powder had been placed in the stove for safe keeping by one of the family, and had been forgotten. At the time of the catastrophe ten persons were in the room, but, strange to say, no one was injured or hurt.

A London paper publishes a description of a curious invention designed to catch safe burglars. The perpetrator no sooner commences, in perfect ignorance of the secret arrangements, to force open the door, drill the lock, or move the safe, than by so doing he sends a telegraph message to the nearest police office, exhibiting the number of the safe he is attacking, and this number, registered in the police books, has opposite to it the address of the house in which the robbery is being effected.

Most practitioners and medicine makers, in preparing pulmonary medicine, use ingredients which must be prescribed "not oftener than three or four times per day;" the proper treatment in such cases is to employ a medicine that it is safe to use every fifteen minutes—the directions for cough medicines should be "little and often." It is the throat, not the stomach, that requires treatment—this is the secret of the success of Coe's Cough Balsam. "Take it little and often." In a very short time it has become immensely popular.

Some of the State banks converted into National banks have been giving the Government trouble. They still continue to circulate the notes of the State banks as well as the National notes. In one instance a State bank with a capital of five hundred thousand dollars, had in circulation nine hundred thousand dollars of its old paper, and also at the same time four hundred thousand dollars circulation in National notes. Threats of punishment for these violations of law are gradually bringing the banks within the limits of the statute.

A Richmond correspondent states that Colonel Amos Binney, formerly Paymaster of the Department of Virginia, and some time ago ordered to Washington to answer complaints of defrauding the Government and soldiers, has been granted the alternative of restoring the funds alleged to have been withheld, and receiving an honorable discharge, or to stand his trial before a court-martial. His decision is not yet known.

Among the latest wonders in the animal kingdom is a talking dog which has been brought out in Springfield. He can say "Good morning," "How do you do?" and many other things, as plainly as a human being. The animal has been purchased by Billy Morris of the Boston Opera House.

St. Louis is clearing its streets for the cholera. The Council requires every householder to cause the side walk and gutter in front of his premises to be thoroughly cleaned twice a week.

Nine children were killed or wounded by the explosion of a shell picked up in the woods near Bradenburg, Ky. The innocent children attempted to crack the percussion shell like a walnut.

The daughter of Charles Cotesworth Pickney, aged seventy, is receiving rations at Charleston. There are fifteen thousand persons in the city who, like her, are drawing their daily supplies of rice from the Federal authorities.

Admiral Charles Keele, R. N., expired at Holloway, England, on the 9th of October, aged 70. He entered the navy in 1807. He was midshipman on the Java, and was severely wounded when that ship was captured by the United States frigate Constitution.

Seven or eight different saw mills have been projected and are in process of erection at Cedar Keys, Florida, or the vicinity, for the purpose of manufacturing lumber from the Sawanee for the New York markets.

A party of young men, while digging for roots, some miles north of Vincennes, Indiana, discovered an old leather sack containing $7000 in gold and $300 in silver. It is supposed to have been concealed there by an old man named Jones, who was sentenced to the penitentiary, some forty-two years ago, for robbery.

A man who took the night boat at Newport for New York, recently, slept all night, and waking the next morning early, took his travelling bag, went ashore, got into a hack, and asked to be driven to the Astor House. The astonishment of the hackman led to the traveller's discovery of the fact that the boat had been weather-bound at the wharf in Newport all night.

Charles C. Johnson, principal of public school No. 18, in Buffalo, N. Y., has been fined thirty dollars by the Police Court for outrageously hogging a pupil ten years of age.

A curious railroad accident occurred at Clinton, Conn., a few days ago. An express train was approaching, when a cow, annoyed by a small dog, dashed on to the rails. When the train had passed the cow lay with her head cut off, and the little dog, with his tail cut off, sat between the rails, looking after the retreating cars with a face indicative of the most intense astonishment and disgust.

The Free Will Baptist General Conference of Maine has passed a resolution prohibiting the ordination of ministers who use tobacco. The clergymen addicted to the use of the weed say they "don't see much freewill about that."

A dentist of Edinburgh has patented an ingenious modification of forceps, which admits artificial cooled air through its points to the gum, so as to deaden sensation previous to the extraction of the tooth, and thus renders the operation painless.

A marble cross has been placed about eight feet from the spot where Mrs. Arbutnot was struck dead by lightning while ascending the Schiltorth, in Switzerland, while on her bridal tour. The cross is about three hours' walk from Murren, and is seen by the tourist about half an hour before it is reached.

A venerable gentleman, in his 80th year, residing in Fall River, wears a pair of boots which he purchased in April, 1843, for which he paid the sum of $2.50. They have been worn more or less every year since their purchase.

One of the greatest engineering, scientific and mechanical feats in the country is now being performed at Cornwall, in Lebanon county. It is no less than the building of a spiral railway around and to the top of the great Iron ore mountain. It starts from the level of the Cornwall railroad, and revolves around the mountain, at some places over trussel work, at others over high embankments, and again at others through ponderous cuts in the solid bodies of iron ore, until it reaches the very top of the mountain. A great part of the way is completed, a greater part is ready for the sills, while the rest is progressing actively. A powerful locomotive has been obtained to do the work of moving the trains, which is already at Cornwall ready for work. The spiral road proper, when completed, will be over two miles in length, and a work the equal of which cannot be found probably in the world.

Edward B. Ketchum was arraigned on Saturday, in the Court of General Sessions, New York, and pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree. His counsel moved for a postponement of the sentence until Ketchum's testimony was taken in a number of civil suits now pending, and stated that evidence would be furnished to the court showing that he was a young man of correct habits previous to the commission of the offence. District Attorney Hall acceded to the motion, and the recorder postponed the sentence.

What is the difference between a New Zealander and an American mother? One loves tender babies, while the other prefers baby tenders.

In a railway accident what is better than presence of mind? Absence of body.

SPECIAL NOTICES. THE HORRORS OF INDIGESTION.—You complain of your stomach, unfortunate dyspeptic; but ought not your stomach to complain of you? Possibly the pangs you endure are simply the stomach's method of taking revenge upon you for neglecting and abusing it. Perhaps you have never made an effort to improve its condition, but on the other hand are continually cramming it with unwholesome and incongruous food. Have you ever tried Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a proper diet, and regular meals? The bitters in a week would put your digestive apparatus in perfect order, regulate the flow of bile in accordance with the laws of health, and produce just so much aperient action as would be necessary for your good; and when you were once all right, judicious and regular dieting, with a little of the Tonic now and then, would keep you so. If you have neglected these means of cure, don't blame your stomach for its rebellion. It is merely nature's hint that she wants help. If you neglect it, the next thing may be inflammation, or Scirrhus Cancer or some other violent and dangerous disease. There is such a thing as being too late in these matters. Hostetter's Bitters will cure Dyspepsia; but Dyspepsia may engender disease which defies all restoratives.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years, with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Colds, Coughs, etc. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription, will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamburg, Kings County, New-York. [sep30/3m]
