MARIETTA, PA:

Safurday Morning, February 17, 1866.

We are glad to see that the claims for damages of noble old Ishmael Day residing some half a dozen miles from Baltimore, whose house and barns were burned down by the rebels while proceeding on their raid upon the Philadelphia and Baltimore railroad-have been allowed by the House Committee of Ways and Means. It will be remembered that Day had a United States flag flying from a pole in front of his house, when two or three rebels, being in advance of the raiding party, tore down the flag, and while in the act of doing so one was shot dead by the old patriot.

A bill has passed the House of Representatives by a strong vote, appropriating $500,000 to the sufferers by the burning of Chambersburg. This is a big sum to give out of the State treasury. With the provisions of the bill we are not acquainted, but suppose that it makes some distinction between the loyal and disloyal sufferers, inasmuch as the latter had much to do in encouraging the rebels northward, and were loudmonthed in letting the rebels know that they sympathized with them.

There seems to be a determination on the part of the Legislature to change the mode of selecting jurors, so as to avoid wheel-stuffing, or whatever dodge a dominant party may adopt to get its own friends in a majority upon juries, as is now seriously charged is done. But, we think, to reach the evil the law should be general throughout the commonwealth, as all parties have an equal claim to the purity of the jury box.

F There is a peculiar people at Wallingford, Conn., who style themselves Communists. They ignore rum, tobacco, tea, coffee, pork, swearing, quarreling, wrangling, gossiping, backbiting, lying, cheating and defrauding-all of which is well as far as it goes. Unlike the Mormons; they have out one "affinity" at the same time, with whom they " live" so long as they both can agreewhen they are "divorced," not by a decree of the courts, but by mutual connent:

If his organ of approbativeness be reat, the French Emperor must be intensely pleased with the manner in which has comprehended the advantage of his position and, " playing upon a harp of a reading his speech, say, "the thing is of speedy withdrawal. In this matter, he openly defers to the opinion and wishes of Maximilian, and who is so obtuse as not to know that Maximilian will never willingly consent to the removal of a force by which alone he holds his throne? What then does this speech amount to? We fail to see in it, any

THE BIRTH-DAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN. -Had Abraham Lincoln lived to this morning (Monday, Feb. 12,) he would have been fifty-seven years old. Murdered in the moment of victory and of forgiveness, his death was at once a proof of the ingratitude of slavery and of the danger of toleration to treason. There was always something in his example, during life, strangely different from other men. His quaint humor, his singular sense, his simple ways, his oddity of speech and his freedom from the faults of language and of temper common to most public characters, made him an object of alternate wonder and respect. There was a sequence and a consistency in his acts, so that however he might startlo others, he always satisfied them of his perfect integrity. Lin-COLN dead, is something saint-like. As he left us, in the full enjoyment of a nation's love, with nobody to hate him save those who were unfit for pardon, we think of him as an apostle, sent among men to preach the doctrines of a common father. The manner of his death will survive all ordinary memories, and will keep his virtues forever before his countrymen and the world at large .-The Press, Southwest Corner of Market Square. Marietta, Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania.

This Academy having received very flatter-ing encouragement during the first session will enter upon the second term on Monday, April sixteenth

The location of this school is one of the most healthy and pleasant in the State. Four pas-senger trains of the Pennsylvania railroad co. pass through the Borough daily, making it easy of access from all parts of the State. The branches taught embrace all those of a thorough English education, together with Latin, Greek, French and German languages, Vocal and Instrumental Music. Every branch will be taught in the most thorough manner. Whilst the principal will constantly aim to make thorough scholars, he still deems it no less important to inculcate moral and religious principles. He pludges his best exertions to secure the present and future welfare of those ommitted to his charge. Lectures on Philosophy, &c., will be delivered before the students during the session. A regular examination will be held at the close of each term.
