

The Mariettian.

MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, March 24, 1866.

GEARY'S EARLY LIFE.—It has often been remarked that the early struggles of distinguished men exhibit their true force of character as thoroughly as any of their subsequent career.

The Paris correspondence of the Saturday Press speaks of a soiree given by the resident minister of the Republic of Hayti, at which the leading men of the French capital were present.

There was a grand ball at the National Hotel in Washington, the evening before Lent. The Republican says the dancing was kept up until four o'clock in the morning and the star of the galaxy of beauty was a young lady from Vermont, a niece of Mr. Senator Foot.

The people of St. Louis have furnished General Sherman with an elegant residence in that city. The house was selected by himself, and was completely furnished by the generous donors.

St. Patrick's day was duly celebrated by Irishmen throughout the country on Saturday. At Montreal and Toronto, C. W., there were large processions and other demonstrations.

The President has telegraphed to the Governor of Louisiana, to withhold the certificate of election to Monroe, lately chosen Mayor of New Orleans, until his loyalty can be ascertained.

A mother, living three miles east of Nolagville, Tennessee, just on the edge of Rutherford county, gave birth on the 4th of February, to four fine, robust babies—three girls and one boy.

The expected Fenian demonstration along the Canadian frontier was not made, and the day passed with unusual quiet.

It is reported at Fortress Monroe that Clement C. Clay has been allowed the freedom of the grounds, on his parole of honor, during the day.

Eleven forts on the north of the Potomac have been dismantled. Several yet remain and they afford ample protection for Washington.

The citizens of a village in Vermont presented a set of spoons and a butter knife to a school mistress, for trouncing a large and violent pupil.

A supposed corpse, while being shaved in Norwalk, Conn., revived; got up and dressed itself and ordered the postponement of a funeral.

Gen. Burnside has been nominated for Governor by the Union men of Rhode Island. The nomination was made by acclamation.

Fifty thousand young men from the South, it is said, are trying to get a living in New York city.

Green, the rich gentleman of Hartford, who murdered his wife, has been admitted to bail in $25,000.

There are twenty-one editors in the Iowa Legislature.

The World in a Nut-Shell. New York is jealous of Brooklyn and wants to take a ward from the latter city and annex it to the former.

The Governor issued warrants for the execution of Houser and Buser; the murderers of Miss Polly Paul, of Cambria county, and Christian Berger, the murderer of Miss Mary Watts, of Germantown.

A young lady at Seymour, Indiana, became warmly attached to a young man. Her love was not returned. She procured a preparation called "love powders," and mixed them with the young man's food.

A drunken man was taken from a house of ill fame to the lock up in Washington, the other night, when upon his person were found a roll of three thousand dollars and a paper showing that he was a Judge of a United States Court in a Western State.

Dr. Jayne, known throughout the whole country for the persistent and extensive advertising of "Jayne's Remedies," died in Philadelphia a few days ago.

On the 31st of December, 1865, there were 220 newspapers published in Ohio, of which twenty are dailies. Twelve are published in the German language, weekly, except two which are dailies.

The Mercet Dispatch gives the particulars of the murder of Ephraim Boger, living near Jamestown. His body was found upon the Jamestown and Franklin Railroad, about a quarter of a mile from the station.

Nearly thirty whisky distilleries were seized in New York on Saturday last, for violation of the internal revenue laws. Many ingeniously contrived plans for evading the law were brought to light.

A Catskill paper in speaking of the case of the death of a strange lady under suspicious circumstances, says: "She was a fine looking woman, about 28 or 30 years of age, rather above medium size, fair complexion, brown hair, and had natural teeth."

Two men were accommodated with lodging at one of the Philadelphia station-houses last week, who, ten years ago, were leading and influential merchants. Rum sent them to the watch-house.

A shoemaker in Leeds, England, undertook lately, for a wager, to eat an uncooked rabbit—fur, skin and all. He succeeded, but immediately went into convulsions, which continued for an hour when he died.

The government, being unable to find a loyal man in Alabama to carry the mail over the Mobile and Mississippi routes, has engaged a Philadelphian for the purpose.

In Paris there are 28,760 street lamps all of which are regularly lighted before the close of the day, and burn during the whole night.
