MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, April 14, 1866.

APPROACH OF THE CHOLERA.—The news that the steamer England, bound from Liverpool for New York, has stopped at Halifax for medical aid, in consequence of having many cases of cholera on board, will apprise the whole country of the imminent danger, that threatens us of the speedy visitation of this fearful scourge to our shores.

DISEASED HOGS.—James Rogers, of Springville, Chester county, killed two fat hogs, and when he dressed them, he found in each, two sacks about two inches long, located in the fat near the kidneys, and each sack was filled with little snake like worms with black heads; some were black all over, and others were white except the heads. Of course the meat was not used.

A gentleman just arrived in Washington, who spent a Sabbath in Savannah, says that when the clergyman came to the prayer for the President and all in authority, he thus improvised his petition: "We pray, as we are instructed, for all in authority in this and other lands."

An attempt to assassinate Maximilian was made while he was at Queravaca. The man was arrested, but shortly afterwards released by order of the Emperor, who said to the Minister of Justice, "I do not think that my life is in danger; the people of Mexico love me too well."

One of the Government Revenue detectives on the Canadian frontier writes to the Commissioner of Customs, that the smugglers have laid pipes across the St. Lawrence river, and are engaged in pumping whiskey from Canada into the United States.

Philadelphia has lost one of her most notable citizens, Col. Robert Carr, who died in that city on the 25th ult., at the age of eighty-eight years. He was a printer by trade, having learned his craft in the office of Mr. Bache, the son-in-law of Dr. Franklin.

An attempt was recently made to burn the office of the Reconstructionist in Washington, the paper edited by Mrs. Swisheim, who was lately dismissed from the Treasury Department for abuse of the President in that sheet.

The N. Y. Tribune intimates that if gold falls to 121, the Secretary of the Treasury will order the interest on the third issue of 730s to be paid in gold at 6 per cent, which he can do at his option.

The latest style of hoops are called "tilting" hoops, constructed so that when modest ladies choose, a little flirt of their feet will toss up their skirts, so as to expose delicate ankles, and such.

A cow, belonging to R. C. Shoemaker, of Upper Dublin, Montgomery co., Pa., gave birth to a calf on the 25th ult., that weighed one hundred and twenty-one pounds.

Seven thousand dollars in United States bonds has been stolen from the National Bank of Nashville by the negro porter. He has been arrested. About three thousand dollars have been recovered.

The United States Court has decided that the shares of stockholders in the National Banks can be assessed by State authorities. Mr. Chase, the Chief Justice, dissented from the opinion.

A lady, named Letitia Lister, who was under the influence of chloroform, while about to have her teeth extracted, was taken suddenly with spasms and died in a few minutes.

A most bloody and cruel murder of whole family of eight persons, occurred in Philadelphia on Friday or Saturday of last week. The murderer is still at large.

The Pirate Salmes has just been released from prison, on his own parole, by order of President Johnson. Next we may hear of the release of Jefferson Davis.

A locomotive on a western railroad has been adorned with the title "I still live." That is more than many of the passengers can say, at the end of their journey.

The Memphis Post asserts of that city that there is not another of its size in the Union where there are no more drinking saloons.

How to Dispose of Trash.—A great many persons are at a loss how to dispose of the ragged and mutilated currency that accumulates on their hands. An exchange says it is the easiest thing in the world, and without any expense. When you get three dollars worth on hands, put it in small packages, pin a paper band around, with your name, post office address, and the amount, then put it in an envelope and address it to the "Treasury of the United States, Washington, D. C." It goes and returns free of postage. You will get new currency in about one week from the time you start it.

Just the weather for young ducks, but very bad for consumptives and people predisposed to pulmonary weakness. To all such the spring season is very trying, and great care should be taken to keep the body dry and warm, and all irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes allayed at once. The soothing properties of Obe's Cough Balsam render it the consumptive's best friend while all recent cases very readily yield to its curative power. It is pleasant, safe, sure and cheap.

Dan Duncan, a landlord in Indianapolis, called on a poor tenant to collect his rent. He found the poor woman toiling at the wash tub with the evidences of destitution all around her. Duncan took a look around, and concluded he didn't want to collect rent as bad as he thought he did. He gave the woman a receipt for the two months due, and two months in advance, and then calling on some friends sent her a load of provisions to see her through the winter.

Dr. J. A. Reed, of Baltimore, denies the whole theory of trichina. He says: "I boldly assert that the trichina never did and never will destroy human life; that they have, in all probability, existed in the human flesh always, certainly for the last half century; and I think it a fair deduction, taking it for the sake of argument, as granted, that we may receive them through the instrumentality of the hog, that they are not dangerous to life on that account."

A workmen's dining hall has been established in Dublin, on the principle of supplying wholesome food at cost prices. It accommodates nearly two thousand persons daily, and the price of a good dinner of soup, beef potatoes and pudding is only four and a half-pence. The waiters and dish-washers are ladies of rank and wealth, who have volunteered to give their services to the institution until it becomes self-supporting.

The passion of De Luc, the natural philosopher, for music was so predominant in his latter days, that a piano was placed by his bedside, on which his daughter played a great part of the day. On the evening of his death, seeing her father ready to sink into a slumber, she asked him, "Shall I play any more?" "Keep playing," said he; "keep playing!" He slept, but awoke no more.

The Vicksburg Herald says that the Probate Court of Carroll county, Mississippi, appointed a negro with out-summoning his father to answer as to his right to the custody of his son. Whereupon the father sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Cochran, who declared the proceedings of the Probate Court null and void, and ordered the boy to be returned to his father.

A new member of the English House of Commons, who had a slow and hesitating voice, recently undertook to debate the cattle plague bill, and astonished the House by saying, "I've had the rinderpest." After the burst of laughter which followed, the member was permitted to continue, "on my farm," which considerably changed the aspect of affairs.

The jailer at St. Johnsbury, Vermont, last week suspecting that two of his prisoners were concocting some plan for escape, made an examination of their cell, and found that they had taken the zinc from under the stove and melted it in the hollow of a stove leg, and run a slung-shot in the ashes. They were ready to knock down their keeper and make their escape. The timely discovery frustrated their plans.

The funeral car which bore the remains of Mr. Lincoln to Springfield, Ill., and which cost the Government nearly twenty thousand dollars, was sold on the 10th, at General Robinson's final sale of railroad material. It is the most gorgeous railway car ever built.

The constant stream of emigration from Ireland to America is telling on the population of the Emerald Isle. During the year 1865 there was a decrease of 16,227 in the number of inhabited houses in Ireland and the population diminished 94,836.

A machine for making ice has been invented in London, which will produce eleven pounds of ice in an hour, at a cost of not more than half a cent per pound. That is cheaper than the natural articles furnished in most places.

A gold mine in the State of Washington, the conspirator is said to have entered a monastery, while his sister Annie has gone into a convent.

The Earl in a Nut-Shell.—Edwin Forrest has sailed for California.

There is a fellow on exhibition in New Orleans whose beard measures six feet in length.

A man in Cairo, Ill., bet five silver dollars, the other day, that Jeff. Davis was either in Canada or Europe.

Miss Mary Harris, the murderer of Boroughs, at Washington, last year, has started a millinery store at Richmond.

Dr. Winship, of Boston, now weighs one hundred and sixty pounds; is thirty-two years of age, and can lift a ton and a quarter.

The health of Governor Morton, of Indiana, is but little, if any better, than when he sailed from New York, in December last. He was expected home by the first of April.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was once pastor of a congregation in Indianapolis which was too poor to paint the church edifice, and the young minister did the job with his own hands.

Col. DeBortel, an old English officer, was addressing some volunteers, at St. Andrews, Canada, on Thursday, and had just said, "I have been fifty-two years in the service, and my heart is in it," when he dropped dead.

Philo Chase, of Litchfield, Conn., died a few days ago, aged seventy-nine years. For the last twenty-five years his daily diet has been three pints of milk and one of whiskey. He adopted that diet from conviction that solid food injured him.

The Albany Evening Journal contradicts the report that Governor Fenton intends to pardon young Ketchum, the aristocratic New York bank forger and swindler. A strong pressure has been brought to bear for his pardon, but the Governor does not think of yielding to it.

It is reported that Messrs. Harper & Bros. have ordered a whole ship load of white paper from Belgium. Ticknor & Fields, Boston, have ordered 5,000 reams in London. It has been estimated that at present prices good book and newspaper can be delivered in New York, all duties and expenses included, at three quarters the price of American paper of the same grade.

A duel took place in Fayette county, Kentucky, on the 26th ult., in which the pistols were the large duelling pistols used in the meeting years ago between Henry Clay and John Randolph.

A newly invented harpoon, contains a pound of powder, with a ten second fuse and is instant death to a whale.

A horse was sold at Springfield, Mass., a few days ago for a cent a pound.

At a recent revival meeting in New York they had a great conversion—Bar-num's giant got religion!

According to the Home Journal, the reason why so many Americans are going abroad is in the fact that a family can live in England or France on the rent of their house in New York.

Chicago has at last received its great telescope, the largest ever made in the world.

The Sandusky Register says that the grape crop has been but little injured by the frost, and the vines are all thrifty, with one or two exceptions.

A Dr. Robinson, of Pittsburgh, is being sued by a patient whose leg he amputated, for not making a neat job of it.

The sacred bull owned by Dan Rice, the only specimen of the kind outside of Burma, was killed near Philadelphia last week by an accident.

A bill has passed the Senate, authorizing the Governor to purchase a site for a new powder magazine for the use of the State, to be located outside of the Harrisburg city limits.

In Georgia, where Sherman's army made a sweep of all the carriages, the ladies now go visiting in carts. They call them carriages de visite, and console themselves with the thought that they are in the height of fashion.

Nearly four hundred men are still at work at the Watertown Arsenal, in the manufacture of iron gun carriages, of the Rodman pattern, designed for the thorough arming of the forts of our coast, from the borders of Maine to the shores of California and Oregon.

A lady from the West reached Spencerport, N. Y., one day last week, on a visit to her parents. She had her infant with her, and on meeting her mother she joyfully drobbed her infant of the shawl in which it was wrapped, and found it dead. It had been suffocated.

An interesting novelty in medical legislation is pending in Philadelphia. It proposes to subject all young physicians to official examination before license, to practice is given them; and will deprive unlicensed doctors of the power to collect any bill in law for their services, while persons employing them will have no recourse for malpractice.

EXERCISE OF THE VETO POWER.—In the course of an article upon the passage of the civil rights bill by the Senate, the Washington Chronicle says:

Should this bill pass the House by the requisite two-thirds vote—and, as we have previously said, we have no doubt upon the subject—it will only be the second instance in the history of our Government wherein a bill after being vetoed by the Executive has become a law. That was in the case of an unimportant measure during the administration of President Tyler, which, after being vetoed by that worthy, was passed by a two-thirds vote to both Houses of Congress. The veto power has not been exercised much of late years; but, in order to show that it is by no means without precedent, we append the following list of vetoes issued since the formation of the Government:

By George Washington, 2
By James Madison, 6
By James Monroe, 1
By Andrew Jackson, 9
By John Tyler, 4
By James K. Polk, 3
By James Buchanan, 1
By Andrew Johnson, 2

The widowed wife of Louis Philippe died an exile, on the 24th of March, at Claremont, England, at the age of 84. She was a daughter of Ferdinand of Naples, by an Archduchess of Austria. She met Louis Philippe in 1808, at Palermo, and was married to him at the close of the following year. She proved herself a more than ordinarily faithful wife. She was, indeed, less a queen than a wife and mother, and made friends of all who were introduced to her. She fled with her family to England in 1848, when the dynasty was overthrown by the rebellion, and has since occupied the palace at Claremont which belonged to one branch of her family. She leaves five sons and daughter, of whom four are married.

The New York Citizen states that the cattle plague has already made its appearance in a mild form in this country. The cattle here, it is reported, have not yet begun to die in its acute form, and with its usual disgusting symptoms when under full headway; but the butter they yield is peculiarly offensive and sickening to whomsoever may partake of it in any quantity, emitting a slight but positively loathsome odor when held to the nose, and likely to cause giddiness, intense depression of spirits and general lassitude.

General Cass was born in 1783, and is, therefore, eighty-four years old. He was born the same year with Martin Van Buren, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, and Thomas H. Benton, all of whom have preceded him to the grave. General Cass is almost, if not quite, the only survivor of that class of public men who were personally acquainted with the leading characters of the American revolution of 1776.

The Commercial Bulletin, in speaking of the American Shoe-tip company of Boston, says that an acquaintance, who has three children, informed it that since he commenced buying their tipped shoes (one year ago) he has saved the price of a pair of new boots for himself.

A boy born in Brownfield, Maine, has neither hands nor feet, can feed himself without assistance, thread a needle, tie a knot in the thread, and sew on a button with considerable dexterity. He gets on or off his chair, hobbles around the room and up a flight of stairs, nearly as quick as though he were full limbed. He can also write a good and legible hand. His name is Walter H. Stewart.

The Radical papers say Joe Holt is of opinion that there is sufficient evidence in possession of the Government to justify the conviction of Davis, Clay and others for being concerned in the assassination of Lincoln.

James Gordon was lately conveyed to the Toronto Hospital to have a surgical operation performed, but dreaded it so much that he cut his throat and died.
