

The Local Mariettian.

Saturday Morning, June 23, 1886.

The Morning Passenger train for Lancaster and Philadelphia will leave the upper station at 12 minutes after 8 o'clock. The Mail train going westward will pass upper station at 7 minutes after 12 o'clock, noon. The Harrisburg accommodation train eastward will pass at 26 minutes after 5 o'clock, in the afternoon and returning arrive here at 43 minutes after 6 o'clock in the evening.

A most horrible murder was committed a few days since, near a village called Roostown, in York county. An old Quaker gentleman named Squibbs, his wife and grand-daughter were most brutally butchered. The guilty party is supposed to be a neighbor—an Irishman—who has since been arrested and lodged in the York county jail. Circumstantial evidence points out very strongly to this Irishman. Strange to say, the old lady still survives, although very old and awfully cut up; she cannot speak, however, but understands all questions asked her and answers satisfactorily by squeezing the hand of the Doctor, in attendance; squeezing for an affirmative answer, and refusing for a negative; in this way considerable has been elicited from her to implicate the Irishman. Money was, unquestionably, the object of the murderer, for, from the unpretending manner in which the old folks lived, no one would have supposed they had any money, but to the neighbors, old Squibbs was regarded as a banker in a small way—always a few hundred dollars on hand, for a consideration—hence suspicion at once pointed to a neighbor. It also appears that this Irishman owns a little property in the immediate vicinity upon which there was some indebtedness some of which have been discharged since the murder. Additional circumstances, such as for instance, the manner and position of the blows inflicted on the heads of the victims indicate that they were made by a left-handed person and the Irishman is left-handed and a number of other reasons which leave little doubt but that the guilty party is arrested.

The prospectus of that fearless and outspoken journal, The Washington Chronicle, will be found in our advertising columns this week. Every republican should be a regular reader of The Chronicle. Its independent course toward "the powers that be" should be a model to every Union man and every true lover of freedom.

The Susquehanna took a rise a few days since and a number of rafts have passed on through, stopping only long enough here to change pilots and hands, fearful that the river may immediately go down, as is usually the case at this season of the year.

Godfrey for July is on our table; as usual this magazine is the excelsior of all. Now is the time to subscribe—July commences the new volume—the 23d. During this volume—from July to December, the subscriber gets all the fall and winter fashions—cloaks, mantles, furs, bonnets, etc. Read the advertisement on the first page for terms etc.

Quite a fire occurred on Friday afternoon last in the upper end of town, burning down a negro house, which has long been in dispute between Emanuel Kane and Slater Greer. The fire was, no doubt, the work of an incendiary. Slater, the occupant, is at work again, being determined to immediately rebuild.

Mount Joy Herald says the soldiers orphan school, established at that place, now numbers 118 scholars and is in a flourishing condition. Arrangements are being made to have them visit Philadelphia on the fourth of July.

"The Republican," is the name of a campaign paper just started at Mountjoy, in this county, at 80c for the campaign. It has embarked in a good cause and we hope it may receive encouragement.

Dr. Hinkle will deliver his third lecture before the Physiology class of the Marietta Academy, on Tuesday evening next, at half-past 7 o'clock. Subject: The Circulation. The public is invited.

Professors Flowers, of Bainbridge, Md., and Brooks, of Baltimore, propose giving an entertainment in Bainbridge, to-day, for the benefit of the M. E. sabbath school.

Our young friends at Maytown are to have a dramatic entertainment this evening. Mr. Buller will run his usual course to and from Maytown reduced rates.

We do hope our borough authorities will give our pavements an overhauling—some are really in a dangerous condition. Who is the borough supervisor?

Dr. Landis is now the sole agent for the sale of Misher's Bitters. He also has the celebrated Enamel of America.

Don't forget Mr. Foulk's furniture sale this afternoon and his auction at the clothing store room in the evening.

Lager Beer.

The already large, and rapidly increasing consumption of this liquid makes the question a highly interesting one, whether or not, its use affords nourishment to the healthy or invigorates to the debilitated. A correct solution of this important inquiry can only be obtained by an investigation of the laws that govern the animal economy. Human appetite is subject to such great perversion through incorrect habits of life that innumerable articles are frequently enjoyed, while wholesome substances are loathed; we cannot therefore judge correctly as to what will best nourish and sustain the human body by man's likes or dislikes. This question can only be determined upon the principles of truth—by physiological law, or the laws of growth and development. From this source we are taught that the proximate elements of which food is composed, are found to be the component parts of the bodily structure; thus Fibrine, Casein, Gluten and Albumen, are the chief constituents of nourishment, and these substances make up our bodily structure by the process of appropriation and assimilation. It is thus the nourishing parts of plants and slaughtered animals are converted into nerve, muscle and bone, in the person that consumes them. But there is no power in the living body to make tissue out of articles used that do not contain these proximate elements. Its highest prerogative is to assimilate what already exists; nor can the system use these elements in a state of separation. Fibrine, although one of the chief constituents of the muscles, when used separately, is exceedingly injurious to the system, and similar effects result from the use of any other element, when in a state of separation. They are usable only in the combination produced by growth; when grain, fruit or animal matter are passing into decay, their elements are let loose—disorganization takes place and each is cast separately into the air to again be taken up and combined in the growth of new plants; and whilst in the condition to nourish plants they are unfit to sustain the animal. In short, the one is developed by disorganized matter, and the other can subsist only upon organized matter, and it is thus the same element in different conditions is food and poison. In the process of disorganization, new elements are created that have had no previous existence, one of which is that potent destroyer of mankind—Alcohol: it has its origin only in decay. Having thus explained the nature of food, the changes that ensue its properties to nourish the body and the condition by which Alcohol is produced. We shall now see how our first inquiry relates itself to these controlling forces: Lager Beer is produced by the fermenting of grain, through which all of the nitrogenized properties are set free, and Alcohol and carbonic acid are produced. Fermentation being a disorganizing or decaying process, the elements of food contained in the grain, pass off by evaporation, and the residuum undergoes that transformation that not only unfits it to sustain life, but also makes it a potent source of disease. The fattening of Beer drinkers is caused by the overtaxed skin, lungs and other cleansing vessels becoming exhausted through excessive duty, and by a provision of the animal economy, the carbon that cannot be carried out by the system is deposited in the cellular tissues, where it produces that soft, flabby fat with which the majority of Beer drinkers are burdened. The stupor of brain that carries the devotees of this drink, into the dreamland and affords so much contentment for the time being, is attributable to the narcosis of the hopes used in malting, when combined with Alcohol. Thus the fundamental laws that govern our bodies indicate unmistakably that beer cannot afford to the system the property (nourishment) that it does not possess, and its use not only obstructs and deranges the bodily functions but by narcotizing the brain, which is the seat of mind, it blunts the moral sensibilities and shatters the intellect. In a future article I shall answer my second query: "Is Lager Beer invigorating to the feeble or debilitated?" B. S.

THE FRANKLIN FUND.—By the terms of Franklin's will, $5000 were left to the city of Boston, in 1791, to be loaned under certain restrictions, the loans made to be paid back, one tenth of the principal, with interest, yearly. On these terms, however, there were but few applications for the money, and it was left to its natural increase. In 1811 this fund amounted, with interest to $9000, and on February 17th, 1866, it was $110,156.56. Franklin anticipated that in one hundred years from the time of his death, the fund would amount to $650,000, of which $500,000 were to be expended in public works for the city of Boston, and the remaining $150,000 loaned out again on the same plan as the first fund. He then estimated that at the end of the second hundred years, the sum, at compound interest, would amount to $20,805,000, of which $15,000,000 are to be donated to the State, and the remainder to the city of Boston, thus terminating the fund.

Senator Lyman Trumbull has become prominent as a public man by the part he has taken to secure the fruits of the victory won by loyalty over rebellion, and his powerful opposition to executive usurpation or dictation. He has proved himself strong in argument, a capable parliamentary leader, a fine constitutional lawyer, and a statesman of comprehensive views, dictated by sound republican principles.

Of Shakespeare it is said, by his latest and most careful biographer, Richard Grant White, that he never retouched or amended one line of all his works. He wrote for money, and having got his pay, he left his works to care for themselves. He never wrote anybody a letter, and when he died left but four signatures behind.

We understand that arrangements are being made to have the children of the different Orphan Schools of the State, attend the 4th of July celebration at Philadelphia. A platform is being erected in Independence Square which will accommodate fifteen hundred children. They will be addressed by the Governor.

A colored woman named Pandy Miles, died near Waynesburg a few days since, aged 105 years. She was once the slave of the grandfather of Governor Boreman, of West Virginia, and in 1814 was manumitted by that gentleman, "for her faithful services and kindness toward his children."

General John W. Geary, our next Governor, is expected at Lancaster on Monday next.

Special Notices.

GIVE NATURE A LIFT.—People expect too much of Nature. They trifle with their health and their constitutions, and then are surprised that they fall sick.

The pressure of constant mental or bodily labor upon the animal powers is tremendous. Very few systems and constitutions can bear up against this pressure unassisted. Add to this the unhealthy influences which lurk unseen in the air we breathe, the water we drink, the artificial heat with which we endeavor to chase away the cold and marrow-searching moisture of winter, and it would seem to require almost superhuman vigor to keep in perfect health at this rigorous season without reinforcing the physical energies.

But how reinforce them? Certainly not with adulterated stimulants. There is no poison in the outer air, or in the atmosphere of furnace-heated rooms, or workshops, or factories, so pernicious as those deadly-burning fluids. Why use them, when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable tonic without alloy, are everywhere obtainable? Nothing has ever been offered to the feeble and debilitated so harmless in its nature, so powerful in its invigorating effects, as this celebrated Stomachic and Alterative. In the army and the navy, in new settlements, and in crowded cities, by old and young, rich and poor, it is used as a Protective and Restorative Medicine, with the most gratifying results.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS. The great female Remedy for Irregularities.—These Drops are a scientifically compounded fluid preparation, and better than any Pills, Powders or Nostrums. Being liquid, their action is direct and positive, rendering them a reliable, speedy and certain specific for the cure of all obstructions and suppressions of nature. Their popularity is indicated by the fact that over 100,000 bottles are annually sold and consumed by the ladies of the United States, every one of whom speak in the strongest terms of praise of their good merits. They are rapidly taking the place of every other Female Remedy, and are considered by all who know of them, as the surest, safest and most infallible preparation in the world, for the cure of all female complaints, the removal of all obstructions of nature, and the promotion of health, regularity and strength. Explicit directions stating when they may be used, and explaining when they should not, nor could not be used without producing effects contrary to nature's chosen laws, will be found carefully folded around each bottle, with the written signature of JOHN L. LYON, without which none are genuine.

Prepared by Dr. JOHN L. LYON, 195 Chapel street, New-Haven, Conn., who can be consulted either personally or by mail, (enclosing stamp) concerning all private diseases and female weaknesses. Sold by Druggists everywhere. C. G. CLARK & Co., Gen'l Agts for U.S. and Canada. [ly]
