Saturday Morning, July 7, 1866.

DEATH OF SENATOR LANE.—A letter dated Leavenworth, Kansas, July 2, 1866, says: "Jim Lane died of Andy Johnson. He went from Washington to Kansas, impressed with the delusion that his support of the President was so acceptable to the people of that State, that he could carry it for Johnson's policy by 5,000 majority. His first appearance upon the streets of Lawrence shocked him with a sense of his terrible error. In a town where he once walked a monarch, no man spoke to him. Old friends passed him without recognition on the sidewalk. On horseback, in the principal street, he rode unrecognized and rejected. He went to his house and sent for many of his old friends to come and see him. They returned answer that they wished to have no intercourse with him. Two days after his arrival Representative Clark came from Washington. What a contrast and what a lesson! A vast crowd met and welcomed him with music and flags. A public meeting applauded his virtues, honored him for his fidelity and pledged to him the love and the support of Kansas. Humiliated, smitten with remorse, and utterly desperate, Lane terminated his life by shooting himself through the head with a pistol.

It is stated by a Canada paper that the Vision, the little vessel which started off on a voyage to Europe last year, with a man, a boy and a dog, and was reported lost, put into some obscure port on the Nova Scotian coast, while the owner's wife collected a large sum of money from the companies with whom the voyager had insured his life.

Over forty thousand emigrants from Europe arrived in New York last month. It is estimated that one hundred thousand have landed at that port alone since the first of January. At this rate, our loss of population by the late war will be made up in a few years.

The fourth of July was spent very patriotically in Philadelphia, by a grand flag presentation, in Independence square. Governor Curtin, Gen. Geary, Gen. Meade, Gen. Hancock and many other lesser lights in the military world, were present.

The Philadelphia papers state, that on Saturday last, Charles Dean, convicted of biting off the nose of officer Hart, of the Court of Quarter Sessions, was sentenced to a fine of $100 and an imprisonment of four years. A dear bite that.

The Gettysburg Star says that the Copperheads there are busy gathering the remains of the rebel dead who fell in the Gettysburg battle and giving them honored burial, and that this is more than they ever did for the Union dead.

Last Wednesday, as Mrs. Thomas of Troy, New York, was about taking some rain water from a barrel, she found in it the dead body of her little boy, about two years old, who had fallen into it while playing, and was drowned.

On Friday morning, 22d ult., Bernard Eisenhuth, died at his residence in New Castle twp., Schuylkill county, at the extreme old age of one hundred and eleven years, one month and five days.

It is said that efforts are being made to obtain the release of Spangler, who was sent to the Dry Tortugas, having been found guilty of being accessory to the murder of President Lincoln.

A gentleman and three ladies recently spent the evening in "playing whist in Newburyport, Massachusetts, the youngest of whom was over eighty and the oldest ninety-five years old.

A little boy seeing a drunken man prostrate before the door, and putting in his head, said to the proprietor, "See here, sir, your sign has fallen down!"

Lieut. Gen. Grant's pay, under the law establishing the full rank of General, will be about fifteen thousand dollars per annum.

A negro at Evansville, Ind., is growing spotted. He expects to have the skin of a white man in about two years.

The cemetery at Andersonville—the charnel house of the South—is the largest in the country. It contains 12,972 graves.

Garrett Davis, Governor Bramlette, L. W. Powell, and Gen. Rousseau are candidates for the Kentucky Senate.

Three Hundred Dollars has been offered by the proprietors of the Sunday School Times of Philadelphia, to the author who will furnish the best original story for publication in the columns of their paper. As this is more than three times the amount usually paid for such an effort, the proposition will be likely to call out some of the best American Writers. In due time the readers of that excellent weekly journal will reap the benefits of this story, and we advise those who desire a good and interesting paper for the family, to send for a sample copy, which will be furnished free on application.

The result of the Nebraska election is at last definitely known. The Republicans have been successful "all around," and to use a common but expressive phrase, the Cops are nowhere. Butler the Union candidate for Governor has 145 majority; Mr. Marquette has 136 majority for Congress, and the State Constitution has 111 majority. The Cop shout of victory was made before they were "out of the woods," and was a little premature. The total vote is about 8,000. Nebraska will doubtless at once apply for admission into the Union, and the application will be granted.

The Louisville Democrat relates that a farmer was struck by lightning near Madisonville, Kentucky, last week, and instantly killed. He was stripped as naked as he was born, except the wristband of his shirt on his left arm. Fragments of his clothing were scattered to the distance of thirty yards, the pieces mostly in little squares, some not over half an inch. The uppers were cut smooth from the soles of his boots, the large thick heel of his left boot was cut in two, and an opening was made in his left temple and also on the back of his head.

Mr. Lindsley, the clergyman at Medina who whipped his child to death because he would not say his prayers, and who was released on $10,000 bail, immediately upon being set at liberty went to the house of his brother-in-law to stay, but was not allowed to do so, the brother-in-law fearing that his house would be torn down by an excited mob, and the miserable man has again taken up his quarters in the jail at Albion, this time voluntarily, but really to escape summary punishment at the hands of an infuriated and indignant public.

Four men who had committed some crimes and were being pursued by officers of the law near Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, recently took shelter under a tree during a thunderstorm, when all four were struck by lightning and instantly killed. Strange to say, the tree was untouched by the electric fluid, at any rate exhibited no traces of it, while the ground was torn for several feet around.

The splendid engravings, George and Martha Washington, 10x24 inches each, constitute a pair of the finest American prints ever published. Sold at $1.00 each. They are among the list of over 2000 varieties offered by the American Statesman to subscribers. Every two subscribers to that paper receives one of the above free. Send for Statesman 67 Nassau street, New York.

The Town Council of the borough of Duncannon, Pa., left the question of "Liquor or no Liquor" to the citizens, and the negative carried by a two-third vote. The authorities immediately acted upon this decision, and now there is no licensed tavern or other place where "intoxicating drink" is sold within, nor even near said place, which lately was noted for intemperance.

The great American statesman, Daniel Webster, was right when he remarked, "Small is the sum required to patronize a newspaper; amply rewarded its patrons, no matter how humble and unpretending the gazette he takes. It is next to impossible to fill a sheet with printed matter without putting into it something that is worth the subscription price."

From a report made to Congress, it appears that Government has provided 6075 artificial limbs to soldiers; 2134 arms, 3784 legs, 44 hands, 9 feet and 104 other appliances; twenty three different manufacturers of artificial limbs supplied the government, and the cost was $357,728.

The Leeds (England) Times says that the nitrate of silver rubbed into the wound made by the tooth of a mad dog will certainly cure hydrophobia, or prevent all injurious consequences of the wound. It should be applied as soon after the accident as possible.

He also proposes to walk across the American eagle, and is now having a large leather eagle made, which will be filled with feathers and otherwise manipulated so as to resemble a live eagle of monstrous proportions. This is to fit closely about his body, and on walking he will balance himself by flapping the artificial wings. At the same time a rope is to be suspended by him below the wire, to which the son, a boy eight years old will cling and go through with various athletic performances as his father advances across the Falls.

The Lewistown Gazette says: "A lady in Third street told one of her little girls to light the fire under a kettle in the yard, but as the little one's nose began to bleed, her elder sister, who was standing near with a ten-dollar note in her hand to take to bank, was directed to perform the work. Thereupon she struck the match, and thoughtlessly applied it to the note, sticking it among the kindling, thus starting the fire."

Many persons owning harness do not wash or oil it once a year; consequently the leather becomes hard, dry and rotten. A harness for service needs about two applications of neat's foot oil a year, but it should be washed as often as once in three or four weeks in strong Castile soapsuds, and kept in a dry place away from dust.

Belle Boyd, who published a fearful book giving her experience during the rebellion, made her debut as an actress at Manchester, England, on the 1st of June. Special Notices.

A Single Box of BRANDRETH'S PILLS contain more vegetable extractive matter than twenty boxes of any pills in the world besides; fifty-five hundred physicians use them in their practice to the exclusion of other purgatives. The first letter of their value is very scarcely appreciated. When they are better known, sudden death and continued sickness will be right out in their favor. It is a duty which will save life. Our race are subject to a redundancy of vitiated bile at this season, and it is as dangerous as it is prevalent; but Brandreth's Pills afford an invaluable and efficient protection. By their occasional use we prevent the collection of those impurities which, when in sufficient quantities, cause so much danger to the body's health. They soon cure Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Pain in the Head, Scour, Pain in the Breast bone, Sudden Faintness and Costiveness. Sold by all respectable Dealers in Medicines.
