

MARIETTA, PA:

Saturday Morning, August 11, 1866. FOR GOVERNOR,

Maj.-Gen'l John W. Geary, OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

POSTAL CHANGES .- The law of Congress, approved June 12th, 1866, and which went into operation on the 1st inst., makes several prominent changes,

- which we note below: 1. Letters sent in which there is an order to return, if not called for, are returned to the writer free of chargesuch letters have been charged three cents postage heretofore.
- 2. Letters forwarded from one post office to another are not charged additional rates of postage, and are returned to the writer from the dead letter office tree of charge-heretofore letters forwarded were charged a single rate of postage from each post office from which they were forwarded, and a single rate charged to the writer when forwarded to him from the Dead Letter Office.
- 3. The sum for which money orders can be issued has been raised from $30 to $50, and the rate hereafter charged will be 10 cents for all orders under $20 and 20 cents for all over $20, and under $50. Also, that a money order shall be valid and payable when presented to the deputy postmaster on whom it is drawn within one year after its date, but for no longer period; and in case of the loss of a money order, a duplicate thereof shall be issued without charge, on the application of the remitter or payee, who shall make the required proofs: and postmasters at all money order offices are hereby authorized and required to administer to the applicant or applicants, in such cases, the required oath or affirmation free of charge.
- A lady was out walking a few days ago, in Syracuse, accompanied by her servant, who was drawing an infant in one of the little carriages made for our circulation has increased over fifty the purpose, when, unnoticed by mother or servant, the child fell out upon the walk. The couple had passed along and gone some distance from the baby, when they were accosted by a gentleman who had witnessed the whole transaction, with " Madam, you've dropped something," at the same time pointing to the infant on the walk in the distance. The sequel can be imagined.
- Acting on the advice of the new Attorney General, the President is busily engaged in displacing all the officials it, while all were surrounded by the inwho either oppose or fail to be enthusid testines; the liver, very darge, nearly astic in support of "My Rolicy." In filled the entire abdominal cavity; the the Post Office department which is una brain and other organs normal, der the control of the original chief of the "Bread-and butter Brigade," the work is prosecuted very vigorously. It. is confidently predicted that after the adjournment of the Philadelphia; Copperhead Convention there will be a clean sweep made of all who sympathize with the Radicals.
- The irrepressible Barnum has become associated with Van Amburg and bereafter the great showman will be identified with the "Barnum and Van Amburg Museum and Menagerie Company," organized with a capital of two millions of dollars, for the purpose of providing a mammoth establishment to be filled with curiosities and animals from all parts of the world.
- The Queen of the Sandwich Islands arrived in New York on the 7th instant. She is on a visit to this country, having visited London and Paris. Queen Emma who visits us is a woman and a widow. She is the descendant of a race who have been civilized and Christianized mainly through the efforts of Great Britain and the United States.
- In Savannah, we learn, the Fourth of July was celebrated as the anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run, the rebel flag was displayed and cheered loudly by the crowd. In New Orleans, during the massacre, the rebel flug, it is said, was run up in various quarters, and cheers for Jeff Davis were frequent.
- The bloody riot in New Orleans is but the echo of Montgomery Blair's speech at Reading. The spirit which he showed in the peaceful county of Berks, is the same which actuated the furious rioters in Louisiana.
- Dixon, of Connecticut, Norton of Minnesuta, Doclittle of Wisconsin, Guthrie and Garret Davis of Kentucky and Hendricks of Indiana, are delegates to the Bread and Butter Convention in Philadelphia.
- The habitual use of onions as an price of food, is said to be almost cerlain protection from cholera, even when n immediate contact with it.

the city generally.

Argus said in 1861 :— "We should like to see Andrew Johnson's lying tongue torn from his foul mouth, and his miserable carcass thrown out to poison mad dogs, or hung upon a gibbet as high as Haman, to feed the carrion buzzards."

The same paper says, in 1866 :-"The iron firmness, the undismayed soul of a single man (Andrew Johnson) is all that stands between us and the fearful vortex of anarchy and resultant despotism which has engulfed the lives and fortunes of many millions before us. Let us rally to the side of that man, determined to save or perish with the Re-

The Argus must consider Andrew as pretty thoroughly reconstructed.—Erie Gazette.

- Forney's Press entered upon its tenth year a few days since. Of its remarkable success; the editor says : "The business of the Press during the past nine years, we are happy to state, has been very prosperous. We have spent nearly two millions of dollars to make it a first class newspaper. How well we have succeeded the public have determined by giving us their liberal support. Since the commencement of the fifth volume our receipts have been increased over ten per cent. annually. Our advertising patronage and circulation with but a single exception, are greater than any other newspaper published in Pennsylvania. Since our advent in the quarto form, scarcely nine months ago, per cent. It is still increasing rapidly, and bids fair to double itself within the

THE BREAKING UP. When Vice-Presire family of four persons died in suc-lident John Tyler became President by cession from cholera in the course of the accident of the death of Harrison, last week in a tenement house in New he was accepted by the party that had York. The members of the family, it is elected him with an abiding confidence reported, buried each other until the in his official and personal integrity. father succumbed to the disease. He At the first session of Congress after his had none to attend him while laboring inauguration, he soon placed himself in under the symptoms peculiar to the opposition to his party. He vetoed all the great party measures, even those of the immediate neighborhood became submitted to and approved by him before their enactment. He denounced messengers were dispatched to the the Congress as a cabal, and its caucus-Board of Health, but that no action es as a self-constituted despotism. His Cabinet, protesting earnestly against his after the report was made, during which | treachery to the party that had elected folly and would do anything in the world time the remains had become quite de- him and to the principles which they to remedy the evil she has caused. composed to the great danger of the sustained before the people, remained health of the other inmates of the house with him as long as it was possible for terrible bath, and in the meantime the and the inhabitants of that quarter of them to do so with honor to themselves or justice to an outraged people. At told that the young lady is ill of a conthe close of the session of Congress, the Whig party, with not over half a dozen impatiently awaiting the tedious process exceptions, united in a public address of growing white again. repudiating all political relations with the president. The Cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Webster, then resign. ed, and John Tyler was left desolate. He had neither party nor friends. He resorted to the policy of removing Whigs from office and appointing Democrats, but he made no real friends by the change. The Democrats accepted the treason, but greeted with contempt the idea of making the traitor their leader.

History is but repeating itself in the case of President Johnson. While we would have preferred the retirement of the Cabinet in a body, its dissolution is now an ascertained fact. Mr. Seward will remain, as Mr. Webster did, in the vain hope that the Democratic disgust for the President will not reach him. Father Welles, who never had public life before, will probably follow Johnson as he would follow any other President, as long as he is allowed to distribute the patronage of the Naval Department; and Mr. McCulloch will continue as the head of the Treasury Department. The others will follow the example of Postdrew Johnson where the Cabinet of 1841 the estimation of the whole country, a political Pariah.

There is no longer the least hope of a union between the President and the people. The breach between the President and the Union party is now broad and deep. It is not to be bridged over. He has abandoned the household into which he came with a damaged character, and where his previous faults were kindly covered with the mantle of charity, and where he was honored as he had never been honored before.

- The Smith family have had 49 members in Congress, while the Johnsons number 29, the Browns 26, the Whites 22, the Thompsons 31, the Joneses 20, the Wilsons 30, the Millers, 18, side, both lobes of the lung encircling the Moores 18, and the Taylors 15. Of the 232 members in both houses, 70 were born in New England, 40 in New York, while the remainder are about equally divided between the middle and western states, except two born in Ireland, one in Scotland, one in Bavaria and one in Caneda.
 - Herr Louis Staab, formerly teacher of music in St. Louis, took out protection papers during the war, to escape the service. A little while ago he went to Europe. There he applied to the American Consultfor protection papers as an American citizen, but the latter being posted, Staab could not get the protection from the stars and stripes, so he had to enter the Prussian army and fight for fatherland.

A Woman's Revenge, - A young girl, belonging to one of our best families, says the Indiana Journal, fancying that she had been badly treated by an elder sister, took a terrible revenge. Procur ing a stick of nitrate of silver at a drug store, she dissolved it in her sister's wash pitcher. The young lady performed her morning ablutions, and was horrified in the course of the morning to find that her hands had turned as brown as those of a mulatto. A look in the glass revealed the alarming fact that her face was the same color. The younger sister now heartily repents her criminal Time only can efface the marks of the affair is being kept quiet. THE POPE.—It is announced that for some time past the health of the Pope has appeared to be failing, and his condition causes no little anxiety to his Cardinals, with whom he speaks frequently of approaching death. Pius IX the present Pope, was born in May, 1792 and is 74 years old. He ascended the Papal throne in 1846, and has occupied it twenty years. A correspondent writes that there is a general feeling in Rome that no Pope will hold his office longer than did St. Peter, who is said to have governed the church for 25 years. Adri-V1, 24 years 6 months and 14 days; Pius VII, 23 years 5 months and 6 days. whilst several other Popes governed the church for 21 years.
