MARRIAGE WITH A CONDITION.—At one of the churches in Paris a young woman of the humbler classes, was married to a young man in the same sphere of life. The priest was making a few appropriate remarks, exhorting the young couple to mutual affection and fidelity...

SUMMING UP.—Mr. Vallandigham, in a private conversation with a Chicago gentleman recently, summed up the political situation as follows: "The only question now is whether the whole shall swallow Jonah or Jonah the whole—that is, whether the great Democratic party shall swallow the handful of Johnson men, or the Johnson men shall swallow the great Democratic party."

While three burglars were rifling the shop of Collier & Co., of Petersburg, V., last Wednesday night, one of them, a negro named Bob Johnson, was shot by a spring gun, thirteen buckshot being lodged in his hip and groin, inflicting probably a fatal wound...

Several female prisoners attempted to escape from the jail in Memphis, Tennessee, on the night of August 6, by digging under the wall, and on being discovered made an attack on the officers with brickbats, &c. They were not subdued until the hose of an engine was brought into requisition, and they were drenched with water.

An affecting scene took place in a colored church in Richmond, Va., recently. A letter was read out in church asking for information of a mother by a daughter, who had been sold south thirty years ago, under the old slave regime. Mother and daughter were both in the church at the same time and fled to each other's embrace with tears of joy.

Indian corn in the Western States has never proved more abundant than at the present season. Indeed it surpasses—so the newspapers there say—all former crops. This has given a great impetus to the hog trade, and stock hogs are being everywhere bought for fattening for the fall and winter trade.

Gen. Geary fought in sixty five battles, and had his only son killed in battle, on the side of his country. His son, Oliver, during the war made at least one hundred speeches, against his country, and none of his kin fought in the army. They all fought in the ranks of the copperheads.

An Italian boy, 16 years of age, had a tooth extracted in Boston, in June, and as blood continued to flow from the cavity, he was taken to the hospital for treatment. All efforts to stop the flow, however, failed, and it continued for forty-five days, when he died from the effects.

Old Romeo, one of Dan Rice's elephants, broke loose in Buffalo lately, and getting into a well stocked garden, proceeded leisurely to pack his trunk and chest with all manner of vegetable goodies. He had a roaring feast and didn't leave much garden.

A boy, 14 years old, ate forty-one green pears, and then feasted on green apples and raw turnips, in Fair Haven, Conn., the other day. The cholera finally came to his relief and closed his mortal career.

An Atlanta thief, who attempted to steal a bundle of greenbacks from one of the banks in open day, was sentenced to thirty-nine lashes on the bare back and one year's imprisonment.

A striped snake, four feet long, was killed at St. Johnsbury, Vt., a few days ago which contained fifty-seven young snakes, some of them seven inches long.

Over 2000 pounds of refined whitening was recently found in a large milk establishment in Boston. It is believed it was to be used in adulterating milk.

The chameleon, who is said to feed upon nothing but air, has of all animals the nimblest tongue.

While shame keeps its watch, virtue is not wholly extinguished from the heart.

News in Brief. A platform was erected at Indianapolis on Wednesday for Senator Hendricks to make a Johnson speech on, and a suicide of eccentric tastes hung himself on it before the meeting assembled.

Major Heros Von Boreke, who was chief of staff to General J. E. B. Stuart and contributed an account of his exploits to Blackwood's Magazine, is now on the staff of Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia.

Two rebels were shot near Lexington, Mo., while attempting to remove a Union robe from the coat of a young man who had been in the Federal army.

Southern papers complain of high rent. In Montgomery stores rent for $4,000 and small private residences for $1,000 per annum.

An intrepid swimmer has crossed the lake of Geneva between Delotte and Bellevue. The feat occupied about two hours and a half.

There are now eighty distinct manufacturing of paper collars in the United States. From two to three millions of paper collars are consumed every day in the United States alone.

Over seven thousand European Mormons have passed up the Missouri river this season bound for Salt Lake city. They are of the lowest and most degraded class of foreign emigrants who have been collected by the missionary emissaries of Brigham Young.

It is announced that watches are now made in this country which wind themselves up, but the mode of winding is, however, kept a profound secret.

As one of the results of the war it may be stated that there are at the present time in the United States no less than twenty-five manufacturing of artificial legs.

A young farmer of Upper Coos, N. H. had three calves, two colts, eleven pigs, nine lambs—and a baby, added to his inventory of personal property, the other day.

The late law relieves our Iron Masters from paying the tax of $2.50 on every ton manufactured by them. This with the new tariff, will greatly increase the manufacture of iron in our own State.

At Atlanta, Georgia, the graves of thirty Union soldiers have been dug up, and their bones scattered over the ground.

A convention of Southern Unionist will meet at Philadelphia on the 3d of September next. In their own States they are not allowed to meet, by the very men who attended the convention on the 14th inst.

Mr. John Walker, of Columbus, Georgia, died from the effect of a rat's bite.

General Logan says that A. Johnson is the man made President by a single constituent—Booth, the assassin, and that he well represents that lone constituent.

The town of Monte Christi, in Ecuador, was almost entirely destroyed by fire recently. Loss $500,000.

Mr. A. H. Stephens was at Philadelphia, but was not allowed by the managers of the Convention to make himself heard. Free speech was suppressed in order to deceive the people by a semblance of harmony.

It is smartly said by somebody that the only constituent the President had was J. Wilkes Booth, and he's dead.

Gen. Lewis Wallace, late of the Union army, a brave and able officer, has been appointed a Major General in the Mexican service, and is now engaged in organizing a force.

In Barre, Mass., lately a child five years old fell into a well twelve feet deep, in which there was water to the depth of four feet, and got out alone without injury.

General James Nagle—a hero of the Mexican and the late war, died in Potomac, on Wednesday morning.

Miss Nettie Whyte, at Chicago, Ill., the other day, selected a pair of shoes at a store, and taking them in her hand, went to the door, saying she wanted to show them to a friend, and would be back in a few minutes; meantime would the obliging clerk be kind enough to keep her little satchel for her! The obliging clerk did so, but several more than a few minutes elapsed, and the young lady did not return. The little satchel was opened and found to be empty. The clerk was indignant, for the shoes were not paid for. A few days after he met her on the street and demanded payment. She had no money, but asked if he would take her waterfall as security. He would; so she quietly detached it and gave it to him. The next day she called at the store and redeemed her back hair.

A German paper relates the following story of one of the late battles, which is not altogether incredible.—A young soldier in the midst of the tumult of battle, thought he saw on the grass a four-leaved shamrock growing. As such a plant is rare, and is considered to bring good luck, he stooped to take it. At that very instant a cannon ball passed over his head so near that he must have been killed if he had not been bending down. The man so miraculously saved has sent the plant to which he owes his life to his betrothed at Konigsberg.

There is a young Baptist clergyman at Saratoga, N. Y., the Rev. Mr. Frost, who is creating quite a sensation, and promises in time to become a second Spurgeon or Beecher. He is six feet four inches in height, stout in proportion, and weighs some 300 pounds. He has a voice like Forrest, the actor, only much deeper and more resonant. This clerical giant is a man of prodigious strength, and the Saratoga sporting men who have seen him say that, had he taken to pugilism, Morrissey would have been an infant in his hands.

The Hon. Thomas Fwing, of Ohio, writes a long letter to the Hon. O. H. Browning, of Illinois, wherein he demonstrates that "an old man is twice a child." Mr. Fwing was an old-line Whig, and when President Tyler sold out that party, Mr. Fwing, who was Secretary of the Treasury, was among the first members of the Cabinet to resign. He is twenty-five years older now, and does not hesitate to follow Andrew Johnson, who may be considered a second John Tyler.

A Saratoga correspondent says: In consequence of the quarrel existing between Morrissey and the hotel keepers the former intends to erect in Saratoga the largest hotel in America. It will cost one million of dollars. Among the stockholders are Commodore Vanderbilt and John Davidson. The former subscribes for $200,000 worth of stock and the latter for $100,000. To punish the Lelands and other hotel keepers for the rates of board they have been charging, and their stand against racing.

The presiding justice of Shenandoah county, West Virginia, having published a proclamation warning persons of both sexes, who were in the habit of annoying the Union citizens of Woodstock by singing treasonable songs, and making use of treasonable language, that he would deal with them as disturbers of the peace, was attacked and cowarded by three of the "chivalry." Of course they are reconstructed.

"Why does a razor cut better for being dipped in hot water?" The edges of all tools, instead of being perfectly smooth, are really toothed like a saw; and when the razor is dipped in hot water, it causes these little teeth to expand thus rendering the distance between them smaller, and consequently giving the razor a smoother edge.

In 1842 Professor Morse announced to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States "that a telegraph communication on his plan might with certainty be established across the Atlantic." The Professor has lived to see the prediction of a quarter of a century ago realized.

The New York Episcopalian says that Madame Demorest, the fashionable authority, is likewise a philanthropist. She began life in an humble way. With a pair of scissors and a piece of paper she actually began to cut her way into renown. She has now the largest establishment of the kind on the continent.

The same men who predicted the defeat of the Union armies now forbade disaster to the Union party. But as the soldiers who won victory in the Federal army now almost entirely compose the Union party, we are just as sure of a political as we were of a military triumph.

The Cologne Gazette states that 8000 Bavarians were recently posted in a German town called Schleusingen, and remained there for two days and a half. During this brief period they consumed 90,000 quarts of beer, an average of more than eleven quarts for each man.

W. P. Brannan, the painter and poet, and the author of the well known comic sermon, "The harp of a thousand strings," died in Cincinnati, last week, of infarction of the brain.

A doctor has been arrested in New Orleans and held in $5,000 bail, on the charge of causing the death of a little girl and a little boy, who, suffering from chills and fever, both died in two hours after taking some medicine he administered to them. After the little girl had died, when the medicine given to her was prescribed for her brother, he said, "Uncle, I don't want to take that medicine; it killed nissy, and it will kill me." "Oh, no," was responded, "It was not the medicine that killed your sister." The little fellow replied, "May be not, but I wish you would let me see my pony before I take it, because I don't believe I will ever see him again." He was shown the pony, took the medicine, and in an hour afterward was a corpse.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lavery, residing at Albany, N. Y., retired on Thursday night, leaving an infant boy in his cradle near the bed. During the night the mother was awakened by a feeble cry from the little one in the cradle, and on taking him up felt that his night clothes were soaking wet. She struck a light, when to her horror, she discovered that the clothes were covered with blood, and on further examination found that one of the arms of the child had been gnawed to the bone by a rat, and that a hole was eaten through one of its hands.

The African Methodist Church was organized in 1816, in Philadelphia, under the auspices of Rev. Richard Allen. It has now four bishops, all men of moral worth, and some of them of fine ability. They number about 80,000 communicants, have one college, and a theological institution for the training of ministers. Their membership extends to nearly every State in the Union, and also into Canada, Africa, and to Hayti; but the largest number of ministers is in the Southern States. All their bishops except one were formerly slaves.

Dog days are fairly upon us and this is truly the sickly season. Do not be without a supply of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure in the house. It cures cholera morbus, cramps, pains and colic in either stomach or bowels, is the only remedy ever discovered that is a sure cure for dyspepsia, and is a splendid antidote for disorders occasioned by a change of water or diet; being prompt, harmless and certain in its action, we cheerfully recommend it to all classes.

Mr. Lemuel Lane, of Newberry district, S. C., was brutally murdered on the 10th inst., and $8000 in specie taken from his premises. One of the murderers, a negro man, was pursued and killed with $1800 on his person, and another captured with five or six dollars and the pistol of the murdered man in his possession.

The great Copper Johnson convention in Philadelphia turned out a complete fizzle. The shrewd dodge to allow no speeches, was too palpable to be not seen through. After reading their declaration of principles and a long address on Thursday, they adjourned.

A man was arrested in Iuka with $100,000 in counterfeit treasury notes upon his person. He bought off the sheriff for $5,000, but was subsequently rearrested by the sheriff of Bourbon county, Ky., on a charge of murder.

Jose Billings says that "owing to the high price and grate scarcity of veal in New York city, many of the first families are using artificial calves." They say it helps to fill out a leg or two of fast rats.
