

The Mariettian.

MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, September 1, 1888.

FOR GOVERNOR, Major General JOHN W. GEARY, OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

ENGLAND-TOWARDS US.—A change is manifestly coming over the minds of the English Government in respect to the United States, which will make all things even between us at the last. The new foreign Secretary admits that we have grievances to complain of, meaning, of course, our Alabama claims; and if matters proceed as now long, it would not surprise us to see our British consuls coming forward and offering, by their just actions, to do what will be sure to make a bygone of the past and secure our perpetual friendship for the future. How much easier at the last is it to do right than follow its opposite; or to set one's self right, after having done a wrong, than to persist in it. England and the United States should have been the closest of friends all through the late war; instead of which she persisted in exciting feelings in us which it is the hardest of all possible matters to put and keep down.

The attempt to have Olymer retire willingly, is likely to prove unsuccessful. He stubbornly refuses to budge an inch, contending that the defeat which awaits him would be easier to bear than the dishonor of backing out at this stage of the campaign. The party managers, on the contrary, maintain that the question being which shall go under, the party or Olymer, there is no room for a choice nor time to be lost and that the gentleman should meet his fate with more resignation. But so far he has been unable to master of the situation. Being regularly nominated, he has the advantage, and at the latest advice he was fully determined to use it and maintain his ground.

The rebel General Beaugard, now in Europe, is seriously considering the acceptance of the title of Prince from the Romanians of Moldo Wallachia. He is to have command of the military forces; to rank next to the Hospodar; receive $200,000 in cash and a large salary, and can also provide snug berths for as many of his rebel military friends as he chooses.

Mr. Francis Hall, formerly the publisher of the New York Commercial Advertiser, died in New York, on Saturday last, aged eighty-two years. Mr. Hall was born in England, but came to America when a boy, and learned the printing business. He entered the Commercial Advertiser office in 1811, and in 1813 became part owner, continuing his connection with it for fifty-three years and finally leaving it in 1864.

A boy, eleven years old, named Thomas Kelly, is on trial in Charlestown, Mass., for the murder of a lad named John Gray, seventeen years old. Kelly, on last fourth of July, fired a pistol at Gray, the charge taking effect in his face and causing wounds from which he died on the 25th ult.

The new iron roof in process of erection over the extensive freight depot of the Michigan railroad, at Detroit, gave way and fell to the ground. Gangs of men were employed about the building and on the roof at the time, but none were killed, though several were seriously injured.

Mr. Edward Sullivan, a wealthy citizen of St. Louis, Mo.; said to be worth $150,000, was found dead last Thursday night in a room in the Union Bank building in that city. He had apparently been dead for several days. The sum of $500 was found in the room.

An old man was arrested at Memphis, last week, charged with being a vagrant. On searching him $7000 in gold was found on his person, and a gold frame locket, containing a picture of J. Wilkes Booth, set with diamonds, and valued at $500.

A burglar was once frightened out of his scheme of robbery by the sweet simplicity of a solitary spinster, who, putting her sight-capped head out of the window, exclaimed: "Go away; ain't you ashamed!"

John Miller, a lonely bachelor of Montrose, Pa., got tired of life and ended his days by opening his jugular vein with a pocket knife a few days ago.

At the ball given at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on Friday night, the Countess Romero, of Havana, wore diamonds to the value of $50,000.

Deacon Smeal, Postmaster at Madison, Ohio, an aged and highly respectable citizen, was gored to death by a bull in that town last week.

A hotel for the special accommodation of freedmen has been opened at COORSOVS LOVS AFFAIR.—A curious case of love and persecution has come to light in New York. A man named Romero fell in love with his son's intended wife, and, in order to marry her, sent Romero Jr., to Cuba. The latter was soon after reported to be dead, and the wedding took place. Subsequently the young man returned home, when his father caused him to be arrested and put into the lunatic asylum. The wife has discovered the facts in the case, and secured the release of her first and perhaps only love, and an interesting and spicy lawsuit is now said to be very probable, growing out of this exceedingly romantic affair.

MORTALITY.—There seems to be a great deal of Dysentery and Cholera morbus about just now, and our list of deaths is much larger than we are usually called upon to record. Eating unripe or decayed fruit seems to be the principal cause. Coo's Dyspepsia Cure will be found an invaluable remedy for all such troubles, and should be kept in the house and immediately used at the first attack. It is also a sovereign cure for dyspepsia, in its worst forms. Those who have tried everything else and failed, will rejoice that an infallible remedy has been found.

To the unfortunate seaman Wm. Hopkins, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Sergeant McCarty, official clemency has been extended by Governor Curtin, and the accused is again a free man. His counsel David Paul Brown and J. A. Owens, from the first believed him to be innocent. It is gratifying to their personal exertions that the result has been attained. The Governor at the same time acted with due deliberation, and personally visited the prisoner in the county jail to hear from his own lips the manner in which the affair was committed.

There has been in session for a day or two in New York a convention of the Tailors' National Union, composed of delegates from all the large cities of the United States. The object of the convention is to consider various matters connected with the trade and the protection of the journeymen. A report has been adopted recommending a fraternity among the tailors somewhat similar to the Masonic association, an International Union being proposed, not only with Canada, but with the tailors of various European countries.

Capt. Jacob Dock died at the residence of his son-in-law, at Long Branch, on the 7th of August, in the 66th year of his age. The captain was well and favorably known in Harrisburg, where he resided for a number of years. After his removal he became engaged in the city of Philadelphia as an extensive transporter on the then Pennsylvania State line of railroad and canal, under the firm of Bingham & Dock. After his retirement from business he represented Philadelphia in the Legislature.

Trouble has arisen among the managers of the Douglas monument celebration at Chicago. The Masons contend that, as the ceremonies will be conducted by that order, the proper person to lay the corner stone is J. R. Gorio, Masonic Grand Master of Illinois, instead of President Johnson. They also declare that, unless the programme be altered, they will take no part in the ceremonies. It is reported that the Committee of Arrangements have decided to grant the request of the Masons.

Anthony Ninninger, a native of Alsaco, France, died in Harrisburg, on Wednesday morning, at the advanced age of 79 years. He served in the Napoleonic wars, and at their conclusion was taken prisoner, and confined on the barren island of Gibraltar. He was taken from thence to England, and soon after sent to Canada, as a soldier in the British army. While the troubles were brewing there he deserted, came to the United States, and soon after settled at Harrisburg, where he resided until his death.

Gov. Curtin has signed the death-warrant of Richard Thairwell, convicted of the murder of Houseman, in Fayette county, some time ago. His execution will take place on Monday, the first day of October next. In this case, it will be noticed, that for the first time the custom of hanging men on Friday—popularly known as "hangman's day"—has been disregarded.

The death of George Osbaldeston, the once famous sportsman, in his 79th year, took place at his residence in London. Thirty or forty years ago the sporting world was ringing with his remarkable feats of horsemanship and physical endurance, and he enjoyed the highest possible reputation, whether as fox-hunter, cricket player, pedestrian or crick shot.

A banking institution for colored people was formally opened on Monday at the corner of Bleeker and Laurens streets, New York. Several thousand dollars in sums varying from $1 to $1000 were deposited by colored people. The building was thronged with visitors of both sexes, white and black, throughout Santa Anna's consolidated property in Mexico is worth $17,000,000.

It is reported that Basil W. Duke, one of John Morgan's guerrilla band of cut throats and horse thieves, is about to write a history of the campaigns of his redoubtable chief. Being Morgan's brother-in-law, and having been his constant companion through all the raids made by Morgan, he is doubtless well able to accomplish the task. It was a common saying during the war that John Morgan's brains were under Basil Duke's hat, and it is likely that the superior attainments of the latter that the former was so long able to continue on his career.

A vessel on entering the harbor of Charleston, South Carolina, last week, struck a concealed torpedo, the existence of which had been forgotten by the authorities. The schooner exploded the machine, blowing her bottom out and instantly sinking her. One man was drowned with the boat.

Robert H. Benedict, a stone quarrier at Schenectady, purchased a second hand coat in that city two years since, and has just discovered $150 in greenbacks sewed in the lining of one of the sleeves.

The New York Citizen begins a review of "Four Years in the Saddle" by saying that it "purports to be written by one Harry Gilmore, a gentleman recently engaged in the horse-stealing business."

The Charlestonians' ears are fatigued by the continuous rattling of teams loaded with rails torn up during Sherman's march, which are being sent north to have the "twist" taken out.

Mr. James E. Murdoch, the tragedian has a large farm in Ohio, and recently a town in the vicinity has been named Murdoch, and a post office established there by the government.

An insane woman in Mobile, Alabama, on Sunday, threw her infant into the red hot furnace of a rolling mill, where the iron was fusing. The child was instantly burned to a crisp, bones and all.

The colored Convention at Nashville, during its late session, set apart the first day of January next as a day of fasting and prayer, on account of the murder of Abraham Lincoln.

A negro woman named Sarah Miller, died in Columbus, Ga., on the 5th inst. The deceased was five feet eight inches in height, and measured five feet around her chest. Her weight was seven hundred and ninety eight pounds, and it required the muscular efforts of six strong men to remove the body from the upper floor of the tenement in which she died to the hallway where she was to be confined. The remains were buried under the direction of the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections.

Mrs. Jeff Davis writes to a friend in Charleston thus concerning her husband: "Mr. Davis is not slowly but surely wasting away, and I look forward to his Maker's release, if man does not soon afford him one. It is very kind of you to ask what he wants; but, beyond segars, and a little Madeira or Sherry wine, he seems to desire nothing."

Dean Richmond, a well known New York politician, died in that city on Monday morning, after a brief illness. Mr. Richmond was born in Woodstock, Vt., March 31, 1804, and was consequently just upon his 63d year. He belonged to the radical democratic rebel school of politics during the war.

A carrier dove recently flew from Levison to Slaters, in a distance of six miles, in six minutes.

Special Notices.

MALARIA EVERYWHERE.—Rarely has there been a season so fruitful as this of malarious diseases. Not only on the parishes and in the valleys of the West; not merely in all the old haunts of Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fever have these prostrating diseases been unusually virulent; but they have extended to towns and cities, never before infested with them, and have ascended the mountains and attacked thousands of people supposed to have been placed by the laws of Nature above their reach. Hence we are compelled to admit that a fatal element pervades the universal air this season, and should at once resort to the only approved preventive of its consequences, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic so potent, an anti-septic so perfect, an alternative so irresistible, and a stimulant so pure, that it enables the human system to resist and baffle all the predisposing causes of disease. With the confidence that one clothed in incomparable garments might move among blazing buildings, the man who arms himself against malaria with this powerful defensive medicine may walk a fever-scourged district fearless of its insidious atmosphere. The intermittents and remittents at present so general in all parts of the country may be but the forerunners of a deadlier scourge, now on its way westward from the far East. Prepare the system with Hostetter's Bitters for a successful battle with the mephitic causes of all epidemics. Be wise in time. Sold everywhere.—New York World, Nov. 6, 1865.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS.—The great female Remedy for Irregularities.—These Drops are a scientifically compounded fluid preparation, and better than any Pills, Powders or Nostriums. Being liquid, their action is direct and positive, rendering them reliable, speedy and certain specific for the cure of all obstructions and suppressions of nature. Their popularity is indicated by the fact that over 100,000 bottles are annually sold and consumed by the ladies of the United States, every one of whom speak in the strongest terms of praise of their good merits. They are rapidly taking the place of every other Female Remedy, and are considered by all who know aught of them, as the surest, safest and most infallible preparation in the world, for the cure of all female complaints, the removal of all obstructions of nature, and the promotion of health, regularity and strength. Explicit directions stating when they may be used, and explaining when they should not, nor could not be used without producing effects contrary to nature's chosen laws, will be found carefully folded around each bottle, with the written signature of JOHN L. LYON, without which none are genuine.

Prepared by Dr. JOHN L. LYON, 185 Chapel street, New-Haven, Conn., who can be consulted either personally or by mail, (enclosing stamp) concerning all private diseases and female weaknesses. Sold by Druggists every where. C. G. CLARK & Co., Genl Agts for U. S. and Canada. [ly]

BLACK AS A CROW, a few years since, was many a splendid head that is now grey or grizzled. Why not restore to the yet unwrinkled brow its raven honors? Five minutes effects the splendid transformation. In less time than a rifleman would take to load and fire three times, the grayest head may be made darker than the Raven's wing. No matter of what undesirable tint the hair or whiskers or beard may be, the change to a superb and perfectly natural black or brown is accomplished by one application of CHRISTOPHER'S HAIR DYE, without staining the skin or injuring the filaments. Manufactured by J. CHRISTOPHER, 6 Astor House, New-York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair-dressers.
