

The Mariettian.

MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, October 13, 1886.

His Accident. Andy Johnson, has issued what purports to be his "proclamation recommending that Thursday Nov. 20, be observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer to God for all mercies and benefits during the past year, and also recommending that on the same solemn occasion the people humbly and devoutly implore him to grant to our national councils and to our whole population that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into the ways of all good." He might have added and relieve us of a drunken and worthless president.

The late elections "were like the handle of a jug"—all on one side. Pennsylvania elects Geary by about 16000—elects two additional Republican members of Congress and fixes the Legislature at nearly two-thirds republican. Lancaster county rolls up a majority of 6,300—in a word, everything politically appears anti-Johnson. Iowa, Ohio and Indiana has done likewise—and even better, if possible, than the Keystone. Andy is, politically, on his "cooling board."

A correspondent from Racine speaking of the recent attempt of Senator Doolittle to address his townsmen, characterizes the scene as a ludicrous and telling condemnation of his political apostasy. He was greeted with hisses and groans, which so exasperated him that he took off his coat and declared his determination to speak in spite of them. A demonstration of added eggs had, however, a quieting effect, and he was compelled to desist.

Ohio shows Republican gains all over the State. In the Cincinnati district George H. Pendleton (the Democratic candidate on the Presidential ticket with George B. McClellan) is defeated in his aspirations for Congress. The majority in the State is estimated in the latest Columbus despatch at 50,000. Indiana returns indicate that the majority will be about the same as in 1884, when the Union majority was 20,000. Iowa has elected all her Republican Congressmen, and condemns "My Policy," by from 25,000 to 30,000 majority.

The threat, has repeatedly been made that Andrew Johnson intends to cap the climax of his treachery and crimes by plunging the country into civil war. The logical and patriotic answer is such an overwhelming vote for the Union candidates as will paralyze the authors of this new treason by showing them there is a power in the land that no man, however high his station, dare defy.

The people of Massachusetts voted, by a majority of 60,000, that Gen. Couch didn't deserve to be Governor, and Johnson appointed him Collector of the Port of Boston. E. F. Pillsbury ran for Governor of Maine, and was beaten by 27,000, and has made him postmaster of Augusta. The President has evidently as great a contempt for the people as the people have for him.

The Harrisburg Telegraph asserts that the Democratic leaders in the Northwestern part of the State have demanded that Montgomery Blair should be withdrawn from the track as a public speaker. It is too late gentlemen. He has done his best to finish the work so well commenced by Andrew Johnson.

A wealthy gentleman, a New Hampshire paper mentions, who was once a poor boy, is building a hotel to cost, seventy thousand dollars, on the spot where he was once put off the cars because he had not money enough to pay his fare.

The postmaster at Amsterdam, Montgomery county, New York, whose three sons, son-in-law, and brother-in-law fought in the Union army during the whole rebellion, has been removed from office and an unconditional Breckinridge democrat appointed.

In a speech at Warren, Ohio, last week, Vallandigham, who speaks by authority, said he had it from Johnson's own mouth that he never belonged to the Union party in sentiment, and therefore has never deserted it.

On the sea coast of Texas, near Galveston, an iron-clad fort will shortly be erected, mounting 20 heavy Parrot guns.

As an experiment, Hyde Park (London) has been lighted up nightly with the lime-light affixed to a temporary tower in the center of the park.

The Indians on the plains call our breed of horses "deep shot guns."

Tombs, of Georgia, is going to Switzerland for his health.

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT.—A correspondent of the Boston "Right Way," is speaking of the several candidates spoken of for the next Presidency, thus describes the kind of a President needed: "We need for a President a man who is capable of being a leader in good works, and who will not wait to be 'kicked into decency,' or urged to give voice to the popular will; one who has the ability to grasp at and solve the complications and knotty questions of our politics, and decide upon them in the interests of freedom and equal rights. We need a President who will execute the laws, and not set up his individual will in defiance of the law-making power—Congress—to make treason respectable and loyalty odious; one who will not stoop to make a party for his own personal interests, and thereby betray the people who have elevated him to his high position; one who, in short, will not follow in the footsteps of Andrew Johnson. Therefore, when people begin to discuss Presidential candidates, tell them that we must have those only of fixed principles founded on exact justice; honest men who will not cheat the nation; and men who, possessing convictions, will dare to carry them into our institutions, and thus establish what we never yet have had, a TRUE REPUBLIC, the glory of the nations of the earth."

A PROFITABLE BOARDER.—The Boston Traveller relates that in a prominent hotel in Nashua, N. H., a few weeks since, a young lady engaged board for two or three days; and at the end of that time, when about to leave, told the landlord a young gentleman would be along in a day or two and settle for her board. The obliging landlord told her she had better leave her valise for security, which she did and took her departure. About a week after the landlord opened the valise, as no young man appeared, and found that it was stuffed full of sheets and pillow cases belonging to the rooms in his hotel, and were his own property. The young lady had improved her time during her stay, and had "made over" some of the articles into garments for herself.

General Collins introduced into the Pittsburg Convention a resolution declaring that when President Johnson said he could have used the army and navy to make himself Dictator, he insulted every soldier and sailor of the Republic. This expression of indignation is at once natural and proper. The soldiers of the Republic are not mere animated machines, to do the bidding of ambitious rulers. They are citizens and sovereigns, acting with an intelligent appreciation of the dignity and responsibility of their station, and for the advancement of the great principles of liberty and humanity, in which they all have an interest. The American bayonet thinks. When hundreds of thousands of our bravest and best men hastened to the battlefield, they did so because the glory of the Union and the freedom of its citizens were hazarded by Traitors at the South.

A FEROCIOUS MANIAC.—There is a maniac now living in Buckland, Mass., named Josiah Spaulding, who, the Springfield Republican says, has been confined in an iron cage for over fifty years, and for more than thirty years has not stood erect. He has become so deformed that it is impossible to straighten his limbs by manual force. He refuses to be clothed, and will not suffer anything to remain on him, and is only kept warm in winter by warming the room in which his cage is placed. He is the son of Rev. Josiah Spaulding. When he first became insane, he endeavored to murder his father, mother, and sister, and it became necessary to confine him so that he could not harm any one.

A colored girl of 16, a refugee from Alabama, has been kept for two and a half years in a state of slavery in Chicago, by Mr. Taylor; half clothed, compelled to saw all the wood, do all the washing, &c., of his family of ten, without pay; to sleep in a cellar, forbidden to go out, frequently beaten, and on one occasion, when she got away, badly whipped.

The President has appointed Major General Daniel E. Sickles Colonel of the Forty-second regular infantry. This was undoubtedly intended; as an honor. But it is questionable whether he will accept it. He is essentially a politician and not a military man, and entrance into the regular army would virtually exclude him from politics for life.

The London army and navy Gazette says a monster gun has been successfully cast in England which, with a charge of about 140 lbs. of powder, will throw a shot weighing 1,100.

Charles Wright has been appointed collector of Internal Revenue in the Tenth Massachusetts district. When his commission came, he was in the lunatic asylum.

In the United States there are more pigs than human population. In England there is only one pig for every nine inhabitants.

Jeff Davis' trial will go on to November, when the U. S. District Court will sit at Richmond.

AN INCIDENT.—As a train of cars was last week approaching the suspension bridge, near Niagara, the conductor found a young man who could not pay his fare. The poor fellow was evidently in the last stage of consumption, and emaciated to skeleton proportions. He sat by himself, and his eyes were red, as though he had been weeping; but the laws of the Company could not be transgressed, and he must leave the cars. Not a person moved or spoke as the conductor led him from his seat, all shivering with the cold; but just as he reached the door a beautiful girl arose from her seat, and with bright sparkling eyes demanded the amount charged for the poor invalid. The conductor said eight dollars, and the young and noble girl took that sum from her pocket book, and kindly led the sick youth back to his seat. The action put to shame several men who had witnessed it, and they offered to pay "half," but the whole-souled woman indignantly refused the assistance. When the train arrived in Albany the young protectress gave the invalid money enough to keep him over night and send him to his friends next morning.

A wife in the police court at Chicago, thus ingeniously explained away serious charges of harsh treatment of her husband: "One day when she was running across the room with a fork in her hand, he jumped in the way and struck his wrist against the fork, wrenching it from her grip by the tines, which he ran into his wrist. Then he undertook to strike her, but she held up a pan of hot dish water between them, and he split it all over his head. Then he got still more angry at this accident, and started to jump at her, but his head came against her hand and he fell down. She took hold of his hair to raise him up, and the hair was moistened by the hot water so that it came off. Then she saw it was no use to reason with him any longer and she left the house."

The rebel Gen. Wright of Georgia says he was on the Committee that drafted the resolutions in the Johnson Philadelphia Convention in favor of duly rewarding Union soldiers, and that he took care to have them so worded as not to commit the Government; for, if the South ever gets into power again, all pensions to Union soldiers shall be cut off unless the Confederate soldiers are put on the same footing. We see from this what the Rebels will attempt should they again get into power and the Constitutional Amendment should not be adopted.

At the sinking of the Linnie Brown in the Mississippi, lately, a planter from Kentucky, bound for Washington county, Arkansas, when awakened, seized his carpet bag, containing $8000, and rushed into the cabin, where he saw a lady struggling in the water. He threw away his carpet bag and money, and seizing the lady carried her to a place of safety and thus saved her life. A noble act could not be done.

A physician passing by a stencutter's shop, bawled out, "Good morning, Mr. W.—hard at work, I see. You finish your gravestones as far as in memory of; and then you wait, I suppose, to see who wants a monument next?" "Why, yes," replied the old man, resting for a moment on his mallet, "unless somebody is sick and you are doctoring him, and then I keep right on."

A "prominent gentleman" of Louisville, who has a very beautiful and brilliant wife, returning home unexpectedly one day last week, found another "prominent gentleman" in his house, under suspicious circumstances. Instead of making a fool of himself with a revolver, he quietly took his two children, went to a relation's, and at once instituted a suit for a divorce.

A Mrs. Fisher, of Yarmouth, Mass., who was disturbed lately by a man concealed under her bed, and who fled on discovery, has since received a letter containing fifteen dollars, stating that the writer was the individual under the bed, that he was there for no criminal purpose, and that the money enclosed was to pay her for the trouble she had been put to.

Of two hundred and two applicants for marriage licenses in the Probate Court of Cincinnati, during the past six weeks, forty were unable to write their own names. It is supposed that most of these were foreigners as it would be impossible for so large a number of Americans to be so unfortunate in view of our admirable system of education.

Capt. John Roe, who is master of a boat on the Morris Canal, was taking the boat through the canal one day last week, when about one mile above Hackettstown, his daughter, aged about twenty-two years, accidentally fell overboard. The father immediately jumped into the canal, in order to save his daughter, and they were both drowned.

A one-legged soldier has been turned out of the post office at Columbia city, Indiana, and a rebel sympathizer appointed in his place. Postmaster General Randall should be compelled to walk on crutches the rest of his natural life.

News in Brief.

A farmer named Robert Walker, and his wife came into Detroit on Friday from Dearbornville. When crossing the railroad track on Michigan street he saw a train coming, and whipped up his horses, just escaping the cars. Mr. Walker turned to speak to his wife when he found she had been jerked backward out of the wagon by the sudden start and lay dead across the track, literally cut to pieces.

By an account filed in the Probate Court at Chicago, in connection with the settlement of the estate of Trussell, the owner of half of the famous race-horse Dexter, it appears that from June 15th, 1886, to the date of the account, less than four months, the horse earned for his owners $22,777.53, whilst his expenses were $6783.10, the net profits being $15,994.43.

A young Englishman, who has been eking out a wretched existence in New York by begging from door to door and sleeping on the City Hall steps or among the docks, was a few days since informed of the death of a titled relative in the old country by which he is left heir to nearly $50,000.

In St. Louis, on Wednesday, a man named Trimborn, seeing a wagon passing with a large piece of canvas over it, lifted the corner of the covering and to his horror saw two uncoffined victims of the cholera. He was instantly taken with the disease and died in a few hours.

It will be observed with much gratification that the national debt, has been reduced, during the month of September fifteen millions of dollars. This is at the rate of one hundred and eighty millions a year. At this rate the whole debt will be canceled in fifteen years.

A Canadian newspaper contains the following plaintive advertisement: "Will the gentleman who stole my melons on last Sabbath night be generous enough to return me a few of the seeds, as the melons are of a rare variety."

A little orphan boy in Little Rock, Ark., who has recently followed the trade of boot black, was on Tuesday last made owner of $120,000, by the will of a deceased relative in Louisiana.

The delegation of Southern Loyalists arrived at Cairo, Ill., on the 5th, but were prevented from speaking by a mob of rebel sympathizers. The national flag was torn from the portico of the theatre in which the meeting was held.

Some one writes that Jefferson Davis is dying. Official records tell us that nearly five hundred thousand of the youth of our land, who volunteered to crush the rebellion which he instigated are dead.

The Hon. Henry May, formerly Representative in Congress from the Third district of Maryland, died on Thursday last. He was the immediate predecessor of the late Henry Winter Davis.

It is stated that Mr. A. T. Stewart has intimated his readiness to give $1,000,000 to build tenement houses for the deserving poor in New York, provided ground would be furnished.

Liquid Catarrh Remedy

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find that they have a cold that they have frequent attacks, and are sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a sticky slimy mucus, which has fallen from the back during the night. When this takes place, a person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms. It will be sent FREE to any address. All directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits.
