

The Mariettian.

MARIETTA, PA.: Saturday Morning, December 1, 1866.

SEWARD AND GREELY.—A well known journalist, who was formerly a Washington correspondent, says that while there during the war, he one day asked Secretary Seward his opinion of Horace Greeley.

The making of window and bottle glass, at Pittsburg, gives employment to 1800 men and boys, whose annual wages amount to $1,396,516.

The New York World says, another shipment of courtisans is to be made from that city to New Orleans in the steamer which leaves there on Saturday next.

The legislature of North Carolina has just elected Judge Maulay, a judge in the Supreme Court of the Southern Confederacy; an original secessionist and still a strong states-rights man.

It looks very much as if Horace Greeley would be elected to the U. S. Senate from New York. The Herald, Times, Post, Advertiser, of that city, with at least three-fourths of the Republican press of the rural districts and cities of the interior of the State, strongly urge his claims.

John Morrissey, Congressman elect from one of the Democratic districts of New York city, has a sister living in Chicago in the most destitute circumstances. She has made frequent appeals to her brother, but in vain.

Richard Lawrence, who attempted to assassinate General Jackson in 1835, is still living, an inmate of the Maryland Insane Asylum.

It is said Louis Napoleon is about placing Santa Anna at the head of Mexican affairs, in order to have the French debt assumed.

The Siamese twins are travelling in Michigan.

JEFF DAVIS' QUARTERS.—A Fortress Monroë letter to the New York Herald says:

The very fine rooms, four in number, besides a kitchen, fitted up in Carroll Hall for Jeff Davis and family, have at length received the finishing touches of carpenter, mason, glazier and painter. Vacating his old quarters, which were limited to two casemates, he was moved into his new and more commodious apartments; so that now, barring his deprivation of the freedom of the outer world, he is as snugly and as comfortably situated, has rooms as airy, as liberal supplies of fuel, as numerous attendance of servants, and as complete and elaborate cuisine auxiliaries as any officer in the fort.

"The Camp, the Battlefield and the Hospital," or Lights and Shadows of the Great Rebellion, is the title of a handsome volume, just issued by the National Publishing Company, 507 Minor Street, Philadelphia, Pa. The author, Dr. L. P. Brockett, has delved most industriously amongst the masses of curious incidents which have marked the late war, and has grouped and classified them under appropriate heads, and in a very attractive form.

Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.

Andrew Brockman, one of the victims of the Indian massacre at New Ulm Mountain, in 1863, has arrived in St. Louis. He experienced the torture of seeing his cabin burned and his wife and four children murdered before his eyes, and was then horribly mutilated.

The Chicago Republican, in a strong editorial demanding the removal and impeachment of Andrew Johnson, maintains that Congress is the conclusive and final judge of the nature of the acts which shall be held to afford grounds for impeachment, and that, therefore, the impeachment and removal may be made on such grounds as may seem just to it.

One wagon of a powder train, containing 5000 pounds of powder, blew up near Green River, Utah, on the 12th ult. A hub was the largest piece of wood found after the explosion, and three of the five yokes of oxen attached were torn into small bits, and only one foot, a joint of a finger, and a piece of the skull of the driver remained.

The Columbia Republican says: "One dollar and a half can not be invested to better advantage in any family, or by any teacher, than in subscribing for this paper. It is full of original matter, and we cannot speak of it in too high terms of commendation."

GEN. LOGAN.—As the election of General Logan of Illinois, as "Congressman at Large," puzzles some people, it may be well to say that an act of Congress allowing Illinois one more member than she previously had, she preferred to elect only thirteen members of Congress in separate districts, and to have the fourteenth elected by the vote of the whole State. This is the "Congressman at Large," for which office General Logan has just received a majority approaching 60,000, which is the largest majority any man ever received for Congress.

Wealthy families sometimes have trouble, get into lawsuits, and expose their secrets to the world. In New York, in a divorce case that is pending, it appears in the evidence that the wife, who claims maintenance in the same style in which she has been living, besides the use of a furnished house, is accustomed to spend $100 a day. $36,500 is a neat little sum for a lady's "pin money," when she has besides a house to live in, her larder supplied, and all the furniture necessary to the most luxurious ease.

The London, Chatham and Dover Railway sells to passengers living at stations not more than six miles out of town a weekly ticket enabling them to ride to London and return each day for one shilling (twenty four cents) in silver. On the Metropolitan railroad of London the fare for each passenger is two cents. These rates are much cheaper than those prevailing on either of the horse or street railways in this country.

A man named Wells, a book keeper for a firm in Ironton, Mo., telegraphed that he had been robbed of $10,000 belonging to them while on a railroad train. Detectives who were given the case, ascertained that Wells had cut out his own pocket threw away the wallet, and kept the bonds. Wells, when accused of the trick, acknowledged it and delivered up the money.

Hon. John Morrissey says that he is prepared to spend $10,000 to elect Mr. Greeley to the United States Senate, as there is no possible show for a Democrat, and Horace having been his friend through good and evil reports, he considers it his duty now, as Greeley needs assistance, to stretch forth his hand and his purse to aid a friend, though a political foe.
