OUR TOBACCO SMOKERS .- The descendents of the Anglo-Saxons are well known to be the most inveterate smokers of the human family. While six swarthy Aborigines content themselves with sharing the wiff of one pipe, six pipes will scarce ly keep one Yankee in steaming operation. At a late analyzation of all classes of tobacco at the Academy of Science in Paris, it was announced that American tobacco contained eight per cent. of nicotine, a deadly poison ; Havana tobacco contains three per cent .; and Chingarora tobacco, grown in the Indies con. tains no nicotine whatever. The natives of the Indies are constant smokers of the Chingarora, and never suffer the ills which follow the use of tobacco in other climes.
