

The Mariettian.

MARIETTA, PA.

Saturday Morning, June 15, 1867.

Wells, the late shuffling, incapable Governor of Louisiana, like Judge Abell, Mayor Monroe, and Attorney-General Herron, dies hard. He first refused to yield up his office to the quiet demand of Governor Flanders; but when Gen. Sheridan sent him an order by the hands of one of his staff officers the valiant official yielded—yielded, he said only at the point of the sword! Now Wells joins with the previously ousted rebels and their followers in an effort to have Sheridan removed by the President, but we do not believe that so gallant and true an administrator of affairs in that military district will be turned out for doing his plain, premeditated duty. The President will hardly venture upon such a step.

A man in Bridgeport, Conn., last Sunday went to church to hear his "banns" announced. The name of the lady was given correctly, but to his horror another gentleman was named as the joyful expectant. He rushed frantically to his inamorata, who said she had been induced to change her mind in consequence of hearing that he had been boasting of his conquest. She remained inexorable to his entreaties, and married her new lover.

Sword blades resembling those of Damascus, are made at Solingen, Germany. A fagot is first formed of alternate fine bars of iron and steel. It is drawn out, doubled and twisted several times, and then formed into a ribbon. Two such ribbons are welded together, inclosing between them a thin blade of the best cutting steel. After polishing it, it is dipped in diluted sulphuric acid to give it a pattern.

The editor of the Clearmont Eagle offers a thousand dollars for the invention of what he terms a sensible set of horse shoes—light neatly finished steel shoes that can be readily put on and taken off by the owner of the horse or the groom, just as he does the harness, when occasion requires.

Mayor McMichael, of Philadelphia, has issued rigid instructions to his lieutenants of police, relative to enforcing a late law of the Legislature providing for the closing of all drinking saloons at 12 o'clock each night and on Sunday during the entire day and evening.

A lady applied at the Portland, Me., police office on Monday, in search of a lost cat, for which she offered $1,000 reward. She brought the animal from England, and thought a great deal of it. The cat had on when lost a gold necklace worth $40 which may account for its disappearance.

Walter M. Rogers, a policeman, was murdered at Memphis last week by a drunken man named Tom Prewitt. The murderer approached the officer and told him to get down on his knees and beg for mercy. Rogers declined to do so, when Prewitt shot him dead. Prewitt was seized and put in jail.

At Fairfield, Iowa, on the 22nd ult., Joseph Matthews, while partially deranged, deliberately murdered his wife while she was preparing breakfast. He walked from the front room to the kitchen, and with two strokes of an axe killed her immediately. The only witness present was a son of about six years.

The Richmond Examiner has been reduced in size and price. It has two new editors, and will be published on the co-operative principle. It also echoes politics and will henceforth devote itself to the dissemination of news and the promotion of local interests.

The ex-Confederate Major General Ewell is quietly cultivating a farm of a couple thousand acres at Spring Hill, Tenn. He very sensibly devotes his attention chiefly to stock raising and to the cultivation of corn, and plants little or no cotton.

The wife of G. A. Nicolls, Superintendent of the Reading Railroad, was buried in Reading on Saturday. In addition to a large concourse of citizens, there were some fifteen hundred employees of the railroad company in attendance at the funeral.

A Mrs. Parker, of Anamosa, Iowa, has been living for months with a live lizard in her stomach, according to the quacks. Death finally came to her relief, when, as the result of a post mortem examination, it was ascertained that she had the consumption.

In Newbern, N. C., a few days since, a person who had purchased an old army mattress ripped it open and discovered a big roll of greenbacks in it. There has been much ripping of old mattresses since.

A young lady, some six weeks since, residing in Quincy, Ill., was detained in Springfield over Sunday, in consequence of a failure of the cars to connect. A young man from the same place, reached Springfield by another train and was similarly detained. Both were disappointed, and disagreeable. They met at the table, recognized each other, and although not formerly acquainted, soon became so. Mutual distress established a chord of sympathy, and the day passed very agreeably. The following morning each took the several trains for their destinations. A few days later, two trains met at Berlin, and at opposite windows sat the young man and the young lady. Ill at ease in that condition, the former left his seat, and entered the other car, and sat down by the side of the latter. Result—they are now on their wedding tour.

General Sheridan has written to General Grant his reasons for the removal of certain New Orleans officials. He removed Judge Abell because that officer for nine months had promised, and made it matter of public scandal, that there should be no prosecution in his court against the murderers of Union men and negroes. He removed Mr. Herron because he refused to do his duty in indicting the men who were known to have organized and conducted the massacre. He removed Mayor Monroe because he controlled the regiment of murderers known as the police force of New Orleans.

A gay and dashing young widow, in Medina, N. Y., on a trip to a young man and married him. An expensive wedding tour followed. They then settled down in Grand Rapids, when husband became tired of her ways, and abandoned her. But her strategy was equal to her strategy. She procured quinine, took twelve grains, and announced her intention to leave the earth. Her friends became alarmed, a physician was called and her husband summoned. The quinine yielded, and so did the husband.

Charles Mix, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Barre, Orleans Co., came to his death last week in a singular manner. He was removing potatoes from an under to an upper bin in his cellar, and while stooping in the under bin, the upper one gave way, precipitating the accumulated weight upon him, and breaking his neck. The family were absent at the time, and he was not found until the day after the fatal occurrence. Mr. Mix had lived in the town over fifty years.

A creosoted sleeper, put down on the Stockton and Darlingtown Railway in England, in August, 1841, was taken up March 14, 1867, after nearly twenty-five years' service. The grain of the wood, although slightly discolored by creosote, is as fresh and apparently as tough as that of newly-sawn timber, and the odor of creosote is as strong as if the wood had just been operated upon.

Last week a man was being tried before Judge Mitchell in Washington, N. C., for the crime of horse stealing; the jury had just retired to find their verdict, when an auction bell was heard announcing the sale of some bank property; everybody being interested immediately left the court-room, and the prisoner walked out with the crowd and left for parts unknown.

An exchange says: Put the feet for half an hour, two or three successive nights in a pretty strong solution of soda, the alkali dissolves the indurated cuticle, and the corns fall out spontaneously, leaving a small cavity which soon fills. This receipt is vouched for as a certain remedy. Should it prove so it will entitle the author to the heart-felt thanks of many a sufferer.

The Emperor Napoleon has presented to the University at South Bend, Indiana, a superb and powerful telescope, valued at 25,000 francs. It has inscribed upon it in French: "Presented by his Imperial Majesty Napoleon III. to the Catholic University of Notre Dame de Lac, Indiana, United States."

Mr. Henry Bazeltine, a young American sculptor, now in Rome, is executing for the Union League Club of Philadelphia a colossal figure of America twining wreaths of laurel and immortelles for her children fallen in the late war—a bold and elegant composition.

A man at Rochester, New York, is raising the famous giant trees of California from the seed, to see how large they will grow in this country. As it takes only twenty-five hundred years for them to mature he will have a happy time experimenting.

The story that the iron clad Miantonomah has been or is about to be sold to Russia is best set at rest by stating that she has been ordered home, and will probably reach American waters early next month.

Mrs. Gen. Gaines' new house, opposite the Central Park, New York, is a "princely" mansion. It will contain a splendid boudoir, billiard room, picture gallery, ball-room, covered carriage-ways, etc.

Santa Anna, surrounded by all the luxuries which wealth commands, is living at Staten Island, New York.

Dr. Livingstone's murder, we are happy in being able to believe, was prematurely credited. Sir Roderick Murchison has succeeded in ascertaining that the two Johanna men on whose authority the story rested have given to different people such varying and inconsistent versions as to justify the belief that the whole thing was a falsehood to justify their desertion of him. Moreover, news has reached England from Zanzibar that a white man has been at Tanganyika who, there is reason to believe, was none other than Livingstone. The letter quoted by the daily papers as confirming the worst reports, does nothing of the kind. The English expedition in quest of him started on the 10th of this month.—The Round Table.

The Judiciary Committee took considerable evidence bearing on the question of Jeff. Davis' complicity in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. They have the originals, or certified copies, of a number of letters that reached him in 1864, wherein the writers proposed assassination, and there is nothing to show that he ever rebuked the authors or discountenanced the scheme. The testimony as to his complicity in Booth's plot is not entirely conclusive, but it is so strong that at least three of the members of that Committee believe his guilt to be shown. That he had dealings with Booth and his agents is beyond doubt.

A steel steamboat has been built in England, for the use of the expedition which has gone in search of Dr. Livingstone. She is built throughout of steel and charcoal iron plates. The latter are 1-16th of an inch in thickness, in short half sections about two feet in length, the heaviest weighing no more than forty pounds, in order that they may be carried overland to the lakes and rivers to be explored, by the negroes, and there put together with screws, bolts, &c.

The Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co. have purchased the Susquehanna and West Branch Canals. It is the intention of this company to deepen and improve this line, and use it to assist the railroads in getting the immense lumber trade to market. The lumbermen of Williamsport are hampered and their business curtailed to some extent, in consequence of the inability of the railroads to supply cars enough to ship their lumber.

The British Medical Journal states that the mental condition of the Empress of Mexico shows no signs of improvement. Under the stress of the peculiarly distressing symptoms with which mental alienation is accompanied in her case, the committee who have been charged by the Emperor of Austria with the administration of her affairs and her personal charge have proposed to have a consultation of eminent European alienists.

A Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette goes into particulars of testimony which will shortly be forthcoming casting a terrible suspicion of guilt upon Andrew Johnson in connection with the assassination of President Lincoln. This correspondent asserts that Booth and Johnson were on intimate terms with two sisters in Nashville. If the statements of the correspondent be true, Johnson is a greater villain than Booth was.

Henry Miller has been arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, charged with bigamy. Thirty-two years ago he was married in Germany, but after a few years ran away to London with another woman, whom he married. Subsequently they came to this country and located in Cleveland, where Miller, now an old man, has recently married a niece of wife No. 2. He is now in jail to answer the charge of bigamy.

James Alfred Slentz, of Harrisburg, has been awarded the contract for building an addition to the Executive Mansion, authorized by the last legislature. The cost is to be $13,450, the work to be commenced immediately, and finished in six months. It is to be so built that if necessary the original building and the additions can be sold as separate buildings, as a gain to the State.

A young girl dressed in soldier's clothes was arrested in Buffalo on Friday. She gave her name as Ann King, aged 19, and said she was from "Salt Point," Syracuse, where her parents reside, and that she had seven sisters and eight brothers; that they were very poor, and she, with four sisters had been obliged to don male attire and drive teams on the canal for a livelihood.

A Mrs. Adger is said to be the leader of fashion in London. She is a widow, and is described as a tall, handsome-looking woman, with a profusion of light hair, and jet black eyes. It is said she never appears a second time in the same dress. She has received many offers of marriage, all of which, however, she has "respectfully declined."

The case of George W. Gayle, the man who was arrested for publishing an advertisement offering a reward for the murder of Abraham Lincoln, came up at Montgomery, Alabama, on Tuesday. Gayle presented a full pardon from Andrew Johnson, and the case was dismissed.

A queer incident occurred to the New York train on its way to Washington. The conductor asked a man standing on one of the platforms for his ticket, when he responded by pushing the conductor off the train into a ditch. Twenty-five miles were run before his absence was discovered, when the train was reversed, and the conductor found uninjured, walking back toward Wilmington.

The laws of health are infallible; the relation between transgression and the penalty is invariable, and the infliction of the latter is certain to follow upon the former. There is nothing about which young persons are more beguiled and deluded, than the belief that they can transgress natural laws and jump the penalty. Punishment for a violation of natural laws is just as certain as that the sun itself shines, and none can violate a law of his body, or any part of it, that there is not registered in him a SLIGHTLY MIXED.—Major General Joseph L. Bartlett is a native of Birmingham, and his military career from the period he left his home as a private in the twenty-seventh regiment, under the command of Colonel Slocum, until he won his present rank, was watched with peculiar pride and interest by his friends and neighbors. His recent appointment as minister to Stockholm furnishes the text of a good story. His brother, it must be remembered, is the Rev. William Alvin Bartlett of the Union Place Congregational Church, Brooklyn.—When the news of the General's appointment reached Birmingham, a party of his friends were collected together, among them was a blacksmith, prosperous and respected, who seemed puzzled by the announcement, as his comment thereon proves:

"Joe! Joe a minister! Why, Joe has no more religion than I have! Why didn't they send Bill?"

In 1856, Brazil had a population of 7,677,800, of which it was estimated that 2,000,000 were whites, 1,121,000 mixed free people, 800,000 civilized Indians, 600,000 mixed slave population, and 2,000,000 blacks, or African slaves. Thus it will be seen that five-sixths of the population are either negroes or persons of mixed blood, and two fifths of these are slaves.

The Union Pacific Railroad Co., Are now constructing a railroad from OMAHA, NEBRASKA, westward towards the Pacific Ocean, making with its connections an unbroken line ACROSS THE CONTINENT. The Company now offer a limited amount of FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS having thirty years to run, and bearing annual interest, payable on the first day of January and July, in the city of New York, at the rate of SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD.

NINETY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR. This road was completed from Omaha 305 miles west on the 1st of January, 1867, and is fully equipped, and trains are regularly running over it. The Company has now on hand sufficient iron, steel, etc., to finish the remaining portion to the eastern end of the Rocky Mountains, 212 miles, which is under contract to be done September 1st. of this year, and it is expected that the entire road will be in running order from Omaha to its western terminus, with the Union Pacific, now being rapidly built eastward from Sacramento, Cal., during 1867.

Means of the Company. Estimating the distance to be built by the Union Pacific to be 1,265 miles, the United States Government issues its Six per cent. Thirty-Year Bonds to the Company as the road is finished at the average rate of about $25,250 per mile, amounting to $41,200,000. The Company is also permitted to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an equal amount, and at the same time, with special act of Congress are made a first mortgage on the entire line, the bonds of the United States being subordinated to them.

The Government makes a donation of 12,500 acres of land, to the mile, amounting to 20,032,000, estimated to be worth $30,000,000 making the total resources, exclusive of the capital, $118,416,000; but the full value of the lands cannot now be realized. The authorized capital stock of the Company is one hundred million dollars, of which five millions have already been paid in, and of which it is not supposed that more than twenty-five millions at most will be required. The cost of the road is estimated by competent engineers to be about one hundred million dollars, exclusive of equipment.

Prospects for business. The railroad connection between Omaha and the East is now complete, and the workings of the Union Pacific on the sections already finished for the first two weeks in May were $113,000. These sectional earnings as the road progresses will much more than pay the interest on the Company's bonds, and the through business over the only line of railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific must be immense.

Value and Security of the Bonds. The Company respectfully submit, that the above statement of facts fully demonstrates the security of their Bonds, and as additional proof they would suggest that the Bonds offered are less than ten million dollars on 517 miles of road, on which over twenty million dollars have already been expended—on 330 miles of this road the cars are now running, and the remaining 187 miles are nearly completed. At the present rate of premium on 517 miles bonds pay an annual interest on the present cost of Nine Per Cent. and it is believed that on the completion of the road, like the Government Bonds, they will go above par. If the Company intend to sell but a limited amount at the present low rates and retain the right to advance the price at their option.
