JOHN PATTON : We are glad to find in a number of our Western Pennsylvania exchanges a very general satisfaction at the nomination of this gentleman for Congress in the Governor Bigler district. WIDE AWAKE ENCAMPMENT .-- It has been suggested that a grand State encampment of Wide Awakes be held during the campaign somewhere in Pennsylvania. We second the suggestion, and designate the Capital of the State as the place. Our city is centrally located and of easy access by railroad from all parts of the Commonwealth. Such a gathering would be an unique feature in political campaigns, and the blaze of fourty or fifty thousand torches concentrated in one mighty phalanx of light; would be likely to kindle a corresponding blaze of enthusiasm in the hearts of the Republicans assembled on the occasion, which, spreading over the State, would overleap all barriers and sweep thousand Wide Awakes, with their glit toring uniforms and blazing torches, would be a spectacle worth witnesing .-By all means let the demonstration be made.-Harrisburg Telegraph.

LINCOLN'S CABINET : We hear it rumored in political circles here, as coming from reliable Republican sources, that the following is to be the composition of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet, in case of his election: Wm.
