THE ELECTORAL VOTE. Abraham Lincoln Elected President.

In general, the election passed off very peaceably, and in a manner highly cred itable to the American neople. It is therefore with sincere regret that we notice the only outrage of moment that has thus far transpired, and it seems doubly censurable because committed in the capital of the Republic, where freedom of speech, without molestation. should be held peculiarly sucred. On the morning after the election a party of men violently entered the Republican wigwam in Washington, and broke up the furniture, besides destroying other property. Nine of the parties implicated are under arrest.

COLD COMFORT .--- The New York Tribune advises those Democrats abroad who have hopes of carrying New York, not to sit up late for the returns on election night. "On the contrary," says the Tribune, "we affectionately advise every mother's son of them to go home and go to bed sober and early. They will even then get returns quite as fast as they want them." It also says that there is not a single county in the State, west or north of Albany, that will not give Lincoln a majority; and nearly every one will give one worth having.

Dave Marsh of North Adams has dreamed the mystery of the coal oil business. He says they are sinking wells into a great whale that got lodged between the rocks at the time of the flood. and the reason they exhaust some wells is because they have dug through the whale. On being asked why the oil was coal instead of sperm, he had a horse to hitch up very suddenly and disappeared

Geo. Walch, residing about a mile from Wrightsville, shot a very large sized wild-cat on the river hills, near the "Roundton." It was chased up and treed by Mr. W.'s dog, and was killed by a discharge from a shot gun, five shot finding their way to its heart. Rather unusual game for this region.

S Mrs. Burch and Hon. Erastus Corning are in Chicago, ready to defend the divorce case. Seven-eighths of the people there (it is represented by her friends) are impressed with her entire gist. innocence. It coming to the ears of Mrs. Burch's attorney, last week, that Mr. Burch was stopping at a hotel in St. Louis, with a beautiful woman, spies were sent on there : it was discovered that the Mr. Burch was a wealthy and influential Chicago deacon, who had made free with Mr. Burch's name. The gentleman, to avoid exposure, paid $200 as hush money.

The sum realized from this sale is about $15,-000.

It is said that an effort is being made to induce Judge Taney to resign his place as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, that Mr. Buchanan may appoint his successor. The trouble is the old man can hardly live through Lincoln's administration-and it would be supremely awful for Lincoln to have such an appointment to make. N.P. Willis says of the Prince of Wales: He is a kindly-looking boybearing his honors with a beautiful mixture of modesty and conscious dignitybut with features and expression most singularly lovable and truthful. A face most absolutely good, and more frankly and fearlessly honest and unsuspecting, it would be difficult to find.

During the war of 1812 he was foremost in raising a volunteer company, (the "Marietta Greys," stationed at Marcus Hook in 1814,) of which he was unanimously elected Captain-which cost no little sacrifice of pecuniary means, time and comfort.† In 1813 he also added 175 lots to our Borough, at its east end. For several years from 1841, he took a deep interest and active part in the l'emperance cause as advocated and car ried forward by the Washingtonians; and from 1823 to the close of life was known throughout his denomination as a liberal and steadfast member of the Universalist church.

For the last 9 years he lived retired from public life, but still gave his personal supervision in the lumber yard in connection with his two sons-the sole survivors of his family of 7 children.-His interest in politics and religion was also continued, by reading much and conversing freely, with his usual mental power and clearness, on all the current topics of the day. What is more fearful than the breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitea-ble or nervous in a small degree is most dis-tractions of the second seco tressing, for where can a remedy be found i-There is one :--drink but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better, none; take no coffee,--weak tea being preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take tree or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoiding the use of slops; and if these goldon rules are followed, you will be happy in mind and strong in body, and forget you have any nerves.

THE NEXT CONGRESS .- The election of Lincoln and Hamlin being conceded, the attention of politicians is directed to the probable complexion of the next House of Representatives. Elections have been held for Congressmen in nineteen States, and the result is such as to confirm us in the belief that both branches of Congress will be in the control of the anti-Republicans. Whether this majority, composed, as it is, of followers of Douglas. Bell. and Breckinridge, can be efficiently controlled or not, is a secondary matter of speculation. In New York the Republicans lose five Congressmen, and gain one in the election of Mr. Conklin over John Cochrane. In New Jersey they lose one by the defeat of Mr. Pennington, the Speaker of the present House. The defeat of Anson Burlingame in Boston is confirmed. Enough is known to place the next House in the hands of the anti-Republicans by a decisive majority .-... The Press.
