SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1861.

THE EX-PRESIDENT: We clip the following extract from a special dispatch to the Philadelphia Sunday Atlas: The G. H. O. P. F. is said to be very rich, having made a vast deal of money while in England and since he has been at Washington city, but notwithstanding is very niggardly and close-fisted. Speaking of his meanness in money matters, I must tell you some things about the G. H. O. P. F. It is reported here, (Lancaster) upon good authority, that he brought with him from Washington, on the 5th of March, of his salary as President, $80,000, all in $20 gold pieces, which he is investing as fast as he can, in small sums, on farms, for which he insists upon having judgment bonds. He prefers small securities, so that the loss of one will not much diminish his hoarded wealth. The older he grows the more miserly does he become. His Presidential salary yet uninvested he keeps in gold, $20 pieces, under his bed. The bags are sealed, and he counts them nightly before retiring; and if he happens to be suddenly awakened in his sleep, (an occurrence not very uncommon for a bad-hearted man with an uneasy conscience) he springs from his bed, clutches his gold, strikes a light, and, with tremulous anxiety, counts and re-counts it. He has been hunting of late around among the farmers for some one to give him a "ferocious house dog," with which he swears he will "keep off those who want his gold." He is really an object of pity, forsaken, forlorn and despondent. With the exception of our friend Carpenter, who hunts up investments for him; the good father Keenan; McAvoy, the contractor; and Frank, the keeper of a lager beer saloon, he has scarcely a visitor, or companion. The codfish aristocracy to which he has devoted his life in servile toadyism, treat him with indifference and contempt. With an old stump of cigar in his mouth, he walks the streets of Lancaster, unnoticed and uncared for.

*G. H. O. P. F. means "gray-haired old public functionary," and is what he called himself in his protest against the Congressional Investigating Committee.

SUPPOSED HYDROPHOBIA: Mrs. Young, living in "Whisky Lane," East Orange, was bitten by a large Newfoundland dog last week. The dog had first killed two geese, and on Mrs. Y. attempting to drive him away, flew at her throat. She kept him off, but in doing so had a large piece bitten out of her arm. The animal has since been killed. It is feared that he was mad, and that serious effects may result from the bite. Mrs. Young is at present under medical treatment.

Chelsea, near Boston, Mass., there is an Inspector of Milk, whose recent annual report states, that sixty-four analyses showed pure milk and thirty-two exhibited proofs of adulteration. Sugar, salt and water, were the substances used in the adulteration.

Mr. L. Grotgutte, residing in Albany, was with his infant child severely bitten by a rat which, while Mr. G. was endeavoring to kill sprang into the cradle with the infant. It is feared that the wound upon the child will prove fatal.

According to the National Republican, the P. T. Herbert who is working to get Arizona out of the Union is the ex-member of Congress from California, who killed an Irish waiter at Willard's Hotel, in Washington, five years ago.

Samuel Cooper, ex-Adjutant General U. S. Army, appointed Brigadier General, commanding the provisional army of the Southern Confederacy, though the brother-in-law of Senator Mason, was born in Massachusetts.

Mr. Faulkner, the American Minister to France, who has resigned, has taken his passage for the United States for the first week in April. His family remain awhile longer in Paris.

Mrs. Veronica Knauer, a young married woman, hanged herself in New Orleans, on Saturday, because her husband had chastised her for infidelity.

A Texas paper says Gov. Houston is worth $150,000. He has made a return to the assessors of upwards of $81,000.

It is rumored that Gov. Wise is preparing a five days' speech, to be delivered in the Convention.

THE LATE BURNING OF THE MAHS.—The late accident on the Pennsylvania Railroad, through which the mails were destroyed, proved a perfect windfall to the youth of Huntingdon. Scores of them crowded to the scene of the disaster, and snatched up everything of value which they could find. One found a letter containing nine one dollar bills; another, a lump of gold dollars; some five, ten and twenty dollar pieces; and a large amount of silver coins were found, most of which were half melted, or very much blackened. A colored boy was the finder of a check on a Philadelphia Bank for $1,000; another individual scraped up part of a gold watch, the heat having melted the balance. Besides these, several small particles of gold were picked up, so that nearly everybody present got something for his trouble.

THE MISSING FOUND.—Several months since Thomas Ilgenfritz, of York, ascended from home. Nothing was heard of his whereabouts until a few evenings ago, when two men discovered a dead body in the Codorus creek, near York. The corpse was in nearly an erect position, the legs having been inserted and held stationary in the mud at the bottom of the stream, while the head was barely covered with water. On rescuing the body from its watery grave the Coroner summoned a jury who rendered a verdict in keeping with the circumstances of the death. A son of Mr. Ilgenfritz testified that the corpse was his father; and although the features were distorted, other persons perceived marks of recognition.

DEATH FROM THE BITE OF A CAT.—In Toronto, C. W., on Sunday week, a cat entered Trinity Church during service, and got into one of the pews, where it bit a Miss Goderham on the hand. The animal was subsequently caught by the sexton, Mr. Mulligan who regarded his wounds as trifling, and paid no attention to them. A few days afterwards his hand and arm began to swell in a fearful manner, and although physicians were at once called in, their skill was of no avail, and the man died in great agony. Miss Goderham was also very ill at last accounts, but hopes were entertained of her recovery.

The Postmaster General has issued orders for a supply of letter paper to be cut, gummed, and embossed, with a three cent postage stamp, combining in one both letter-sheet and envelope. This sheet will be about half the size of the old-fashioned letter paper, so folded and cut as to furnish a neat and convenient prepaid letter of only about half the weight of those now in use with an envelope. Orders have also been sent for similar sheets, letter size. The use of envelopes has often been objected to by legal gentlemen, as the post office stamp is often the only conclusive evidence of the time when a letter may have been mailed. There can be little doubt that the new system will almost entirely supersede the old, so far as business letters are concerned.

One expression of Andrew Johnson's deserves to be everywhere remembered. In referring to the seceding members of the Cabinet, he said: "Cobb remained in the Cabinet until the treasury was bankrupt and the national credit disgraced at home and abroad, and then he conscientiously seceded; Thompson stayed in until the poor Indians were robbed out of a large portion of their patrimony, and then he conscientiously seceded; and Floyd, more honest than the rest, waited until he and his friends had taken some eight millions of public and private money, and then, he, pious soul, conscientiously seceded too."

The late Mrs. Winans, wife of the owner of the famous cigar steamship of Baltimore, had for years been in the habit of distributing from $25,000 to $30,000 annually among the poor. At the period of her death she was supplying some seventy to eighty indigent families. It was touching in the extreme to behold these sorrow stricken dependents cluster in and around the church at the funeral and follow in the cortege.

Not half the voters of Texas voted on Secession. Many dared not vote—and the time was so short that many could not, while thousands voted under the excitement of falsehood. There is a strong Union feeling there, among the Germans of the interior especially.

The Hon. George W. Scranton, a republican member of the late and re-elected to the next Congress, died at Scranton, in this State, on the 24th inst. He was the founder of the town of Scranton, and was largely engaged in the iron and coal business.

Three men and their wives recently got into a fight near the limekiln in Yardville, N. J., and getting all clinched together, they fell into the kiln and were burned to death.

The Charlestonians recently wanted a Unitarian minister who would preach secession, but after various efforts were compelled to take a Methodist.

A woman in Charleston, S. C., a few nights ago, had three children at a birth. Charleston continues to be a port of delivery.

THE FORTS: There is nothing new concerning Fort Sumpter or Pickens. The President and his Cabinet are as still as mice, and correspondents are sorely perplexed in consequence. The latest version of the orders to the Brooklyn are simply to land provisions and fuel, but should these be resisted by the confederates, then the troops were to be thrown into the fort, and the assault of the "enemy" returned.

With regard to Sumpter, it now appears that the reinforcement of the fort is actually under consideration, as the project, despite General Scott and Maj. Anderson's opinions is declared by other military authorities to be feasible.

The secessionists in the Old Dominion are making extensive preparations for a great meeting on the 16th, at Richmond. Private and reliable advices from thence represent the disunion feeling as on the increase.

"The Pennsylvania" newspaper expired on Tuesday last, after a lingering illness of four years, induced by partaking of and attempting to digest the enormous frauds and corruptions of the administration of James Buchanan. For more than forty years the Pennsylvania was the leading organ of the Democratic party of Philadelphia. James Gordon Bennett and the lamented Joseph C. Neal, were among its earliest conductors, while such men as Charles Jared Ingersoll, Judge Sharswood, and others eminent for their attainments and abilities, were successively connected with its columns as editors and contributors. In its old age it passed into the control of an corrupt cabal as ever disgraced politics or degraded the editorial fraternity—and its dissolution seems to be a fitting close to the excesses it has advocated and defended for the last five years. Peace to its ashes! May we never look upon its like again.

Col. Ford, of the Texan army, has received reliable information from Matamoros to the effect that Gen. Ampudia, with 3000 Mexicans, is marching upon Brownsville, and was then only sixty miles off. Gen. Ampudia had announced his progress by dispatching expressos to distribute placards and handbills announcing that "Texas rightfully belonged to Mexico. She has declared that she will no longer support the federal government, and now is the time to retake her."

The body of Vantile Mack, the celebrated Fat Boy, who died at New York while exhibiting at Barnum's Museum, passed through Pittsburg, on the 14th, by railroad. It was marked, "Agent Ohio Fat Boy, Darlington Pa.," and was described on the bill of lading as follows: "One Fat Boy—dead, Double first-class freight. Weight, 600 pounds. Freight, $2 50."

The ultramontane Paris paper, l'Univers states that "the last hours of Lola Montez were softened by the presence of Madame Buchanan, wife of the President of the United States." That is about as good as the information, which, some years ago, the celebrated Revue des Deux Mondes gave to its readers, stating that a negro, called Banks, had been elected Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Boteler, of Virginia, comes back from Virginia to Washington in good spirits, and is satisfied that in the end all will be right in the Old Dominion, notwithstanding the immense efforts of the secessionists at Petersburg, Richmond and elsewhere. Senator Douglas is also satisfied that all will end peacefully, or without civil war. Mr. Lincoln, he says, means peace.

The venerable Mrs. Harper, daughter of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, who died in Baltimore some time since, was present as a child when Washington resigned his commission at Annapolis. Her picture may be seen as one of the two Auburn haired girls in Col. Trumbull's painting in the rotunda of the national capitol at Washington.

NEWS IN BRIEF. A Lafayette drayman became intoxicated the other day, laid down on his dray-load, and went to sleep. His horse started off, and went eleven miles unconscious of the driver, and when the latter awoke, he found himself in utter darkness. The road was a very rugged one, the horse was blind, and at one or two points crossed the railroad track. The team and driver arrived home safely in due season.

The Hon. C. A. Wickliffe addressed the citizens of Nelson county, Ky., on last Monday. He said he was opposed to coercion, and that he indulged the Peace Congress resolutions. HOLLOWAY'S FACTS THAT SHOULD BE KNOWN. Coughs, Colds, Asthma. How frequently have we not heard people exclaim "I would give ten dollars, $50, or a $100, as the case may be, were I but rid of this cough—this cold—this asthma, &c." Yet how preposterous to talk in this style—granted, even that they have consulted medical men, without success, that does not imply that they are incurable—else would thousands, abandoned as past hope, be left to the harrowing tortures of despair—the question lies in this, have they tried Holloway's Pills and Ointment—have they tried, or put in practice the plain directions enveloping each box or pot—if not, we urge an immediate trial and feel assured they will find the cure they are so anxious for.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Mark these facts! The testimony of the whole world! All description of sores are remediable by the proper and diligent use of this inestimable preparation. To attempt to cure bad legs by plastering the edges of the wound together is a folly; for should the skin unite, a boggy disordered condition remains underneath to break out with tenfold fury in a few days. The only rational and successful treatment, as indicated by nature, is to reduce the inflammation in and about the wound and to soothe the neighboring parts by rubbing in plenty of the Ointment as salt is forced into meat. Dipteria, Ulcerated Sore Throat, and Scarlet and other Fevers. Any of the above diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment three times a day into the chest, throat and neck of the patient; it will soon penetrate, and give immediate relief. Medicine taken by the mouth must operate upon the whole system ere its influence can be felt in any local part, whereas the Ointment will do its work at once. Whoever tries the unguent in the above manner for the diseases named, or any similar disorders affecting the chest and throat, will find themselves relieved as by a charm.

Piles, Fistulas, Strictures. The above class of complaints will be removed by nightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and then by most effectually rubbing in the Ointment. Persons suffering from these direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress. It should be understood that it is not sufficient merely to smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be well rubbed in for some considerable time two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectually as though palpable to the eye. There again bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only sure treatment for female cases of cancer in the stomach, or where there may be a general bearing down.

Indiscretions of Youth; Sores and Ulcers. Blanches, as also swellings, can, with certainty, be radically cured if the Ointment be used freely, and the Pills be taken night and morning as recommended in the printed instructions. When treated in any other way they only dry up in one place to break out in another; whereas this Ointment will remove the humor from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy being. It will require time with the use of the Pills to ensure a lasting cure.

Dropsical Swellings, Paralysis and Stiff Joints. Although the above complaints differ widely in their origin and nature, yet they all require local treatment. Many of the most distressing cases of such diseases will yield in a comparatively short space of time when this Ointment is diligently rubbed into the parts affected, even after every other means have failed. In all serious maladies the Pills should be taken according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bad Legs, Chiefo-foot, Fistulas, Bad Breasts, Chilblains, Gout, Burns, Chapped Hands, Glanular Corns (Soft), Bunions, Swellings, Bite of Mosquitoes, Cancers, Lumbago, Contracted and Piles, Sand-Flies, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Elephantiasis, Scalds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Tumors, Ulcers, Scrofula, Wounds, Yaws, Sore-heads.

CAUTION!—None are genuine unless the words "HOLLOWAY, NEW YORK AND LONDON," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions, around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines of vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

Sold at the Manufactory of Professor Holloway, 50 Maiden Lane, New York and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the civilized world, in pots, at 25c., 62c., and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. X. H.—Directions for the guidance of patients, in every disorder, are affixed to each box.
