BY FINLEY JOHNSON Though clouds of sorrow lower, Let not reproach find vent, But midst the darkness and the gloom Learn thou to be content. And with firm, unwavering faith, Hope's bright sunshine borrow; And recollect though dark to-day, It may be fair to-morrow.

And give not way to vain regret, It is no balm for woe; It cannot close the hidden spring, From whence thy sorrow flow. Forget not that afflictions deep Are oft from heaven sent By God, to teach unto his flock A lesson of content.

Then in thy journey through this life, If trials you should meet, If sorrow's thorns are strewn along Beneath your very feet; Look up, look up, above this earth, To heaven's starry scope, And pray that pure and steadfast faith May warm your soul with hope.

Then bend thou not beneath the load. Nor at thy lot repine; But let sweet faith around thy heart, Her softening fetters twine. Let holy feeling of content, Repose within thy breast; Murmur not at Heaven's decree;

And leave to God the rest. THE GAMING TABLE.

On Bonaparte's first nomination to the army of Italy, the Directory is said to have been unable or unwilling to supply him the money necessary for a journey of himself and his aid-de-camp to the spot and their suitable appearance at the head quarters of a considerable force. In this emergency, after collecting all that his resources, the contributions of his friends, and his credit could mustar, he is reported to have applied to Junot, a young officer whom he knew to be in the habit of frequenting the gaming-tables, and confiding to him all the money he had been able to raise, no great sum, to have directed him either to loose the whole or increase it to a considerable amount before morning, as on his success that night at play depended the possibillity of his taking the command of the arm, and appointing Junot aid-decamp. Junot, after succeeding beyond his expectations in wining to an amount in his judgment equal to the exigencies of his employer, hastened to inform Gen. Rers, Tongs, Candlesticks, Pans, Waiters, Copper and Brass Kettles, Door, Desk, Pad and all other kind of Locks, Nails, Spikes and in fact everything usually kept in a well regulated Hardware establishment.

> On Friday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, as Mr. Wm. A. Christman was sitting at a table in the second story room of the Mercantile Library reading room, near the Librarian's desk, he suddenly fell back in his chair in a severe and dangerous attack of illness. Assistance was immediately rendered by the Librarian and his assistants, and several physicians happening to be about, rendered medical assistance, but all in vain. Mr. Christman lived but about fifteen minutes after the first attack. When first examined his pulse had apparently ceased. A few minutes after he had been laid out on the floor dead, his wife entered the library, where he had been might go together to visit the Academy of Natural Sciences. The decease resided in Franklin street, above Brown, and is supposed to have died of heart disease. A few days ago, while playing chess at one of the tables in the third story of the Mercantile Library, he was suddenly attacked, and was seriously ill for a short time, but recovered and went on with his play. He was about thirtysix years of age. The event created a great excitement in the library, happening just about the time when the heavy influx of lady visitors usually commences every day .- Philadelphia North Amer-

A learned Brahmin, the principal of Calcutta San serit College, is earnestly engaged in redeeming the condition of the widows, by introducing the system of marriage.

A "STAR" ACTRESS SUES .-- Mrs. Lucy Ann McMahon, who several years ago acquired much notoriety in the theatrical world by her petulant attempts to convince the incredulous public of her surpassing histrionic abilities, recovered $200 with interest, last week, from John Bates, manager of the National Theatre, Cincinnati, for breach of contract. The waiting to meet her, in order that they defence set up was that Mrs. McMahon was not a competent actress, and that the manager was misled by newspaper criticisms sent to him by the actress-an assertion which the latter denied. In support of the manager's theory a number of theatrical performers were called, and generally testified that she was the worst star she ever saw. The plaintiff rebutted this disparagement of her professional excellence by the depositions of a number of New York lawyers, merchants and dramatic amateurs, who spoke in high terms of her acting. One of the witnesses in the case, Mr. Shires, testified that the lady could make a splendid stump speech, and that of itself should attract full bouses.

A CURIOUS LEGAL PROCEEDING.-The Supreme Court, now in session in Philaafterwards concluded to split it up for kindling wood, in doing which the owner discovered a concealed deposit, amounting to $3,754, in specie and notes. He immediately notified the administrator of the discovery, and the result was a suit to determine the rightful ownership of the money. The Luzerne court decided in favor of the administrator, from which the finder appealed to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court has, however, affirmed the judgement of the court below. The defendant will therefore be obliged to pay the money so found to the administrator.

CROSSING THE SUSQUEUANNA.—The Delaware Gazette says that on Monday the engines on the passenger trains of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad commenced running through from Philadelphia to Baltimore and back again. Heretofore the engine from Philadelphia took the train only to the Susquehanna, when the passengers were transferred to another train at Havre de Grace, and a different engine hauled them to Baltimore. Now the engine, mail, baggage and sleeping car are all run on the boat and carried over in the same way. This will be a saving of one engine to each train on the road, and a great saving of time in crossing the FUNERAL DEAD HEADS.—The custom of attending funerals for the purpose of getting a gratuitous carriage ride, and or enjoying one's self in "a promiscuous manner generally," has become so annoying and scandalous in Cincinnati, that several beneficial societies of that city have adopted resolutions not to attend funerals unless the number of "mourners" is restricted to the immediate family and friends of the deceased.
