

Impartial --- but not Neutral."

Marietta, Pa.

SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1861.

Mr. Stephens who only five months ago declared that "ours was the best government under heaven," and who has since gone over body, breeches, and soul, if he have the latter, now declares just the contrary. In a late speech says he finds God is on his side, and that while the South fights for the usual wives and children home-and-alter business, the North "fights for money." We presume, accordingly, that Southern wives and children, home and altars are in customhouses, mints, and forts-for they are what the Government designs to retake. Not a Southern parlor, kitchen, mother, child, church, or bloodhound, does the Government thirst to annihilate, Mr. Stephens to the contrary notwithstand-

A Battalion is smaller than a Regiment-say two or four companiesand is commanded by a major. A Regiment is composed of ten companies, and is commanded by a colonel; it has also a Lieutenant colonel and a major. A Brigade is composed of two or more regiments, and is commanded by a brigadier general. A Division is composed of two ton correspondent states that he saw him or more brigades, and is commanded by a major-general. Lieutenant-general is the barracks. an office created in honor of Gen. Scott, after the war with Mexico, and is, in this country, peculiar to him only.

The printers of New York city are joining in for the war quite enthusiastically. Six have gone from the Times office, six from the News, twelve from the Tribune, twenty-three from the World. eight from the Herald, six from the Express, eight from Harper's, six from the German dailies, and eight or ten from the Journal of Commerce and Courier .-These make a total of eighty five. All told, about two hundred members of the craft have enlisted for the campaign.

Mr. Mortimer Thomson, better known as "Doesticks," was married by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, to Miss Grace Eldredge, eldest daughter of Fanny Fern. NEWS IN BRIEF.

A leading mercantile house in Philadelphia, which has done much and paid liberally to stand well with the South, lately received a letter from a debtor in Louisiana in these terms :- "Our note to you for $10,000, due this day, will not be paid. We have lent the money to the Confederate States, and you may go

Gen. Leslie Combs, of Kentucky, in he whirlpool of excitement following the capture of Fort Sumter, declared that Kentucky was sound, and all that he asked to prove it was, that his neighbors on the other side of the river would commit no act of hostility against her citizens. Do this, he says, "and we will give treason such a rebuke in Old Kentucky, that it will never again dare raise its hideous head among us.

The lighting of a segar caused the dreadful explosion of the oil well near Titusville, Pa., which killed 15 or 20 persons, burned many others, and become a small volcano. Mr. Rouse, one of the victims, was last year a member of the Legislature, and leaves by will $50,000 to the poor of Warren county.

Mr. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal. writes to his brother in Washington, expressing the opinion that Kentucky will go out of the Union, and asserts his determination to die in his track before he will surrender his position as a Union man or desert his business.

Major Anderson has gone to Kentucky to take command of the loyal regiments organised and organising in that State. His presence is expected to increase the patriotic feeling there. It will no doubt have a good effect.

His name was so frequently mentioned during the Baltimore massacre, as among the instigators and supporters of that atrocious event, that we hope he will be brought to an account.

The testimony furnished by eye-witnesses is daily increasing as to the fact finding he had fallen among enemies, diseases than drugs."—Prof. Clark "A sponge that the slaughter among the rebel troops during the attack on Fort Sumter, was extensive. In killing alone, two hundred would be a moderate estimate. The dead were brought to Charleston in the dead of night, and carried off in closely-covered wagons. The first shot from Sumter against Moultrie, entered an embrasure, dismounted one of the largest guns, scattered the splinters in every direction, and killed over thirty men, beside wounding many.

The enrolled militia of Ohio numbers 300,000 men, and the retired force, still capable of doing duty, numbers 200,000. General Carrington's order enrolls these five hundred thousand men into a home army. All this vast host of men can be made overpoweringly efficient, should the emergency require them. One-half at least of the number would regularly take the field at very short notice.

Col. Jones writes to the Soldier's Aid Association of Lowell, Mass., "Spend no money on revolvers, as the men are weaker with than without them, as any army officer will explain to you. Do not send them to any but commissioned officers." Col. Jones is undoubtedly correct. A man will be much more efficient without than with a revolver, by relying solely upon his musket or rifle.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin have enlisted in a new military company. Chief Justice Dixon heads the list, and will probably take command of the company. The list comprises, besides the Judges, the Secretary of the State, Treasurer, Bank Controller, and many of the most prominent citizens of the capital. So says a dispatch.

Col. Baker, the gallant Senator from Oregon, and veteran of the Mexican war, is now in New-York, arming and equipping the regiment of Californians in that city, by order of the Governmen. The regiment is now in camp awaiting marching orders. When the day of action is on hand, this regiment will be distinctly heard from.

CARL SCHURZ, the celebrated German orator of the West and lately appointed to Spain, has gone home to organize a regiment of a thousand hussars, all to be men who are already drilled to move at a day's notice, having served in Eu-Botts of Va., and John J. > WHAT IS MARTIAL LAW?-At the present crisis the significance of a term so sense of its meaning, becomes unusually important.

> Bouvier defines martial law as "a code established for the government of the army and navy of the United States," whose principal rules are to be found in the articles of war, prescribed by act of Congress. But Chancellor Kent says this distinction applies only to military law, while martial law is quite a distinct thing, and is founded on parmount necessity, and proclaimed by a military

Martial law is generally and vaguelyheld to be a suspension of all ordinary civil rights and process,-and, as such, approximates very closely to a military despotism.

It is an arbitrary law originated in emergencies. In time of extreme peril of the State, either from without or from within, the public welfare demands extraordinary measures. And martial law being proclaimed, signifies that the operation of the ordinary legal delays of er, which has for the time become supreme.

It suspends the operation of the writ ed with treason to be summarily tried by Court Martial instead of grand jury ; jusercise of sovereignty, it is of course capable of great abuse, and is only to be justified in emergencies of the most imperative and perilous nature.

COMMODORE CHARLES STEWART WAS born in 1778, entered the navy in 1798. and became captain in 1806, his only promotion in 63 years. In 1800, during the French war, he fought three engagements against superior forces, and in each instance captured his adversary. He also re-took four captured American vessels. In 1801, during the war with Tripoli, he took a vessel of 14 guns. His famous cruise in the Constitution during the war of 1812, when he captured the Cyane and Levant, is well known to every and recommend it to all who need a pleasant school boy. It was at this time he acquired the name of "Old Ironsides." Although 84 years, he is anxious to take an active part in sustaining the govern. Art. The testimonials are of the first characment, and in answer to a friend, a few days since, who remarked, "Commodore, don't you wish you were a younger man so you could take part in the present struggle ?" he exclaimed with vigor and animation, "I am young as ever to fight for my country, and only wish they would give me a chance."

HOW TO MAKE AN AMERICAN FLAG. Few persons know how to make an American flag properly. The rule is as follows: The flag should be one half longer than wide .- The stripes should be alternately red and white, seven red and six white,top and bottom both being red. The field should be blue, and extend over seven stripes, commencing at the top four red and three white. The stars signifying the number of States should be white, arranged on the blue field. We have seen many flags with thirty-four | Foley Frank Esq stars, which is not correct, as by act of Congress the additional star is not added | Geiger George to the flag untill the Fourth of July succeeding the admission of the new State.

One of the Massachusetts volunteers, when in Philadelphia, was asked what he thought of the threat of the Cotton States to plant the Confederate flag upon Fanueil Hall. He replied, "Let them come and try it—we'll send them back to their friends in the shape of bone buttons."

Col. Anderson, of Sumpter, is understood to have authority to raise and command the Union volunteers of Kentucky and Western Virginia.
