LIVER COMPLAINT, WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND, FEVER AND ACUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER,

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Neavous, Rhenmatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Bechave. Its reputation at home produced its introduction here, the demand commencing with those of the Fatherland scattered over the face of this mighty country, many of whom brought with them and handed down the tradition of its value. It is mon affired to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons must be acknowledged.

It, is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, if finds its way directly to the reat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system. NOTICE—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

READ CAREFULLY! The Genuine highly concentrated Brerhave's Holland Bitters is put min half-pint bottles only, and retailed at Oke Dollar per bottle, or six bottles for Five Bollars. The great demand for this truly celebrated Medicine has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing.

Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 21st, 1858.

Prof. Wood: Thee willt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A confineal course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for case, neither have I been able to do dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Birges & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short, it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send re an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture

Thy friend, Susannah Kirby.
Ligonier Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5, 1859.
Prop. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir:—In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining por-tion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my mere casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skill-ful physician in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars? worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy. As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect.

Up with the Union Flag! Up with the Flag of the Free! Down with the traitorous rag, The serpent-twined Palmetto tree

-Who would the Union sever? Disgrace and dishonor and shame, A stain on our annals forever, Shall cling round his leprous name.

Up with the People's standard! Unfurled for the Rights of All. Ho! Patriots press to the vanguard, The first at your Country's call.

While a planet still lingers in heaven, A leaf clings to Liberty's tree, Shall no stripe from our banner be riven, No star from the Flag of the Free! Washington City, D. C. April 10, 1861.

LIB'S MEDITATIONS.

Kneeling and Rocking the Cradle. What is the little one thinking about! Very wonderful things, no doubt, Unwritten history!

Unfathomable mystery! Yet he laughs and cries, and eats, and drinks. And chuckles, and crows, and nods, and winks, As if his head were as full of kinks And curious riddles as any spynx!

Warped by cholic, and wet by tears, Punctured by pins and tortured by fears, Our little nephew will loose two years; And he'll never know Where the summers go-He need not laugh, for he'll find it so! Who can tell what a baby thinks?

Who can follow the gossamer links, By which the mantkin feels his way Out from the shore of the great unknown. Blind and wailing, and alone, Into the light of day ?--What does he think of his mother's eyes?

What does he think of his mother's hair? What of the cradle roof that flies Forward and backward through the air? What does he think of his mother's breast-Cup of his life and couch of his rest? What does he think when her quick embrace Presses his hand and buries his face, Deep where the heart throbs sink and swell With a tenderness she can never tell,

Though she murmurs the words

Of all the birds— Words she has learned to murmer well? Now he thinks he'll go to sleep! I can see the shadow creep Over his eyes, in soft eclipse, Over his brow, and over his lips, Out to his little finger-tips! Softly sinking down he goes! Down he goes! Down he goes! [Rising and carefully retreating to her seat.]

Popping the Question.

See! He is hushed in sweet repose!

Lord Justice-Clerk Braxfield was man of few words and strong business habits. In courting his second wife, his precedure was entirely illustrative of the peculiarities of his character. Calling for the lady, he said to her, without preliminary remark, "Lizzie, I am looking out for a wife, and I thought you just that the person that would suit me. Let me have your answer, off or on, the morn, and nae mair about it." The lady next day replied in the affirmative.

Perhaps he repented his precipitancy, for when a butler gave warning on account of Mrs. Braxfield's scolding propensities, the Judge replied:

"Lord, mon, ye've little to complain o'; ye may be thankfu' ye're no married

The late Professor D-was, prior to his appointment to his chair, rector of an academy in Forfarshire. He was particularly reserved in his intercourse with the fair sex; but, in prospect of obtaining a professorship, he ventured to make proposals to a lady. They were walking together, and the important question was put without preliminary sentiment or note of warning. Of course the lady replied by a gentle "No!"-The subject was immediately dropped; but the parties soon met again. "Do you remember," at length said the lady, "a question which you put to me when we last met?" The Professor said that he remembered. "And do you remember my answer, Mr. D-?" "O yes," said the Professor. "Well, Mr. D____, proceeded the lady, "I have been led, on consideration, to change my mind."-"And so have I," drily responded the Professor. He maintained his bachelortrations of Scottish Character."

What is the Price?

"You are going to enter into the and an application. good to be kept private. It was sent by matrimonial state, are you Mr. Brown? session of an angel?

Yes, but angels cost money. Did it ever occur to you what an expensive of a chap who helped his own wife at the article your fashionable young wife was likely to prove? Bless your unsophisthan you have of the price of onions or the market value of a wash-tub. You'll find out one day, however-to your grief. -

Two or three stout Irish girls to wait on her-a French maid to arrange her hair fifty dollar silks and camel's hair shawls to make her female friends envious, and half a dozen bonnets per annum-white kid gloves and silver card cases—otto of roses and bouquet- | are all taken," said Jem, "that will make holders-why, you deluded young man, the car-go. she'll throw money out with her ringed and lily-white fingers faster by the bushel, than you can shovel it in with a spade! You don't believe it? Let us make a rough estimate, then of what she will cost in full promenade custume.

Bonnet (a love of a thing, the sweetest white chip, and such a bargain) fifteen dollars. India shawl (of course you wont be such a brate as to expect your wife to wear common cashmere or broche just like the the butcher's better half) only seventy-five, the cheapest thing in New York? Dress, an eleven-flounced silk, forty-five dollars, including the trimmings and the poorly paid labor of the hollow-cheeked dress-maker; Valenciennes collars and sleeves, at twenty. five; cunning little heeled gaiter boots three; gloves, one; Etruscan bracelet. fifty, (you expect your wife to dress like other women, don't you? and everybody has Etruscan bracelets;) brooch and earrings in Italion cameo, thirty; card cases, twenty; a "duck" of a Chantilly veil, ten; embroidered hankerchief. eight; lace parasol, lined with lavender silk, ten; crinoline, three; and other 'belongings' lace-edged and sumptuosly decorated, about ten, as near as a body can venture to guess. Now all this is an exceeding moderate assessment-there your angel, in the simple matter of plumage for this one occasion, costs you about it? Yes, and when the bills come in you will remember our words of warning! You're doing a remarkably foolish thing when you marry oue of these camelia-japenica divinities, whitehanded, helpless, and knowing just about as much of real life, every-day life, as a canary bird might be expected to understand. If we were a man, we should as soon think of marrying a frail hot-house plant, as one of these delicate springs of the ornamental. Give us the apple blossom type of women, sunny, cheerful and usefulsomething equal to every emergency. from washing day to a Fifth avenue soiree-something that understands the handling of a broom, and knows what the kitchen poker is made for, and can calculate to a nicity the exact amount of mince meat requisit in a model pie, besides liking a bit of fun as well as the next woman, and possessing a pretty weakness for lively books and spicy newspapers! That's the article for our money.

A wife who would select gingham instead of silk, when she went shopping, and freshen up her old bonnet with a bunch of satin violets and a new ribbon instead of paying an extravagant price for the latest Paris footeries, not because she hadn't a woman's natural penchant for such things, but because she wanted to save money-because her little head was full of schemes some day to contribute something toward releasing her husband from the bondage and drudgery of desk or counter(lin, Do. you suppose the value of such a wife can be counted in gold pieces? Let your satin robed doll sweep contemptuously past her on Broadway, Mr. Brown-time will prove which is the best instrument.

Only; before you purchase the useless ewled toy, think twice about it. Ask yourself soberly and reasonably, " What is the price?" and "can I afford it?" or. it may be the dearest bargain you ever made in your life ?-Life Illustrated.

Love of the Wonderful .- What strong pleasure is there with mankind, or what do they earlier learn or longerretain, than the love of hearing and relating things strange and incredible,-How wonderful a thing is the love of wondering and of raising wonder! 'Tis the delight of children to hear tales they shiver at, and the vice of old men to abound in strange stories of times past. We come into the world wondering at every thing; and when our wonder about common things is over, we seek something new to wonder at. Our last scene is to tell wonders of our own, to all who will believe them. And amid all this, 'tis well if truth comes off but moderately tainted.

When Lieutenant Governor Patterson was Speaker of the Massachusetts: Legislature, some dozen boya presented: themselves for the place of messenger, as is usual at the opening of the House.; He inquired their names, and into their; condition, in order that he might make; the proper selection. "No, sir," replied the lad, stretching; himself to his utmost proportions, but I would if I had been there." "You can be one of the messengers,"
