

Impartial—but not Neutral.

Marietta, Pa.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1861.

THE PINE AND PALM: This is the title of a weekly journal devoted to the interests of the colored races in America, and published in Boston, by James Redpath...

There are some planks in its platform that we regard as unsound, and on which we could not think of placing our editorial foot; but, after the objectionable material is all discarded, there will be more than enough left on which to build a magnificent superstructure...

Accompanying 'The Pine and Palm' was a Supplement, containing the popular lecture of WENDELL PHILLIPS, on Toussaint l'Ouverture, the first of the blacks, with whose magnanimity and heroism every one ought to be acquainted...

REMOVAL OF THE CAPITAL.—The Montgomery Mail strongly opposes the removal of the confederate Capital to Richmond, speaking of it as "an unwise expedient," calculated "to bring the secession movement and Government into ridicule..."

THE TOMB OF WASHINGTON.—A peace deputation from Washington visited Mount Vernon a few days ago, to ascertain by personal inspection whether the remains of Washington had been removed from their resting place as reported...

A writ of habeas corpus in the case of John Merriman, was issued by Judge Tappan, of the United States District Court, at New York...

LETTER FROM A MARIETTIAN IN THE WEST.

PONTIAC, May 13, 1861. Dear Sir: I see by your paper of the 4th inst., that the old town of Marietta has only raised one company of 84 men for the work*...

There is rain now and has been for two days—the roads are almost impassable.

A ROYAL MARRIAGE.—The forthcoming union between the Princess Alice, second daughter of Queen Victoria, and Prince Louis, of Hesse, is officially announced.

The Richmond Examiner says:—Letters to the editor from friends in the South, mention these important facts as certainly true:

1st. That Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, late of the Federal Army, and now a Brigadier General of the Southern Confederacy, has been ordered to take command at Harper's Ferry, and ought to have reached his destination some day last week.

2d. That Gen. Beauregard has been ordered to the command at Norfolk, and is on his way there.

3d. That President Jefferson Davis will come to Richmond, so soon as his business at Pensacola is concluded, perhaps by the close of the present week.

Has the Washington Sunday Morning Chronicle ceased to exist? We ask for information! Who can tell? We received a couple of numbers, one of which contained a circular prospectus, which we published and sent marked copies to the Chronicle; but the appearance of the numbers before us, we felt an anxiety to have it on our exchange list, but since the appearance of the prospectus in our columns we have not seen a copy. Has that driven it away from us? Speak out!

The last act of Col. Ellsworth before he left the camp on the evening previous to his murder, was to write to his mother and the lady to whom he was engaged. His letters were given to a friend to mail, and before they were deposited in the office the announcement of his death reached Washington. These letters were enclosed to his father with the melancholy tidings of his son's death.

Gen. Cameron, Secretary of War, has addressed a letter to Surgeon General Wood, giving him special charge to see that the sanitary condition of the troops in and around Washington is properly cared for.

Owen Brown, one of the survivors of the Harper Ferry conflict, was severely injured last week, while discharging a cannon, in honor of some Anti-Slavery volunteers. He will lose one of his arms. He lives with the family of his brother John, in Ashtabula County, Ohio.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

John G. Cocks, of New Orleans has written a letter to Colonel Robert Anderson, late of Fort Sumpter, in which he says that Col. Anderson holds three notes against him, amounting in the aggregate to fourteen thousand five hundred dollars, which were given for twenty nine negroes, purchased in March, 1860, not a cent of which, J. G. C. says, will he pay.

Hon. John P. Kennedy, of Baltimore, having been solicited by a number of prominent citizens to accept the nomination for representative in Congress from the Fourth District, declines the honor in a lengthy letter, in which he takes occasion to reiterate his attachment to the Union.

Fort Monroe, is now garrisoned by a force of 8,000 men, with from 10,000 to 20,000 troops outside. It has been made the Head Quarters of Maj. Gen. Butler. The force includes five Massachusetts Regiments besides regulars.

There is evidently a great scarcity of printing paper in some parts of the South. Many of the journals come to us printed on half sheets, others materially reduced in size, while the dilapidated and worn aspect of some is truly shocking when brought into contrast with their former appearance.

The Texas Advocate says:—"The Northern Methodist are into the war up to their eyes. They preach, pray, sing and shout about it, as though it were a new religion. If it be, it is a Godsend to them, since it is pretty evident that Abolitionism has left them very little of the old religion of the Bible.

Government is removing the troops from the Capital building as fast as possible, in order to permit the officers having charge of that structure to place it in proper condition for Congress, which meets on the 4th of July.

General Harney, commander of the U. S. troops, and General Price of the Missouri militia, have made a treaty of peace, by which Price pledges the loyalty of Missouri to the general government, and both resolve to maintain peace and enforce order in common.

A band of desperadoes in Indiana, headed by a man named Dromgoole, has been committing depredations in that State and plundering and threatening the lives of citizens. It was reported that he had hung several Union men, but the report is denied.

Col. A. S. Voburn, of the 71st New York Regiment, on duty at Washington, died in that city last Monday of hemorrhage of the lungs. He was an excellent officer and his loss is deeply regretted. The body has been taken to New York.

The Wife of Lieut. Slemmer is at Washington, where she receives very marked attention.

THE LATE COL. ELLSWORTH.

This bill, which has just passed the extra session, for the purpose of arming the militia of this State is to be taken on certificates or bonds of the Commonwealth, bearing six per cent interest per annum, payable semi-annually, and which bonds and certificates shall be exempt from taxation for any purpose.

The bill also provides for the complete organization of the militia force of the State, by the appointment of the proper person of competent military education, experience and skill, to have command of all the military forces of the State.

One of the most judicious and patriotic provisions of this bill is that which legalises the appropriation of money by the commissioners of these several counties in the state, for the purpose of supporting the families of such of the volunteers who left the said counties unable to make such provision themselves.

Col. Ellsworth lately studied law with Mr. Lincoln, and was admitted to the bar last spring.

Col. Ellsworth was exceedingly beloved wherever he was intimately known. At Chicago and Rockford he was a universal favorite. President Lincoln entertained for him a high personal regard.

His parents are still living at his native place. His only brother died a year ago last spring. He had no sister. At the time of his departure from the city with his regiment, his parents were stopping at the Astor House.

He will take care of me, mother," he replied. "He has led me in this work, and he will take care of me."

God has taken care of him, and the culmination of his life could not have been more glorious for himself or the cause for which he died.

THE DEATH OF COL. ELLSWORTH will mark an era in the history of this war, and his name will hereafter stand by the side of Warren and others who fell among the first in the Revolution in defence of their country.

A number of shot, weighing three hundred and fifteen pounds each, have been shipped at Pittsburg for the big Floyd gun at Fortress Mound. This gun weighs 40,100 pounds, and is now mounted and ready for service.

THE THREE MILLION LOAN.

Organization of the militia force of the State, by the appointment of the proper person of competent military education, experience and skill, to have command of all the military forces of the State.

In the settlement of the accounts which will grow out of the military organization, the most rigid rules have been adopted to prevent fraud or exaction. All accounts must be sworn to, and when an account has been falsely attested, the accountant is made liable to loose the full amount of his bill, besides making himself accountable under the laws punishing perjury.

One of the most judicious and patriotic provisions of this bill is that which legalises the appropriation of money by the commissioners of these several counties in the state, for the purpose of supporting the families of such of the volunteers who left the said counties unable to make such provision themselves.

Hon. N. P. Banks.—This gentleman's friends are urging his appointment as a Major-General in the Army. With such men as N. P. Banks and Cassius M. Clay, at the head of the army, our country has nothing to fear.

Hon. Joseph Casey, of Harrisburg, formerly a member of Congress, has been appointed a Judge of the Court of Claims, by the President.
