The Weekly Marietttian.

None shall with impunity soil these sacred symbols of our Country's life, liberty and power.

Marietta, Pa.

SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1861.

☞ The New York World says it is not Captain George Pegram, of Mexican war notoriety, who commanded Garnett's advance, recently surrendered to General McClellan, but ex-Lieutenant Pegram, United States army. The former is dead. The General Garnett killed is not the man of that name late a member of the House of Representatives, but his cousin, Robert S. Garnett, late major in the Ninth Regiment U. S. Infantry.

☞ Capt. Dungan H. Ingraham died in Charleston on the 10th ult. He spread the protection of the American flag over the adopted citizen, Kozsta, and gave opportunity for such a piece of composition as the Hulsemann letter, in some respects the greatest letter that Daniel Webster ever wrote. It was the infamy of Captain Ingraham that he deserted the same flag in the hour of its peril, and hid himself from the sight of the nation in the bosom of the first rebellious State.

☞ On the 4th inst., another star was added to our national flag, representing the State of Kansas, which was admitted into the Union on the 28th of last January. This is in accordance with an act of Congress, passed April 4, 1818, which runs thus: "On the admission of a new State into the Union one star shall be added to the union of the flag; and such addition shall take effect on the fourth day of July next succeeding such admission."

☞ Mrs. Longfellow has died from her burns. She was a daughter of the Hon. William Appleton, of New York city, and was very much beloved among her intimate friends, although by no means inclined to gay society. She was Professor Longfellow's second wife, and brought him a large fortune. Mr. Longfellow's wounds received in the endeavor to save his wife, although severe, are not incurable.

☞ Ex-Senator Gwin has turned up in California. He is supposed to have gone there on a mission of treason.—We are glad to see that his old constituents express a hearty contempt for the traitor envoy from Jeff Davis. Gwin's movements will be closely watched by the loyal citizens of California, and if he is not very careful he may get his just deserts at the hands of the people he betrayed while in the Senate of the United States.

☞ Mr. Adams, our new minister to England, is said to have gone to court in a dark blue coat, the collar, cuffs, and flaps embroidered with gold; white small clothes, white silk stockings, low shoes, and to have carried a sword. How ridiculous.

☞ It is rumored in Washington that additional and weighty evidence has been found against James E. Harvey, Minister to Portugal, and that in consequence thereof, a committe of Republicans will wait upon the President with a formal request for his removal.

☞ Ex-President Van Buren was in Albany on Monday morning. In conversation he expressed the opinion that the war ought to be vigorously prosecuted until the full authority of the United States Government is re-established.

☞ Gen. Scott and staff crossed the long bridge on Monday last and reviewed a number of the troops on the Virginia side. He was greeted on all sides with the wildest enthusiasm. He returned to Washington the same evening.

☞ C. H. O. Realden, one of the gallant 600 who rode through the solid phalanx of Russians at Balaklava, and sabred the artillery-men at their guns, has enlisted in the Cold Water Light Artillery Corps, of Detroit.

☞ A woman aged fifty years, and the mother of five children, recently eloped from Iowa with the nephew of her husband. The couple went to Peoria and took up their abode on the opposite side of the river.

☞ A German named Haywood, was tarred and cottoned in New Orleans on Sunday last, for having joined several companies, and refusing to go with any to the seat of war.

Mr. Etheridge has announced his intention not to make any change in his subordinates, beyond those already made, previous to the regular session.

☞ Gov. Ellis, the rebel Executive of North Carolina, died at Red Sulphar Springs, Va, on the 7th instant.

☞ Gov. Seymour, of Connecticut, says that we can't conquer the South, and that the South can't conquer us.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Richmond Correspondence of the Memphis Appeal says: "It is told of Mr. Toombs, that being recently importuned by an acquaintance for a position as clerk in the state department, he replied, 'What need for a clerk? Why, I can carry the whole state department in my hat.'"

The first of September is fixed by Judge Lowrie for the trial of Fronenfields and Neal for conspiracy to defraud Pennsylvania in the matter of the uniforms for the volunteers.

James Guy, a son-in-law of ex-Senator Mason, has been arrested as a spy. He had about him, when arrested, a bundle of letters for prominent citizens of the South, and plans of all the fortifications about Washington.

A photograph of Jeff. Davis has been placed in the Police Rogue's Gallery, at Philadelphia. It is to be covered with glass, to prevent it from being defaced by spittal.

The Christian Association's army committee of New York has received an order for 10,000 hymn books from the chaplain of Gen. Anderson's Kentucky brigade.

Lieut. Crittenden, son of Hon. John J. Crittenden, denies, in a card in the Louisville Democrat, that he has joined the rebels.

Gov. Magoffin, of Kentucky, it is stated, was arrested and taken to the guard house, at Camp Alexandria, Woodford county, Ky., last Friday night. He was passing late in the evening, and could not give the countersign.

Robert Morris, of Philadelphia, a son of Henry Morris, a former Sheriff, has been appointed chief clerk of the House of Representatives by Mr. Etheridge, vice Barry Hayes removed.

☞ The Postal system of the Confederacy does not work well. The Charleston Mercury complains that, even on the great route to Richmond, the chances are two to one that there will be, to each mail, one or more misconnections.

In the old war, every soldier was advised to carry a string, to be tied around a bleeding limb, and be twisted tight by a stick or ramrod, until a surgeon could be found.

The undue mortality in one or two of the New York regiments is attributed to the excessive consumption of lager beer.

Slocum, the inventor of the solid-headed pin now in use, died last week at Pawtucket, R. I.

Some of the Bombs fired by the federal troops were found filled with sawdust; but the rebels have some of the same kind. One fired from the rifled cannon at Big Bethel was sent to the United States arsenal, at Troy, where it was found to be filled with rice. There must be a little treachery on both sides.

The wife of the poet Longfellow has been fatally burned by her clothes taking fire while sealing a letter, and the poet himself was badly burned in trying to save her.

When Col. Davies, of the New York Sixteenth Regiment, was marching through Baltimore, without drums, some of the lookers-on sneeringly asked, "Where's your music?" "In our cartridge boxes," said the grim Colonel.

Fort Sumpter, says the Charleston Mercury, has had a heavy addition to its armament, making it one of the most formidable military posts on the continent.

Bishop Polk, of the Southern Episcopal Church, has really accepted the office of Major General in the rebel army, and takes command of the troops on the Mississippi river.

B. Rush Petriken, it is stated, has declined the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel.

"Tactic" Hardee took command of the rebel forces at Memphis on the 24th ult.

Howell Cobb is organizing a regiment in Georgia for the Confederate army.

The salary of the Assistant Secretary of War is to be $3,000.

Wilkes' Spirit of the Times says that a match is likely to be made up between Heenan and Mace, who now holds the belt of England, having conquered Hurst in a late fight.

Parson Brownlow's paper has been designated by the State Department to publish the laws of Congress to be passed at the present session.

The Columbus (Texas) Citizen says that General Sam Houston is acting as a private in an organized company in Harris county.

Captain Travis, the great pistol-shot, who offered to perform William Tell's feat with a pistol, is at present engaged in giving lessons in the use of that weapon to the ladies of Vicksburg, Miss.

A Southern paper says that East Tennessee was never anything more than the the tail of Tennessee. If that is the case, perhaps Tennessee's tail is long enough to give her head and shoulders a good switching.—Prentice

Important to Volunteers.—The amendment of Hon. John Covode:—"That a bonus of thirty dollars will be paid to each of the three months volunteers on their re-enlistment for the war, and that an additional bonus of ten dollars to each volunteer be paid where they enlist by companies; and, also, that an additional bonus of ten dollars to each volunteer be paid when they re-enlist by regiments, making the bonus in the latter case fifty dollars," has the endorsement of Gen. Scott, the President, and Secretary Cameron. It will pass the Senate on Tuesday, and immediately become a law, by receiving the signature of the President.

This section allows a captain to receive in his new company, or in his re-enlistment, privates from any other company in his regiment. Thus, if the captain or lieutenants in any company are obnoxus to the men, they can secure the bounty and fight under officers in whom they have confidence, and men they can respect. An amendment will probably be added to this section, allowing regiments to take companies from any part of the brigade.

The object of Mr. Covode is not only to secure the three months men, who are now thoroughly drilled and equal to the regular army, but to save the expense to the Government of paying the men's expenses back to their place of enlistment, and then their return in new regiments.

Mr. Merryman released on bail.—An order was received from the War Department by Gen. Banks, directing him to hand over to the civil authorities, for trial, Mr. John Merryman, who has been confined in Fort McHenry for several weeks past, on a charge of treason.—Mr. Merryman, it will be recollected, was indicted, a few days ago, in the United States Circuit Court, and it is presumed that this action of the War Department is based upon that fact.—Mr. Merryman was accordingly brought up to Baltimore, and taken before the court, and was then released on bail in the sum of forty thousand dollars, to answer the charge in November next, Messrs. John S. Gittings, Adam B. Kyle, Charles A. Buchanan, and Charles Ridgely becoming his securities.

☞ It is rarely that we read of a more narrow escape than the mother of Mr. Gresham made during the late attack of the Lincolnites at Carter's creek. The old lady is bed ridden, and was lying on her bed when a cannon ball passed through her room, struck the head of the bedstead, and passed on between the sacking and mattress, and raised her up off her bed without doing her any injury. She was then moved to another room, which was attached to the rear portion of the larger house, and, in a few moments a bombshell passed through the apartment and exploded, striking the chair which she was sitting in without doing the least harm.—Virginia Herald.

☞ The first order issued by Speaker Grow, upon taking possession of the splendid room assigned to him, was that the doorkeeper should remove the marble bust of the traitor, ex-Speaker Orr, from the bracket where it was placed by the consent of Orr, and that the fine marble bust of John Quincy Adams, that formerly occupied a niche in the old Representatives' Hall, be substituted. The order was executed on Thursday. The original subscribers to Orr's bust can undoubtedly have the same by calling for it, the present owners having no use for it.

☞ Kossuth has given up his English residence. He has resolved not to carry any farther his resistance in the Hungarian-note case. The transaction cost him £10,000 of which £8,000 represents the value of the beautifully-engraved notes now to be reduced to pulp. Kossuth is very much depressed by the results of his recent efforts, and, indeed, by the general fruits of his residence in London, and has taken a villa on Lake Como.

☞ The expulsion of John B. Clark, a representative from Missouri, by the House of Representatives, was a just and deserved act towards a brazen and an insidious traitor. Besides Clark, there are others in that body who should also be expelled, among the prominent of whom are Vallandigham, Burnett, and their endorsers and sympathisers. The idea of tolerating such traitors in the councils of the loyal, is equal to an offer of compromise coming from dough-faces to mollify rebels. Let Congress be thoroughly purified of traitors.

☞ James Lesley, Jr., Esq., of Philadelphia, has been appointed chief clerk of the War Department, in place of John P. Sanderson, Esq., who retiers to accept a lieutenant colonelcy in one of the new regiments.

☞ It is confidently stated that Hon. Joseph Holt, of Kentucky, still a resident of Washington, will be offered the post of Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, vacated by the death of Justice McLean, of Ohio.

☞ It is authoritatively stated that Mr. Crittenden's plan of compromise will not be offered by himself at the present session of Congress.

Hon. Sherrard Clemens.—Much curiosity has been expressed regarding the whereabouts of Hon. Sherrard Clemens. At a review of the 17th and 19th Ohio regiments in Wheeling, on the 18th, he made a short speech of great force, welcoming the soldiers in the most cordial terms, assuring them that they would be welcomed by every loyal heart in the State, while he was terribly severe on the secessionists and people generally of the eastern part of the State. He said that part of the State, and the people over there, were like the potato—the best under ground.

Reduction of Salaries.—Mr. Van Wyck's bill for the reduction of salaries, if passed by the two Houses, will make a saving of from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000. It proposes also, while reducing the pay of the higher grades of employment and compensation, to increase the wages of the courageous soldier to $15 per month, an augmented pay which is but justice to the intelligent and patriotic private who serves in defence of his government.

The Confederate Loan.—Under this caption, the Southern papers are advertising for meetings in counties, towns, and civil districts, to procure loans of produce to the Confederate Government. They can't get their money loans taken, and they are now striking for produce, such as cotton, corn, wheat, and whatever they can use or turn into money, at a sacrifice or otherwise. And yet, says the Knoxville Whig, without money or credit, we find this bogus Government of the United States!

What She had Rather Do.—The following is going the rounds of the papers. A maiden lady in Boston, on reading the account of the marriage of Miss Georgiana Ives, at Chicago, to young Bently, who saved her from drowning at the sinking of the steamer Lady Elgin, said: "It's a very romantic affair, no doubt, but I would rather be drowned any time than to sit half the night with a young man on a piece of wreck in my night gown!"

Good Stuff.—On Sunday we encountered a party of soldiers belonging to the Sixteenth Regiment of New York, consisting of David Strong, age 64 years, and his seven sons, Melvin, Horace, Patrick, Isaac, Harvey, Marion, and James, every man being over six feet high! The old man was all through the Mexican war and says he is just as good a man as ever. They were on their way to join their regiment.—N. Y. Times.

☞ The Governor of North Carolina having failed to order an election for Congress in that State, it is said by the friends of Mr. Foster that the people of the First District have met and voted for him for Congress. He has also letters urging him to take his seat without delay. The returns are certified to by a magistrate, and it is not improbable that the House will admit him to a seat.

☞ A soldier of the 79th New-York, stationed at Georgetown, was returning on Monday night to camp, and on being challenged by the sentry, "Who goes there?" answered in jest, "A Secessionist." The sentry fired instantly, and the unlucky joker fell mortally wounded.

☞ Rebel volunteers who left Louisville, Ky., to serve in Virginia under Col. Blanton Duncan, are disgusted.—They report that they are treated like dogs, are half fed, have the same clothes they wore away from home, and would gladly return, if they could, and be loyal citizens.

☞ Nearly all the public balls in San Francisco were nightly crowded by squads of ardent military aspirants in drilling. A printed circular and handbill have been posted throughout San Francisco, directed against ex-Senator William M. Gwin, and warning him to leave the State by the next steamer.

☞ A number of Jesuit Fathers, hitherto engaged as teachers in Catholic Colleges in the South, have arrived in Chicago within the last week or two, the institutions which they have been connected with have been obliged to suspend operations on account of the war.

☞ On Wednesday night last, Wm. Somis and wife, living at Scranton, Pa., were both burned to death by the explosion of a Kerosene lamp. They leave no less than seven helpless children.

☞ The insurgents protest they won't pay their debts to the people of the United States, and yet the United States troops are determined to draw on them at sight.

☞ The Boston Traveler learns from a Southern gentleman that Jeff. Davis is investing all his means in the English funds. He is likely to soon need funds there.

☞ In a Louisiana regiment there is one large cotton merchant worth $300,000, who is now a private soldier, with one of his own clerks for captain of the company.

Another Paper Gone.—The Fall River Monitor lately succumbed to the pressure of the time; age, thirty-six years.

☞ The Hon. Nathan Appleton died in Boston on Sunday last. He was the father of the late Mrs. Longfellow.

Terrible Case of Hydrophobia.—The St. Louis Democrat, of the 9th inst, says: We regret to learn that Mrs. McRae died on Sunday night at Jefferson Barracks, of Hydrophobia. She was the wife of Major McRae, Commandant at the Barracks. About two months ago she was attacked by a ferocious dog, thrown to the ground and bitten on one of her cheeks and brow. The dog was not known to be mad at the time. On Sunday she was taken seriously ill, with unmistakable symtoms of hydrophobia. The disease progressed with alarming rapidity and terminated fatally on Sunday night, the patient dying in the greatest agony.

☞ A boy, twelve years of age, has been re-delivering the lectures of Gough, with great success, at Plymouth, England.
