

above the cross streets, and even above the tops of the houses, with Castle Hill rising abruptly several hundred feet above the common level, and Canton Hill the hill of Monuments—though not so abrupt, perhaps, even higher, with those and many other irregularities, it truly merits the epithet, "romantic."

As the Yankees (that term is applied to all Americans here), are proverbially "curious," and of fond of relics of antiquity, they find many objects of interest here. Prof. Pillsbury remarked the other day, that on visiting Holywood, and Arthur's Seat, in company with several American gentlemen, with much more interest on a little old dilapidated house standing on the side of the hill, than on either of the others; the reason of which is quite plain.

We have in our own country, palaces equal or even superior to Holywood, and hills much more than Arthur's Seat, but we do not see them as the Americans do. Americans, though by no means partial to Kings and Queens, look with interest upon the golden crown, and the ancient Scottish regalia, which are to be seen in the old castle at the top of High Street. There also is a very ancient piece of artillery, called "Mons Meg;" carried away by the English hooped iron, and intended to throw stone balls, specimens of which are lying by; and judging from their size, I would conclude that Mons Meg was not intended to be loaded by one man.

Going from the castle down High Street, we saw the charming and interesting Christian Statue of Charles II., close to which, it is thought, lies the mortal remains of John Knox. Then on the left we pass the room which was occupied as a study by the late Hugh Miller; and now we come to an old-fashioned house, with nothing prepossessing in its appearance, but to the most interesting of the hills—the house of the reformer, John Knox. There is the identical window from which he "who feared not man," was accustomed to warn and entreat the people. The ash, I believe, has been renewed, but the original stump has been preserved in the country.

In repairing old buildings in this country, the original design is rigidly observed; and I trust the same will be done in repairing the Washington residence at Mt. Vernon.

The monuments of which there are a great number, and many other objects of interest, we must leave unnoticed. The news is unimportant. The topic which engaged the attention of the editors and of the people to some extent last week, was "The Great Social Evil." On this great question of the day, Dr. Guthrie engages with deep interest.

It is stated that two Manchester gentlemen have offered a prize of £100 and one of £50, for the best Essay on the subject of the New North Church. The Rev. Northrop, of New York, would preach in the Free Assembly's Hall, the most commodious chapel in the city. Before the hour for service had arrived, the house was full, and many had an opportunity of testifying their high regard for the American mission, standing during the whole service; whilst many others could not even gain an entrance.

PERSONAL AND MISSIONARY.

Miss Louisa Pratt, of New Haven, recently deceased, has bequeathed her English Canon, the amount of between $3,000 and $4,000 to the Rev. Dr. Dutton, with the intent that he shall use it toward the relief of the poor of the New Haven North Church.

Mr. Foy, of the Mobile Register, has been appointed by the Governor of Alabama, Commissioner under the act of the recent Legislature, for the promotion of direct trade with Europe. The salary is $4,000.

The New Trial in the famous case of Carstang against Shaw, at St. Louis, has resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant. The decision, reversing the previous verdict, is presumed to have been effected by the evidence accumulated, touching the previous character of the fair plaintiff.

The Rev. Dr. Richards, of Litchfield, Conn., says the Hartford Convention is about commencing a little while against the Rev. Dr. Richards, of Hartford, Conn. He says that standing has gone far enough, and that it is now time for truth to begin.

The Remains of Roger Williams—One of the descendants of Roger Williams, recently laid the grave of Williams open, with a view to removing the remains to some other spot, and erecting a monument over them. A number of the small fragments were unidentifiably scattered, and a mass of black earth, was all that could be reclaimed.

Brigham Young has furnished Rev. Elias Nelson, of Medford, Mass., the following facts concerning the Rev. Williams, recently laid the grave of Williams open, with a view to removing the remains to some other spot, and erecting a monument over them. A number of the small fragments were unidentifiably scattered, and a mass of black earth, was all that could be reclaimed.

Subscription for the Pope.—The Emperor of Austria has, according to the Weekly Register, sent to the Pope a gift in money equivalent to $30,000. Queen Christina has also been liberal with her purse, and has sent a similar gift of $20,000. Ministers compelled by age or infirmity to desist from the active labor of their office, are to receive an annuity of $800 each, from the interest of the Pope's money.

Dr. Hays, in his "Aretic Boat Journey," reports that the Esquimaux live upon an exclusively animal diet, their daily allowance of food being from twelve to fifteen pounds, about one-third of it being fat. The Esquimaux have been seen an Esquimaux eat fully ten pounds of walrus flesh and blubber at a single meal, after a hunt, or when about to begin a difficult journey. The large consumption of heavy food, and great shield against the cold. White men in Arctic regions are constantly craving a strong animal food, and the great luxury of the tribe is a soup made by boiling together blubber, oil, and seal meat.

The Number of Native Christians, and actual members of churches, in Polynesia, was according to the latest returns—Tahiti, 1,600; Society Islands, 50,000; Hawaii, 1,000; New Zealand, 2,087; Navigator's group, 2,668; total, 47,788. The population of the twenty islands of these groups is 50,000. Their schools for training teachers and evangelists, contain about one hundred scholars. All the native pastors are supported by the people. The wife of a missionary in the Fiji Islands recently translated the Fiji language into English, and is kept in the hospital, owing to the disease of the quondam cannibal.

Efficiency of American Missionaries.—The "Levant Herald," an English paper published at Constantinople, has recently published an article, in which it is stated that the progress made by the American missionaries in the East, has exceeded that of any other denomination. It is stated that the American missionaries have done more to advance civilization and pure religion through Turkey, than all the other agencies, diplomatic or missionary, which European policy or propaganda has ever sent to work upon the country.
