For the Presbyterian Banner. Letter from Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 2, 1860. MESSRS. EDITORS:-The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions are now holding their fiftieth anniversary in this city, and our streets are well astir with strangers gathered here to participate in the festival. So large is the attendance, that extraordinary arrangements have been made for their entertainment, and other denominations have been appealed to for assistance, to which they are cheerfully re-

The meetings, which began this afternoon, were appropriately preceded by one of a kindred character in the Park Street church, last evening. The Rev. Dr. Sawtell, chaplain to British and American seamen at Havre, France, andressed the audience upen the Revival in Ireland, as recently witnessed, in its progress and results, by himnessed, in its progress and results, by himself He stated many interesting fac.s
connected with localities whose names are familiar to us, remarking that all he h: d read had given him no adequate impression as to the extent and power of this great as to the extent and power of this great work. He fully endorses the declaration of Dr. Wayland, suggested by reading Prof. Gibson's History of the Revival, that "the power of the Holy Spirit has not been more signally manifested since the day of Pentecost in Jerusalem, than in the district of Ulster in Ireland, in the year 1859." Dr. Sawtell also gave a deeply interesting account of a recent visit by himself, to the Orphan Establishment of Rev. George Muller, in Bristol, England. Mr. Muller has now two large buildings, in which seven hundred orphan children are cared for -nursed, fed, clothed and taught-and another is now going up. These buildings have been erected, and the wants of all these children are provided for, and the expenses of the establishment paid, through the only human angency of prayer. Nobody is asked to contribute, no circulars or other similiar means are employed to secure funds, but yet they come. Letters enclosing drafts are often of this tenor : " As I was going to my business this morning, I was impressed that you might be in want of tunds, and accordingly I remit twenty-five Mr. Muller believes with childlike confi- coming to their relief. dence that He who prompted the beginning, and has sustained and prospered it for twenty-five years, will still provide for its future wants. The Lord is also visiting the Asylum with the influences of his Holy Spirit; some three hundred of the children have been awakened, and half that number have given grateful evidence of a renewing change. Mr. Muller's Narrative is soon to be published in this country, by Messrs. Gould & Lincoln, and will be looked for with interest. Dr. Sawtell pertinently suggests that in the Irish Revival and in the furnishing evidence of his personal presence somewhat. and agency in the affairs of the world which none can gainsay or resist.

Revolutionary Sermons.

Messrs. Gould & Lincoln have in press a work entitled "The pulpit of the American Rev. lucion; or, the Political Sermons of the Period of 1776," edited by J. Wingate Thorton, Esq. It will contain, as the title indicates, several of the most interesting political sermons of that period, beginning with a discourse of Dr. Mayhew, in 1750, which breathes the very spirit of civil and religi ious liberty, and ending with a sermon by Dr. Stiles, in 1783, at the close of the Revolution These sermons alone, by some of the most able, carnest and patriotic men of the time, possess bie volume; but Mr. Thornton has given them a setting, which adds greatly to their beauty and worth, in his historical introduction and copious illustrative notes. In these he alutes to the circumstances under which the country was sufficient intrinsic interest to make a most desiraples of civil as well as religious liberty, &c., until the period to which the work more especially refers, when events are traced with greater minuteness, and the historical connexions of these sermons are distinctly seen. In this light, their true importance appears. They are a part of the frame-work upon which the arch of American Independence rested, until the kev-stone was added and the noble structure was complete. History has given us a record of the material struggle of the Revolution—its campaigns, its battles

The Election.

Tuesday of this week was a day of much excitement, but, so far as we have learned, of great good order. The probability is that Curtin is elected Governor of Pennsylvania by a majority of 20,000 to 25,000. Information received from districts intimate that Foster had, in Philadelphia, a majority of 2,000, in Berks 3,500, in Westmoreland 600; and that Curtin had, in Washington, a majority of 600, in India-a 1,700, in Eric 3.200, in Lancoster 5,500, in Allegheny history of Mr. Muller's enterprise, God is 7,000. Official returns will vary these statements

It is supposed that the Congressional represe tation will be nearly the same as at present Covode is reëlected by some 1,350 majority. Reports from Ohio and Indiana indicate suc cess to the Republicans.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The Picayune of Friday gives a verbal report that Capt. Numerous and urgent, but ineffectual applications have been made for further postponement of the approaching Minnesota land sales, on the ground that the settlers are made to make payground that the settlers are made to make pay-ments for preemption claims within the prescrib-ed time. According to the official statement of the Secretary of the Interior, the preemptors will inevitably lose their lands if sold, and paid for by other parties; but if not sold, they would, under the declaratory notices of settlers, have the benefit of a year's credit allowed by law for revine for lands, and thus become subject to paying for lands, and thus become subject to private entry.

DIED-Near Waterioo, Venango Compty, Pa., April 19th, 800, JAMES G. LL ELAND, in the 80th year of his age. Mr. Gilleland was for more than half a century a Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian church. He was born in Chester county, Pa., October, 1774, and removed to Venango County in 1802. He served in the eldership, successively, in the colorgregations of Mill Creek, Franklin, and Waterloo. He was an humble, upright, and conscientious man; one that feared God and eschewed evil. During the past two years, he erected, entirely at his own expense, a neat and comfortable church edifice for the congregation of Waterloo. In his life, his was a regular contributor to the Boards of the Church, and in his will, remembered them with liberal bequests. Truly, it can be said of him, "He being dead, yet speaketh."

DIED—At his residence in Schellsburg, Bedford County, Pa., on the 6th of September, Mr. JOHN CLARK, in the 71st year of his age. The deceased was a fine example of what, under God, inelligence, integrity and energy can achieve—success in busioss, public regard, influence, and contentment. I never knew a man of greater probity, modesty, and decision of character. His mind was clear and well balanced, and his knowledge genial and substantial. His temper was remarlably mild, and equible—much of which was natural—yet anctified and actioned by religion. He was my parishione and warm friend, and was a Christian, I think, long before he professed it, more blameless, and more interested in the affairs of the church, than many who were in the communion As a husband, father, and friend, he was affectionate and and continued with him until the last hours of his life. His sympathy and generosity were unfailing, his hospitality and nore obliging neighbor, or a better citizen. For some time prior to his death, growing infirmity disanalitied him for much active business; but he suffered little. and retained the use of his faculties till death. For a few days previous to that event, he was greatly prestrated, but uncomplaining and calm. To a question by one of his sons, "Do you have any dread of death?" he said, "None whatever." To another question, "Do you base your expectations on anything in yourself?" he said, "No, I am altogether u worthy." He died, as he lived, at peace with God and man, and greatly revered by all who knew him.

Parents in search of a school for their daughters, where health, science, morals, and religious training are combined, will find it in the above Institute; and as a parent naturally anxious about the welfare of my children. I think I know what are your wishes in regard to a school for your daughters; and as the above named Institute is just such a one, I simply request you to come and examine for yourself, for I am assured that one half day spent in the examination will be of more value than all my advertisements. I therefore, carnestly court it, as until such a visit I can only expect to be classed among those schools represented by the hundred in advertisements; but after such investigation, I know I shall be rated as among the first in the land. The Institute ropens for the Fall Session, November, 187, 1860.

TUSCARORA FEMALE INSTITUTE is leasted at Academia, Juniata County, Pt. The cars of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad stop at the Millin Station, where access is easy, and should the Principal be notified a few days beforehand, arrangements will be made to meet all visitors.

WALUABLE BOOKS. The Life and Letters

MRS. EMILY C. JUDSON, (FANNY FORRESTER.) hird Wife of Rev. Adoniram Judson, D.D., Missic Burmah, Burmah. BY A. C. KENDRICK,

Professor of Greek in the University of Rochester. vol., 12mo. With a Steel Plate Likeness of Mrs. Judso Price $1.25. From the New-York Observer. In the very front rank of literary and religious biograph we place this admirable volume. It has every element beauty, variety, usefulness, thrilling interest and power, commend it to universal favor. From the New-York Examiner

Dr. Kendrick has so culled and woven together the letters, journals and reminiscences, placed in his hands, as to make a narrative which lifts the veil from every part of an intensely real and very even fil life. It is, from first to last, the history of a genuine human life, as developed in the childhood, youth and riper years of a singularly gifted woman; and s history so well told. withal, as to possess the captivating power, of a well-wrought romance. It will find its way to tens of thousands of hemes, to tell its truthful and eloquent tale of conflicts and triumphs; and to impart new conceptions of the graces which advend, and the principles which governed a character whose "delicate and beautiful genius" won the admiration of the most cultivated minds.

From the New-Fork Independent. From the New-York Independent.

From the New-Fork Independent.

A memoir of Mrs. Emily C. Judson, unfolding her inner spiritual life, and recording her experiences in the missionary field, was, due equally to the Fanny Forrester of the Magazine world, and to the saintly apostle of Burmah.

We are glad that the commonation of such a character, devolved upon one whose combined graces of scholarship and Christian zeal quality him to appreciate the subject of his Memoir, and to sellnenthe her life under all its phase. The literary attractions of the v lume are many and various; but its one impression is that thrist is all.

LIFE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON. BY HON EDWARD EVERLIT.

With a Steel Plate Likeness of Mr. Everett, from the celebrated Bust by Hiram Powers.

Price, in Cloth, $1; in Sheep binding, $1.50; in Half Calf, $2. Price, in Cloth, $1; in Sheep binding, $1.50; in Half Calf, $2.

The last link of that golden chain which shall hereafter, for many generation, bind together the names of George Washington and Edward Eyerett, has just been fitted into its place.

* * The biography is a model of condensation, and by its rapid narrative and attractive style, must commend itself to the mass of readers, as the standard popular Life of Washington."—Correspondence of the Boston Post.

From an able editorial in the World. Mr. Everett is rendering a signal and needed service, in re-calling attention to Washington, and teaching us to appre-ciate the reasons why he has been adjudged the greatest put-lic character that has appeared in human history. From Henry T. Tuckerman, the distinguished Essayist It has evidently been a labor of I ve. Familiar as are the incidents, they read delightfully in Mr. Everett's diction an are illustrated anew by many a fresh hint and idea, gathered by his long study and great love of the subject.
