Judge Wayne took a different view of the case. The material part of his decision is as follows: "It is my opinion that Congress has constitutional power to legalize and confirm Executive acts, proclamations, and orders done for the public good, although they were not, when done, authorized by any existing laws. That such legislation by Congress may be made to act retro-actively to confirm what may have been done under such proclamations and orders, so as to be binding upon the Government in regard to con-tracts made, and the persons with whom they were made. And that the third section of an act of Congress of the 6th day of August, 1861, legalizing the acts, proclamations, and orders of the President, after the 4th of March, 1861, respecting the army and navy, and calling out and relating to the militia and volunteers of the States, is constitutional and valid, as if they had been issued and done under the previous authority and direction of Congress."

In Brighton County every tory has been shot by his neighbor and in several other mined, and yet policy, by the aid of rebel Governors, had carried an act of Secession. Hence, as Kentucky had a Governor possessed of a rebel heart it was thought that she also could be managed. This proved a failure. On the election of a new Legislature, an immense majority voted for Union men. Force, then, was the last resort. This was inaugurated by an invasion, and the taking possession of the Heights on the West bank of the Mississippi, at Hickman and Columbus; from members of the Maryland Legislature have been which places, the rebel army, mostly Tennesseeans, under direction of General Polk, set out for Paducah, on the Ohio, at the mouth of the Tennessee. The new Legislature of Kentucky being now in ssion, the matter was taken up, and the following resolutions were adopted in the House by a vote of 76 to 20, and in the Senate by 26 to 9: Resolved, That Kentucky's peace and neutral-ty have been wantonly violated, her soil has been invaded, the rights of her citizens have been grossly infringed by the so-called Southern Confederate forces. Mayor Brown and a number of the secession arrested in Baltimore, and are now in the custody of the Government. Upon one of them was found a draft of the ordinance of secession, or resolutions declaring Maryland to be in hostility to the Government. It is well known that the Secession leaders had arranged with the rebels of the Confederate States that this Legislature should declare Maryland out of the Union; then the rebel army was to enter the State as an "army of liberation" For this purpose they were concentrating on the Maryland lines, and were making extraordinary exertions to com-mand the navigation of the Potomac by their batteries at Acquia Creek. The scheme, of course, involved the possession of Baltimore, and the cutting off of Washington. How far the arrest of the rebel members of the Legislature will break up the arrangements of the traitors yet remains to be seen; but one thing is certain, that no ordinance or resolutions of secession will be enacted. The Maryland Legislature has adjourned, sine die. " The distinguished political prisoners from Bal

Dr. Doremus, the celebrated chemist of New York, has made an invention that promises remarkable results in the use of gunpowder. It is made into the form of a paste and is affixed to the Minie ball and becomes hard as rock, so that it can be thrown any distance and not break. The powder is made in the form of a cannon ball, and can be carried in any form that a cannon ball can be. It is also made impervious to water. Experiments have been made and the matter satisfactorily tested at West Point. A great saving is made in the quantity of powder used, as none is wasted, and the whole is as cheap as common powder.

That Gen. McClellan exercises a careful superrision over his command is sufficiently proved by his orders for sustaining the excellent discipline of the camp. Medical officers are required to pay strict attention to their duties, and are forbidden to leave the camp without express permission from Head-Quarters; sick soldiers cannot be removed without the authority of the medical director of the army; nurses and cooks are detailed for duty; arms are to be thoroughly inspected once a day; and hot coffee is to be served to the soldiers immediately after reveille roll-call, to guard against the effects of malaria Competent medical authorities attribute the al nost uniform good health of the British troops. in East India, to their partaking of hot coffee early in the morning, before they attended to any kind of duty.

An Anticipation of Peace.

It promises well for peace that the President, in appointing the Commissioners to represent the interests of American exhibitors, at the World's Fair, to be held in London, in September, 1862, has named a good portion of his own Cabinet together with the heads of other important Bu reaus, in Washington. Among them are Mr. Seward, Secretary of State; Mr. Smith, of the Interior; Mr. Kennedy, Superintendent of the Census Bureau; Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute; Mr. Robert, Wallach, Mayor of Washington; Mr. Everett, and others. We like this; it has the same kind of anticipative confidence as the famous sale in Rome of a plot of ground outside the city walls, which plot was, at the very time of sale, the scene of encampmen of the hostile Volsci. It says, a year hence the great rebellion will have been crushed out, and the nation, forced for awhile to stop in the bloody House of Mars, will have resumed its formal orbit of creative order. The Secretary of State, relieved from the investigation of nice questions of international law, will unbend to he pacific questions of international industry.-

Are not our dearest rights involved in this struggle? Is not our cause that of righteousness? Will you not, therefore, cheerfully furnish this small, token of encouragement to the brave men who have gone forth to fight your battles? General Rosecrans' Report.

The following is General Rosecrans' official re-HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF VIRGINA,)

Camp Scott, Sept. 11, P. M. To Col. E. D. Townsend: We yesterday marched seventeen and a half We yesterday marched seventeen and a man miles, reached the enemy's entrenched position in front of Conifix Ferry, driving his advanced outposts and pickets before us. We found him occupying a strongly entrenched position, covered by a forest too dense to admit of being seen at distance of three hundred yards. His force was five regiments, beside the one driven in. He had probably sixteen pieces of artillery. At 3 o'clock we began a strong reconnoisance, which proceeded to such a length that we were about to assault the position on the flank and front, when night coming on, and our troops being completely exhausted, I drew them out of the oods, and posted them in the order of battle behind ridges immediately in front of the enemy's position, where they rested on their arms till morning. Shortly after daylight a runaway con-traband came in and reported that the enemy had crossed the Gauley during the night by means of the ferry, and a bridge which they had completed.

Col. Ewing was ordered to take possession of the camp, which he did at about 7 c'clock, capturing a few prisoners, two stand of colors, a considerable quantity of arms, with quarter-mas ter's stores, messing and camp equippage. The enemy have destroyed the bridge across the Gauley, which here rushes through a deep gorge, and our troops being still much fatigued, and having no material for immediately replacing the bridge, it was thought prudent to encamp. The troops eccupy the ferry and captured the camp, sending a few rifled cannon shots after the enemy to produce a moral effect. Our loss will probably amount to 20 killed and 100 wounded. The enemy's loss had not been ascertained, but from re port it must have been considerable. H. S. Rosechans. (Signed) common sense and fact, a genuine Northern We can already perceive an improved tone to ward us, arising from the high opinion enter-tained in England of General McClellan. In proof of this we quote the following from the Daily Post: "General McClellan seems to be a fine soldierly fellow. He has suppressed a mutiny, at Washington, with exemplary promptitude and firmness.

Trade is reviving in many quarters, and the prospects of a plentiful harvest are good; but as all the corn that England can produce will not feed her population, she must buy of other countries. She is actually sending cotton to New-York; only a small quantity, however, but still the thing is commented on as unprecedented, e pecially under the circumstances. On the subject of the transfer of Sardinia to France, Mr. Roebuck, member of the British Parliament, has recently affirmed, in a speech which he delivered at Sheffield, that he knew a convention by the terms of which the Island of Sardinia was to be eventually ceded to France.

Sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price.

R. S. DAVIS, We give a formal denial to this assertion. Not only the act denounced by Mr. Roebuck has no existence, but even the thought of entering into discussion on this subject with the Cabinet at Turin has never entered the mind of the government of the Emperor.

The Emperor Napoleon III. has just completed an interesting investment at Rome. He has pur-chased of the King of Naples that portion of the celebrated Mount Palatine known as the Farnes Garden. It comprehends by far the greater part of the hill; the whole of it, indeed, except the the part occupied by the well known Mills Villa. where so many excavations have been made, and so many antique treasures found. The extent of the ground is somewhat about twenty acres, and upon it stands the whole of the ruins of the palace of the Cæsars, of which two entire stages are still buried under ground, and have remained so ever since the barbaric avasion. It is expected that they will be found to be rich in undiscovered statues. Many such objects, indeed, have already been discovered in the very small portion of it which has hitherto been examined; amongst others the remains of the primitive wall which encircled ancient Rome, and of the most ancient of all, that which surrounded the Palatine itself when in the time of its founder it contained the entire city. A French conservator of the Palace of the Casars has been nominated, M. Petro Rosa, author of the large archæological and topographical map of Latium, and the excavations will begin and be actively carried on in the month of November next.

THE UNITED STATES IN 1861.

By Count de Gasparin. Translated by Miss. Booth: I vol., 12mo, 75 cents.

The New-York Times says of it: "The thorough intellectual mastery of the subject determines the quality of the book, the moral warmth which runs latent through it (breaking at times into in eloquence which fairly burns)—takes its power from the weight of his facts and the force of his logic. There is in his treatment of the question, a wise moderation that carries with it convincing force."

The New-York Evening Post says: "It is the wisest book which has been written upon America since De Tocqueville.

* * Remarkable for its intelligence, its insight; its logic, and its nobleness of purpose."

From the New-York Probune: "The author thinks that we are rising, awakening, coming to ourselves, asserting our right in the time of trial, and By vintue OF That Trail.—had this work been written but a few weeks ago, it could not be more apt to the time that its."
