Port Royal advices speak of the contemplated movement on Charleston, but give us nothing positive on the subject. The country looks anxiously for prompt and is to become of the country ?... Here was energetic action in this quarter. Wisdom, short time ago, seemed to be so rapidly however, may dictate slow and cantious movements.

The rebel accounts of the unsuccessful attack on Port Hudson by Admiral Farragut, prove to have been in the main incorrect, though not wholly without foundation. It seems that no regular attack was intended nor attempted by the Admiral, but that he aimed mainly at running his fleet above the rebel batteries, preparatory to the combined attack by water and land agreed upon between himself and Gen. Banks. From seemingly reliable dispatches, we learn that politics of second uson with the attempt to pass the batteries was successful, though attended with the loss of the Mississippi, and with some other slight casualties. The rumors of last week respecting the uccess of the Yazoo expedition, and the vacuation of Vicksburg, appear to have een, as we feared, unreliable speculations 'he movement of transports and gunoats up the Yazoo has, however, taker lace, and the ultimate success of the en erprise is, by most, confidently anticipated. the reports respecting the probable sucess of the Lake Providence scheme, are onflicting.

After speculating upon the supposed plan of Gen. Condition of our Army before Vicksburg.

Gen. Grant, under date of March 6th, writes to Surgeon General Hammond concerning the health of the army before Vicksburg, as follows: No army ever went into the field better provided with medical stores and attendance, than is furnished the army before Vicksburg. There was a deficiency in volunteer surgeons, but that is now supplied. The hospital boats are supbind with their own surgeons, nurses, and every thing for the comfort of the sick. "The Purveyor's Department not only has ev-erything usually furnished the sick, but more erything usually furnished the sick but more han it ever dreamed was furnished to an army, and more than a great majority of men could have at home; then, too, there is not that amount f sickness that persons would be led to believe from the statements in public prints. I ques-ion whether the health of the St. Louis forces is etter to day than that of this command. On my arrival here the men had been pent up so long time on straw, and then camping on low ground and in the most terrible weather ever experi enced, that there was for a time necessarily great number of sick.

The Reaction.

During the discussion of the vastly important State measures which occupied the attention of the late Congress, party feeling. in some sections of the country, ran high. Many gave loose reins both to their tongues and addressed the assembly as follows: and passions; and it seemed as though a social convulsion, resistance to law, and a power of speaking in an impromptu way. I hope to meet you all at some future day, when our country will be in work. The national crisis demanded strong the enjoyment of peace." measures....Nothing short of these could save the country. We must fight, or perish. And we must fight and perish both, unless we shall fight with vigor. And vigor demanded an army, a navy, and money. Hence the great acts of the late route for Cincinnati. The advance guard foundait well defended ; and after several attempts to cross under a hot fire, a platoon from the 1st Rhode Island Caval-ry, led by Lieut. Brown, dashed into the stream, followed by the axe-men, who soon removed the abattis. The gallant fellows were met by volleys of billets, but so sudden and surprising was the fices, contracts, emoluments, &c., of one party more than of the other. We can hence look upon parties with some degree of impartiality. What we want is protection. In order to this, we want the conservation of the whole Union. We want a Government of law, and laws faithfully executed. We are willing to be restricted, to some extent, and to be taxed pretty heavily, and to meet demands for personal services; that is, we are willing to pay the needed price for protection and proved from the different

This feeling of acquiescence, and the disposition to cooperate, seems how to be on the increase. Our Government never has had the needed strength to enforce law and maintain order against a strong conspiracy; or, perhaps we should say, has never declared and exercised its powers. It is now being tested. It is bringing into use unexercised powers. It is now settling into in the open ground, the enemy advancing rapid-ly on our right with the intention of turning that flank, and on our left with the purpose to disputed rights, as to power. HOOFLAND'S, CERMAN, BITTERS. From J. Newton Brown, D.D., Editor of the Epsyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. Although not disposed to havor or recommond Patient Medicines in general, through distruct of their, ingredients and effects I. Jet know of no sufficient reason why a mad may not desity to the benefit he bilisyes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others. I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofsaid's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this dity, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Sheemaker, Esg., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encourage-ment to try them, when suffering from great and long con-titued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by wident reliof, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which Thad not folt for six monthis befored and almost despated of, regaining.
