The War.

The weather is utterly too warm to do much at either marching or fighting, especially in low latitudes and along rivers and guilty of military crimes, such as stragbays. The wisdom of our Generals will be gling, plunder, desertion, sleeping on post, manifest in not overtaxing the physical powers of their men. Life is too valuable deserted, by thousands, with entire imto be wasted, and the difficulty of recruit- punity. ing our diminished armies admonishes us of the necessity of saving our veterans from all needless exposure to malaria. Sickness the sword of the enemy.

Gen. Rosecrans' army is still in Southeastern Tennessee. Gen. Bragg keeps his headquarters at Chattanooga, and a portion of his forces at Rome. Georgia.

Gen. Banks is reported at Biloxi, Miss., on the way to Mobile. He has been joined illustrated many philosophers; he had by a portion of Gen. But we do love those who love their country, and we strive to act with such as would have good men to rule over them, and to have their country always in the right, and their measures, aims, and ends, always honest, so that God may bless them. "Righteousness exalteth a nation." "When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice; but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn."

Some Reasons of Rebel Success.

We have several times spoken of political party influence, as injurious to our military operations, and urged that the war should be waged on military principles. We are glad to find some of our political papers, beginning to urge the same thought. The New-York Times, of August 4th, has an article from which we take the following. In giving reasons for the rebels' superior military efficiency, he says:

"Again, there has been much less political influence in the appointment and promotion in the rebel service than in ours. Hence their officers feel that they must win their rank in the field. With us a certain amount of political pressure is almost certain to obtain the desired object, without regard to military education, merit or service. This has much more influence upon the character of an army than is generally conceived. "The newspaper press has had a most pernicious influence upon the character of our officers and the discipline of our army. Those who have attempted to enforce discipline by punishing disorder and crime in their commands, have often been subjected to the most unmerited abuse, the guilty parties writing and publishing, with impunity, whatever they pleased, while military propriety and self-respect have prevented the commanding officer from engaging in such discussions with his subordinates. In fact, we have attempted to carry on our military operations as we at 7 o'clock P. M. carry on political campaigns, by newspaper misrepresentations and abuse. The headquarters of Generals have been throughd with newspaper reporters, who not only convey to the enemy, through the medium of their published correspondence, valuable information in regard to numbers, positi-tions, and movements of troops, but by their unmerited abuse of one General, and jealousies, bickerings, heartburnings, and general insubordination. No army can possibly be well governed and disciplined under such a system.

"Again, hundreds of officers dismissed for serious military offences, have, through outside political influence, been restored to their commands, and thousands of soldiers cowardice on the battle-field, &c., have been let off without punishment. Men have

"On the contrary, discipline in the rebel armies has been most stringent and severe. Appeals to Richmond from the decisions of courts-martial or the orders of Generals in destroys far more of the soldiers than does the field are seldom permitted, and there is no interference by politicions with the government and discipline of the troops."

The Adthe effects of a disease of the kidneys. The Advertiser says: "Such was the spirit with which he had borne up through all the struggles of a momentous life; that few, even of his neighbors and friends, were prepared for this sad intelligence; but Mr. Yancey has been a sufferer from the gnawings of disease for years, and the summer and did not find him unprepared. He samed mons did not find him unprepared. He seemed to have a premonition of death months ago, and repeatedly, during his last illness, expressed himself ready and willing to die. He returned from the late session of Congress greatly worn by his labors, and it was a real pleasure to him to be again at his home in the country, free from the incessant turmoil of official life incident to the troubled condition of affairs. Still, even while endeavoring to recruit his shattered health, his whole soul was wrapped in contemplation of the great contest going on for liberty and independence. Even during the last days of his life, when his body was racked with excruciating pain, his mind soared above his own sufferings, and he was hotly engaged in field and forum combatting the enemies to the peace and independence of his country."

and expectations of the Secessionists, has gone very largely for the Union candidates. The riends of Charles A. Wickliffe, the Democratic candidate for Governor, claimed the State by 50,000 majority. They now lay their defeat to "military intimidation" and the proclamation of martial law by Gen. Burdside. The remoter districts of the State are not fully heard from, but so far as reports are in, they do not sustain the complaints of the defeated candidates, for the Union candidates run fully as well ahead where Brutus J. Clay is elected to Congress in the Ashland District, lately represented by Hon John J. Crittenden. Brutus J. (Brutus Junius) is a brother of Cassius M. (Cassius Marcellus) Clay, but he has never been an emancipationis ciay, but he has never been an emancipationist, or a political follower of his radical brother. Gen. Green Clay Smith, elected to Congress in the Covington District over the late member. Hon. John W. Menzies, is a nephew of Cassius M. Clay, and went to Russia with the latter, as his first Secretary of Legation. He returned be fore Mr. Clay did, and entered the military ser-vice, in which he reached the rank of Brigadier General. Gen. Smith is quite a young man, son of John Speed Smith, formerly eminent in Kentucky politics. Gen. Smith is probably the only member of Congress elected in Kentucky that will prove a thorough going supporter of the Administration—unless perchance Mr. Casey, late member from a western district, should chance to slip in. Nevertheless all the candidates on the Inion ticket are understood to have been pledged o an unconditional support of the war until the rebellion is suppressed. Every candidate sup-ported by the Louisville Journal is elected, exept Mr. Menzies, in the Covington District. The Journal's loyalty is, therefore, a fair exponent of the State's.—N. Y. Times.

England.

To show the enormity of England's present ourse toward us, let us suppose that while she was fully occupied in putting down ker great re-bellion in India, some of the rajahs of that subdued, but never loyal country, had sent agents over to this country with huge bags of rupees to buy up and ship to India, stores, clothing, cannon, ammunition and every material of war necessary to carry on a protracted defence. Suppose in addition that these rajahs would set all our ship-yards to work building and arming powerful vessels, and manning them with American crews, and then sending them out by the score to prey upon British commerce. Had the United States, for one week, permitted such hostile and mercenary operations as these, the steamer which conveyed the news to England would bring back her declaration of war against us, together with the indignant protests and outbursts of horror of every community from Land's End to John O'Groat's, and yet the course now pursued by England is precisely parallel to the one which we would then have adopted.

Seward on Colored Enlistments.

Secretary Seward having been inquired of as the duty of colored men in view of the fact hat the wages offered to them as soldiers are less than offered to whites, sends a reply as fol-lows: The duty of the colored man to defend his country whenever and wherever and in whatever orm, is the same with that of the white man. I does not depend on, nor is it effected by, what the country pays us or what position she assigns us; but it depends on her need alone, and of that she, and not we, are to judge. The true way to secure her rewards and win her confi-dence is not to stipulate for them, but to deserve them. Factious disputes among patriots about compensations and honors invariably betray any people, of whatever race, into bondage. If you wish your race to be delivered from that curse, this is the time to secure their freedom in every land and for all generations. It is no time for any American to be hesitating about pay or Induced by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant quacks and unscrupulous adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whiskey, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics, and Ritters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which instead of curing, only aggregate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS !

Testifying, of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

DO YOU WANT SOMETHING TO STRENGTHEN YOU'T DO YOU WANT A GOOD APPETITE!

DO YOU WANT TO BUILD UP YOUR CONSTITUTION! YOU WANT TO FEEL WELL! YOU WANT TO GET RID OF NERVOUSNESS!

From J. Newton Brown, D.D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the bope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under this impression, that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by swident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank, God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.
