The War.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC has again become the chief object of interest—an interest amounting to some degree of anxiety. The retreat which we noticed last week, as having commenced, was continued; the engagement. Our army claims advangainers. It was, however, not a General Pope retreat, but a skilfully conducted military movement, without any serious mistake or very great loss. The latest reliable accounts place Gen. Lee at Manassas Junction, his old advantageous position: and Gen. Meade at Centreville, some eighteen miles from Washington.

We thus find the two armies precisely in the position in which they were before the first Bull Run battle, in July 1861, two years and three months ago. What fightings since; what slaughter; what wounds; what deaths in camp; what life-long diseases contracted; what expenditures! And the two armies confronting each other, only a day's march in advance of our National Capital! Twenty millions of Northern freemen again five millions of Southern those who raise and organize our armies, and who appoint and control our Generals? Or does it lie back of all these, in our ruinous political party divisions? And how much of the fault lies with us and our Christian readers, for wrong counsels, and injurious feelings, and for restraining prayer, and for partial prayer, forgetting the duty of forgiveness and neglecting petitions for our enemies? The great sin, in God's sight, the procuring and protracting cause of our sufferings, may lie, possibly, with those who most abound in justifying themselves and in condemning others. An enlightened self-examination might be greatly useful. If we can make God our friend, all will be well.

Reports have come that the enemy is in orce at Leesburg, and is crossing into Maryland at the old passing place, Edward's Ferry. Doubtless he would desire to do so, and then to assail Washington on the North, where the defences are not so strong; or to take Baltimore; or to pollute and plunder Pennsylvania's soil. We trust that our country shall be saved from all these calamities. Providence has sent heavy rains, raising the river, and making the roads too soft to move artillery and military stores with rapidity.

The comparative strength of the armies we are not able to state. Gen. Meade has received convalescents, returned deserters, and new recruits, making his army fully also now in a position in which he has the aid of Augur's corps, (late Heintzleman's,) which has the care of Washington. And he can have aid also from the Peninsula. within a very few days. Lee has been reinforced by new conscripts, perhaps fully at Portland, Maine. equal in number to the troops he sent South. Still, we do not thing that he has a force adequate to make the advance which he made last June.

THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND Was, at last dates, still hemmed in closely in Chattanooga; but was regarded as being entirely safe. Its supplies were scarce, the men being, as is said, put on half rations. The prospect of plenty, however, was brightening. The railroad from Nashville to Bridgeport was opened and repaired. From Bridgeport to Chattanooga, a distance of about thirty miles of mountainous and bad road, wagons are used. The enemy had retired their batteries from Lookout the last song cannot fail to bring to remembrance and Missionary ridges. The motive was the sterner and sadder realities of human exnot known. Hooker's army was approach- istence. ing Rosecrans; and two divisions of Grant's army are on the way.

The losses in the battle of Chickamauga were: killed, 1,656; wounded, 9,049; miss- Andrew G. Curtin ing 5,067; total, 15,772. To these add the cavalry losses, said to be about 1,600, and we have in all, a loss of over 17,000 Thirty-six pieces of artillery were lost, and and a few wagons.

JENTS A LINE, NINE WORDS BRING A LINE.] DIED-In hospital, near Bealeton Station,

Va., September 9th, in the 19th year of his age, WILLIAM J. MONTGOMERY, youngest son of John Sloan, Esq., of Clarion County, Pa., and a member of Co. K, 148th Reg't P. V. DIED-September 14th, in Greenville, Clarion County, Pa., of diptheria, ELVIRA J., daughter of James Neil, Esq., aged 15 years.

DIED-On the 8th of September, in the Newton University Hospital, Baltimore, of a wound received in the battle of Gettysburg, Mr. ROBERT VIRTUE, in the 25th year of his age. The deceased was an obedient and affectionate son, a loyal and patriotic citizen, a model and brave soldier, and a devoted and faithful Christian. His flesh sleeps, with his kindred dust, in the Cemetery of Cross Creek, Pa., in hope of a glorious resurrection.

DIED-Near Jacobsport, Coshocton County, phio, on the 16th of September, Mr. JOHN GLENN, aged 73 years. Mr. Glenn came to Coshocton County in 1831. He united with the church of Linton at its organization, in August 1833, in which he was a strong pillar until the day of his death. He was chosen to the office of Ruling Elder, November 1846; hence he was a soldier of the cross thirty years and a Ruling Elder seventeen. He was a faithful Christian, a worthy ruler, an upright citizen, and a law-abiding member of society. In his death the church has lost a worthy member, his family a kind parent, and society an honorable citizen. His piety was deep, his love ardent, his faith lively, and his zeal burning. His last end was calm and peaceful. "How blest the righteous when he dies."

DIED—On September 5th, 1863, Mr. WIL-JAM DONALDSCN, Sr., in the 74th year of his

He first became a sufferer from gravel and disease of the bladder nearly two years ago. But through timely application of suitable means, he recovered in a measure, and was able for some fifteen months to again take his place in the sanctuary. In the month of August of the current year, he was prostrated with dysentery; and when this was checked, the disease of old standing returned with a power that resisted the influence of all remedial agencies, and in a few days caused the earthly house of his tabernacle

Mr. D. was born in Washington County, not far from the banks of the Monongahela River, and within the bounds of Mingo Creek congregation. He was of Scotch-Irish descent, was raised in a religious manner, and received his early Gospel training under the ministry of that venerable man of God, Rev. Dr. Ralston. Like his first pastor, he was a lover of all the doctrines of grace. Over forty years ago, and just after his marriage, he removed into Allegheny County, and settled within the bounds of Bethel congregation, of which he became a regular atendant, and, soon after, a communicating member, under the ministry of Rev. Wm. Woods, of whom he ever spoke with great tenderness, and for whom, as an earnest and godly minister of Christ, he had the most sincere regard. In 1838 he was elected and ordained a Ruling Elder in Bethel church. When first called by the earnest voice of the people to this office, he seemed to shrink from it, as requiring piety and other qualifications beyond what he supposed himself to be in possession. But after much meditation and earnest prayer, he saw his way clear to accept the office. And from that day will the day of his death, he was an humble, faithful, and earnest elder-one that loved the shouse of God, the prayer-meeting, and Sabbath Echool. He was always ready to do his part in sall things pertaining to the good of the church, and to which God in his providence called him. He was kind, affable, and gentle, having always s kind word for both saint and sinner.

He loved the purity, peace and prosperity o the church; and to secure these, he both labored and prayed. And often by his presence end earnest prayer, did he cheer the heart and strengthen the hands of his pastor. He was an sirdent lover of civil and religious liberty, hating all oppression, and believing firmly that God indended, and had so taught in his Word, that these were blessings for all mankind, high and low. black and white. This subject of human liberty was so inwrought in his soul, so imbedded in his heart, that when any attempt was made to contravene this great principle, he could have no patience, and doubted whether any slaveholder had a right to communion in God's Church. But excited feeling with him was only momentary--like a passing cloud; the heart soon became calm, and the countenance cheerful. He left a mourning widow, and five children, all members of the church, and all to feel the loss of the prayers and counsels of such a father. But he has gone! We shall see him no more here-no more in the sanctuary, prayermeeting, and Sabbath School. But we doubt not our loss is his eternal gain. "For I heard a voice from heaven, saying, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord," &c.

Farewell, father and brother! we hope soon o meet you where there shall be no parting.

DIED-On Sabbath night, September 12th, 1863, Mr. ROBERT DONALDSON, in the 72d year of his age, and for many years an humble and consistent member of Bethel church.

The disease that removed him from our midst was inflammation of the kidneys. He was a sufferer for nearly two years; most of the time unable to visit the sanctuary. These sufferings he bore with uncomplaining submission, ever feeling that God knew what was best for him. He was a brother of Wm. Donaldson, whose demise we have just recorded. The providence of God was remarkable in taking these two brothers within such a short period of each other. They were raised under the same ministry; became attached to the same church; lived in close proximity to each other; saw each other almost daily; and always loved each other as brothers should. They were pleasant, cheerful and kind in life, and by death were not long separated from each other. This brother was at the funeral of the other, on the preceding Sabbath, and on the next passed away, as we hope, to meet him n heaven. Mr. Donaldson was a quiet and reserved man; one always esteemed by his neighbors, very brother, hated oppression, and earnestly longed that liberty, civil and religious, might soon beof the Gospel. And his kind and cheering words often gave comfort and encouragement to his pastor. But those we love most, and with whom we have taken sweet counsel, must die and pass

In the removal of these two brothers, Bethel church has experienced a loss not soon to be made up. But why should we mourn? If united to Christ, as we hope and believe, they are now happy; free from all care, pain and sorrow. And yet when such men are called away, we cannot but mourn. We miss them sorely and sadly. Let God's people hear his voice in these providences, and be excited to examine their state and character, and work in the Master's service whilst the day lasts. And let the mourning friends of him taken, trust in the Lord, follow the Saviour earnestly and prayerfully, and soon they will hear the Lord Jesus say, Come up higher. And then all that was dark and painful in these mysterious dispensations of Providence will be made clear as the light of day; and this knowledge then received, enhance the happiness of that state upon which they shall then have

"Why should we mourn departing friends. Or shake at death's alarms? 'T is but the voice that Jesus sends To call them to his arms."

DIED-On the morning of October 3d, consumption, in the 35th year of her age, Miss ASENATH ADAMS, daughter of Mr. Johnston

It has been often said that death loves shining mark. So it has been in this case. This dear sister in Christ was pleasant and lovely in life, and no less so when shrouded in the habiliments of the grave. She had been for some seven or eight years a member of Bethel church. She loved the house of God, the social prayer-meeting, and the Sabbath School. In the latter she was a punctual and faithful teacher, so long as able to wend her way to the house of God. A little over a year ago, she was a faithful and an affectionate watcher at the death-bed of her youngest sister, who wasted away under the power of this same fatal disease. Perhaps then and there, through weariness, anxiety, and watching, she caught the seeds of that disease which recently ripened in death.

She was the fifth daughter that, together with the beloved mother, has passed away to the spirit land during the ministry of the writer; and all, save one, within less than twenty years. And now but three remain-two sons and a daughter-together with the aged father, of a family once large, and happy in each other's love and society. One of these sons has been in the Army of the Potomac for over two years: Lieut. Adams, of Co. H, 62d Reg't P. V. He went forth with a heart full of patriotism, in defence CARPETS. of his country, was severely wounded at Malvern Hill, and afterwards, as a prisoner, was made to experience a portion of the horrors of the Libby prison, in Richmond. God, in his chased during the late DECLINE, at kind providence, was pleased to spare his life and allow him to sit by the bedside of his dying sister, and cheer her last hours with a brother's presence and love And what shall we say to the aged father, now left alone, so far as any children at home are concerned; left solitary; left in declining years to feel the loss of the one he had hoped would stand by his dying-bed, and wipe with her soft hand the damp sweat of death we know that he has a Friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Father, weep not! thy loved and lovely Asenath is not dead, but sleepeth. She is not; for Jesus has called her up higher. Yes. we doubt not she has gone to join that blood-washed throng who are around the throne, and who cease not to sing the song of Moses and the Lamb. Brothers and sisters, in the hour of vour sorrow, remember Jesus loved her far more than you could; and whilst she was yet young in years, has taken her away from every stormy

In 1807 he was admitted to the Bar, and on the 8th day of September of the same year he was united in marriage to Mary Henderson, daughter of Wm. and Margaret Henderson, of Huntingdon, Pa.

He had a strong love of military life, and at the breaking out of the war of 1812, he raised company of Volunteers in Alexandria, Pa., and entered the service of his country, and spent his time during the war along what was then called the Niagara Frontier. In 1818, in the month of May, he moved t

Cambria County, and was subsequently elected Major of a battalion of Volunteers. He was among the earliest settlers and first lawyers in the county. In 1837 he moved to Johnstown, where he has since resided. In 1838 he united with the Presbyterian church, then under the care of Rev. S. H. Terry, and was soon after elected and ordained elder, in which capacity he served until the time of his death.

His wife, Mary Canan, died December, 1833, aged forty-nine years; and on the 6th of January, 1845, he was united in marriage with Elizabeth Rudesill, daughter of Frederick and Catharine Sharretts, who still survives him. As a patriot, his devotion to his country was ardent, and his loyalty unquestionable. As a Christian, his piety was meek and humble, and his walk and conversation in the world, exemplary. As an elder, he always studied the peace, harmony, and prosperity of the Church, to which he was devotedly attached. As a father and husband, he was kind and affectionate. gentle and forbearing, and was never known to utter an angry word in the family. As a citizen, he was law-abiding and peace-loving; and as a sufferer, on his bed of affliction, although

NEW MUSIC BOOK IN PRESS,

ZEB EBE-NOZB New Collection of Sagred and Secular Music, for Singing Schools, Choire, Congregations, and social use. BY WILLIAM B. BRADBURY.

And will be issued early in November,

Author of "The Jubiles," and many other musical works.

One hundred pages will be devoted to the Elements of Music, with a great amount of new Singing School Music, and nearly THREE HUNDRED pages to Sacrosi Music, as Tunes of all metres, Anthems, Chants, and other Set Pieces, mostly new. The work is printed throughout from large plain type, one part on a staff. Price, $10 per dozen. A single copy will be sent post-paid to any teacher of music or leader of a choir, for examination, on receipt of one dollar. The immense success of Mr. Bradbury's previous works, and their almost unexampled sale, (of his last work in this department, "The Jubilee," more than two hundred thousund copies have already been sold, prove his knowledge of the wants of the public and his ability to supply them.

The present work was designed for publication last year, but having been delayed because of the unfavorable times, the author has had opportunity to perfect it in its various departments. As a SINGING SCHOOL BOOK the KETNOTE will be still more comprehensive and complete than its partners went heavens within the Out-in Chance will be still more comprehensive and complete than its partners was the still more comprehensive and complete than its partners was the still more comprehensive and complete than its uthor of "The Jubilee," and many other musical works

A sure cure for these distressing complaints is now made known in a "Treatise on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations," published by Dr. O. Phelips Brown. The prescription was furnished him in such a providential manner, that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who has used it, never having failed in a single case. It is equally sure in cases of Fits as of Dyspepsia; and the ingredients may be found in any drug store. Sent free to all on receipt of one stamp to prepay postage. Address Dr. O. This School has been in successful operation under the same Superintendence for more than thirty years. It is well and favorably known. It was the design of its founders to establish an Institution on Christian principles, whose aim would be to give not only thorough culture to the intellect, but the religion of Christ to the heart. In this aim, God has greatly blessed them. During its entire history the favor of the Holy Spirit has rested upon it.
