The churches are informed respectfully, that the Contingent Fund of the General Assembly is exhausted, and largely in debt. A deficit has existed for several years; but, owing to the di-minished subscription for the Minutes, occa-sioned by the rebellion, and the greatly increased expense of material and labor in printing, the debt is now equal to the whole expense of print-ing and publishing the Minutes of last year. We cannot sustain our correspondence with other bodies. or go on to publish the Minutes, or even defray the expense of organizing the As-sembly, without special relief now from the libevality of the churches. Contributions for this object are sent to the Treasurer of the General Assembly, George H. Van Gelder, Esq., 820 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

In early years he made a profession of faith in Christ, and united with the congregation of Beech Spring, Ohio, then under the pastoral care of Revi John Rea, D.D. Through life he was enabled to maintain a deportment consistent with his profession. His piety was sincere, but without display. He lived to see five of the six children he left behind, unite with the church of his choice.

During his last illness he manifested marked patience and resignation. Calmly and patiently he saw and felt the sure coming of death. His only trust was in his Redeemer.
