Then followed a movement perhaps unprecedented in the annals of pastoral installation. In compliance with an invitation read by the presiding presbyter, the congregation went forth to meet their pastor at the parsonage. Here it was found that a spacious and commodious brick house, eligibly situated in the heart of the city, and at a convenient distance from the church edifice, had just been purchased by the gentlemen of the congregation-and by the ladies it had been very neatly furnished throughout; and the very kitchen and larder were found abundantly supplied with a stock of groceries and provisions for the comfort of the family. Into this, his future home, the pastor and his family were now welcomed by the ladies, who not only gave them this most gratifying introduction, but turned the occasion into a cheerful house-warming, by distributing sundry elegant refreshments to the hundreds of delighted friends of the pastor, by whom the whole house was literally crowded. Here was furnished a fine illustration of our Lord's remark, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," so delighted, so happy did the whole of this liberal congregation

DIED-Of typhoid pneumonia, on the 12th of May, THOMAS KIDDOO, Jr., son of elder Thomas Kiddoo, of Bethel church, aged 22 years, 6 months, and 3 days.

In the death of this young man and promising Christian, his parents, only brether, and many sisters and other dear friends, are called to endure a sore trial, and a loss that cannot be re-paired in this world. The death of a dear child is always a most painful occurrence; and the more so when the youngest of the family, and whose continuance seemed to be a necessity to whose continuance seemed to be a necessity to smoothe the passage of the aged parents to the grave, is taken away. This young brother, though never very rugged, yet on the whole, till his recent illness, had a suitable measure of good health. In disposition he was amiable; in manners, pleasant; in profession, and we hope in reality, a Christian; and in heart and soul a true patriot. He is now gone from our midst. We will miss him sadly in the family, the house of God, and at the table of our blessed Saviour But hope cheers the heart with the reflection that our loss is his eternal gain. He had been a humble, consistent and upright member of the church for some seven years. And this, after all, is the best evidence of true plety: His affliction, though not very long continued, was painful in its character, yet by the grace of God he was enabled to bear it without murmuring. His greatest trouble in view of death seemed t be that his aged parents, in their decining years, should be left without the presence of one who should be to them a support and com-fort. But he has finished his course, has run his race, has reached the goal, and received the crown. Why then mourn? Is it not well with the Christian? Is he not by death set free from all sin, sorrow, and suffering? Is he not taken to join the General Assembly in glory? Then, aged parents and dear friends, dry your tears. The time is short. He will not return to you, but you shall go to him, and then fully understand this painful and mysterious providence.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from homosofurth, was saith the Spirit that they from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

DIED—On Sabbath evening, May 15th, at the residence of his parents, in Mansfield, Pa., 1st Lieut. WILL. A. GLASS, of the Sixth United States Colored Troops, in the 28d year of his

It is with painful regret we are under the necessity of recording this, another victim of this most wicked rebellion which has been the occasion of so much suffering, anguish, and berearement, to so many once happy families. Lieut. Glass enlisted as a private in the Pitts-burgh Rifles, Co. A, 9th Reg't Pa. Res., and was with that regiment in their various campaigns and battles till September 14th, 1863, when he received his commission and was transferred to the Sixth United States Colored Troops. He died from the effects of a disease of the lungs, contracted by exposure to a drenching rain, while out on a reconncitering expedition toward Richmond, about the 1st of March.

The deceased had, by his kind, amiable, and social disposition, endeared himself to many friends, who will sincerely mourn his early death, and mingle their sympathies with the be-reaved. Of his military career he has left be-hind him his own memorial. The manner in which he was esteemed by his superiors in rank, and his promotion, are evidences of his faithfulofficer, enother has published to the world, " Fe DENTISTRY.-DR. C. SILL. of much more than ordinary variety and it. He now rests. His duty to his country is | TINITED STATES done. For her he gave his life. All honor the brave who fall in so good a cause! Surely they will be held in lasting remembrance. We mourn, dear friend, thy early death, but, thanks be to God, we are not left to mourn as those who have no hope. It is not so much as a soldier battling in the cause of thy country and humanity, that we love to think of thee, but as a soldier of the Cross. At an early age, the Lieutenant had enlisted under the standard of the Captain of Salvation, and united himself with the Church. The deep interest he took in the Sabbath School and the prosperity of our Zion, will not soon be forgotten. He was much engaged during his brief sickness in testing the validity of his hopes, and seeking meetness for the inheritance of the saints in light. The atonement of Christ was his only ground of rejoicing. Painfully did he regret that he had not lived nearer to so precious a Saviour. He expressed himself not only ready to go at the Lord's bidding, but anxious to depart and be with Christ. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." Farewell! but not forever. " Soldier of Christ, well done! Praise be thy new employ; And while eternal ages run, Rest in thy Saviour's joy."

BILLIS, Koerdistam, November 23, 1863.

Mesers. Mason & Hamlin:—Gents:—It is now about three years and a half since we purchased our Instrument of you, and after so long a trial it is due to you and your friends that we should acknowledge its excellence, and that you for the great satisfaction it has afforded us.

No instrument, unless manufactured in the most substantial manner, and packed most carefully, could endure the test to which yours has been subjected. It was brought about three thousand miles in the hold of a sailing vessel, and through the transferred to the hold of a steamer—where the heat was so great that instruments as ordinarily made are spoiled—and brought about four hundred miles further; then it was transferred to the backs of mules, and brought about four hundred miles still further, over the most difficult mountain passes, twelve or fourteen thousand feet high, over a road where a single misstep of the mules would plunge it hundreds of fest down precipitous rocks, and through rivers, to its present home in a deep valley among the Koordish mountains, in agifty and good order, and for three years and a half it has cheered our home in this savage land with its sweet tones, in a climate where the best of the three through rivers, to its present home in a deep valley among the Koordish mountains, in agifty and good order, and for three years and a half it has cheered our home in this savage land with its sweet tones, in a climate where the best own.

Wounds three thousand relation of the Mason & Hamlin celebrated Cabinet Organs, 5 contacts, with the snew, walnut case, in use in a church but three months, and as good as new, suitable for parlor, Sabbath School, or church, is offered at $25 lees than cost, viz., $100. Call at $100.00 or three three three three three three three three three years to come.

It is the wonder of this uncivilized people, who have nothing but the rudest music, and a great assistant to us in our missionary work; and we are glad to hear that others have followed it and are following it to missionary ground, feeling confident that no one will be disappointed ground, feeling confident that we selected your instrument after in it.

Allow me to say that we selected your instrument after having visited the most popular establishments in New-Yerk Citr, as well as many private instruments and eminent friends. It gives us great pleasure to learn of your success in business, and the improvements that you are constantly making in your instruments.

Yours, truly,

L. T. BURBANK.

Since the CABINET ORGANS, introduced and man AT Since the CABINET ORGANS, introduced and manufactured only by us, have attained such great popularity, it has been sometimes represented by dealers in Harmoniums and other small Organs that their instruments are similaring construction, differing only in name. This is an error. The superiority of the CABINET ORGANS consists not only in the excellence of their material and workmanship, but also in the employment of several important inventions, which, being patented, can be used only in these instruments. In addition to this, much of the machinery and several of the processes can over the very account. eral of the processes emp. oved by us are PECULIAR TO OURSELVES, being the result of very numerous experi-ments and extensive 'xperience. Prices of Cabinet Organs, $95 to $550.

10-40 BONDS.

farch 8th, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under his Act SHALL BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasur f the Government, at any period not less than ten nor mor han forty years from their date, and until their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bonds of not over One Hundred Dollars, annually, and on all other Bonds, semi annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and Sen tember in each year. As these Bonds, by Act of Congress, are EXEMPT FROM MUNICIPAL OR STATE TAXATION, their value is in reased from one to three per cent. per annum, according t the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country. At the present rate of premium on gold they pay

Over Eight Per Cent, Interest n currency, and are of equal convenience as a perm r temporary investment. It is believed that no securities offer so great inducto lenders as the various descriptions of U. S. Bonds. In a other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties or stock companies or separate communities only is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United State the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin. These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 :

to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest captalist. They can be converted into money at any moment and the holder will have the benefit of the interest. The Funded Debt of the United States on which interes s payable in gold, on the 2d day of March, 1864, was $768,-965.000. The interest on this debt for the coming fiscal year will be $45,937,128, while the customs revenue in gold for the current fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1864, has been so far at the rate of over $100,000,000 per annum.

It will be seen that even the present gold revenues of the Government are largely in excess of the wants of the Treasury for the payment of gold interest, while the recent increase of the tariff will doubtless raise the annual receipts from customs on the same amount or importations, to $150, 000,000 per annum.

The authorized amount of this loan is Two Hundred Million Dollars. Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued until March 26th, but the amount of Bonds reported sold at the United States Treasury up to May 21st was $54,564,900.

Subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, and the Assistant Treasurers at New-York, Boston, and Philadelphia, and by the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH, PA., THIRD NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH, PA., FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF ALLEGHENY, PA, AND BY ALL NATIONAL BANKS

This was the great life work of the late Dr. Bethune, and will remain a monument of his thorough scholarship, the classical purity and beauty of his style, and above all, his deep and abiding piety.

The Christian Intelligencer says:

"We are glad to see that Messrs. Sheldon & Cs., of New-York are issuing a new theological work from the pen of the late and ever-lamented Dr. Bethune. Its title is, "Expository Lectures on the Heidelberg Catechism;" and to those who do not know the Catechism or its expositor, it might seem to belong to the class of dry, doctrinal books, very barren of interest to all but theological readers. It is, however, a work which every true, single-eyed Christian, learned or unlearned, will delight to read; feeling, as he passes from lecture to lecture, that he is being built up in the faith by the strong, skilful hand of a wise messer-builder.

To this choice Catechism, Dr. Bethune has given his no-ble powers in their selected order. And the friends of Dr. Bethune, who treasure the memory of his rare and thrill-ing eloquence, will find the very tones of his voice recalled, as they feel throughout all these lectures the pulsation of a heart filled with burning zeal and fervid devotion to the good of souls and to the glory of God."
