

Swift explains D.H.S. wins

the hometown boys win. The gym has been packed with fans for every game this year.

"We're very grateful to the fans," Coach Swift says. "They really do help in a pressure situation. We thank them and hope they keep coming."

Some of the Donegal basketball players have already been approached by college talent scouts.

The prospect of athletic scholarships for Donegal basketball players makes Coach Swift even happier than his perfect record in league basketball.

There is a practical side to the game of basketball, even for athletes who lack scholarships, according to Swift.

"I think the game teaches kids about life," he says. "You have to play by the rules. You learn what you can do under pressure, and you have to work hard for what you get."

"If you play the game clean and fair, and put a lot of effort into it, you'll get something out of it."

Coach Swift has nothing but praise for his team. "They're clean-cut, they're gentlemen, and they always do their best," he says.

Girl cagers getting better

The girl's basketball team, in its first year at Donegal, is showing steady improvement. Although the girls aren't winning yet, their growing experience has resulted in solid, respectable performances.

Times omits Mull's throw

To The Editor:

In your article DHS wrestlers pin Lebanon, January 14, 1976, you omitted the name of Glenn Mull who was also responsible for a pin against Lebanon and scored six points for the DHS team. Lets give credit where credit is due.
