Town criers in Maytown

by Hazel Baker

James Prowell and James Landis, members of the Donegal Rangers, acted as town criers last Saturday in Maytown. They announced the Olde Time Social planned by the Bi-centennial committee.

The social will be held February 14, at 7:30 p.m., in the Maytown Elementary School. Emphasis will be getting to know neighbors.

The committee hopes all ages will attend the program and hospitality hour which will follow.

Two films from old restored Williamsburg, VA will be shown. One film depicts early American home and community life. The second, music of Williamsburg, recreates the musical life of the colonies and gives snatches of early American folk music. Country fiddling and a tune played on Ben Franklin's glass harmonica adds to the interest of the film.

Refreshments will be served during a social hour. There is no admission charge.

Prize winning photos to be shown at Maytown Elementary

Prize-winning photographs, the work of Lancaster County professional photographers, will be shown Saturday, February 14, at the Maytown Elementary School. The exhibit has been secured by the Maytown Bicentennial Committee and will be on display during the Bicen Social Evening. It can be viewed before the program or during the social hour which will follow.

Each photograph represents, in some way, the importance of our social life or environs on the people of our county. The competition was sponsored by the Lancaster Bicentennial Committee.

Two Williamsburg films will be featured during the evening. One centers on the music of our country, the other on 18th century life.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served. There is no admission. Emphasis will be on getting to know our neighbors.
